The program is primarily devoted to providing decent, safe, and sanitary housing through renovations, repairs, or additions to existing homes. The program will build an entire house in situations where no other program can meet the need in the immediate or near future. Technical assistance is provided to Indian tribes to establish housing plans and determine the extent and use of the Bureau's Housing Improvement Program. The program is restricted to use within reservations and approved tribal service areas.

Applicant Eligibility:

Federally Recognized Indian Tribal Governments; Individual/Family; Minority group; Federally Recognized Indian Tribal Governments and tribal organizations to administer the program who have eligible applicants with identified housing needs. Individual members of Federally recognized Indian tribes living in approved tribal service areas in need of housing assistance who are unable to obtain assistance from any other source, and who meet the eligibility criteria of the HIP regulations (25 CFR Part 256 "Housing Improvement Program").

Beneficiary Eligibility:

American Indian; Individual members of Federally recognized Indian tribes.

Credentials/Documentation:

Initial applications by Indian tribes and tribal organizations must be accompanied by an authorizing resolution of the governing body of the Indian tribe(s) to be served. Individual Indians must furnish information required by 25 CFR Part 256, basically proving membership in a Federally-recognized Indian tribe and financial inability to obtain assistance for repairs or new housing. 2 CFR 200, Sub-part E - Cost Principles applies to this program.

Preapplication Coordination:

Pre-application coordination is required. Environmental impact information is not required for this program. This program is excluded from coverage under E.O. 12372. Funds may be used in conjunction with other Federal programs, such as Indian Health Service for water and sanitary facilities, or privately financed programs that are appropriate to repair or build housing. An informal conference with Bureau of Indian Affairs agency representative is recommended.

Application Procedures:

2 CFR 200, Uniform Administrative Requirements, Cost Principles, and Audit Requirements for Federal Awards applies to this program. Initial applications from Indian tribes and tribal organizations must contain the information specified in 25 CFR Part 900, Subpart C, "Contract Proposal Contents." Completed application should be submitted to the local Bureau of Indian Affairs agency or regional office listed in Appendix IV. Individual Indians should submit written applications to the local tribal servicing housing office, or local Bureau of Indian Affairs agency or regional office listed in Appendix IV.

15.224 Cultural and Paleontological Resources Management

FEDERAL AGENCY:

BUREAU OF LAND MANAGEMENT, INTERIOR, DEPARTMENT OF THE AUTHORIZATION:

Federal Land Policy and Management Act of 1976 USC Code 43 1737(b).

OBJECTIVES:

The purpose of the program is to manage cultural and paleontological resources to benefit the public. The program also provides support and guidance on consultation with Native American Tribes, specifically on cultural resource issues, and also provides technical support and guidance. BLM manages archaeological and historic sites, artifact collections, places of traditional cultural importance to American Indians and other communities, and paleontological resources that occur on million acres of federal lands. Collectively, these heritage resources represent over years of human occupation, and millions of years of the earth's natural history. BLM Cultural Heritage and Paleontology Programs coordinate management, preservation, education and outreach efforts, economic opportunities, and public uses of a fragile, nonrenewable scientific record that represents an important component of America's heritage. The BLM Cultural Heritage and Paleontology Resource Management Programs seek to establish partnerships that collaboratively encourage the public to learn about and engage with heritage resources on public lands, restoring trust and being a good neighbor, and sustainably developing energy and natural resources. The Cultural Heritage and Paleontology Resource Management Programs achieve these goals by: Protecting and preserving cultural heritage and paleontological resources for the benefit of future generations; Improving professional and/or public understanding of the nation's cultural and natural history; Providing educational, recreational, and economic opportunities for local communities and the public; Increasing American Indian access to locations and natural resources important to traditional cultural practices and beliefs; and Managing heritage resource collections and associated records to appropriate standards, and providing access to the public and American Indians. The BLM is responsible for the largest, most diverse and scientifically important aggregation of cultural, historical, and paleontological resources on the public lands, as well as the associated museum collections and data. This program continues to advance the Department of Interior's priorities to create a conservation stewardship legacy while generating revenue and utilizing our natural resources. BLM's continued commitment to reduce and streamline its processes and procedures to serve its customers and the public better and faster across all its program areas. These reforms allow the Bureau to realign time and resources to completing important on-the-groundwork.

TYPES OF ASSISTANCE:

Cooperative Agreements (Discretionary Grants)

USES AND USE RESTRICTIONS:

All projects are restricted to lands and resources administered by BLM. Most of these lands are located in the Western United States and Alaska. Assistance can be used for cooperation in managing cultural or paleontological resources, e.g., survey for sites and localities, stabilization of historic structures, and public contact/education/interpretation or for improving information about cultural resources, consistent with needs identified in BLM planning documents.

For grants awarded, cost will be determined in accordance with OMB Circular No. A-87 for State and Local Governments; OMB Circular No. A-21 for educational institutions; OMB Circular No. A-122 for nonprofit organizations; and Federal Acquisition Regulation Subpart 31.2 for private foundations, firms, individuals, and other nonprofits excluded from coverage under OMB Circular No. A-122. 2 CFR 200, Sub-part E - Cost Principles applies to this program.

Preapplication Coordination:

Pre-application coordination is required. An environmental impact assessment is required for this listing. This program is eligible for coverage under E.O. 12372, "Intergovernmental Review of Federal Programs." An applicant should consult the office or official designated as the single point of contact in his or her State for more information on the process the State requires to be followed in applying for assistance, if the State has selected the program for review. This will be based on individual projects. For more information and local requirements, cooperative project proposals should be coordinated with the Bureau of Land Management local State, or District or Field offices.

Application Procedures:

2 CFR 200, Uniform Administrative Requirements, Cost Principles, and Audit Requirements for Federal Awards applies to this program. 2 CFR, Part 200, Subpart C Pre-Federal Award Requirements and Contents of Federal Awards, A Standard Form 424, Application for Federal Assistance, Standard Form 424A, Budget Information for Non-Construction Programs, Standard Form 424B, Assurances for Non-Construction Programs, and a written proposal, budget spreadsheet, a budget narrative/breakdown, and any other requirements specified in the Notice of Funding Opportunity Notice and submitted through www.grants.gov. State plan is not required for this application. Notice of Funding Opportunities (NOFO) for this listing will be posted on Grants.gov.

Award Procedure:

All applications will be initially screened for eligibility and compliance with the requirements stated in the program Notice of Funding Opportunity Announcement. Applications passing this screening process will be forwarded for review by the proposal evaluation criteria, and any additional review factors, as stated in the funding announcement. State and District Office level and funding recommendations are made through the State's annual work plan. Final budget approvals rest with the State Director.

Deadlines:

Contact the headquarters or regional location, as appropriate for application deadlines.

Range of Approval/Disapproval Time:

Other. Award time varies depending on the type and complexity of the project. Further information will be available for each project at the time the Notice of Funding Opportunity is posted on www.grants.gov and may be obtained by contacting the point of contact listed in the funding opportunity announcement. Most awards are anticipated within 90 days or less after the announcement closes.

Appeals:

PROGRAM ACCOMPLISHMENTS:

Fiscal Year 2020: BLM entered into multiple agreements awarded to meet BLM's responsibilities for cultural and paleontological resource management. These agreements were consistent with BLM's priority workload accomplishments, which include providing public outreach, improving tribal relations, improving museum collections, conducting proactive surveys, stabilizing historic properties, conducting applicable studies and site monitoring. More specifically, BLM worked with numerous university archaeology and paleontology field schools to provide experiences to students, worked with partners to study hundreds of cultural and paleontological sites, monitored thousands of sites, stabilized hundreds of archaeological sites, presented gave more than 1,000 public programs, and curated over 20 collections. Projects are restricted to lands administered by BLM in the Western United States and Alaska. Fiscal Year 2021: Conduct studies, including inventory, excavation, records research, and collections-based research to improve the understanding of Americas natural and cultural history; Monitor at-risk heritage resources to track trends in condition and project effectiveness; Stabilize at-risk heritage resources; Train future cultural resource management practitioners and paleontologists through research projects, field schools and internships that capitalize on BLM resources; Tssist with cultural heritage data and records management activities such as organizing, maintaining, and scanning site and survey records; creating, digitizing and maintaining geospatial data; and performing data entry; Preserve existing collections at recognized curation facilities through such activities as archival housing, stabilization or conservation; Promote engagement with Native American communities and foster partnerships with tribal governments and programs; Promote public engagement, learning opportunities, and conservation/preservation ethics through heritage resources education and outreach programs, events, and products; Conduct studies directed at determining impacts to heritage resources caused by activities such as prescribed fire, juniper control and other vegetation removal projects, or any other land disturbing activity; Develop and maintain historic sites with interpretive and educational potential. Fiscal Year 2022: The program projects to accomplish the same tasks identified 2021.

REGULATIONS, GUIDELINES, AND LITERATURE:

BLM's cultural and paleontological resources management program is guided by the National Historic Preservation Act, the Archaeological Resources Protection Act, the Native American Graves Protection and Repatriation Act and the Paleontological Resources Preservation Act, and implementing regulations: 43 CFR Part 7, 43 CFR Part 10, 36 CFR Part 60, 36 CFR Part 79 and 36 CFR Part 800. A variety of public interest publications on these programs are available free of charge by contacting the appropriate State Office. EXAMPLES OF FUNDED PROJECTS:

2020 BLM entered into a cooperative agreement with an organizations that specializes in historic structure repair and volunteer coordination to stabilize a historic barn on public lands. A multi-year cooperative agreement between the BLM and a state museum was signed to continue the work of bringing existing legacy collections up to modern curatorial standards. An agreement was developed between the BLM, a partner group and a local university to conduct an archaeological field school on public lands. Students at this field school were taught excavation skills, Ground Penetrating Radar and 3D modeling. Students were also taught artifact collection, processing and storage. This field school hosted 22 participants and engaged with over 130 members of the public through the lectures and archaeology day activities. An agreement between the BLM and a federally recognized Indian tribe was created for the restoration of culturally significant plants throughout the Tribes ancestral homeland. BLM partnered with an archaeological research organization to study the archaeology in a particular canyon to gather and evaluate baseline data to provide information that will assist in understanding a managing the cultural resources within that canyon. The project included the testing of archaeological features and intensive pedestrian survey. A single volume report documenting the results of this project is forthcoming. 2021 These are types of project we are currently funding: OR/WA Research At Rimrock Draw Rock Shelter; OR/WA Paleoindian Plant Use in The Northern Great Basin; CO: Preserving Cultural Heritage on Colorado's Public Lands; ID Perjue Canyon Recreation Site Archaeology Project; Utah GSENM Kanab Field Office Cultural Resources Assistance; OR/WA CESU Archaeological Emergency Recovery and Nagpra Compliance; Identify Sites And Areas of Cultural Importance to The Mesca; OR/WA CESU SW Oregon Chinese Archaeology Program; OR/WA CESU SW Oregon Chinese Archaeology Program; Utah Tread Lightly! 15.225 Recreation and Visitor Services

FEDERAL AGENCY:

BUREAU OF LAND MANAGEMENT, INTERIOR, DEPARTMENT OF THE AUTHORIZATION:

Federal Land Policy Management Act of 1976 Section 307(b) (FLPMA) 43 USC Code 1737 (b).

OBJECTIVES:

Public lands managed by the Bureau of Land Management (BLM) provide some of the most diverse outdoor recreation opportunities on Federal lands in the western United States. The BLMs Recreation and Visitor Services Program oversees a broad and complex set of recreation related programs, which provide a multitude of recreation opportunities and experiences. These recreation resources and visitor services support strong local economies and public land conservation. As BLM works to enhance recreational opportunities for the American family, we strive to remain a good neighbor and partner. The BLM manages recreation resources and visitor services to offer the greatest benefits possible to individuals and communities and to better enable communities to achieve their own desired social, economic, and environmental outcomes. This program continues to advance the Department of the Interiors priorities to increase environmental protections, pursue environmental justice, and honor our nation-to-nation relationship with Tribes.

Fuels Management Program activities represent strategic investments in managing vegetation through active management to reduce the intensity, severity or negative effects of wildfire. It provides cost-effective benefits to the American people, helps restore and maintain healthy ecosystems, and supports communities in their efforts to become fire-adapted. Program activities include: programs that develop local capability including assessment and planning, mitigation activities, and community and homeowner education and implementation; fire prevention, plan and implement fuels management activities, including the training, monitoring or maintenance associated with such fuels management activities, on federal land, or on adjacent nonfederal land for activities that benefit resources on federal land; enhance the knowledge of rural fire districts by providing assistance in education and training; assist with the prevention of wildfires to reduce the risk and impact to communities and their values. This program continues to advance the Department of the Interiors priorities to create a conservation stewardship legacy while generating revenue and utilizing our natural resources. BLMs continued commitment to reduce and streamline its processes and procedures to serve its customers and the public better and faster across all its program areas. These reforms allow the Bureau to realign time and resources to completing important on-the-groundwork.

TYPES OF ASSISTANCE:

Cooperative Agreements (Discretionary Grants), Dissemination of Technical Information, Training, Use of Property, Facilities, and Equipment

USES AND USE RESTRICTIONS:

Fuels management activities are restricted to Federal lands, or adjacent non federal land for activities that benefit resources on Federal land. Most of these lands are located in the Western United States and Alaska. Assistance can be used for helping BLM support fuels management program activities, including community programs that develop local capability including assessment and planning, mitigation activities, and community and homeowner education and implementation ; fire prevention, plan and implement fuels management activities, including the training, monitoring or maintenance associated with such fuels management activities, on federal land, or on adjacent non federal land for activities that benefit resources on federal land; enhance the knowledge of rural fire districts by providing assistance in education and training; assist with the prevention of wildfires to reduce the risk and impact to communities and their values. Funding is highly variable each fiscal year. For more specific information please contact the headquarters office.

Applicant Eligibility:

State (includes District of Columbia, public institutions of higher education and hospitals); Local (includes State-designated Indian Tribes, excludes institutions of higher education and hospitals); Public nonprofit institution/organization (includes institutions of higher education and hospitals); Specialized group (e.g. health professionals, students, veterans); Private nonprofit institution/organization (includes institutions of higher education and hospitals); Native American Organizations (includes Indian groups, cooperatives, corporations, partnerships, associations); Other private institutions/organizations; Federally Recognized Indian Tribal Governments; State; States and local governments at risk as published in the Federal Register, Indian Tribes, public and private education institutions, nonprofit organizations, and rural fire departments serving a community with a population of 10,000 or less in the wildland/urban interface.

PROGRAM ACCOMPLISHMENTS:

Fiscal Year 2020: JFSP funded 32 GRIN projects that support graduate students to enhance interaction with fire and fuels managers. Funded four projects to assess fuel breaks and fuel break systems, and funded three to reduce damages and losses to valued resources. The JFSP funds and provides oversight to a national collaborative of 15 regional wildland fire science exchanges: the Fire Science Exchange Network (FSEN). The FSEN provides the most relevant, current wildland fire science information to federal, state, local, tribal, and private stakeholders within ecologically similar regions. In Fiscal Year 2020 JFSP funded three FSEN projects via cooperative agreement. Fiscal Year 2021: This program anticipates to accomplish fuels management activities on federal and non-federal land; Develop and implement fire education, training, and/or community action plans/programs; Conduct Community Wildfire Protection Assessment and planning activities; Expand community capability to enhance local employment opportunities; and Develop and implement short- and long-term Monitoring and Maintenance Plans for hazardous fuels reduction, community fire education and training, and community action programs. Fiscal Year 2022: Anticipates to accomplish similar project as stated for FY21 to complete additional fuel management activities on federal and non-federal land.

CRITERIA FOR SELECTING PROPOSALS:

First Level Screening -Basic Eligibility. Applications will be screened by the Grants Management Officer to ensure that applications meet basic eligibility requirements. Must meet the requirements of the Notice of Funding Opportunity posted on www.grants.gov, screening may include, but is not limited to: Program and/or legislative authority requirements are met; Submission is timely; and complete and properly executed SF-424 application package documents. Applications must satisfy basic eligibility screening requirements to be considered for further review. Second Level Evaluation -- Merit Review Evaluation is stated in each Notice of Funding Opportunity noticed post on www.grants.gov Third Level Review Pre-Award Clearance and Approvals. BLM will also complete a business evaluation and determination of responsibility. During these evaluations the Grants Management Officer will evaluate variables such as: Federal Awardee Performance and Integrity Information System, financial stability, quality of management systems, past performance meeting prior award terms and conditions, reports and findings of audits performed, and applicants ability to effectively implement statutory, regulatory or other requirements.

15.229 Wild Horse and Burro Resource Management

FEDERAL AGENCY:

BUREAU OF LAND MANAGEMENT, INTERIOR, DEPARTMENT OF THE AUTHORIZATION:

Wild Horses and Burros: Protection, Management, and Control 16 USC Code 1336 Cooperative Agreements. Federal Land Policy Management Act of 1976 Section 307(b) 43 USC Code 1737 (b).

OBJECTIVES:

The Bureau of Land Management (BLM) manages and protects wild horses and burros on 26.9 million acres of public lands across ten western states as part of its mission to administer public lands for multiple uses. The Wild Horse and Burro Program's goal is to manage healthy wild horses and burros on healthy public rangelands. The BLM created the Wild Horse and Burro Program to implement the Wild-Free Roaming Horses and Burros Act, passed by Congress in 1971. Broadly, the law declares wild horses and burros to be living symbols of the historic and pioneer spirit of the West and stipulates that the BLM and the U.S. Forest Service have the responsibility to manage and protect herds in their respective jurisdictions within areas where wild horses and burros were found roaming in 1971. The Wild Horse and Burro Program consists of two main branches: (1) On-Range management of wild horses and burros, and (2) Off-Range management and care of wild horses and burros. The goal of the On-Range program is to manage for healthy wild horse and burro populations and to maintain a thriving natural ecological balance with other resources and land uses. The Off-Range management goal is to ensure the health and welfare of wild horses and burros that were removed from public lands under BLM care, to place animals into private care through adoptions, sales, and transfers, to conduct compliance inspections of adopted animals and to build partnerships and relationships with external organizations. Communications, outreach, and education are priorities of both branches. This program continues to advance the Department of Interior's priorities to address the climate crisis and restore balance on public lands and waters.

TYPES OF ASSISTANCE:

Cooperative Agreements (Discretionary Grants)

USES AND USE RESTRICTIONS:

Projects are designated to manage and protect wild free-roaming horses and burros to achieve and maintain a thriving natural ecological balance on the public lands. PROGRAM ACCOMPLISHMENTS:

Fiscal Year 2020: The BLM currently manages approximately 86,000 wild horses and burros in 177 HMAs in 10 western states. Nationally, the appropriate management level (AML) is about 27,000 animals. Currently, BLM does not have adequate tools to make significant progress towards achieving AML and continues removing excess animals from the range to address drought and wildfire emergencies, public safety and health issues, court orders, private land encroachment and to reach AML in priority habitat areas and to avoid range deterioration. The BLM continues efforts to reduce population growth by increasing fertility control vaccine applications through partnerships, investing in new research, and implementing non-surgical, permanent sterilization methods. The BLM looks forward to continuing and developing new partnerships for the caring and training of wild horses and burros as well as expanding programs that increase private care placement through adoptions and sales. Fiscal Year 2021: Issued new awards for fertility control vaccine applications, public education, training and placement of wild horse and burros. Fiscal Year 2022: The program expects to continue with developing new partnerships for the caring and training of wild horses and burros, increase private care placement through adoptions and sales and fertility control vaccine applications.

REGULATIONS, GUIDELINES, AND LITERATURE:

The wild horse and burro program is generally guided by provisions in 43 CFR Part 4700. BLM Manuals and Handbooks 4700 - 4770 provide basic program operational guidance for the wild horses and burro program and may be obtained by accessing the BLM library through the internet.

15.230 Invasive and Noxious Plant Management

FEDERAL AGENCY:

BUREAU OF LAND MANAGEMENT, INTERIOR, DEPARTMENT OF THE AUTHORIZATION:

Plant Protection Act of 2000, 7 USC Chapter 61 Noxious Weeds 2814; Federal Land Policy and Management Act of 1976 (FLPMA), 43 USC 1737(b); John Dingell Jr. Conservation, Management and Recreation Act, Public Law 116-9, Section 7001,

OBJECTIVES:

This program continues to advance the Department of the Interiors priorities to address the climate crisis, restore balance on public lands and waters, advance environmental justice, and invest in a clean energy future. One of the BLM's highest priorities is to promote ecosystem health and one of the greatest obstacles to achieving this goal is the rapid expansion of weeds across public lands. These invasive plants can dominate and often cause permanent damage to natural plant communities. If not eradicated or controlled, noxious weeds will continue to jeopardize the health of public lands and to constrain the myriad activities that occur on them. These reforms allow the Bureau to realign time and resources to completing important on-the-groundwork. To encourage interested State and local governments and Federal agencies to work together to inventory, manage, restore, educate, reduce the spread of, and prevent the further invasion and establishment of noxious, invasive weeds, and other invasive species. These entities will develop and implement Integrated Pest Management Plans (IMPs) to develop and implement projects that foster consultation and cooperation among stakeholders, interested parties, and the public and to organize, finalize, and develop projects to implement IPM plans for noxious weeds or invasive species within a specific geographic area.

EXAMPLES OF FUNDED PROJECTS:

2020 Projects funded encouraged the State and the Bureau of Land Management to work together to prevent, control, manage and eradicate undesirable invasive species on Federal, State, and private lands. By working together entire areas are treated to control and prevent the spread of invasive and noxious or undesirable plants and other invasive species within the close proximity of public lands. BLM completed projects in the Washakie County, Niobrara County, WY Big Horn County, OR Lake County, Minidoka County, other areas of ID, MT, CA, NV, NM, 2021 Inventorying and documenting locations of noxious weeds and other invasive species; Using an Integrated Pest Management Plan (IPM) approach to determine the most effective method of weed control (herbicides, grazing, mechanical removal etc.); Selecting the most effective and targeted herbicide for treatment; Stabilization and rehabilitation of disturbed areas. undesirable plant species or groups of species to be controlled or contained within a specific geographic area; Monitoring and evaluation of treatments, site rehabilitation, outreach activities, and integrated weed management strategies to determine rate of success and to inform future efforts; Development and dissemination of public education and outreach activities and materials; Promoting public engagement and learning opportunities, through resources education and outreach programs, events, and products and Adaptive management for controlling new weed species and use of new and approved treatments. 2022 This program is projected to fund projects for weed control, monitoring, Lost Creek Fuels, Range improvement, Middle and Lower Deschutes WSR, Farmington range restoration, etc.

CRITERIA FOR SELECTING PROPOSALS:

First Level Screening -Basic Eligibility. Applications will be screened by the Grants Management Officer to ensure that applications meet basic eligibility requirements. Must meet the requirements of the Notice of Funding Opportunity posted on www.grants.gov, screening may include, but is not limited to: Program and/or legislative authority requirements are met; Submission is timely; and complete and properly executed SF-424 application package documents. B. Applications must satisfy basic eligibility screening requirements to be considered for further review. Second Level Evaluation -- Merit Review Evaluation is stated in each Notice of Funding Opportunity noticed post on www.grants.gov Third Level Review Pre-Award Clearance and Approvals. BLM will also complete a business evaluation and determination of responsibility. During these evaluations the Grants Management Officer will evaluate variables such as: Federal Awardee Performance and Integrity Information System, financial stability, quality of management systems, past performance meeting prior award terms and conditions, reports and findings of audits performed, and applicants ability to effectively implement statutory, regulatory or other requirements.

15.231 Fish, Wildlife and Plant Conservation Resource Management

FEDERAL AGENCY:

BUREAU OF LAND MANAGEMENT, INTERIOR, DEPARTMENT OF THE AUTHORIZATION:

Federal Land Policy and Management Act of 1976, 43 USC 1737 (b); Sikes Act, 16 USC 670h(c); Good Neighbor Authority. 16 USC 2113a (b)(1)(A); and Watershed Restoration and Enhancement Agreements, 16 U.S.C. Section 1011(b), as amended by Public Law 105-277 Section 136.,

OBJECTIVES:

As an integral part of the Bureau of Land Managements (BLM) mission, BLM provides national leadership to promote conservation of fish, wildlife and plant conservation, which will help restore and protect lands containing noteworthy resource values for regionally significant species of management concern or wetland and riparian areas; restore and protect crucial habitat through vegetation treatments, installation of wildlife friendly fences, and creating fish passages or barriers to protect aquatic species. Restoration of wildlife habitat to restore and protect sage grouse, desert tortoise, and other upland habitats for priority species as well as instream and riparian habitat for migratory birds, endangered or special status aquatic species and other native and priority species. Increase on-the-ground project work to conserve, restore, and reduce the threats to sage-grouse and other sensitive species in high priority habitats. Continue consistent habitat monitoring across the range of the Greater Sage-Grouse and other landscape species using the Habitat Assessment Framework (HAF) and the land use plan habitat objectives for sage grouse and other priority species. Continue seed collections within priority species habitat and continue to develop genetically appropriate native and non-native plant material for use in habitat restoration. Continue to work with partners to prioritize and implement priority species conservation actions. The BLM manages these resources in cooperation with states, tribes, other federal agencies, and non-governmental organizations.

TYPES OF ASSISTANCE:

Cooperative Agreements (Discretionary Grants), Training

USES AND USE RESTRICTIONS:

Projects are primarily conducted on lands administered by the BLM but may also be conducted on other public or private lands. Most of these lands are located in the Western United States and Alaska. Assistance can be used to help protect, restore, and enhance fish, wildlife, and plant conservation resources and to provide related public contact/education opportunities. No regular discretionary fund is available. Funding is highly variable each fiscal year.

Applicant Eligibility:

State (includes District of Columbia, public institutions of higher education and hospitals); Local (includes State-designated Indian Tribes, excludes institutions of higher education and hospitals); Public nonprofit institution/organization (includes institutions of higher education and hospitals); Other public institution/organization; Federally Recognized Indian Tribal Governments; Private nonprofit institution/organization (includes institutions of higher education and hospitals); Quasi-public nonprofit institution/organization; Other private institutions/organizations; Native American Organizations (includes Indian groups, cooperatives, corporations, partnerships, associations); Good Neighbor Authority. 16 USC 2113a (b)(1)(A) awards will only be made to State and local government Counties and Indian Tribes.

Beneficiary Eligibility:

Beneficiary eligibility is the same as applicant eligibility.

Credentials/Documentation:

Not applicable. 2 CFR 200, Sub-part E - Cost Principles applies to this program.

Preapplication Coordination:

Pre-application coordination is required. An environmental impact statement is required for this listing. An environmental impact assessment is required for this listing. This program is eligible for coverage under E.O. 12372, "Intergovernmental Review of Federal Programs." An applicant should consult the office or official designated as the single point of contact in his or her State for more information on the process the State requires to be followed in applying for assistance, if the State has selected the program for review. For more information and local requirements, cooperative project proposals should be coordinated with the Bureau of Land Management local State or District/Field Offices.

Application Procedures:

2 CFR 200, Uniform Administrative Requirements, Cost Principles, and Audit Requirements for Federal Awards applies to this program. 2 CFR, Part 200, Subpart C Pre-Federal Award Requirements and Contents of Federal Awards. State plan is not required for this application.. Notice of Funding Opportunities (NOFO) for this listing will be posted on Grants.gov.

Award Procedure:

All applications will be initially screened for eligibility and compliance with the requirements stated in the program Notice of Funding Opportunity Announcement. Applications passing this screening process will be forwarded for review by the proposal evaluation criteria, and any additional review factors, as stated in the funding announcement. State and District Office level and funding recommendations are made through the State's annual work plan. Final budget approvals rest with the State Director.

Deadlines:

Contact the headquarters or regional location, as appropriate for application deadlines.

Range of Approval/Disapproval Time:

Other. Award time varies depending on the type and complexity of the project, but should not be more than five years. Further information will be available for each program at the time the Notice of Funding Opportunity is posted on www.grants.gov and may be obtained by contacting the point of contact listed in the funding opportunity announcement. Most awards are anticipated within 90 days or less after the announcement closes.

Appeals:

Other. Final award decisions are not subject to appeal; however, the Bureau of Land Management will provide all applicants with information on why their proposal was not selected for award.

Joint Fire Science Program,

FEDERAL AGENCY:

BUREAU OF LAND MANAGEMENT, INTERIOR, DEPARTMENT OF THE AUTHORIZATION:

Federal Land Policy and Management Act of 1976, Public Law 94-579, 43 USC Code 1737 (b).

OBJECTIVES:

This program continues to advance the Administrations priorities to to prioritize efforts to reduce climate pollution; support climate resilience; support land conservation and biodiversity efforts, including the 30 by 30 initiative; maximize clean energy development and deployment. The Joint Fire Science Program encourages interested parties to perform research and studies pertaining to wildland fire and resource management, to enhance decision-making ability of fire, fuels, natural resource, and land managers and others to meet management objectives. This program solicits research and science delivery proposals that respond to its announcements for proposals that seek information on critical wildland fire and fuels issues, as well as related issues of post-fire recovery, smoke management, and the human dimensions of fire.

PROGRAM ACCOMPLISHMENTS:

Fiscal Year 2020: JFSP funded 32 GRIN projects that support graduate students to enhance interaction with fire and fuels managers. Funded four projects to assess fuel breaks and fuel break systems, and funded three to reduce damages and losses to valued resources. The JFSP funds and provides oversight to a national collaborative of 15 regional wildland fire science exchanges: the Fire Science Exchange Network (FSEN). The FSEN provides the most relevant, current wildland fire science information to federal, state, local, tribal, and private stakeholders within ecologically similar regions. In Fiscal Year 2020 JFSP funded three FSEN projects via cooperative agreement. Fiscal Year 2021: JFSP projects are focused on continued support for the Fire Science Exchange Network (FSEN) and we anticipate funding four FSEN projects. The program will continue to fund graduate students through the Graduate Research Innovation (GRIN) program and anticipate funding 12 GRIN projects. JFSP research is focused on two main research areas. Sources and distribution of human-caused ignitions and their impacts on wildfire and reducing damages and losses to valued resources from wildfire. We anticipate funding five proposals in these two topic areas. Fiscal Year 2022: JFSP will be focused on continued support for the Fire Science Exchange Network (FSEN) and the Graduate Research Innovation (GRIN) program. Research focus areas will be social and ecological recovery of communities impacted by wildfire and collaborative development of ecosystem mapping products for fire and fuels management.

15.228 BLM Wildland Urban Interface Community Fire Assistance;

EXAMPLES OF FUNDED PROJECTS:

2020 JFSP research focus was on assessing fuel breaks and fuel break systems and reducing damages and losses to valued resources. Examples of projects funded are: Assessment of fuel break performance: fire risk, ecology, and economy and Evaluating fuel treatment efficacy in reducing risk of high-severity fire and downstream impacts. 2021 JFSP will continue to fund research related to managing wildland fuels, fires and fire impacted ecosystems. 2022 JFSP is projected to continue to fund research related to managing wildland fuels, fires and fire impacted ecosystems.

CRITERIA FOR SELECTING PROPOSALS:

Proposals are peer-reviewed. The twelve person Joint Fire Science Program Governing Board will analyze peer review comments and make all funding decisions. General criteria used to select assistance proposals are based on their direct relationship to federal wildland fire management, qualifications of principal investigator and institution, and a balanced review including relevance to program objectives, merit and cost effectiveness. Joint Fire Science Program proposals will be reviewed for relevancy in relation to the posted announcement for proposals task statement, scientific methods and study design, science deliverables, collaboration/leverage, and administrative adequacy. Successful proposals will provide a strong science delivery and application plan that clearly demonstrates the use of both passive and active technology transfer methods.

15.233 Forest and Woodlands Resource Management

FEDERAL AGENCY:

BUREAU OF LAND MANAGEMENT, INTERIOR, DEPARTMENT OF THE AUTHORIZATION:

Federal Land Policy and Management Act of 1976 (FLPMA) 43 USC Code 1737.(b). Watershed Restoration and Enhancement Agreements 16 USC Code 1101 (b). Stewardship End Results Contracting Projects, 16 USC Code 6591c.(c).

OBJECTIVES:

The Bureau of Land Management (BLM) Forest and Woodland Resource Management Program manages and conserves 58 million acres of forest and woodland in 12 western States and Alaska. These forests provide a range of ecosystem services including wildlife habitat, hydrologic function, and sustainable harvest of forest products valued by society. A primary activity of the program is to maintain and improve the resilience of forest and woodland ecosystems to wildfire, insects, disease, and drought through density management using timber sales, and Stewardship agreements. The goals of the program is to implement science-based forest restoration projects to improve forest health and resilience to wildfires, insects, disease, and drought. Sustainable harvest of forests and woodlands to produce a continuous supply of wood products and biomass for renewable energy. Salvage dead and dying timber to reduce fuels, in balance with the need for wildlife habitat, watershed function, and soil stability, while supporting local economies. Provide the public with commercial and personal use opportunities to harvest products such as firewood, Christmas trees, boughs, greenery, medicinal plants, fence posts, and pinyon pine nuts from forests and woodlands. Removal of beetle-killed timber to reduce the risk of catastrophic fire and minimize risks to the recreating public.

TYPES OF ASSISTANCE:

PROGRAM ACCOMPLISHMENTS:

Fiscal Year 2020: Continued to use agreements including Good Neighbor to implement restoration and fuels reduction treatments across forest and woodlands. Projects included forest thinning to improve resilience to wildfire, insect, and disease, hazardous fuels reduction treatments, chemical treatment of invasive weeds, and vegetation treatment to improve wildlife habitat. Fiscal Year 2021: Projects to protect and restore whitebark pine. Treatment included thinning competing tree species around whitebark pine (daylighting) to promote fire resilience and tree vigor. Whitebark pine stands were also protected using verbenone to repel insect attack. Project partner training workshops on aspen restoration, protection, and management. Fiscal Year 2022: Expect to treat forest and woodlands to improve resilience and to increase efforts toward reforestation of lands impacted by high severity wildfire and insect epidemics. Part of this effort will entail identifying BLM lands where there has been a loss of forest and woodland cover.

15.237 Rangeland Resource Management;

EXAMPLES OF FUNDED PROJECTS:

2020 The BLM supported a number of projects in FY2020 including projects to protect and restore whitebark pine. Treatment included thinning competing tree species around whitebark pine (daylighting) to promote fire resilience and tree vigor. Whitebark pine stands were also protected using verbenone to repel insect attack. Another example project included technical assistance with training on aspen restoration, protection, and management. 2021 BLM continued to seek projects to treat forest and woodlands to improve resilience and expects to increase efforts toward reforestation of lands impacted by high severity wildfire and insect epidemics. Part of this effort will entail identifying BLM lands where there has been a loss of forest and woodland cover. In addition, the BLM is seeking proposals from Indian tribes that are eligible under the Tribal Forest Protection Act and Tribal Biomass Demonstration Projects. 2022 Projects in FY2022 will continue to build on FY2021 and those priorities.

CRITERIA FOR SELECTING PROPOSALS:

First Level Screening -Basic Eligibility. Applications will be screened by the Grants Management Officer to ensure that applications meet basic eligibility requirements. Must meet the requirements of the Notice of Funding Opportunity posted on www.grants.gov, screening may include, but is not limited to: Program and/or legislative authority requirements are met; Submission is timely; and complete and properly executed SF-424 application package documents. B. Applications must satisfy basic eligibility screening requirements to be considered for further review. Second Level Evaluation -- Merit Review Evaluation is stated in each Notice of Funding Opportunity noticed post on www.grants.gov Third Level Review Pre-Award Clearance and Approvals. BLM will also complete a business evaluation and determination of responsibility. During these evaluations the Grants Management Officer will evaluate variables such as: Federal Awardee Performance and Integrity Information System, financial stability, quality of management systems, past performance meeting prior award terms and conditions, reports and findings of audits performed, and applicants ability to effectively implement statutory, regulatory or other requirements.

15.234 Secure Rural Schools and Community Self-Determination

FEDERAL AGENCY:

BUREAU OF LAND MANAGEMENT, INTERIOR, DEPARTMENT OF THE AUTHORIZATION:

Secure Rural Schools and Community Self-Determination Act of 2000, Public Law 106-393, Title II, as reauthorized by: the Emergency Economic Stabilization Act of 2008, Public Law 110-343; the Moving Ahead for Progress in the 21st Century Act, Public Law 112-141; the Helium Stewardship Act, Public Law 113-40; and then reauthorized in 2015 under Public Law 114-10. Note that PL 113-40 expired on September 30 2015.,

OBJECTIVES:

This program continues to advance the Administrations priorities to create a conservation stewardship legacy while generating revenue and utilizing our natural resources. BLMs continued commitment to reduce and streamline its processes and procedures to serve its customers and the public better and faster across all its program areas. These reforms allow the Bureau to realign time and resources to completing important on-the-groundwork. To restore stability and predictability to the annual payments made to States and counties containing National Forest System lands and Oregon and California and Coos Bay Wagon Road lands managed by the Bureau of Land Management for use by the counties for the benefit of public schools, roads, and other purposes.

TYPES OF ASSISTANCE:

15.236 Environmental Quality and Protection

FEDERAL AGENCY:

BUREAU OF LAND MANAGEMENT, INTERIOR, DEPARTMENT OF THE AUTHORIZATION:

Federal Land Policy and Management Act (FLPMA) of 1976, 43 USC Code 1737(b). Watershed Restoration and Enhancement Agreements, 16 USC Code 1011, Public Law 104-208, Section 124, as amended Public Law 105-277, Section 135; and Consolidated Appropriations Act of 2008, Public Law 110-161, Division F, Section 125.

OBJECTIVES:

The Bureau of Land Management (BLM) and its cooperative government and nongovernmental conservation partners, mitigate hazards to protect public health and safety, and restore watersheds for resources, recreation, fish, wildlife and domestic animals, and return lands to productive uses including, but not limited to, recreation, fish and wildlife habitat, and preservation of historical/cultural resources. Extractive industry activities of the past, including both underground and surface mining and oil and gas drilling, have left degraded watersheds on public lands throughout (State). Unreclaimed sites pose an environmental threat to groundwater, surface water and soil as well as create a risk to the health and safety of public land users. Mitigation measures are implemented through core programs such as: 1). Abandoned Mine Land (AML) program, which addresses physical safety hazards and water quality through restoration of abandoned hardrock mines. 2). Orphan Well Program, which remediates oil and gas wells improperly abandoned, and seeks to plug them in accordance with state regulations and rules; 3). Educational outreach about the potential dangers posed to the public and recreationists from AML and orphaned well sites. This program continues to advance the Department of the Interiors priorities to address the climate crisis, restore balance on public lands and waters, advance environmental justice, and invest in a clean energy future. The BLMs AML Program and Orphan Well Project support these priorities by focusing efforts in the following areas: 1) environmental compliance, and the identification, inventory, cleanup and remediation of legacy contaminated sites and features; 2) immediate response to releases of hazardous substances, wastes and materials onto public lands; 3) mitigation of priority AML and Orphan Well contaminated and physical safety sites and features; 4) improving all BLM environmental programs via an environmental management system including environmental audits; and, 5) providing program training and awareness. Through these focused efforts, BLM will also strengthen Environmental Justice (EJ) actions to ensure fair treatment and meaningful involvement of EJ and disadvantaged communities/stakeholders during the CERCLA and RCRA planning and cleanup processes. The AML Program and Orphan Well Project will contribute to the conversation and restoration of approximately 30% of our lands and waters by the year 2030 by reducing the contamination levels. Additionally, this will help ensure that public land users are not at risk from the dangers of legacy mining and oil and gas activities.

TYPES OF ASSISTANCE:

Cooperative Agreements (Discretionary Grants)

USES AND USE RESTRICTIONS:

Partnership projects are limited to public lands administered by the Bureau of Land Management located mostly in the Western United States and Alaska unless other specific legislative authority exists. Hazmat and Abandoned Mine Land projects will support: inventory and site assessments; mitigation, remediation, and restoration activities; and maintenance and monitoring of actions taken. Funded projects will protect public health, safety and environmental resources by eliminating contamination and hazards and restoring natural resources. The Soil, Water and Air Program Support: soil survey and interpretation, ecological site determination, soil erosion control, and sustaining soil productivity; acquisition of water rights and inventory of water resources to assure availability of water to meet management objectives; monitoring and improvement of quality, and implementation of appropriate best management practices; Colorado River Basin salinity control activities; and air resource management including air quality, visibility, noise, climate, and climate change issues.

PROGRAM ACCOMPLISHMENTS:

Fiscal Year 2020: In FY2020, the BLM 1644 Abandoned Mine Lands (AML) program successfully utilized grants and agreements with state agencies, NGOs, other Federal Agencies, etc., to complete the following types of AML program-specific work: AML physical safety site inventory; AML physical safety closure; AML environmental cleanup; Threatened & Endangered species surveys; Cultural surveys and Wildlife and Bat surveys and counts Studies. Because of the remoteness of most BLM AML sites, work is often combined. For instance, the survey work for plants and wildlife can be done at the same time.

Accomplishments for FY2020 for AML program-specific work were as follows: Wildlife, Bat, and Threatened & Endangered Species Surveys / 145; AML site surveys / 365; AML site studies / 12 AML physical safety closures / 135; AML environmental cleanups / 5. Fiscal Year 2021: BLM will partner with organizations to accomplish the following types of activities: Identify and prioritize abandoned mines and orphaned wells that most affect at-risk resources and functioning ecosystems; Prioritize orphaned well site physical safety closure projects in a manner that is centrally focused on achieving cost-savings; Develop methods to reclaim and restore sites impacted by past mining and/or drilling; Reclaim abandoned mine lands to productive uses including, but not limited to, recreation, fish and wildlife habitat, and preservation of historical/cultural resources; Reduce inventory of unreclaimed abandoned mines and orphaned wells; Reduce liabilities by eliminating or reducing risks posed by abandoned mines and orphaned wells; Reduce environmental degradation caused by abandoned mines and orphaned wells; Establish partnerships, where possible, with States, local governments, Tribes, and voluntary environmental and citizen groups to pool resources and expertise to address abandoned mines; Integrate abandoned mine land support into land use planning efforts; Apply the "polluter pays" principle applied to achieve cost avoidance/cost recovery for funding AML projects wherever possible; Assure that remediation actions are effective and that lessons learned through post-project monitoring and study benefit risk- and pollution-reducing efforts; Educate the public about the potential dangers posed by abandoned mines and the actions the BLM takes to address those dangers; Provide public outreach and education to interested stakeholders about the potential dangers posed by abandoned mines and orphan wells. Fiscal Year 2022: BLM project to accomplish the same types of activities as in FY21 and support DOI priorities by Identify and prioritize abandoned mines and orphaned wells that most affect at-risk resources and functioning ecosystems; Prioritize orphaned well site physical safety closure projects in a manner that is centrally focused on achieving cost-savings; Develop methods to reclaim and restore sites impacted by past mining and/or drilling; Reclaim abandoned mine lands to productive uses including, but not limited to, recreation, fish and wildlife habitat, and preservation of historical/cultural resources; Reduce inventory of unreclaimed abandoned mines and orphaned wells; Reduce liabilities by eliminating or reducing risks posed by abandoned mines and orphaned wells; Reduce environmental degradation caused by abandoned mines and orphaned wells; Establish partnerships, where possible, with States, local governments, Tribes, and voluntary environmental and citizen groups to pool resources and expertise to address abandoned mines; Integrate abandoned mine land support into land use planning efforts; Apply the "polluter pays" principle applied to achieve cost avoidance/cost recovery for funding AML projects wherever possible; Assure that remediation actions are effective and that lessons learned through post-project monitoring and study benefit risk- and pollution-reducing efforts; Educate the public about the potential dangers posed by abandoned mines and the actions the BLM takes to address those dangers; Provide public outreach and education to interested stakeholders about the potential dangers posed by abandoned mines and orphan wells.

15.237 Rangeland Resource Management

FEDERAL AGENCY:

BUREAU OF LAND MANAGEMENT, INTERIOR, DEPARTMENT OF THE AUTHORIZATION:

Federal Land Policy and Management Act of 1976 (FLPMA), 43 USC Code 1737(b). Public Law 104-208, Section 124, as amended by PL 105-277, Section 136, as amended by PL 108-7, Section 135., Watershed Restoration and Enhancement Agreements (aka The Wyden Amendment), 16 USC Code 1011.

OBJECTIVES:

The Bureau of Land Management (BLM) Rangeland Management Program administers grazing for more than 155 million acres of public land. This includes, but is not limited to, such things as inventorying, controlling and managing noxious weeds and invasive species; improving rangelands through grazing management, vegetation restoration treatments, and grazing management structures; and soil resource management. Coordination with land managers and other stakeholders is conducted to complete priority soil surveys, ecological site descriptions, and on-the-ground projects to improve soil stability and reduce erosion. Appropriate management of rangeland and soil resources also support actions and authorizations that include, but is not limited to, such things as endangered and special status species recovery, grazing of domestic livestock, recreation, forest management, hazardous fuels reduction, and post fire rehabilitation. To better support land management decisions regarding grazing and other range management treatments, soils management, and invasive species, the BLM will place a priority on collecting data through the use of consistent, comparable, and common indicators, consistent methods, and an unbiased sampling framework which will allow for analyses that are repeatable and comparable across a region, and decisions based on science and data that are legally defensible. Land health assessments completed at a larger scale will be more efficient and less costly over time and provide timely support for decision-making. The Rangeland Management program conducts inventories, assessments and evaluations of soil and vegetation conditions and land health. Monitoring data is collected and analyzed to ensure progress toward meeting land health standards. Funded projects under this program will focus on high priority work such as activities that support maintaining or achieving land health and productivity, increasing carbon sequestration, and creating resilient landscapes to benefit current and future generations.

BUREAU OF LAND MANAGEMENT, INTERIOR, DEPARTMENT OF THE AUTHORIZATION:

Title H.R.- 133 CONSOLIDATED APPROPRIATIONS ACT, 2021, Part Division G, Title 1, Section 111, Public Law 116-260

OBJECTIVES:

To provide a variety of Bureau of Land Management financial assistance awards not covered by any other program entry. This program will support mission program efforts for the management, protection, and development of public lands managed by the Bureau of Land Management and continues to advance the Department of the Interior's priorities to address the climate crisis, restore balance on public lands and waters, advance environmental justice, and invest in a clean energy future. Awards are typically supported by funding one-time specific legislation and internal projects and programs. During FY 21 this program covered the Experienced Services Program (ESP), which provides services to the Bureau of Land Management (BLM) Offices on projects that support the BLMs mission. ESP participants provide technical assistance and support to BLM in the development and execution of activities that benefit the general public and provide support to BLM employees. The program will provide opportunities to qualified individuals 55 years of age and older, who have specific technical skills and abilities not available or underrepresented at current BLM staffing levels. The ESP participants will not replace or displace current BLM employees.

TYPES OF ASSISTANCE:

Cooperative Agreements (Discretionary Grants)

USES AND USE RESTRICTIONS:

Recipients will use funding to cover overhead or administrative costs to fulfill its obligations under the cooperative agreement, as well as salary and benefits for enrollees. Overhead or administrative costs may include payroll and benefits management, required reporting, and providing interactive portal for enrollee supervisors, among others. Authorizing legislation (P.L. 116-260, Sec. 111) specifies that Program activities may not: (1) result in the displacement of individuals currently employed by the Department of the Interior, including partial displacement through reduction of non-overtime hours, wages, or employment benefits; (2) result in the use of an individual under the Department of the Interior Experienced Services Program for a job or function in a case in which a Federal employee is in a layoff status from the same or substantially equivalent job within the Department; or (3) affect existing contracts for services.

Applicant Eligibility:

Public nonprofit institution/organization (includes institutions of higher education and hospitals); Individuals (Americans, age 55 years and older) who qualify for temporary positions, as described in approved position descriptions provided by the BLM. These individuals may include Federal pension recipients

Must meet the requirements of the Notice of Funding Opportunity posted on www.grants.gov, screening may include, but is not limited to: Program and/or legislative authority requirements are met; Submission is timely; and complete and properly executed SF-424 application package documents. B. Applications must satisfy basic eligibility screening requirements to be considered for further review. Second Level Evaluation -- Merit Review Evaluation is stated in each Notice of Funding Opportunity noticed post on www.grants.gov Third Level Review Pre-Award Clearance and Approvals. BLM will also complete a business evaluation and determination of responsibility. During these evaluations the Grants Management Officer will evaluate variables such as: Federal Awardee Performance and Integrity Information System, financial stability, quality of management systems, past performance meeting prior award terms and conditions, reports and findings of audits performed, and applicants ability to effectively implement statutory, regulatory or other requirements.

15.245 Plant Conservation and Restoration Management

FEDERAL AGENCY:

BUREAU OF LAND MANAGEMENT, INTERIOR, DEPARTMENT OF THE AUTHORIZATION:

Federal Land Policy and Management Act of 1976 (FLPMA) 43 USC Code 1737 (b). Watershed Restoration and Enhancement Agreements (aka The Wyden Amendment) 16 USC Code 1011.

OBJECTIVES:

This program continues to advance the Administrations priorities to tackle the climate crisis and the 30 x 30 goals. The Plant Conservation and Restoration Management Program was created in response to large-scale wildfires in the Western U.S. Because of a lack of native seed, in 2001 Congress directed the Bureau of Land Management (BLM) to establish a native plant material program and recommended that federal and non-federal partners coordinate efforts through the Plant Conservation Alliance established in 1994 (House Report 106-914). The Plant Conservation Program provides leadership in identifying, maintaining, and restoring Western native plant communities on public lands. Public lands contain a diversity of wildlife that need habitat of native plant communities comprised of over 50 ecoregions across BLM administered lands. Each ecoregion contains native plants that have adapted to those environments. The Program will continue to work with agencies and partners to increase the efficiency and effectiveness of the Plant Conservation & Restoration Program. Into the future, the BLM will continue to work with partners to focus on more diverse forbs and grasses for restoration of wildlife habitats and rehabilitation after wildfires. BLM is focusing work in areas to facilitate meeting the priorities of the Administration, Secretary, Congressional appropriations, and the Bureau. Accessibility to native plant materials is crucial for the restoration of public lands.

TYPES OF ASSISTANCE:

Cooperative Agreements (Discretionary Grants), Training

USES AND USE RESTRICTIONS:

Projects are primarily conducted on lands administered by the BLM but may also be conducted on other public or private lands. Most of these lands are located in the Western United States and Alaska. Assistance can be used to help protect, restore, and enhance native plant communities and rare plants, and to provide related public contact/education opportunities. No regular discretionary fund is available. Funding is highly variable each fiscal year.

Applicant Eligibility:

State (includes District of Columbia, public institutions of higher education and hospitals); Local (includes State-designated Indian Tribes, excludes institutions of higher education and hospitals); Public nonprofit institution/organization (includes institutions of higher education and hospitals); Other public institution/organization; Federally Recognized Indian Tribal Governments; Private

15.246 Threatened and Endangered Species

FEDERAL AGENCY:

BUREAU OF LAND MANAGEMENT, INTERIOR, DEPARTMENT OF THE AUTHORIZATION:

Federal Land Policy and Management Act of 1976, 43 USC 1737 (b); Watershed Restoration and Enhancement Agreements (aka The Wyden Amendment), 16 USC 1011, PL 104-208, Section 124, as amended by PL 105-277, Section 136, as amended by PL 108-7, Section 135; Plant Protection Act of 2000 (PL 106-224), Federal Noxious Weed Act of 1974 (Sections 1 and 15), 7 USC 2814; P.L. 93-629, as amended by PL 101-624.,

OBJECTIVES:

The T&E Species Program has an important role in furthering the Administrations priorities including restoring landscape connectivity and function, conserving and restoring lands to combat climate change, restoring legacy disturbances, supporting the Civilian Climate Corps, conserving biodiversity, reducing species extinctions, increasing recovery success, and using the best science and data available to make decisions, provide decision support, and adaptively manage. The BLM, as a federal agency, is required under the Endangered Species Act of 1973 to carry out programs to protect and recover threatened and endangered (T&E) species and the ecosystems upon which they depend and implements tasks identified in T&E recovery plans developed by the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service (USFWS) and National Marine Fisheries Service. The BLM also implements conservation actions for sensitive and candidate species to preclude the need for federal listing. The Threatened and Endangered Species Program works to conserve and recover federally-listed animal and plant species and their habitat on public lands and shares cooperative responsibility with other BLM programs and partners for conservation of candidate and sensitive species. The scope of the T&E Species Program spans all taxa that merit designation under the Endangered Species Act, providing a cross section of the most imperiled species of mammals, reptiles, birds, amphibians, invertebrates, fish, and plants. As of 2021, 430 federally threatened and endangered species and over 20 federal candidate species occur within BLM jurisdiction. Public lands often provide the key habitat for species recovery and conservation. Managing more land than any other federal agency, the BLM plays a pivotal and substantive role in species recovery. Due to the commingling of federal and nonfederal lands, the BLMs proactive commitment to conserve threatened and endangered species is essential to federal, state, and non-governmental organizations in meeting our mutual interest of species recovery. Collaboration on conservation endeavors with the ultimate goal to increase threatened and endangered species populations and manage and restore habitat of these federal trust wildlife, fish and plants within the public domain, serves a public purpose as required in cooperative agreements.

First Level Screening -Basic Eligibility. Applications will be screened by the Grants Management Officer to ensure that applications meet basic eligibility requirements. Must meet the requirements of the Notice of Funding Opportunity posted on www.grants.gov, screening may include, but is not limited to: Program and/or legislative authority requirements are met; Submission is timely; and complete and properly executed SF-424 application package documents. B. Applications must satisfy basic eligibility screening requirements to be considered for further review. Second Level Evaluation -- Merit Review Evaluation is stated in each Notice of Funding Opportunity noticed post on www.grants.gov Third Level Review Pre-Award Clearance and Approvals. The BLM will also complete a business evaluation and determination of responsibility. During these evaluations the Grants Management Officer will evaluate variables such as: Federal Awardee Performance and Integrity Information System, financial stability, quality of management systems, past performance meeting prior award terms and conditions, reports and findings of audits performed, and applicants ability to effectively implement statutory, regulatory or other requirements

15.247 Wildlife Resource Management

FEDERAL AGENCY:

BUREAU OF LAND MANAGEMENT, INTERIOR, DEPARTMENT OF THE AUTHORIZATION:

Federal Land Policy and Management Act of 1976, (FLPMA) 43 USC Code 1737 (b). Watershed Restoration and Enhancement Agreements, 16 USC Code 1101 (b).

OBJECTIVES:

The Wildlife Program fulfills the Department of the Interior visions of improving the management of species and their habitats, enhancing conservation stewardship, and upholding trust and related responsibilities. The Wildlife Program helps ensure self-sustaining populations and a natural abundance and diversity of wildlife on public lands for the enjoyment and use of present and future generations. Healthy BLM-managed lands are vital to thousands of species of mammals, birds, reptiles, amphibians, and invertebrates. In order to provide for the long-term conservation of these wildlife resources and maintain natural biodiversity, the Wildlife Program supports coordinated science-based approaches to address the habitat needs of species and to ensure habitat connectivity and climate resiliency. This multi-scale approach involves coordination with BLM offices and other programs; Federal, state, and tribal governments; and non-governmental partners to accomplish projects and coordinated management at appropriate scales. This includes species monitoring and coordinated habitat conservation and restoration across wildlife populations. The BLMs primary partners in wildlife habitat conservation include the respective state fish and wildlife agencies, tribal governments, and the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service. The Wildlife Program also collaborates with other agencies and numerous conservation partners to leverage resources and maximize the benefits for wildlife habitat. The Program is responsible for maintaining, restoring, and conserving species and their habitats in cooperation with the Federal and State wildlife agencies, and other partner organizations. The BLM uses the latest geospatial data technologies to share wildlife and wildlife data within BLM and with partners to work more efficiently.

TYPES OF ASSISTANCE:

Cooperative Agreements (Discretionary Grants)

USES AND USE RESTRICTIONS:

Projects are primarily conducted on lands administered by the BLM but may also be conducted on other public or private lands. Projects not on public lands should demonstrate effects on wildlife resources that share use of public and non-public lands. Projects may also include development of decision support tools and information to enhance wildlife conservation. Most of these lands are located in the Western United States and Alaska. Assistance can be used to help protect, restore, and assess wildlife resources and to provide related public contact/education opportunities. Funding is highly variable each fiscal year.

Applicant Eligibility:

State (includes District of Columbia, public institutions of higher education and hospitals); Local (includes State-designated Indian Tribes, excludes institutions of higher education and hospitals); Public nonprofit institution/organization (includes institutions of higher education and hospitals); Federally Recognized Indian Tribal Governments; Private nonprofit institution/organization (includes institutions of higher education and hospitals); Quasi-public nonprofit institution/organization; Other private institutions/organizations; Native American Organizations (includes Indian groups, cooperatives, corporations, partnerships, associations); Anyone/general public with the exception of other federal agencies. Applicants must competitively apply to postings on Grants.gov to opportunities posted by the office that has funding and the desire to accomplish conservation cooperatively with an applicant that can deliver to a level of public purpose that addresses the wildlife conservation need outlined in the opportunity listing.

Beneficiary Eligibility:

Anyone/general public; All Public Land users.

Credentials/Documentation:

2 CFR 200, Sub-part E - Cost Principles applies to this program.

Preapplication Coordination:

Pre-application coordination is required. An environmental impact statement is required for this listing. An environmental impact assessment is required for this listing. This program is eligible for coverage under E.O. 12372, "Intergovernmental Review of Federal Programs." An applicant should consult the office or official designated as the single point of contact in his or her State for more information on the process the State requires to be followed in applying for assistance, if the State has selected the program for review. For more information and local requirements, cooperative project proposals should be coordinated with the Bureau of Land Management local State, or District or Field offices.

Application Procedures:

Fiscal Year 2020: Worked with the National Fish and Wildlife Foundation (NFWF) to restore Big Game habitat in priority corridors on BLM Public Lands as identified by AZ, CA, CO, ID, OR, MT, NV, NM, UT, WA, and WY game & fish agencies. Fiscal Year 2021: Worked with Backcountry Hunters and Anglers to coordinate volunteer workforce to assist state and field offices with on-the-ground restoration projects. Developed an agreement with Mule Deer Foundation to help foster cross-boundary big game habitat restoration projects throughout the West. Continued to work with NFWF on soliciting habitat restoration projects that benefit big game and other wildlife in priority corridors. Worked closely with the Wildlife Management Institute, Association of Fish and Wildlife Agencies, and the Wildlife Society to support interagency coordination and information exchange, provide training and research updates to key BLM staff. Fiscal Year 2022: Program expects to continue with consolidation and analysis of available AIM Pollinator Supplemental Indicator data regarding pollinator habitat assessments, developing and implementing a BLM-wide standardized native bee inventory and monitoring protocol.

than 34 million acres, recognized for outstanding conservation values and designated for special management by Acts of Congress or Presidential Proclamations. The BLM manages these special areas to maintain and enhance their conservation values with the goal to conserve, protect, and restore these important landscapes and their outstanding cultural, ecological, and scientific values. The National Conservation Lands protect a myriad of rare species, diverse habitats and ecosystems, historic properties, and cultural resources. These designated lands help ensure that the Nations extraordinary biodiversity and cultural heritage will be sustained for present and future generations to enjoy. More than one-fourth of all recreation on BLM lands occur on National Conservation Lands. They provide opportunities for recreationists of all kinds, such as white-water rafters, rock climbers, hunters, fishermen, hikers, skiers, and off-highway vehicle riders. The BLM manages units that include over 2,700 recreation sites and 22 visitor centers, and serve approximately 14 million visitors annually. The National Conservation Lands include the following unit designations: National Monuments and National Conservation Areas; Wilderness/Wilderness Study Areas; National Wild and Scenic Rivers; National Scenic and Historic Trails; and California Desert National Conservation Lands

TYPES OF ASSISTANCE:

Cooperative Agreements (Discretionary Grants)

USES AND USE RESTRICTIONS:

The National Conservation Lands program financially supports studies aimed at increasing our understanding of the resources present on BLM lands, the effectiveness of resource management decisions, and the restoration and conservation needs. Projects are primarily conducted on BLM-managed National Conservation Lands, but may also be conducted on other public land adjacent to National Conservation Lands. Projects address themes including Management-Driven research (on-the-ground research that provides information that can directly inform a pertinent and pressing management question) and citizen-supported studies (citizen scientists as assistants in data collection, compilation, or data analysis).

PROGRAM ACCOMPLISHMENTS:

Fiscal Year 2020: BLM entered into 15 agreements in FY2020, awarded to meet responsibilities for science-based resource stewardship. These agreements were consistent with BLM's program themes of Management-Driven Research and Citizen-Supported Studies. BLM worked with numerous eligible applicants to improve our ability to conserve, protect, and restore nationally significant landscapes that have outstanding cultural, ecological, and scientific values for the benefit of current and future generations. Fiscal Year 2021: BLM received 23 applications and anticipates entering into 14 agreements. Awards are for projects which address themes of 'Management-Driven Research' needs and 'Citizen-Supported Studies'. Fiscal Year 2022: BLM estimates receiving approximately 30 applications and making 15 awards.

REGULATIONS, GUIDELINES, AND LITERATURE:

The National Landscape Conservation System (also known as the National Conservation Lands) was legislatively established by the Omnibus Public Land Management Act of 2009 [Public Law 111-111] in order to conserve, protect, and restore nationally significant landscapes that have outstanding cultural, ecological, and scientific values for the benefit of current and future generations. The National Conservation Lands include BLMs National Monuments, National Conservation Areas, Forest Reserves, legislated Outstanding Natural Areas, Cooperative Management and Protection Areas, Wilderness and Wilderness Study Areas, Wild and Scenic Rivers, and National Scenic and Historic Trails. BLM policy states that the BLM will use the best available science in managing NLCS units and that science and the scientific process will inform and guide management decisions concerning NLCS units [BLM Manual 6100(1.6)(A)(9) and (1.6)(F)(1)]. A variety of public interest publications on these programs are available free of charge by contacting the appropriate State Office. Manuals providing basic program operational guidance for the National Landscape Conservation System (BLM Manual 6100), National Monuments, National Conservation Areas, and Similar Designations (BLM Manual 6220), Wild and Scenic Rivers (BLM Manual 6400), National Scenic and Historic Trails (BLM Manual 6280), Wilderness (BLM Manual 6340), and Wilderness Study Areas (BLM Manual 6330) may be obtained by contacting the Headquarters Office.

EXAMPLES OF FUNDED PROJECTS:

2020 Projects funded in FY2020 spanned a diverse array of management and citizen science topics, such as: Assessing pronghorn connectivity among BLM conservation lands across multiple States; Conducting an inventory (survey) of the bee pollinators in a National Conservation Area; Supporting citizen science efforts to inventory and monitor wilderness study area characteristics; Identifying the impacts of volcanic ash episodes on traditional land use activities in a National Conservation Area; and Assessing the paleontological potential of designated areas. 2021 A diverse array of projects were supported, across multiple States and units of the National Conservation Lands. These supported projects include archaeological studies, wildlife projects, recreational impact research, vegetation science, and water quality / public health investigations. 2022 This program is projected to fund projects for studies of desert tortoise diets, sagebrush restoration impacts, inventory and monitoring of wilderness studies, etc.

CRITERIA FOR SELECTING PROPOSALS:

All applications will be initially screened for eligibility and compliance with the requirements stated in the program Notice of Funding Opportunity Announcement. First Level Screening -Basic Eligibility. Applications will be screened by the Grants Management Officer to ensure that applications meet basic eligibility requirements. Must meet the requirements of the Notice of Funding Opportunity posted on www.grants.gov, screening may include, but is not limited to: Program and/or legislative authority requirements are met; Submission is timely; and complete and properly executed SF-424 application package documents. B. Applications must satisfy basic eligibility screening requirements to be considered for further review.Second Level Evaluation -- Merit Review Evaluation. Each State will be responsible for designating a State Evaluation Committee (Committee) with appropriate expertise and professional qualifications for the Merit Review Evaluation. The BLM State Offices will evaluate proposals only for their specific State. The Committee will review, rate, and recommend eligible applications for award in an objective and unbiased manner using the below evaluation criteria. An overall consensus rating will be determined for each application and submitted to BLM Washington Office, National Conservation Lands Division. Projects will be evaluated by the State Evaluation Committee in a two-step process.Step 1: Assess proposal relevance to themes and coordination with BLMa.The Project clearly addresses one or both of the themes listed above (Yes or No).b.There is clear demonstration of coordination with the appropriate State Lead or unit manager in project design, implementation, and development of management application (Yes or No).Projects that do not meet both of these criteria will not be considered for funding.Step 2: Rate each proposal that addresses one or more theme and demonstrates BLM coordination using the following criteriaa.The project products will have direct management application, i.e. address an important conservation and management decision. There is clear demonstration of the management issue being addressed and how well the information from the project feeds back to that management issue. The form or manner in which the project products will be made available for use by decision-makers or other intended users is clearly defined (e.g., technical reports, decision support tool, new or improved management technique(s)).b.Technical Merit Objectives are clearly stated, procedures are well designed, results are attainable, quantifiable estimates will be statistically reliable and comparable to other studies. There is a clear statement of project objectives and explanation as to how the proposed approach and methods are a technically sound and feasible way to meet those objectives.c.The project addresses a BLM priority Maximum score is given if the proposal clearly states how it will address a BLM priority (i.e., environmentally-responsible development of energy and minerals; effective management of borderlands; supporting working landscapes; managing multiple-uses on public lands; supporting traditional land uses such as grazing; or providing access to hunting, fishing, and other recreational opportunities on the National Conservation Lands).d.The project clearly demonstrates a public benefit Projects which clearly demonstrate dissemination of information to the public or other public benefits will receive higher scores.3.Third Level Review BLM Washington Office, National Conservation Lands Division. The National Office will have a national committee with membership based on expertise and professional qualification to review applications. Eligible applications will be evaluated in an objective and unbiased manner with the following merit review criteria. An overall consensus rating will be determined for each application. The ratings and proposals will be submitted to the Assistant Director of the National Conservation Lands and Community Partnerships for funding determinations. a.State Evaluation Committee Rankingb.Projects scope has broad regional or national conservation relevance in line with BLMs priorities Higher scores given to projects with broader regional or national application compared to projects that have significant but local application. 4.Fourth Level Review - Pre-award Clearance and ApprovalsFollowing the described review process, BLM will also complete a business evaluation and determination of responsibility. During these evaluations the Grants Management Officer will evaluate variables such as:

- Risk Management. The BLM uses a risk-based approach to evaluate the risk posed by the supporting applicants projects before it awards Federal funds.
- BLM is required to review information available through OMB-designated eligibility and/or financial integrity databases, such as the Federal Awardee Performance and Integrity Information System (FAPIIS). The BLM considers factors such as:
 - Financial stability;
 - Quality of management systems;
 - History of performance managing Federal awards, timeliness of compliance with reporting requirements, conformance to the terms and conditions of previous Federal awards, etc.;
 - Reports and findings from audits performed; and
 - The applicants ability to effectively implement statutory, regulatory, or other requirements imposed on non-Federal entities.
- Budget review is based on the following:
 - Budget line items must be allowable, allocable, reasonable in price, and appropriate for the level of effort needed to accomplish the project
 - Budget details and justification must provide adequate explanation of, and justification for, each estimated cost
 - Requested equipment must be justified and necessary for completion of the project
 - Cost Sharing/Matching funds must not come from Federal fundsIf the results of all pre-award reviews and clearances are satisfactory, an award of funding will be made once the agreement is finalized. If the BLM determines that a Federal award will be made, special conditions that correspond to the degree of risk assessed may be applied to the Federal award
- If the results of pre-award reviews and clearances are unsatisfactory, consideration of funding for the project may be withdrawn.

15.250 Regulation of Surface Coal Mining and Surface Effects of Underground Coal Mining Regulatory Grant Program,

FEDERAL AGENCY:

OFFICE OF SURFACE MINING, RECLAMATION AND ENFORCEMENT, INTERIOR, DEPARTMENT OF THE

AUTHORIZATION:

Surface Mining Control and Reclamation Act of 1977, Public Law 95-87, 91 Stat. 445-532., Title Surface Mining Control and Reclamation Act of 1977, Part Public Law 95-87, Section 91 Stat. 445-532

OBJECTIVES:

To assist the States and Tribes with active coal mining in administering approved regulatory programs.

TYPES OF ASSISTANCE:

Direct Payments for Specified Use, Project Grants

USES AND USE RESTRICTIONS:

Grants for permanent program development are available to fund staff and related costs in connection with preparing legislative proposals; preparing regulations; preparing permanent program applications to the Office of Surface Mining Reclamation and Enforcement (OSMRE); and for other related purposes.

Administration and Enforcement grants are awarded to assist qualified recipients that have received approval to operate permanent regulatory programs. Funded cooperative agreements provide for the regulation of coal mining activities on Federal lands. Technical assistance is available on any aspect of regulating surface impacts of coal mining.

Applicant Eligibility:

Federally Recognized Indian Tribal Governments; State; The State must have an approved program to regulate surface coal mining and a designated State agency to receive administration and enforcement regulatory grants.

Beneficiary Eligibility:

State; State agencies responsible for regulation, reclamation and enforcement of provisions protecting the environment from negative effects of coal mining operations.

Credentials/Documentation:

The Governor of a State designates an agency to act as recipient of the grant or funded cooperative agreement. 2 CFR 200, Sub-part E - Cost Principles applies to this program.

Preapplication Coordination:

Pre-application coordination is required. Environmental impact information is not required for this program. This program is eligible for coverage under E.O. 12372, "Intergovernmental Review of Federal Programs." An applicant should consult the office or official designated as the single point of contact in his or her State for more information on the process the State requires to be followed in applying for assistance, if the State has selected the program for review. No preapplication is required.

Application Procedures:

2 CFR 200, Uniform Administrative Requirements, Cost Principles, and Audit Requirements for Federal Awards applies to this program. The standard application SF 424 Application for Federal Assistance forms required by 2 CFR Part 215.12 and 43 CFR Part 12, Subpart F, or its revisions, must be used. State regulatory grant applications are required to submit applications to their appropriate Regional Office. Applications must be submitted to the appropriate OSM Regional/Field Office. Please contact the appropriate Office of Surface Mining Reclamation and Enforcement Regional Office for assistance.

Award Procedure:

The application will be reviewed by appropriate OSMRE Regional staff within 60 days of receipt of application and approval by the OSMRE Regional Office is required. If the application is not approved, the Regional Office must set forth in writing the reasons for disapproval and may propose modifications if appropriate. The applicant may submit the revised application or appropriate revised portions of the application.

Deadlines:

Contact the headquarters or regional location, as appropriate for application deadlines.

Range of Approval/Disapproval Time:

Other. The approval/disapproval process is conducted within 30 days.

Appeals:

Other. An applicant may appeal OSM's decision not to approve a grant or to reduce or terminate a grant to the Director, OSM, no later than 30 days after the Regional or Field Office official's decision.

Renewals:

Other. Annual renewal of applications is required for grants.

OBJECTIVES:

In accordance with Section 403(a) of the Surface Mining Control and Reclamation Act, as amended, the objectives are: (1)(A) the protection; of public health, safety, and property from extreme danger of adverse effects of coal mining practices;(B) the restoration of land and water resources and the environment that --(i) have been degraded by the adverse effects of coal mining practices; and(ii) are adjacent to a site that has been or will be remediated under subparagraph (A);(2)(A) the protection of public health and safety from adverse effects of coal mining practices;(B) the restoration of land and water resources and the environment that - (i) have been degraded by the adverse effects of coal mining practices; and(ii) are adjacent to a site that has been or will be remediated under subparagraph (A); and(3) the restoration of land and water resources and the environment previously degraded by adverse effects of coal mining practices including measures for the conservation and development of soil, water (excluding channelization), woodland, fish and wildlife, recreation resources, and agricultural productivity.

TYPES OF ASSISTANCE:

Formula Grants, Project Grants

USES AND USE RESTRICTIONS:

Grants are awarded to 25 coal-producing states and three Indian tribes to support the operation of an approved state or tribal Abandoned Mine Land (AML) reclamation program. Approved programs use grant funds provides for the restoration of eligible lands and waters mined and abandoned or left inadequately restored. Most of the lands and water eligible for reclamation under this authority are those which were mined or affected by mining and abandoned or left in an inadequate reclamation status prior to August 3, 1977 and for which there is no continuing reclamation responsibility under State or other Federal laws. A limited number of legacy sites mined after August 3, 1977 and abandoned before November 5, 1990 for which the surety bonds responsible for the reclamation of the site became insolvent. Uses of the grants support project design and AML reclamation activities, which may include abating emergency mining-related dangers to public health and safety; restoring water supply facilities impacted by coal mining; setting aside funds in a trust account to fund future acid mine drainage treatment and inventorying mining problems. Approved programs that have certified completion for reclaiming all their inventoried coal problems on lands within their jurisdiction may use funds for non-coal coal reclamation activities as authorized under SMCRA. Additionally, The Abandoned Mine Land Reclamation Economic Revitalization Program (AMLER) shall be used for economic and community development in conjunction with the priorities found in section 403(a) of the Surface Mining control and Reclamation Act of 1977 (SMCRA) and is limited to eligible Tribes and Appalachian States as authorized under the Appropriation law (Public Law 116-260).

Applicant Eligibility:

Federally Recognized Indian Tribal Governments; State; The AML program is restricted to states with (1) an approved coal mining regulatory program, (2) lands eligible for reclamation, and (3) active coal mining operations within their borders that are paying coal reclamation fees into the Abandoned Mine Reclamation Fund; and to federally-recognized Indian tribes with (4) eligible lands, and (5) active mining operations paying fees into the Fund. An eligible state or Indian tribe may submit a reclamation plan to the Office of Surface Mining Reclamation and Enforcement (OSMRE) for approval. The AML Pilot Program is restricted to the three Tribes with AML Programs and six Appalachian states with the highest amount of inventoried priority coal problems as described in paragraphs (1) and (2) of section 403(a) of SMCRA. As a result, grants under this pilot program are available only to the Crow Tribe, Hopi Tribe, Navajo Nation, Commonwealths of Kentucky, Pennsylvania, and Virginia, and the States of Alabama, Ohio and West Virginia.

Beneficiary Eligibility:

Minority group; State; Local; Citizens and the general public are protected from physical hazards and benefit from the reclamation of abandoned mine lands and polluted waters by reducing exposure to safety and health risks. The AML Pilot Program aims to enhance the economic diversification of coal country communities and bring legacy coal sites to productive reuse.

Credentials/Documentation:

The Secretary of Interior must approve a state or tribal Indian reclamation plan. AML grants must be approved by an authorized official of the appropriate OSMRE regional or field office. 2 CFR 200, Sub-part E - Cost Principles applies to this program.

Preapplication Coordination:

Pre-application coordination is required. An environmental impact statement is required for this listing. An environmental impact assessment is required for this listing. This program is eligible for coverage under E.O. 12372, "Intergovernmental Review of Federal Programs." An applicant should consult the office or official designated as the single point of contact in his or her State for more information on the process the State requires to be followed in applying for assistance, if the State has selected the program for review. Environmental clearance actions for each individual reclamation project are completed as part of the recipient's request for OSM's approval of the Authorization to proceed, which is the point of federal action for that reclamation project.

Application Procedures:

2 CFR 200, Uniform Administrative Requirements, Cost Principles, and Audit Requirements for Federal Awards applies to this program. Applicants must use the SF-424 series in accordance with 2 CFR Part 215.12. Applications must be submitted to the appropriate regional office. Notice of Funding Opportunities (NOFO) for this listing will be posted on Grants.gov.

Award Procedure:

The regional office must act upon a grant application within 60 days of submittal of a complete application (An exception is for certified States that submit AML grant applications in which OSMRE must complete its review within 30 days). All applications will be initially screened for eligibility and compliance with the requirements stated notice of funding opportunity. All timely submitted and qualified proposals are reviewed by an OSMRE selection panel. Applications will be rated based on established criteria used to evaluate merit as outlined in Notice of Funding Opportunity. Applicants may undergo a site visit. The OSMRE Field Directors or his/her designee approves and awards cooperative agreements for this program. If the application is not approved, the regional office must provide the reasons for disapproval in writing.

Fiscal Year 2020: Managed the $171 million in mandatory AML grants provided to the 25 coal-producing States and three Tribes with an approved AML program. Provided $115 million in AML Economic Revitalization Program sponsored grants to six States and three Tribes. Improved land and water health by reclaiming, or mitigating, the equivalent of 17,760 acres of land from the effects of natural resource degradation from past mining. Improved underground discharges of mine water, eliminating uncontrolled discharges, by employing horizontal boring techniques. Used combinations of civil penalty funds and forfeited bond to continue work on two projects in Pennsylvania and one in Maryland. The Federal Reclamation Program expended $1,803,319 to address three AML emergencies in Washington State, and $255,691 to address a High Priority subsidence feature in California.

CRITERIA FOR SELECTING PROPOSALS:

Selection criteria are outlined in Section 403 and 411 of Public Law 95-87, cited Abandoned Mine Land Reclamation Program regulations, and approved state/tribal reclamation plans. States and Indian tribes must have an approved SMCRA regulatory (Title V) program and an approved reclamation (Title IV) program to be eligible to receive mandatory AML funding. AMLER projects are selected based on meeting eligibility required outlined in OSMRE's Guidance for Project Eligibility under the Abandoned Mine Land Reclamation Economic Development Pilot Program for Fiscal Year 2021. Eligibility is based on having proximity to an AML site and having a measurable impact to economic/community development.

15.253 Not-for-Profit AMD Reclamation

Watershed Cooperative Agreement Program (WCAP),

FEDERAL AGENCY:

OFFICE OF SURFACE MINING, RECLAMATION AND ENFORCEMENT, INTERIOR, DEPARTMENT OF THE

AUTHORIZATION:

Surface Mining Control and Reclamation Act of 1977, Public Law 95-87, as amended; Federal Grant and Cooperative Agreement Act of 1977 91 Stat. 445-532,

OBJECTIVES:

The Not-for-Profit, Acid Mine Drainage (AMD) Reclamation - Watershed Cooperative Agreement Program (WCAP) seeks applications from eligible applicants to restore streams affected by AMD to a level that will support a diverse biological community and provide recreational opportunities for the community.

TYPES OF ASSISTANCE:

Cooperative Agreements (Discretionary Grants)

USES AND USE RESTRICTIONS:

Funding is available to assist local organizations, especially watershed groups, to improve the water quality of streams impacted by AMD. Lands and water eligible for reclamation or drainage abatement expenditures under Section 404 of Public Law 95-87 are those which were mined for coal or which were affected by such mining, waste banks, coal processing, or other coal mining processes, and for which there is no continuing reclamation responsibility under state or other Federal laws.

Applicant Eligibility:

Quasi-public nonprofit institution/organization; Recipients must be not-for-profit IRS 501(c) (3) status organizations. Federal, state, local governments, colleges, and universities are not eligible to receive direct funding.

Beneficiary Eligibility:

Private nonprofit institution/organization; Communities impacted by streams polluted by AMD will benefit from this program.

Credentials/Documentation:

Proof of not-for-profit IRS 501(c) (3) organization status and state certification of project eligibility are required. 2 CFR 200, Sub-part E - Cost Principles applies to this program.

Preapplication Coordination:

Pre-application coordination is required. An environmental impact assessment is required for this listing. This program is excluded from coverage under E.O. 12372. Successful applications must provide evidence of compliance with the National Environmental Policy Act (NEPA) (42 U.S.C.4321- 4370h) Endangered Species Act (ESA), the National Historic Preservation Act (NHPA), and other applicable Federal and state law and regulations.

Application Procedures:

2 CFR 200, Uniform Administrative Requirements, Cost Principles, and Audit Requirements for Federal Awards applies to this program. Notice of Funding Opportunities (NOFO) for this listing will be posted on Grants.gov.

Award Procedure:

Applications must be submitted through grant.gov in response to a NOFO. Application will be reviewed as received on a rolling basis. Applications will be reviewed to determine whether they are eligible, complete, and responsive and aligned with the respective program objectives and research grant areas as described in the Program Description. Applications determined to be ineligible, incomplete, and/or non-responsive based on the initial screening will be eliminated from further review. Applications that are determined to be eligible, complete, and responsive will proceed for full merit reviews in accordance with the review and selection processes set forth below for each of the respective programs. At least three objective reviewers, knowledgeable in the subject matter of this NOFO and its objectives, will evaluate each application based on the evaluation criteria. Each reviewer will assign individual scores to each criterion for each application. The scores provided by each reviewer for each application will then be combined to form a composite score for each application, which serves as the basis for the relative ordering or ranking of applications. OSMRE may select some, all, or none of the applications, or part(s) of any particular application. The OSMRE Field Directors or his/her designee approves and awards cooperative agreements for this program.

Deadlines:

See the Notice of Funding Opportunity posted on Grants.gov, for the application submission deadline.

Range of Approval/Disapproval Time:

Other. Please refer to the Notice of Funding Opportunity posted on Grants.gov, for the application submission deadline. Applications will be considered on a continuing/rolling bases until the closing date identified in the Notice of Funding Opportunity posted on grants.gov. Applications will be accepted up to 60 day from the time a Notice of Funding Opportunity is posted on grants.gov. Applications will be considered on a continuing/rolling bases until the announcement closing date.

Appeals:

Statutory formula is not applicable to this assistance listing. Matching requirements are not applicable to this assistance listing. MOE requirements are not applicable to this assistance listing.

Length and Time Phasing of Assistance:

The cooperative agreements have a performance period of two years. Method of awarding/releasing assistance: lump sum.

Reports:

Programmatic reports are required on a semi-annual basis. Final performance reports are due 90 days after the end of the project period. Interim Programmatic reports may also be required per the terms and conditions of the Cooperative agreement. An SF-425 Federal financial Reports are required on a semi-annual basis for the period ending March 31 and Sept 30 of each year and final SF-425 is due 30 after the end of project period. Cooperative Agreements require substantial involvement in the scope of work and are subject to performance monitoring. Substantial involvement will be limited to one or more of the following areas: (a) Approval of the recipients implementation plans; (b) Review of the recipient's monitoring and evaluation plans; (c) Approval of specified key personnel; (d) Concurrence in the substantive provisions of subawards.

Audits:

In accordance with the provisions of 2 CFR 200, Subpart F - Audit Requirements, nonfederal entities that expend financial assistance of $750,000 or more in Federal awards will have a single or a program-specific audit conducted for that year. Non-Federal entities that expend less than $750,000 a year in Federal awards are exempt from Federal audit requirements for that year, except as noted in 2 CFR 200.503

Records:

Financial records, supporting documents, statistical records, and all other non-Federal entity records pertinent to a Federal award must be retained for a period of three years from the date of submission of the final expenditure ; If any litigation, claim, or audit is started before the expiration of the 3-year period, the records must be retained until all litigation, claims, or audit findings involving the records have been resolved and final action taken, in accordance with 2 CFR Part 200 Subpart D

2020 AMD Passive Treatment System Project. The project will involve the development of a passive AMD treatment system in the form of an auto-flushing vertical flow pond and settling pond to remove a significant source of acid mine drainage (AMD) from the Watershed. The AMD source has never been treated, and is the last significant source of untreated AMD in the watershed. 2021 Program has not yet selected projects for funding. OSMRE designed the Watershed Cooperative Agreement Program (WCAP) to assist citizens affected by the negative environmental impacts from coal mining. This program, initially implemented in 1999, makes funds available directly to not-for-profit organizations, especially small local watershed organizations. These community-based organizations undertake local projects to clean streams affected by Acid Mine Drainage (AMD). The watershed organizations that apply for the funding typically receive up to $100,000 for each reclamation project. Funds are primarily used for project construction. 15.254 OSM/VISTA AmeriCorps OSMRE/AmeriCorps Program; OSMRE/VISTA Program; OSMRE Semester Internship Program.

FEDERAL AGENCY:

OFFICE OF SURFACE MINING, RECLAMATION AND ENFORCEMENT, INTERIOR, DEPARTMENT OF THE

AUTHORIZATION:

Surface Mining Control and Reclamation Act of 1977, as amended; Public Law 95-87; 91 Stat. 445-532; Public Lands Corps Healthy Forests Restoration Act of 2005, Public Law 109-154 as amended in the National Park Service Centennial Act, Public Law 114-289; Direct Hire Authority for Resource Assistant Internship Programs outlined by the Consolidated Appropriations Act of 2012, Public Law 112-74, H.R. 2055 Division E Title I Section 121, and 16 U.S.C. 1725(a); Economic Opportunity Act of 1964 or the Domestic Volunteer Service Act of 1973. Authority: 5 CFR 315.605.,

OBJECTIVES:

The purpose of the OSMRE Youth Program is to carry out appropriate environmental projects cooperatively with non-profit IRS 501(c) (3) eligible applicants that have access to AmeriCorps Volunteers to Service to America positions through partnership with the Corporation for National and Community or other intermediary organization on issues impacting coal communities and historic coal mining areas. The goal is to promote and stimulate public purposes such as education, job training, development of responsible citizenship and productive community involvement. The program is designed to further the understanding and appreciation of natural and cultural resources through the involvement of youth and young adults. It is also designed to continue the longstanding efforts of OSMRE to provide opportunities for public service, youth employment, minority youth development, training, and participation of young adults in accomplishing environmental-related work.

TYPES OF ASSISTANCE:

Cooperative Agreements (Discretionary Grants), Direct Payments for Specified Use (Cooperative Agreements)

USES AND USE RESTRICTIONS:

Funding for the OSMRE Youth Initiative is used to support an innovative partnership working directly with OSMRE and community and watershed improvement groups addressing poverty, environmental reclamation and safety, community environmental stewardship, economic improvement, environmental education, environmental research, geographic information systems, environmental mapping, and more. There are three structured programs under the OSMRE Youth Initiative. Each program is funded through a separate Cooperative Agreement. Please refer to the Notice of Funding Opportunity posted every other year on grants.gov with specific requirements for each program. OSMRE AmeriCorps Program Utilizing AmeriCorps State and National positions, OSMRE enters into a Cooperative Agreement with a non-profit sponsor to administer the OSMRE/AmeriCorps Program. This program places recent graduates from academic and vocational institutions in OSMRE Regional, Field Offices and Headquarters, for one year to gain experience in the work of OSMRE and the Federal government. Participants are mentored by OSMRE staff and exposed to various professional development and training opportunities. The OSMRE/AmeriCorps Program may fund up to 25 participants annually. OSMRE Volunteers in Service to America (VISTA) Program Utilizing AmeriCorps VISTA, OSMRE enters into a Cooperative Agreement with a non-profit sponsor to administer the OSMRE/VISTA Program. This Program places recent graduates from academic and vocational institutions in non-profit organizations in communities impacted by mining practices. The goal of the OSMRE/VISTA Program is to build capacity and economic opportunities in impoverished communities, with an emphasis on helping underserved populations. The OSMRE/VISTA Program may fund up to 60 participants annually. OSMRE Semester Internship Program OSMRE enters into a Cooperative Agreement with a non-profit sponsor to administer the OSMRE Semester Internship Program. This program provides students with a meaningful work experience in OSMRE offices nationwide and an opportunity to develop significant workplace skills during their service. Semester Interns are tasked with projects that significantly contribute to their professional development. Assignments may include policy research, data analysis, environmental impact studies, and public outreach activities related to underground and surface coal mining activities. The OSMRE Semester Intern Program may fund up to 15 participants annually.

Applicant Eligibility:

Public nonprofit institution/organization (includes institutions of higher education and hospitals); The not-for-profit sponsor organization will be responsible for the daily operation of the OSMRE/VISTA Program, working closely with OSMRE to ensure the program aligns with the mission of the Bureau. Eligible sponsor organizations will have, at minimum, the following to be considered eligible: Have a 501(c)(3) status Have access to AmeriCorps positions through partnership with the Corporation for National and Community Service, or other intermediary organization Have the organizational capacity to oversee participants in the field and across the country

Beneficiary Eligibility:

Public nonprofit institution/organization; Other public institution/organization; Youth and local communities that benefit from reclamation of abandoned mine lands; Youth interested in gaining experience in a Federal agency.

Credentials/Documentation:

Proof of not-for-profit, IRS 501(c)(3), status is required of participating organizations 2 CFR 200, Sub-part E - Cost Principles applies to this program.

Preapplication Coordination:

Pre-application coordination is not applicable. Environmental impact information is not required for this program. This program is excluded from coverage under E.O. 12372.

Application Procedures:

2 CFR 200, Uniform Administrative Requirements, Cost Principles, and Audit Requirements for Federal Awards applies to this program. Application should be submitted in response to a Notice of Funding Opportunity (NOFO) posted on Grants.gov. Applications must be submitted in accordance with the program objectives utilizing the SF424 series or other forms prescribed in the NOFO by the application deadline. Notice of Funding Opportunities (NOFO) for this listing will be posted on Grants.gov.

Award Procedure:

Applications submitted through Grants.gov and received by 11:59 PM Eastern Standard Time on the due date identified in the NOFO, will be reviewed to determine whether they are eligible, complete, and responsive and aligned with the respective program objectives as described in the Program Description. Applications determined to be ineligible, incomplete, and/or non-responsive based on the initial screening will be eliminated from further review. Applications that are determined to be eligible, complete, and responsive will proceed for full merit reviews in accordance with the review and selection processes set forth below for each of the respective programs. At least three objective reviewers, knowledgeable in the subject matter of this NOFO and its objectives, will evaluate each application based on the evaluation criteria. Each reviewer will assign individual scores to each criterion for each application. The scores provided by each reviewer for each application will then be combined to form a composite score for each application, which serves as the basis for the relative ordering or ranking of applications. OSMRE may select some, all, or none of the applications, or part(s) of any particular application. The OSMRE Approving Official or his/her designee approves and awards cooperative agreements for this program

FEDERAL AGENCY:

OFFICE OF SURFACE MINING, RECLAMATION AND ENFORCEMENT, INTERIOR, DEPARTMENT OF THE

AUTHORIZATION:

Surface Mining Control and Reclamation Act of 1977 (Public Law 95-87) as amended, Federal Grant and Cooperative Agreement Act of 1977 (Public Law 95-224),

OBJECTIVES:

The goal of the OSMRE Applied Science Program is to develop and demonstrate improved science based technologies to address environmental, and restoration topics related to the mining of coal. The first objective to help us meet this goal is to develop technical tools to improve the efficiency and accuracy of regulatory authorities in permitting coal mines and administering their federally approved regulatory program. A second objective is to examine the potential for new technologies that can aid in the protection of the public and the environment during mining and reclamation. A third objective is to provide opportunities for college and university students to participate in research projects related to coal mining and reclamation issues in order to build a pool of qualified potential applicants for future implementation of SMCRA. Mine Drainage Technology Initiative (MDTI) (formally known as the Acid Mine Drainage Initiative) provides a forum for collaboration and information exchange with the following goals: Develop an understanding of acidic and toxic mine drainage (MD) so as to better predict, avoid, monitor, and remediate mine drainage; Develop innovative solutions to acidic and toxic MD water-quality problems; Identify, evaluate, and develop best science practices to predict acidic and toxic MD prior to mining; and Identify successful remediation practices for existing sources of acidic and toxic MD and describe the best technology for its prevention. OSMRE is looking for MDTI studies that address the goals listed above that have the potential for improving the effectiveness of both the coal industry and the regulatory authority to conduct and regulate surface coal mining and reclamation activities that protect the environment and the public.

TYPES OF ASSISTANCE:

Cooperative Agreements, Cooperative Agreements (Discretionary Grants)

USES AND USE RESTRICTIONS:

Projects must focus on issues related to coal mining in the United States. Project funding will be limited to the amount of the initial OSMRE award, no additional funding will be provided by OSMRE throughout the project. Projects that are long term in nature or larger in scope than what can be accomplished with funds available the prescribed fiscal year, must be described in such a manner to allow OSMRE to identify a severable portion of the project with specific measurable accomplishments.

Applicant Eligibility:

State (includes District of Columbia, public institutions of higher education and hospitals); Local (includes State-designated Indian Tribes, excludes institutions of higher education and hospitals); Public nonprofit institution/organization (includes institutions of higher education and hospitals); Federally Recognized Indian Tribal Governments; Private nonprofit institution/organization (includes institutions of higher education and hospitals); Applied Science Projects: Recipients may be any of the following: public, private, or non-profit entities; Federal, state, local or tribal governments; and colleges and universities located in the United States.

Underground Mine Map Projects: Recipients may be any state or Indian tribe where coal mining or reclamation activities authorized under SMCRA are occurring. Mine Drainage Technology Initiative Projects: Recipients may be any of the following: public, private, or non-profit entities; State, local or Tribal governments; and colleges and universities located in the United States.

Beneficiary Eligibility:

Public nonprofit institution/organization; State; Private nonprofit institution/organization; Communities impacted by coal mining and reclamation of the land after mining.

EXAMPLES OF FUNDED PROJECTS:

2020 San Antonio Missions National Historical Park Superintendent Mardi Arce announced a $300,000 project in partnership with Mission Heritage Partners to restore and preserve historic masonry in the park. The funding will be utilized to hire a temporary mason crew to preserve portions of the over 270,000 sq. ft. of historic masonry the National Park Service preserves. Working with the Thomas A. Edison Papers Project at Rutgers, The State University of New Jersey, the park will preserve and improve accessibility to the Edison Archives in West Orange. The funding for this project will be matched by Rutgers. The historic line shafts in the heavy machine shop in Edisons West Orange Laboratory will also be repaired for safe operation, with funds matched by The Friends of Thomas Edison NHP, Inc.

CRITERIA FOR SELECTING PROPOSALS:

Proposed projects and programs must: Provide for authorized activities that benefit one or more National Park System areas; require little or no additional recurring NPS operating or maintenance funds to be sustainable; and have partner(s) who will contribute at least 50% of the project cost to the NPS in the form of cash or assets from non-federal sources.

AUTHORIZATION:

Public Law 102-543, Keweenaw NHPs Enabling Legislation: 16 U.S.C. 410yy-6 Cooperative Agreements, and 16 U.S.C. 410yy-8(a)(7) Technical Assistance, as amended March 30, 2009 with changes to SEC. 7101. FUNDING FOR KEWEENAW NATIONAL HISTORICAL PARK.,

OBJECTIVES:

The Keweenaw NHP Preservation Grant program is intended to provide annual ONPS base funding to the Keweenaw NHP Advisory Commission to assist in the fulfillment of their legislated duties: to carry out historical, educational, or cultural programs which enhance understanding and preservation of the historic and cultural resources in the park and surrounding area on Michigans Keweenaw Peninsula. The program also makes possible annual funding to the Village of Calumet to cover a portion of costs associated with administration of the Civic and Commercial Historic District Ordinance. Additionally, the Keweenaw NHP Preservation Grant program is intended for occasional program funding of park partner enhancement projects that address preservation of historic or cultural resources related to the story of copper on the Keweenaw Peninsula.

TYPES OF ASSISTANCE:

Cooperative Agreements, Cooperative Agreements (Discretionary Grants)

USES AND USE RESTRICTIONS:

Annual funding is to be used by the Keweenaw NHP Advisory Commission in the fulfillment of legislated duties. Annual funding is used by the Village of Calumet to cover expenses related to the administration of its historic district ordinance. Additional funding for preservation or interpretation projects may be available through special program opportunities to owners or operators of non-Federal properties containing nationally significant historic or cultural resources that are related to the story of copper on the Keweenaw Peninsula.

Applicant Eligibility:

State (includes District of Columbia, public institutions of higher education and hospitals); Local (includes State-designated Indian Tribes, excludes institutions of higher education and hospitals); Public nonprofit institution/organization (includes institutions of higher education and hospitals); Other public institution/organization; Individual/Family; Private nonprofit institution/organization (includes institutions of higher education and hospitals); Other private institutions/organizations; Eligibility for these funds include the Keweenaw NHP Advisory Commission and owners or operators of nationally significant, or potentially significant, properties on the Keweenaw Peninsula located: within the boundaries of Keweenaw NHP; affiliated with an existing Keweenaw Heritage Site; at the Cliff Mine in Keweenaw County, along Torch Lake in Houghton County, or within the community of Painesdale in Houghton County.

Beneficiary Eligibility:

Individual/Family; Private nonprofit institution/organization; Other private institution/organization; State; Local; Public nonprofit institution/organization; Other public institution/organization; Beneficiaries may include: Public Nonprofit Institution / Organization: Keweenaw NHP Advisory Commission; Keweenaw NHP Heritage Sites; local or regional units of government; academic institutions, or federally recognized Indian tribes.

15.408 Bureau of Ocean Energy Management Renewable Energy

Renewable Energy Program,

FEDERAL AGENCY:

BUREAU OF OCEAN ENERGY MANAGEMENT, INTERIOR, DEPARTMENT OF THE

AUTHORIZATION:

43 U.S.C. 1337; 43 U.S.C. 1345 (e); 43 U.S.C. 1346.,

OBJECTIVES:

The Renewable Energy Program oversees the leasing of areas on the outer continental shelf for development of renewable energy facilities. The program not only supports decisions made within the Department of the Interior, but also provides coastal states and local governments with the information necessary to ensure that all stages of offshore renewable energy projects are conducted in a manner to protect both the human and natural environments. The Outer Continental Shelf Lands Act (OCSLA) Section 1345 authorizes the use of cooperative agreements with affected states to meet the requirements of OCSLA, including sharing information, joint utilization of available expertise, formation of joint monitoring arrangements to carry out applicable Federal and state laws, regulations, and stipulations relevant to outer continental shelf operations both onshore and offshore.

TYPES OF ASSISTANCE:

Cooperative Agreements

USES AND USE RESTRICTIONS:

The assistance can be used to acquire information to satisfy the information needs associated with leasing and plan review for renewable energy development on the outer continental shelf. Applications must be for projects which are within BOEM's area of responsibility.

Applicant Eligibility:

State (includes District of Columbia, public institutions of higher education and hospitals); Public nonprofit institution/organization (includes institutions of higher education and hospitals); State; State agencies and public universities may apply. More than one institution may collaborate in the preparation of an application for assistance.

Beneficiary Eligibility:

Federal; Native American Organizations; Scientist/Researchers; State; U.S. Citizen; Local; Research scientists, Federal, state and local decision makers, Native American Organizations, and the general public will ultimately benefit from the program.

Credentials/Documentation:

Proposals must furnish evidence of the applicant's qualifications for performance of the proposed project. This includes submission of proposals that describe the proposed activities, identify methods for accomplishing the activities, and/or describe the process for ensuring that qualified personnel are used to conduct the activities. The regulations at 2 CFR 220 Cost Principles for Educational Institutions (OMB Circular A-21) and 2 CFR 225 Cost Principles for State, Local and Indian Tribal Governments (OMB Circular No. A-87) apply to this program. 2 CFR 200, Sub-part E - Cost Principles applies to this program.

Preapplication Coordination:

Pre-application coordination is required. Environmental impact information is not required for this program. This program is excluded from coverage under E.O. 12372. Limited discussions regarding funding availability and program interest are permitted.

Application Procedures:

2 CFR 200, Uniform Administrative Requirements, Cost Principles, and Audit Requirements for Federal Awards applies to this program. 2 CFR 200, Uniform

Administrative Requirements, Cost Principles, and Audit Requirements for Federal Awards apply to this program. Proposals must include a full statement of work, estimated budget, and resumes. Applicants shall post their applications as specified in the Notice of Funding Opportunity (NOFO). NOFOs will be posted on <https://www.grants.gov/Grants.gov>, and enroll in a new database GrantSolutions <https://home.grantsolutions.gov/home/>. The standard SF-424 application forms required by OMB Circular A-102, 2 CFR Part 215.12, and the Department of the Interior Code of Federal Regulations at 43 CFR Part 12, Subparts C and F, or its revisions, must be used.

Award Procedure:

Awards are made based on a competitive peer review of proposals by a panel consisting of government research managers and external reviewers, as appropriate. Criteria for judging proposals may include mission relevance, technical merit, and the quality and appropriateness of the personnel, project management, logistics plan, safety management, permits and interagency coordination, budget/matching funds, and where appropriate, minimization of impacts. Notification of an award is issued. It is anticipated that application(s) will be received and cooperative agreement award(s) will be made in FY 2021.

FEDERAL AGENCY:

BUREAU OF OCEAN ENERGY MANAGEMENT, INTERIOR, DEPARTMENT OF THE

AUTHORIZATION:

43 U.S.C. 1345 (e); 43 U.S.C. 1346 Section 20.,

OBJECTIVES:

The Bureau of Ocean Energy Management (BOEM) provides major economic and energy benefits on a national and local level to the taxpayers, States and the Native American community. The BOEM oversees the exploration and development of oil, natural gas and other minerals and renewable energy alternatives on the Nations outer continental shelf. BOEM continues to look for better ways to serve the American people and to ensure that the Nation receives the best value for its resources now and into the future. The program not only supports decisions made within the Department of the Interior, but also provides coastal States and local governments with the information necessary to ensure that all stages of offshore energy and mineral activities are conducted in a manner to protect both the human and natural environments. Outer Continental Shelf Lands Act (OCSLA) Section 1346 mandates the conduct of environmental and socioeconomic studies needed for the assessment and management of environmental impacts on the human, marine, and coastal environments which may be affected by oil and gas or other mineral development. OCSLA Section 1345 authorizes the use of cooperative agreements with affected States to meet the requirements of OCSLA, including sharing of information, joint utilization of available expertise, formation of joint monitoring arrangements to carry out applicable Federal and State laws, regulations, and stipulations relevant to outer continental shelf operations both onshore and offshore. The purpose of the Alaska Coastal Marine Institute (CMI) program is to use highly qualified scientific expertise at local levels to collect and disseminate environmental information needed for OCS oil and gas and marine minerals decisions; address local and regional OCS-related environmental and resource issues of mutual interest; and strengthen the BOEM-State partnership in addressing OCS oil and gas and marine minerals information needs.

TYPES OF ASSISTANCE:

Cooperative Agreements

USES AND USE RESTRICTIONS:

The Environmental Studies Program allocates up to $1,000,000 per year for cooperative research through the AK CMI program, subject to the availability of funds. The University of Alaska (AK) invites proposals that are reviewed by a Technical Steering Committee including the University, State of Alaska, and BOEM to fund individual awards. Applications must be for scientific research projects, which are within the BOEM's area of responsibility. The majority of funds are used to support research that will enhance understanding of long-term effects of oil and gas, marine minerals, and renewable energy projects. Funds can also be used for attendance at national conferences for the dissemination of project results. Funds are not normally used for capitalization.

Applicant Eligibility:

State (includes District of Columbia, public institutions of higher education and hospitals); University of Alaska may make application for support by a named principal investigator. Non-UA scientists may participate in collaboration with a UA principal investigator.

Fiscal Year 2021: CMI Program Accomplishments FY2020 FY 2021 The Alaska CMI has 120 completed /ongoing funded studies since its inception in 1993, totaling approximately $22 million. All CMI funded projects require a one-to-one cost share with non-federal partners. Cost sharing ensures stakeholders are participating in the CMI research program. The following list of cost share partners demonstrates the breadth of support for CMI-funded programs: Alaska Department of Fish and Game; Alaska SeaLife Center; College of Fisheries and Ocean Sciences, UAF; International Arctic Research Center, ConocoPhillips; Bigelow Laboratories; University of Hawaii;

University of New Orleans; North Slope Borough; Exxon Valdez Oil Spill Trustees Council; Cook Inlet Regional Citizens Advisory Council; Pacific Gyre; Monterey Bay Aquarium; Oil Spill Response Institute; and the Wildlife Conservation Society. In addition to the completion of Annual Reports, peer review journal articles and reports have been completed. During the last two years, there have been student awards issued independently. Both the students and professors who receive CMI funding present their findings on an annual basis. Over the last several years, this has occurred in coordination with the Alaska Marine Science Symposium. Fiscal Year 2022: This Program is estimated to not have funding this fiscal year.

15.423 Bureau of Ocean Energy Management (BOEM) Environmental Studies (ES)

(ESP).

FEDERAL AGENCY:

BUREAU OF OCEAN ENERGY MANAGEMENT, INTERIOR, DEPARTMENT OF THE

AUTHORIZATION:

43 U.S.C. 1345 (e); 43 U.S.C. 1346 Section 20.,

OBJECTIVES:

The Bureau of Ocean Energy Management (BOEM) provides major economic and energy benefits on a national and local level to the taxpayers, states and the American Indian community. The BOEM oversees the exploration and development of oil, natural gas and other minerals and renewable energy alternatives on the Nations outer continental shelf. BOEM continues to look for better ways to serve the American people and to ensure that the Nation receives the best value for its resources now and into the future. The program not only supports decisions made within the Department of Interior, but also provides coastal States and local governments with the information necessary to ensure that all stages of offshore energy and mineral activities are conducted in a manner to protect both the human and natural environments. The Outer Continental Shelf Lands Act (OCSLA) Section 1346 mandates the conduct of environmental and socioeconomic studies needed for the assessment and management of environmental impacts on the human, marine, and coastal environments which may be affected by oil and gas or other mineral development. OCSLA Section 1345 authorizes the use of cooperative agreements with affected States to meet the requirements of OCSLA, including sharing of information, joint utilization of available expertise, formation of joint monitoring arrangements to carry out applicable Federal and State laws, regulations, and stipulations relevant to outer continental shelf operations both onshore and offshore. The purpose of the Environmental Studies Program is to obtain the information needed for the assessment and the management of environmental impacts; to predict impacts on marine biota; and to monitor the human, marine, and coastal environments to provide time series and data trend information.

TYPES OF ASSISTANCE:

Cooperative Agreements

USES AND USE RESTRICTIONS:

The assistance can be used to conduct environmental research to satisfy the information needs associated with oil and gas, alternate energy and marine mineral development on the outer continental shelf. Applications must be for scientific research projects which are within the BOEM' area of responsibility. The majority of funds are used to support research that will enhance understanding of long-term effects of oil and gas, marine minerals and alternate energy development projects. Funds can also be used for attendance at national conferences for the dissemination of project results. Funds are not normally used for capitalization.

Applicant Eligibility:

State (includes District of Columbia, public institutions of higher education and hospitals); Public nonprofit institution/organization (includes institutions of higher education and hospitals); State agencies, public universities, and non-profits in affected states may apply. More than one institution may collaborate in the preparation of an application for assistance. Scientists from other institutions may participate in collaboration with a principal investigator from a State agency or public university.

Beneficiary Eligibility:

Federal; Anyone/general public; Native American Organizations; State; Research scientists, Federal, State and local decision-makers, Native American Organizations, and the general public will ultimately benefit from the program.

Credentials/Documentation:

Evidence of the applicant's qualifications for performance of the proposed research including past professional publications, resumes, and lists of past projects must be provided. 2 CFR 200, Sub-part E - Cost Principles applies to this program.

Preapplication Coordination:

Pre-application coordination is required. Environmental impact information is not required for this program. This program is eligible for coverage under E.O. 12372, "Intergovernmental Review of Federal Programs." An applicant should consult the office or official designated as the single point of contact in his or her State for more information on the process the State requires to be followed in applying for assistance, if the State has selected the program for review. Limited discussions regarding funding availability and program interest may be permitted. Applicants should consult the office or official designated as the single point of contact in their State to find out if the State has selected this program for review and for information on the process the State requires when applying for Federal assistance.

Application Procedures:

2 CFR 200, Uniform Administrative Requirements, Cost Principles, and Audit Requirements for Federal Awards applies to this program. 2 CFR 200, Uniform Administrative Requirements, Cost Principles, and Audit Requirements for Federal Awards apply to this program. Proposals must include a full statement of work, estimated budget, and resumes. Applicants shall post their applications as specified in the Notice of Funding Opportunity (NOFO). NOFOs will be posted on <https://www.grants.gov/Grants.gov>. and enroll in a new database GrantSolutions <https://home.grantsolutions.gov/home/>. The standard SF-424 application forms required by OMB Circular A-102, 2 CFR Part 215.12, and the Department of the Interior Code of Federal Regulations at 43 CFR Part 12, Subparts C and F, or its revisions, must be used. Notice of Funding Opportunities (NOFO) for this listing will be posted on Grants.gov.

Award Procedure:

Awards are made on the basis of a competitive peer review of proposals by a panel consisting of government research managers and external reviewers, as appropriate. Criteria for judging proposals include mission relevance, technical merit, and the quality and appropriateness of the personnel, project management, logistics plan, safety management, permits and interagency coordination, budget/matching funds, and where appropriate, minimization of impacts. Notification of an award is issued. It is anticipated that 30 applications will be received, and 11 new cooperative agreement awards will be granted in FY 2021.

(Marine Minerals Activities),

FEDERAL AGENCY:

BUREAU OF OCEAN ENERGY MANAGEMENT, INTERIOR, DEPARTMENT OF THE

AUTHORIZATION:

Outer Continental Shelf (OCS) Lands Act, 43 U.S.C. 1331.,

OBJECTIVES:

BOEM provides financial assistance to qualified partners to identify and evaluate OCS sediment for potential use in coastal restoration and beach nourishment projects or programs and to foster capacity building and working relationships with coastal States to address coastal erosion, coastal resilience, and climate adaptation. BOEM funds activities such as conducting state-based needs assessments; geophysical and geological data acquisition in specific areas on the OCS; analysis and interpretation of existing or new geophysical and geological data to delineate sediment resources or benthic habitat; development of regional stratigraphic interpretations or models; modeling to describe or understand geologic processes that affect sediment resources; feasibility and related technological or operations studies; and cultural resources or shallow hazards identification. BOEM also provides financial assistance to qualified partners to assist in the identification and assessment of other potential OCS mineral resources such as critical minerals (as defined by Executive Order 13817 A Federal Strategy to Ensure Secure and Reliable Supplies of Critical Minerals). BOEM funds activities such as geophysical and geological data acquisition in specific areas on the OCS, as well as analysis and interpretation of existing or new geophysical and geological data to delineate marine minerals.

ASSISTANCE LISTINGS DESCRIPTIONS

The funds must be spent for OCS-related sand activities. These cooperative agreements are awarded to assist States in order to identify needs and sand supplies for beach nourishment projects.

Applicant Eligibility:

State (includes District of Columbia, public institutions of higher education and hospitals); Proposals are received from coastal States in need of coastal restoration.

Beneficiary Eligibility:

Anyone/general public; State; State agencies and organizations participating in the project, as well as the general public.

Credentials/Documentation:

States submit proposals to BOEM, which furnish evidence of the applicant's qualifications for performance of the proposed research. 2 CFR 200, Sub-part E - Cost Principles applies to this program.

Preapplication Coordination:

Pre-application coordination is required. Environmental impact information is not required for this program. This program is eligible for coverage under E.O. 12372, "Intergovernmental Review of Federal Programs." An applicant should consult the office or official designated as the single point of contact in his or her State for more information on the process the State requires to be followed in applying for assistance, if the State has selected the program for review. Qualified applicants are invited to participate in a coordination conference held by BOEM to define future needs related to OCS sediment resources and resource identification for coastal restoration projects or programs. Coordination meetings between BOEM and qualified applicants are held to develop a long-term strategy and determine short term information needs to advance BOEM and coastal States goal to develop and maintain a National Offshore Sand Inventory and develop a National Offshore Critical Mineral Inventory. A Notice of Funding Availability is posted on Grants.gov notifying applicants that BOEM is accepting proposals for funding opportunities. BOEM reviews proposals and selects reward recipients. Applicants should consult the office of official designated as the single point of contact in their State to find out if the State has selected this program for review and for information on the process the State requires when applying for Federal assistance. Environmental impact information is not required for this program. This program is eligible for coverage under E.O. 12372, "Intergovernmental Review of Federal Programs."

Fiscal Year 2018: Cooperative agreements were awarded to the Virginia Department of Mines, Minerals and Energy to develop a feasibility study that will examine alternative methodologies for the recovery of economically valuable minerals from marine sand deposits. The University of Texas Institute of Geophysics providing research on resources inventory providing development and application of Geophysical Processing Workflows for Sand Resource Evaluation, research will be conducted on the OCS off the coast of Texas. The University of Southern Mississippi study combining new and existing geological and geophysical OCS data for a multi-state region, to develop assessments of sand and gravel resources to be made available for protection of communities and critical infrastructure from future coastal storms. Fiscal Year 2019 Awarded funds to four cooperative agreements with U.S. Coastal Research Program (USCRP) the University of South Florida, Alabama Geological Survey, Florida Department of Environmental Protection and the Louisiana Coastal Protection and Restoration Authority. Fiscal Year 2019: Cooperative agreements were awarded to USCRP the University of South Florida to study whether additional bathymetric surveys should be performed following storms, and whether resources are truly part of the sediment budget of the adjacent shoreline. The Alabama Geological Survey to recover legacy geological and geophysical data that will ultimately provide for development of an offshore sediment resources inventory. The Florida Department of Environmental Protection offshore sediment resources inventory. The Louisiana Coastal Protection and Restoration Authority to expand knowledge of offshore sand resources in a way that can positively impact coastal restoration and protection efforts, as well as coastal resiliency and sediment resource inventory. Fiscal Year 2020: Awarded funds to nine cooperative agreements with the Louisiana Coastal Protection and Restoration Authority, Florida Department of

CRITERIA FOR SELECTING PROPOSALS:

15.428 Marine Gas Hydrate Research Activities

FEDERAL AGENCY:

BUREAU OF OCEAN ENERGY MANAGEMENT, INTERIOR, DEPARTMENT OF THE

AUTHORIZATION:

Outer Continental Shelf (OCS) Lands Act, 43 U.S.C. 1331, Gas Hydrates Research Act and the Marine Minerals Research Act.,

OBJECTIVES:

The Bureau of Ocean Energy Management (BOEM) provides major economic and energy benefits on a national and local level to the taxpayers, states and the American Indian community. The BOEM oversees the exploration and development of oil, natural gas, and other minerals and renewable energy alternatives on the Nations outer continental shelf. BOEM continues to look for better ways to serve the American people and to ensure that the Nation receives the best value for its resources now and into the future. The program not only supports decisions made within the Department of the Interior, but also provides coastal States and local governments with the information necessary to ensure that all stages of offshore energy and mineral activities are conducted in a manner to protect both the human and natural environments. The Outer Continental Shelf Lands Act (OCSLA) Section 1345 authorizes the use of cooperative agreements with affected States to meet the requirements of OCSLA, including sharing of information, joint utilization of available expertise, formation of joint monitoring arrangements to carry out applicable Federal and State laws, regulations, and stipulations relevant to outer continental shelf operations both onshore and offshore. The BOEM Resource Evaluation Division maintains an interest in understanding the distribution and characterization of gas hydrate on the OCS, particularly as it relates to an assessment of gas hydrate accumulations as a potential energy resource.

TYPES OF ASSISTANCE:

Cooperative Agreements

USES AND USE RESTRICTIONS:

The funds must be used for gas hydrate research activities in the OCS, specifically for characterization of the geological and geophysical components of gas hydrate as they relate to an assessment of in-place gas hydrate resource.

Applicant Eligibility:

State (includes District of Columbia, public institutions of higher education and hospitals); Public nonprofit institution/organization (includes institutions of higher education and hospitals); Private nonprofit institution/organization (includes institutions of higher education and hospitals); State agencies, public universities, and non-profits in affected states may apply. More than one institution may collaborate in the preparation of an application for assistance. Scientists from other institutions may participate in collaboration with a principal investigator from a State agency or public university. Proposals are received from the Universities (and qualified subcontractors) for research and scientific investigation. Applicants must have expertise in marine gas hydrates.

Beneficiary Eligibility:

Anyone/general public; Research scientists, Federal, State and local decision-makers, Native American organizations, and the general public will ultimately benefit from the program; also including organizations participating in the project, as well as the general public.

Credentials/Documentation:

Evidence of the applicant's qualifications for performance of the proposed research including submission of proposals that describe the proposed activities, identify methods for accomplishing the activities, and/or describe the process for ensuring that qualified personnel are used to conduct the activities; past performance and professional publications, resumes, and lists of past projects must be provided. Technical Proposals are submitted to the BOEM which furnish evidence of the applicant's qualifications for performance of the proposed research. 2 CFR 200, Sub-part E - Cost Principles applies to this program.

15.441 Safety and Environmental Research and Data Collection for Offshore Energy and Mineral Activities

Office of Offshore Regulatory Programs (OORP),

FEDERAL AGENCY:

BUREAU OF SAFETY AND ENVIRONMENTAL ENFORCEMENT, INTERIOR, DEPARTMENT OF THE

AUTHORIZATION:

43 U.S.C. 1345 (e); 43 U.S.C. 1346 Section 20.,

OBJECTIVES:

The Bureau of Safety and Environmental Enforcement (BSEE) program provides major economic and energy benefits on a national and local level to the taxpayers and states. The Agency oversees the exploration and development of oil, natural gas and other materials and renewable energy alternatives on the Nation's outer continental shelf. BSEE continues to look for better ways to serve the American people and to ensure that the nation receives the best oversight and regulation of National resource development now and into the future. The program not only supports decisions made within the Department of the Interior, but also provides coastal states and local governments with the information necessary to ensure that all stages of offshore energy and mineral activities are conducted in a manner to protect both the human and natural environments. The Outer Continental Shelf Lands Act (OCSLA) Sections 1347 and 1348 respectively mandate the development and enforcement of regulations that protect safety, health and the environment. OCSLA Section 1345 authorizes the use of cooperative agreements with affected States to meet the requirements of OCSLA, including sharing of information, joint utilization of available expertise, formation of joint monitoring arrangements to carry out applicable Federal and State laws, regulations, and stipulations relevant to outer continental shelf operations both onshore and offshore. The purposes of the Office of Offshore Regulatory Programs (OORP) is to obtain the information needed to improve the knowledge, practices, and technologies used to promote operational safety and pollution prevention for offshore oil and gas and renewable energy activities. In preparation for the first renewable energy project to begin operations on the Federal OCS, BSEE is actively gathering information, conducting research, and participating in standards development to identify core competencies and inform our regulatory processes as we develop BSEE's renewable energy program.

TYPES OF ASSISTANCE:

Cooperative Agreements

USES AND USE RESTRICTIONS:

The assistance can be used to conduct technical research to satisfy the information needs associated with oil and gas, renewable energy and marine mineral development on the outer continental shelf. Applications must be for technical research projects, which are within the BSEE area of responsibility. The majority of funds are used to support research that will enhance understanding of exploration and production techniques to enhance safe operations and oil-spill prevention and cleanup from oil and gas, and marine minerals. In the future BSEE will regulate construction, installation, operations, and decommissioning for all sources of renewable energy on the Federal OCS (including wind, marine hydrokinetic and solar). However, our research activities are currently focused on offshore wind, growing expertise and gathering information and data to develop a robust renewable energy program that protects worker safety, protects both marine and avian species, and works collaboratively with State and Federal partners. Funds can also be used for attendance at national conferences for the dissemination of project results. Funds are not normally used for capitalization.

Applicant Eligibility:

State (includes District of Columbia, public institutions of higher education and hospitals); State; Public nonprofit institution/organization (includes institutions of higher education and hospitals); State agencies and public universities may apply. More than one institution may collaborate in the preparation of an application for assistance.

Beneficiary Eligibility:

Federal; Anyone/general public; Scientist/Researchers; State; Local; Research scientists, Federal, State and local decision-makers, and the general public will ultimately benefit from the program.

Credentials/Documentation:

Evidence of the applicant's qualifications for performance of the proposed research including past performance and professional publications, resumes, and lists of past projects must be provided. 2 CFR 200, Subpart E - Cost Principles applies to this program. 2 CFR 200, Sub-part E - Cost Principles applies to this program.

Preapplication Coordination:

Pre-application coordination is required. Environmental impact information is not required for this program. This program is excluded from coverage under E.O. 12372. Limited discussions regarding funding availability and program interest are permitted.

Application Procedures:

2 CFR 200, Uniform Administrative Requirements, Cost Principles, and Audit Requirements for Federal Awards applies to this program. 2 CFR 200, Uniform Administrative Requirements, Cost Principles, and Audit Requirements for Federal Awards apply to this program. Proposals must include a full statement of work, estimated budget, and resumes. Applicants shall post their applications on Grants.gov www.grants.gov database and enroll in a new database GrantSolutions <https://home.grantsolutions.gov/home/> as specified in the Notice of Funding Opportunity. The standard SF-424 application forms required by OMB Circular A-102, 2 CFR Part 215.12, and the Department of the Interior Code of Federal Regulations at 43 CFR Part 12, Subparts C and F, or its revisions, must be used.

Award Procedure:

Awards are made on the basis of a competitive peer review of proposals by a panel consisting of government research managers and external reviewers, as appropriate. Criteria for judging proposals include mission relevance, technical merit, and the quality and appropriateness of the personnel, project management, logistics plan, safety management, permits and interagency coordination, budget/matching funds, and where appropriate, minimization of impacts. Notification of an award is issued. It is anticipated that one to ten applications will be received and one to six cooperative agreement awards will be granted in FY 2013 and FY2014.

Deadlines:

Contact the headquarters or regional location, as appropriate for application deadlines.

Range of Approval/Disapproval Time:

PROGRAM ACCOMPLISHMENTS:

Fiscal Year 2020: Operation and Maintenance of the Ocean Energy Safety Institute (OESI) The mission of the OESI is provide a forum for dialogue, shared learning and cooperative research among academia, government, industry and other non-government organizations in offshore-related technologies and activities that help ensure environmentally safe and responsible offshore operations. OESI represents a cooperative agreement partnership between BSEE, Texas A&M University, University of Texas and University of Houston. OESI stems from a recommendation from the Ocean Energy Safety Advisory Committee, a federal advisory group comprised of representatives from industry, federal government agencies, non-governmental organizations and the academic community. OESI is an important source of unbiased, independent information and will not have any regulatory authority over the offshore industry. OESI is a collaborative venture that will also include involvement on science and technology issues from the Bureau of Ocean Energy Management. OESI will promote collaboration among Federal agencies, industry, standards organizations, and academia in order to provide technical assistance to BSEE, BOEM, and the industry in areas related to emerging technologies, the best available and safest technologies (BAST), and the identification of gaps in safety research. In addition, it will assist in the development of databases to measure and assess reliability of safety systems and train Federal employees to enable them to remain current on state-of-the-art technology. Information on issues related to offshore safety and best practices has been shared with industry, government, and the public through OESI held forums. programs, and fosters a stronger Indigenous American representation within the science workforce of BSEE. Established in 1995, ANSEP has evolved into a longitudinal education model that provides a continuous string of components beginning with students in sixth grade and continuing on through high school, into science and engineering undergraduate and graduate degree programs through PhD. ANSEP has received numerous recognitions for successfully preparing students for professional science and engineering careers including the U.S. Department of Energys Minorities in Energy Initiative, the U.S. Department of the Interior Partners in Conservation Award, and the Ash Center for Democratic Governance and Innovation, Harvard University-Top 25 Innovations in Government. ANSEP, through this cooperative agreement, provides an opportunity to further engage Alaskan Native professionals, and develop the future scientific and engineering employment pool required to support the BSEE mission. The overall objective is to expand the professional science employment preparedness of ANSEP students and to develop a more diversified pool of highly educated professionals with the BSEE workforce to reflect the rich diversity of the Nation.

TYPES OF ASSISTANCE:

Cooperative Agreements

USES AND USE RESTRICTIONS:

Recipient of the assistance is the Alaska Native Science and Engineering Program (ANSEP), and the assistance must be used to provide work and training opportunities to young people between the ages of 16 and 25 working on appropriate conservation projects associated with oil and gas, renewable energy and marine mineral development on the Alaskan outer continental shelf within the BSEE area of responsibility. The majority of funds will be used to support conservation projects that will enhance the understanding of exploration and production techniques to enhance safe operations and oil-spill prevention and cleanup from oil and gas, and marine minerals. The young participants will receive classroom and on-the-job training in oil and gas operational safety and environmental conservation requirements through selected training seminars, meetings, or other organizational activities. The purpose of the training will be to provide experience in the practical application of basic petroleum engineering principles, techniques, and concepts. Funds will not be used for capitalization.

Applicant Eligibility:

Federal; Local (includes State-designated Indian Tribes, excludes institutions of higher education and hospitals; Federally Recognized Indian Tribal Governments; State; None.

Beneficiary Eligibility:

Federal; State; Local; Research scientists, Federal, State and local decision-makers, the youth participants, BSEE, and the general public will ultimately benefit from the program.

Credentials/Documentation:

Documentation that ANSEP is a qualified youth or conservation corp pursuant to 16 U.S.C. 1722(10). Documentation that ANSEP is able to provide eligible youth participants pursuant to 16 U.S.C. 1723(b). 2 CFR 200, Sub-part E - Cost Principles applies to this program.

Preapplication Coordination:

Pre-application coordination is required. Environmental impact information is not required for this program. This program is excluded from coverage under E.O. 12372. Limited discussions regarding funding availability and program interest are permitted. Environmental impact information is not required for this program. This program is excluded from coverage under E.O. 12372.

Application Procedures:

2 CFR 200, Uniform Administrative Requirements, Cost Principles, and Audit Requirements for Federal Awards applies to this program. 2 CFR 200, Uniform Administrative Requirements, Cost Principles, and Audit Requirements for Federal Awards apply to this program. Proposals must include a full statement of work, estimated budget, and resumes. Applicants shall post their applications on Grants.gov www.grants.gov. database and enroll in a new database GrantSolutions https://home.grantsolutions.gov/home/ as specified in the Notice of Funding Opportunity. The standard SF-424 application forms required by OMB Circular A-102, 2 CFR Part 215.12, and the Department of the Interior Code of Federal Regulations at 43 CFR Part 12, Subparts C and F, or its revisions, must be used. Notice of Funding Opportunities (NOFO) for this listing will be posted on Grants.gov.

Award Procedure:

All youth participants must be between the ages of 16 and 25 and satisfy the criteria specified in section 12591(b) of title 42, as required by 16 U.S.C. 1723(b). Youth participant selection will be made on the basis of; participation in ANSEP, enrolled or accepted for enrollment in an engineering degree or certificate program at a qualifying educational institution, be in good academic standing (at least a 2.0 GPA), and enrolled in or have completed at least one engineering course. It is anticipated that two applications will be received and up to two applicants will be selected in FY 2016 through FY 2020.

15.443 Not For Profit

Environmental Studies Program (ESP),

FEDERAL AGENCY:

BUREAU OF OCEAN ENERGY MANAGEMENT, INTERIOR, DEPARTMENT OF THE

AUTHORIZATION:

OBJECTIVES:

The Bureau of Ocean Energy Management (BOEM) provides major economic and energy benefits on a national and local level to the taxpayers, states and the American Indian community. The BOEM oversees the exploration and development of oil, natural gas and other minerals and renewable energy alternatives on the Nations outer continental shelf. BOEM continues to look for better ways to serve the American people and to ensure that the Nation receives the best value for its resources now and into the future. The program not only supports decisions made within the Department of Interior, but also provides coastal States and local governments with the information necessary to ensure that all stages of offshore energy and mineral activities are conducted in a manner to protect both the human and natural environments. The Outer Continental Shelf Lands Act (OCSLA) Section 1346 mandates the conduct of environmental and socioeconomic studies needed for the assessment and management of environmental impacts on the human, marine, and coastal environments which may be affected by oil and gas or other mineral development. OCSLA Section 1345 authorizes the use of cooperative agreements with affected States to meet the requirements of OCSLA, including sharing of information, joint utilization of available expertise, formation of joint monitoring arrangements to carry out applicable Federal and State laws, regulations, and stipulations relevant to outer continental shelf operations both onshore and offshore. The Delegations 218 DM 1 authorized, except as provided in 200 Departmental Manual (DM) 1, to exercise the program authority of the Assistant Secretary Land and Minerals Management with respect to leasing and authorizations for exploration, development, and production of conventional and renewable energy resources and marine mineral resources on the Continental Shelf, and all associated functions that relate thereto. The purpose of the Environmental Studies Program is to obtain the information needed for the assessment and the management of environmental impacts; to predict impacts on marine biota; and to monitor the human, marine, and coastal environments to provide time series and data trend information.

TYPES OF ASSISTANCE:

Cooperative Agreements

USES AND USE RESTRICTIONS:

The assistance can be used to conduct environmental research to satisfy the information needs associated with oil and gas, renewable energy and marine mineral development on the outer continental shelf. Applications must be for scientific research projects which are within the BOEM's area of responsibility. The majority of funds are used to support research that will enhance understanding of long-term effects of oil and gas, marine minerals and renewable energy development projects. Funds can also be used for attendance at national conferences for the dissemination of project results. Funds are not normally used for capitalization. The assistance can be used to conduct public awareness related to environmental and cultural research within BOEM's Environmental Research portfolio.

Applicant Eligibility:

Federal; Local (includes State-designated Indian Tribes, excludes institutions of higher education and hospitals; State; Anyone/general public; Native American Organizations (includes Indian groups, cooperatives, corporations, partnerships, associations); State or political subdivision (including any agency thereof), or any not-for-profit organization. More than one institution may collaborate in the preparation of an application for assistance.

Beneficiary Eligibility:

Federal; Anyone/general public; Native American Organizations; State; Local; Research scientists, Federal, State and local decision-makers, Native American Organizations, and the general public will ultimately benefit from the program.

Credentials/Documentation:

Evidence of the applicant's qualifications for performance of the proposed research including submission of proposals that describe the proposed activities, identify methods for accomplishing the activities, and/or describe the process for ensuring that qualified personnel are used to conduct the activities; past professional publications, resumes, and lists of past projects must be provided. 2 CFR 200, Subpart E - Cost Principles applies to this program.

Preapplication Coordination:

Pre-application coordination is required. Environmental impact information is not required for this program. This program is eligible for coverage under E.O. 12372, "Intergovernmental Review of Federal Programs." An applicant should consult the office or official designated as the single point of contact in his or her State for more information on the process the State requires to be followed in applying for assistance, if the State has selected the program for review. Limited discussions regarding funding availability and program interest are permitted. Notice of Funding Opportunities (NOFO) for this listing will be posted on Grants.gov.

Award Procedure:

Awards are made on the basis of a competitive peer review of proposals by a panel consisting of government research managers and external reviewers, as appropriate. Criteria for judging proposals include mission relevance, technical merit, and the quality and appropriateness of the personnel, project management, logistics plan, safety management, permits and interagency coordination, budget/matching funds, and where appropriate, minimization of impacts. Notification of an award is issued. It is anticipated that several applications will be received, and more than one new cooperative agreement awards may be granted in FY 2021.

15.504 Title XVI Water Reclamation and Reuse

Title XVI Program,

FEDERAL AGENCY:

BUREAU OF RECLAMATION, INTERIOR, DEPARTMENT OF THE
AUTHORIZATION:

P.L. 102-575, Title XVI, Reclamation Wastewater and Groundwater Study and Facilities Act of 1992, October 30, 1992, as amended.,

ASSISTANCE LISTINGS DESCRIPTIONS

OBJECTIVES:

Title XVI of Public Law 102-575, as amended (Title XVI), directs the Secretary of Interior, acting through the Commissioner, to undertake a program to identify and investigate opportunities to reclaim and reuse wastewaters and naturally impaired ground and surface water in the 17 Western States and Hawaii. Title XVI also provides authority for the Secretary to provide up to the lesser of 25 percent of, or the Federal appropriations ceiling (typically $20 million), for the cost of planning, design, and construction of water recycling projects, as well as up to 50 percent of the cost of Title XVI feasibility studies and 25 percent of the cost of Title XVI water reclamation and reuse research.

TYPES OF ASSISTANCE:

Cooperative Agreements, Formula Grants (Cooperative Agreements)

USES AND USE RESTRICTIONS:

Reclamations WaterSMART Title XVI Program provides cost-shared funding on a competitive basis for the planning, design, and construction of water reclamation and reuse projects.

Applicant Eligibility:

State (includes District of Columbia, public institutions of higher education and hospitals); Local (includes State-designated Indian Tribes, excludes institutions of higher education and hospitals); Other public institution/organization; Native American Organizations (includes Indian groups, cooperatives, corporations, partnerships, associations); Federally Recognized Indian Tribal Governments; Eligible recipients of Title XVI funding are identified under the 1902 Act and include State, regional, or local authorities; Indian tribes or tribal organizations; or other entities such as a water conservation or conservancy district, wastewater district, rural water district, located in the western United States or United States Territories as identified in the Reclamation Act of June 17, 1902, as amended or Hawaii. To be eligible to receive funding for construction activities, a water reclamation and reuse project must be specifically authorized under Title XVI or eligible under the amendments in section 4009(c) of the Water Infrastructure Improvements for the Nation (WIIN) Act.

Beneficiary Eligibility:

State; Local; Other public institution/organization; Federally Recognized Indian Tribal Governments; Native American Organizations; Water users, including municipal, industrial, and agricultural, that benefit from the additional drought resistant water source created.

Credentials/Documentation:

To be eligible to receive funding for construction activities, a water reclamation and reuse project must be specifically authorized under Title XVI or eligible under the amendments in section 4009(c) of the Water Infrastructure Improvements for the Nation (WIIN) Act. Funds for construction activities associated with an individual project will not be disbursed until all Title XVI pre-construction requirements have been met for that project. These include: (1) a finding that the feasibility study meets the requirements of Title XVI; (2) complete compliance with the National Environmental Policy Act and other environmental clearances; (3) an approved determination of financial capability; and (4) an executed grant or cooperative agreement for financial assistance. 2 CFR 200, Sub-part E - Cost Principles applies to this program.

Preapplication Coordination:

Pre-application coordination is required. An environmental impact statement is required for this listing. An environmental impact assessment is required for this listing. This program is excluded from coverage under E.O. 12372. To be eligible to receive funding for construction activities, a water reclamation and reuse project must be specifically authorized under Title XVI or eligible under the amendments in section 4009(c) of the Water Infrastructure Improvements for the Nation (WIIN) Act. Funds for construction activities associated with an individual project will not be disbursed until all Title XVI pre-construction requirements have been met for that project. These include: (1) a finding that the feasibility study meets the requirements of Title XVI; (2) complete compliance with the National Environmental Policy Act and other environmental clearances; (3) an approved determination of financial capability; and (4) an executed grant or cooperative agreement for financial assistance between Reclamation and the project sponsor.

Application Procedures:

2 CFR 200, Uniform Administrative Requirements, Cost Principles, and Audit Requirements for Federal Awards applies to this program. Discretionary funding opportunities will be posted on Grants.gov and will be subject to a competitive funding process. Notice of Funding Opportunities (NOFO) for this listing will be posted on Grants.gov.

Award Procedure:

Reclamation will work with the funded recipient to negotiate a grant or cooperative agreement.

Deadlines:

Contact the headquarters or regional location, as appropriate for application deadlines.

Range of Approval/Disapproval Time:

Other. Refer to the Notice of Funding Opportunity posted on grants.gov for detailed approval/disapproval information.

Appeals:

Other. None. Final award decisions are not subject to appeal; however, the Bureau of Reclamation will provide all applicants with information on why their proposals were not selected for award.

Renewals:

Other. Continuation of funding from one fiscal year to the next to complete a project is contingent on the final Federal appropriations.

Formula and Matching Requirements:

Statutory Formula: Title XVI, Chapter , Part , Subpart ,Public Law 102-575. Matching Requirements: Percent: 0%. Requirement: Matching requirements are mandatory. Reclamation can contribute up to 50% for feasibility study costs and 25% for research studies. Federal funding for Title XVI construction projects is limited to 25% of the total project or a specified maximum amount, whichever is less. The maximum amount varies by project. Generally, projects authorized after 1996 have a ceiling of $20 million or less; the specific details are available in the authorizing legislation. If a project conducted under the Title XVI Program includes planning, design, and construction, the Reclamation Wastewater and Groundwater Study and Facilities Act of 1992 (the Act) requires the sponsor to provide at least 75 percent of all the costs incurred, including Reclamations administrative costs. In addition, the sponsor must pay all operation, maintenance and replacement (OM&R) costs of the project. MOE requirements are not applicable to this assistance listing.

Length and Time Phasing of Assistance:

Feasibility studies which receive Reclamation funding must be completed in 18 to 36 months. See funding opportunity for details. Research studies which receive Reclamation funding must be completed in 18 to 36 months. See funding opportunity for details. For authorized Title XVI projects and WIIN projects, Reclamation will provide funding for planning, design, or construction that can be completed in a two year period. See funding opportunity for details. Method of awarding/releasing assistance: other

Reports:

Other specific reports that may be applicable to the agreement such as property inventories, and patent and invention disclosures. Unless otherwise stated in the agreement document, recipients shall submit the following reports on an annual basis: (1) SF-425, Federal Financial Report. Upon completion of the agreement, recipients shall submit a final: (1) SF-425, Federal Financial Report. Upon completion of the agreement, recipients shall submit a final Program Performance Report.

Audits:

In accordance with the provisions of 2 CFR 200, Subpart F - Audit Requirements, nonfederal entities that expend financial assistance of $750,000 or more in Federal awards will have a single or a program-specific audit conducted for that year. Non-Federal entities that expend less than $750,000 a year in Federal awards are exempt from Federal audit requirements for that year, except as noted in 2 CFR 200.503. Nonfederal entities that expend $750,000 or more a year in Federal awards will have a single or a program-specific audit conducted for that year. Nonfederal entities that expend less than $750,000 a year in Federal awards are exempt from Federal audit requirements for that year, except as noted in 2 CFR 200.503.

EXAMPLES OF FUNDED PROJECTS:

2020 Padre Dam Municipal Water District received $4,000,000 in FY 2020 Federal funding to implement the Phase I Water Recycling Project, which includes the expansion of the Ray Stoyer Water Reclamation Facility, construction of a new advanced water purification facility, potable reuse conveyance pipelines, a product water pump station, and a biosolids digestion facility to offset energy demands of the project. Funding requested will be used for planning, design, and some construction costs. The project will create 3,900 acrefeet per year of potable water by capturing wastewater flows that would otherwise be discharged to the ocean, allowing the District to increase local water supplies. Monterey One Water received a total of $15,498,985 in FY 2019 and FY 2020 Federal funding for the Pure Water Monterey project, which will produce up to 8,200 acrefeet of reliable, drought resistant water supply for communities in Monterey County, California. The project includes collection and conveyance facilities and construction of an advanced water treatment plant. The project will treat secondary effluent from a local wastewater treatment plant, municipal urban runoff, stormwater, and agricultural wash water which will be used to recharge the Seaside Groundwater Basin and for agricultural irrigation. 2021 Elsinore Valley Municipal Water District, Regional Wastewater Reclamation Facility Expansion Project; $8,928,442. The expansion project will increase capacity of the regional wastewater reclamation facility by 4,480 acre-feet annually. This increase will help meet expected demand and provide a more reliable water supply for the districts customers. //County of Hawaii, Kealakehe Wastewater Treatment Plan R-1 Upgrade Project; $556,700. The upgrade project involves necessary improvements to the distribution system, new pipelines and expanded treatment. The project is projected to result in 2,016 acre-feet of recycled water deliveries annually, which will contribute to the resiliency of the regions long-term water supply. 2022 Selections are not complete for FY22. Projects for this WaterSMART Program fund the planning, design, and construction of water recycling and reuse projects in partnership with local government entities.

CRITERIA FOR SELECTING PROPOSALS:

Reclamation will place priority on funding projects that reduce demands on existing water supplies or address specific water supply issues in a cost-effective manner, address environmental and water quality concerns, are economically justified, and meet other program goals.

15.506 Water Desalination Research and Development

FEDERAL AGENCY:

BUREAU OF RECLAMATION, INTERIOR, DEPARTMENT OF THE AUTHORIZATION:

Water Desalination Act of 1996, Public Law 104-298, as amended by the Water Infrastructure Improvements for the Nation Act of 2016 (WIIN Act) (P.L. 114-322; Section 3801), Reclamation Act of 1902, Sec 1 and Sec 2, and Public Law 111-11, Section 9509.,

OBJECTIVES:

There are three goals for the program: (1) augment the supply of usable water in the United States; (2) understand the environmental impacts of desalination and develop approaches to minimize these impacts relative to other water supply alternatives; (3) develop approaches to lower the financial costs of desalination so that it is an attractive option relative to other alternatives in locations where traditional sources of water are inadequate. The three principal parts of the program are: (1) perform research on desalination technologies and related issues to advance the state of the art forward (research and studies), (2) conduct development and demonstration activities to test technological advancements, confirm economics, and gain public acceptance (development projects), and (3) support operation and maintenance at the Brackish Groundwater National Desalination Research Facility (BGNDRF)

TYPES OF ASSISTANCE:

Cooperative Agreements

USES AND USE RESTRICTIONS:

To be used to support research and studies, demonstration and development projects and related activities, and operation and maintenance at BGNDRF as described in the Water Desalination Act and amendments..

Applicant Eligibility:

State (includes District of Columbia, public institutions of higher education and hospitals); Local (includes State-designated Indian Tribes, excludes institutions of higher education and hospitals); Public nonprofit institution/organization (includes institutions of higher education and hospitals); Other public institution/organization; Federally Recognized Indian Tribal Governments; Profit organization; Private nonprofit institution/organization (includes institutions of higher education and hospitals); Quasi-public nonprofit institution/organization; Other private institutions/organizations; Any responsible source, to include individuals, State and local entities, public nonprofit institutions/organizations, other public institutions/organizations, Federally recognized Indian Tribal Governments, small businesses, profit organizations, private nonprofit institutions/organizations, quasi-public nonprofit institutions/organizations, and other private institutions/organizations may submit a proposal which will be considered by Reclamation. Foreign entities are not eligible for funding. Federal agencies are not eligible to apply.

ASSISTANCE LISTINGS DESCRIPTIONS

Beneficiary Eligibility:

Profit organization; Private nonprofit institution/organization; Quasi-public nonprofit organization; Other private institution/organization; State; Local; Public nonprofit institution/organization; Other public institution/organization; Federally Recognized Indian Tribal Governments; Individuals, State and local entities, public nonprofit institutions/organizations, other public institutions/organizations, Federally recognized Indian Tribal Governments, small businesses, profit organizations, private nonprofit institutions/organizations, quasi-public nonprofit institutions/organizations and other private institutions/organizations.

Credentials/Documentation:

(1) A detailed written technical proposal including the current status of the technology supporting the proposed research, technical approach proposed to accomplish the work, a scope of work which separates the work into major tasks, applicability to local and/or national water problems, type of personnel participating in the research, type and location of facilities and equipment that will be utilized by the project applicant, experience in this type of research, the environmental impact of the research, an estimate of the costs and/or cost savings ($/1000 gal) and economic and environmental benefit of the technology, and other information that may be useful for proposal evaluation. (2) A detailed project cost proposal including a budget covering salaries and wages, fringe benefits, travel, equipment, supplies, subcontracts, indirect cost rates, funding sources and commitments, cost-sharing, and a breakdown of costs by task. 2 CFR 200, Sub-part E - Cost Principles applies to this program.

Preapplication Coordination:

Pre-application coordination is required. An environmental impact statement is required for this listing. An environmental impact assessment is required for this listing. This program is eligible for coverage under E.O. 12372, "Intergovernmental Review of Federal Programs." An applicant should consult the office or official designated as the single point of contact in his or her State for more information on the process the State requires to be followed in applying for assistance, if the State has selected the program for review. Environmental compliance for this program may be required depending on the scope of the specific project funded. This may result in the need for an environmental impact assessment or environmental impact statement prior to the commencement of project activities.

Application Procedures:

2 CFR 200, Uniform Administrative Requirements, Cost Principles, and Audit Requirements for Federal Awards applies to this program. A full proposal solicitation package is issued annually by Reclamation. The package may solicit laboratory, pilot-scale, and full-scale research projects. Submission of full technical and cost proposals in accordance with the instructions stated in the announcement document is mandatory. Additionally, applicants must submit all applicable SF-424 forms and a DI-2010 form which will be included in the announcement document. Notice of Funding Opportunities (NOFO) for this listing will be posted on Grants.gov.

Award Procedure:

The number of awards, maximum funding amount per award, and areas of interest for which proposals will be considered, are determined on an annual basis and are dependent upon the annual appropriation from Congress. Proposals received in response to the annual solicitation are reviewed on the basis of a competitive, merit-review process, and are rated in accordance with evaluation criteria stated in the solicitation document. Reclamation will make awards for the highest rated proposals based on the amount of funding available each year. Reclamation reserves the right to make awards to maintain balance among the program objectives listed in the solicitation document.

Deadlines:

Contact the headquarters or regional location, as appropriate for application deadlines.

Range of Approval/Disapproval Time:

Other. Contact Reclamation for the range of time when proposals are approved or disapproved.

Appeals:

Other. None. Final award decisions are not subject appeal; however, the Bureau of Reclamation will provide all applicants with information on why their proposals were not selected for award.

Renewals:

Other. Continuation of funding for the Program from one fiscal year to the next is at the discretion of the Congress. Yearly solicitation is made for projects of 12 months duration or less (follow-on funding may be available for additional research studies, pilot-plant projects, or demonstration projects). No-cost extensions to awarded agreements are provided for unique projects that can justify additional time beyond the 12-month duration.

Formula and Matching Requirements:

Statutory formula is not applicable to this assistance listing. Matching Requirements: Percent: 0%. Requirement: Matching requirements are mandatory. The Federal share of the cost of a project or activity carried out shall not exceed 50 percent of the total cost of the project or activity. A Federal contribution in excess of 25 percent for a project carried out under this Act may not be made unless the Secretary of the Interior determines that the project is not feasible without such increased Federal contribution. Costs of operation, maintenance, repair, and rehabilitation of facilities funded shall be nonfederal responsibilities with the exception of the BGNDRF.MOE requirements are not applicable to this assistance listing.

Length and Time Phasing of Assistance:

Solicitation is made for projects of 12 months duration or less (follow-on funding may be available for additional research studies, pilot-plant projects, or demonstration projects). No-cost extensions to awarded agreements are provided for unique projects that can justify additional time beyond the 12-month duration. Method of awarding/releasing assistance: other

Reports:

The Recipient shall furnish quarterly reports and a final report as a permanent record of the work accomplished under the agreement. A midterm project review shall be held at the Recipient's site approximately 3 to 6 months after project award. Approximately at the time of delivery of the draft final report, the Project Manager shall make a presentation in Denver on the overall progress of the project. Unless otherwise stated in the agreement, a Federal Financial Report, SF 425 is required at least annually. At the completion of the project a final Federal Financial Report is required.

Audits:

In accordance with the provisions of 2 CFR 200, Subpart F - Audit Requirements, nonfederal entities that expend financial assistance of $750,000 or more in Federal awards will have a single or a program-specific audit conducted for that year. Non-Federal entities that expend less than $750,000 a year in Federal awards are exempt from Federal audit requirements for that year, except as noted in 2 CFR 200.503

Records:

All recipients of Federal awards shall maintain project records in accordance with 2 CFR 200.333 Retention requirements for records. Financial records, supporting documents, statistical records, and all other non-Federal entity records pertinent to a Federal award must be retained for a period of three years from the date of submission of the final expenditure report or, for Federal awards that are renewed quarterly or annually, from the date of the submission of the quarterly or annual financial report, respectively, as reported to the Federal awarding agency or pass-through entity in the case of a subrecipient. Federal awarding agencies and pass-through entities must not impose any other record retention requirements upon non-Federal entities, except as noted in 2 CFR 200.333.

EXAMPLES OF FUNDED PROJECTS:

2020 The City of Westminster in Maryland received $347,500 to develop a pilot project for treatment techniques as it considers potable water reuse by treating the effluent from its existing wastewater treatment process and augmenting the Cranberry Reservoir. This will be the first potable reuse project in the State of Maryland. Lehigh University in Pennsylvania received $225,719 toward energy efficient municipal and brackish wastewater recovery. They have validated for the first time a hybrid ion exchange desalination process that does not require any membrane and is energy efficient. They will test wastewater from the Allentown Wastewater Treatment Plant to validate the energy superiority of the process when compared to reverse osmosis. The University of California in Irvine received $250,000 to develop a real time sensor for pathogen detection in water reuse. Developing real-time sensors to verify pathogen removal could permit utilities to avoid expensive redundancies in the treatment process required to protect humans from exposure to bacteria and virus removal during the water treatment process. 2021 FY 2021 selections include laboratory-scale studies involving small flow rates, and pilot-scale projects to test novel processes. Selections seek to improve technologies for water supply development from nontraditional waters, including seawater, brackish groundwater, and municipal wastewater. More detailed project information will be available after selected projects are finalized and awarded. 2022 FY 2022 selections have not been made. Projects funded by this program seek to accomplish program objectives.

CRITERIA FOR SELECTING PROPOSALS:

Evaluation factors may include, but are not limited to the following: Technical Factors: (1) Demonstrated familiarity with the current technology in the field of work and understanding of the potential difficulties in carrying out the work. (2) Impact of the proposed work on the current technology and on its related economics if a completely successful outcome were achieved. (3) Novelty of approach to the work. (4) Relationship to research priorities. (5) Availability of equipment, instruments, and test facilities required for the work. Managerial Factors: (1) The qualifications, capabilities, and experience of the proposed project manager and other key personnel who are critical to achievement of the proposed objectives. (2) Adequacy, completeness and realism of the research schedule, task phasing, and milestones. (3) The applicants capabilities, related experience, facilities, techniques, or unique combinations of these which are integral factors for achieving the proposed objectives. Pricing Factor: Cost realism and reasonableness. This requires that costs be directly relatable to items in the research work plan or Project Management Plan, be reasonable, and be appropriate to the project in terms of dollar amount and quantity.

15.507 WaterSMART (Sustain and Manage Americas Resources for Tomorrow)

Water SMART Grants,

FEDERAL AGENCY:

BUREAU OF RECLAMATION, INTERIOR, DEPARTMENT OF THE AUTHORIZATION:

Section 9504(a), Omnibus Public Lands Management Act of 2009, (Public Law 111-11), as amended.,

OBJECTIVES:

To make funding available for eligible applicants to leverage their money and resources by cost sharing with Reclamation on three different types of projects: 1) projects that save water; increase the use of renewable energy; and accomplish other sustainability benefits; 2) development of water marketing strategies that will help prevent water conflicts and will contribute to water supply sustainability; and 3) small-scale water efficiency projects that have been identified through previous planning efforts to conserve and use water more efficiently; mitigate conflict risk in areas at a high risk of future water conflict; and accomplish other benefits that contribute to water supply reliability in the western United States.

TYPES OF ASSISTANCE:

Cooperative Agreements, Cooperative Agreements (Discretionary Grants)

USES AND USE RESTRICTIONS:

WaterSMART Grants provide cost-shared financial assistance on a competitive basis to carry out water management improvements, small-scale water efficiency improvements, development of water marketing strategies, and other water management improvements. Reclamation may also provide financial assistance for these types of water conservation projects under this CFDA using this statutory authority, either competitively or non-competitively, for other non-WaterSMART projects when another Reclamation CFDA is not available. In addition, Section 9504 of Public Law 111-11 requires the following: (1) The Recipient shall not use any associated water savings to increase the total irrigated acreage of the Recipient or otherwise increase the consumptive use of water in the operation of the Recipient, as determined pursuant to the law of the State in which the operation of Recipient is located. (2) If the activities funded under this Agreement result in an infrastructure improvement that is integral to the existing operations of a federally owned facility, the Federal Government shall continue to hold title to the facility and improvements to the facility. (3) The non-Federal share of the cost of operating and maintaining any infrastructure improvement funded through this Agreement shall be 100 percent. (4) Except as provided under chapter 171 of title 28, United States Code (commonly known as the Federal Tort Claims Act), the United States shall not be liable for monetary damages of any kind for any injury arising out of an act, omission, or occurrence that arises in relation to any facility created or improved under this Agreement, the title of which is not held by the United States.

Applicant Eligibility:

State (includes District of Columbia, public institutions of higher education and hospitals); Local (includes State-designated Indian Tribes, excludes institutions of higher education and hospitals; Federally Recognized Indian Tribal Governments; Other private institutions/organizations; In accordance with P.L. 111-11, Section 9502, eligible applicants include any: state, Indian tribe, irrigation district, water district, or other organization with water or power delivery authority. Nonprofit conservation organizations are also eligible to apply if they are acting in partnership with and with the agreement of an entity described above. Applicants must also be located in the western U.S. or Territories as identified in the Reclamation Act of June 17, 1902, as amended and supplemented; specifically, Alaska, Arizona, California, Colorado, Hawaii, Idaho, Kansas, Montana, Nebraska, Nevada, New Mexico, North Dakota, Oklahoma, Oregon, South Dakota, Texas, Utah, Washington, Wyoming, American Samoa, Guam, the Northern Mariana Islands, and the Virgin Islands, and Puerto Rico.

Beneficiary Eligibility:

Anyone/general public; State; The general public, agricultural, municipal and industrial water users; irrigation or water districts; and state governmental entities with water or power delivery authority, located in the states identified in the Act of June 17, 1902.

Credentials/Documentation:

(1) A detailed written technical proposal including background data regarding the applicant, such as location, total project diversions, and relevant water use efficiency measurements, a detailed scope of work separating the work into major tasks, including any engineering or design work already completed, and describing data responsive to the evaluation criteria listed in the funding opportunity. (2) When applicable, a funding plan showing how the applicant will pay for its 50% cost share requirement, and an official resolution adopted by the irrigation or water districts governing board of directors, resolving that, if selected, it will negotiate and execute a cooperative agreement with Reclamation. (3) A detailed project cost proposal, including a budget with the annual estimated project costs, including salaries and wages, fringe benefits, travel, equipment, supplies, contracts, and indirect costs, an estimate of annual operation & maintenance costs, and the value of in-kind contributions of goods and services. 2 CFR 200, Sub-part E - Cost Principles applies to this program.

Preapplication Coordination:

Pre-application coordination is required. An environmental impact statement is required for this listing. An environmental impact assessment is required for this listing. This program is excluded from coverage under E.O. 12372. Environmental compliance for this program may be required depending on the scope of the specific project funded. This may result in the need for an environmental impact assessment or environmental impact statement prior to the commencement of project activities. This program is excluded from coverage under E.O. 12372.

Application Procedures:

2 CFR 200, Uniform Administrative Requirements, Cost Principles, and Audit Requirements for Federal Awards applies to this program. Notice of Funding Opportunities (funding opportunities) are posted annually on www.grants.gov. Submission of a complete technical proposal and project budget is mandatory by the due date identified in the funding opportunity. In addition, applicants must submit all applicable SF 424 forms referenced in the funding opportunity. Notice of Funding Opportunities (NOFO) for this listing will be posted on Grants.gov.

Award Procedure:

Proposals received in response to the funding opportunity are reviewed on the basis of a competitive, merit-based review process, and are rated in accordance with the evaluation criteria stated in the funding opportunity. Reclamation will make awards to the highest rated proposals based on the amount of funding available each year. For non-WaterSMART awards made under this CFDA using this statutory authority, the awards may be made competitively or non-competitively.

Deadlines:

Contact the headquarters or regional location, as appropriate for application deadlines.

Range of Approval/Disapproval Time:

Other. The review, scoring and announcement of the recipients typically take three to five months.

Appeals:

Not Applicable. Not applicable. Upon request, Reclamation will provide all applicants with information on why their proposals were not selected.

Renewals:

Other. Most awarded projects are fully funded at the time of award. Some Water and Energy Efficiency Grant projects (i.e. phased project) may be funded each year for up to three years.

Formula and Matching Requirements:

Statutory formula is not applicable to this assistance listing. Matching Requirements: Percent: 0%. Requirement: Matching requirements are mandatory. The Federal share of the cost of a project or activity carried out under the Program shall not exceed 50 percent of the total cost of the project or activity. Costs of operation, maintenance, repair and rehabilitation of facilities funded under the authority for this Program shall be nonfederal responsibilities. MOE requirements are not applicable to this assistance listing.

Length and Time Phasing of Assistance:

In general, projects should be completed within 2 years of award. Applicants for Water and Energy Efficiency Grants must select one of two funding groups and must therefore propose either a project that can be completed within 2 years of award or a phased project that can be completed within 3 years of award with Federal funding to be provided separately for each phase. Applications for projects requiring more time will be considered for funding only under limited circumstances. Method of awarding/releasing assistance: other

Reports:

Other specific reports that may be applicable to the agreement such as property inventories, and patent and invention disclosures. Recipients shall submit the Federal Financial Report, SF-425 during the term of the agreement and a final report upon completion of the agreement. Unless otherwise stated in the agreement document, recipients shall submit Program Performance Reports, on a semi-annual basis. Upon completion of the agreement, recipients shall submit a final Program Performance Report.

Audits:

In accordance with the provisions of 2 CFR 200, Subpart F - Audit Requirements, nonfederal entities that expend financial assistance of $750,000 or more in Federal awards will have a single or a program-specific audit conducted for that year. Non-Federal entities that expend less than $750,000 a year in Federal awards are exempt from Federal audit requirements for that year, except as noted in 2 CFR 200.503. Nonfederal entities that expend $750,000 or more a year in Federal awards will have a single or a program-specific audit conducted for that year. Nonfederal entities that expend less than $750,000 a year in Federal awards are exempt from Federal audit requirements for that year, except as noted in 2 CFR 200.503.

Records:

All recipients of Federal awards shall maintain project records in accordance with 2 CFR 200.333 Retention requirements for records. Financial records, supporting documents, statistical records, and all other non-Federal entity records pertinent to a Federal award must be retained for a period of three years from the date of submission of the final expenditure report or, for Federal awards that are renewed quarterly or annually, from the date of the submission of the quarterly or annual financial report, respectively, as reported to the Federal awarding agency or pass-through entity in the case of a subrecipient. 15.506 Water Desalination Research and Development Program;

EXAMPLES OF FUNDED PROJECTS:

2020 The North Kern Water Storage District, located in Bakersfield, California, received $1.5 million in fiscal year (FY) 2020 Federal funding to line 3,841 feet of an unlined portion of the Calloway Canal with 4-inch thick unreinforced concrete. The canal lining is expected to result in annual water savings of 1,349 acre-feet, which is currently seeping into the groundwater basin that has poor water quality.

ASSISTANCE LISTINGS DESCRIPTIONS

Additionally, the District will install flow meters, water level sensors, and telemetry at seven of the Districts production wells. These additional improvements will provide real-time data and allow the District to better control well operations, resulting in an expected annual water savings of 289 acre-feet from reduced pumping. The groundwater basin in the San Joaquin Valley portion of Kern County is critically stressed, especially when pumping increases during dry years. Overall, the project is expected to result in 1,638 acre-feet of water savings, which will offset groundwater pumping. The City of Ammon, located in southeastern Idaho, received $300,000 in FY 2020 Federal funding to install advanced metering infrastructure water meters in 916 residences that are currently unmetered. The City's population has more than doubled between 2000 and 2010 and the growth is expected to continue. The project is expected to result in annual water savings of 258 acre-feet by allowing the City to better monitor water usage and identify leaks, fluctuations, and other inconsistencies in the system. The water conserved will remain in the Eastern Snake River Plain Aquifer, which will strengthen the reliability of the City's existing groundwater rights to adequately serve its growing population. 2021 The San Luis Rey Indian Water Authority (IWA), located in Northern San Diego County, California, received $200,000 in fiscal year (FY) 2021 Federal funding to partner with five local Tribal Bands to develop a water marketing strategy to address both surface and groundwater resources. The goal of the strategy is to reduce dependence on imported water by developing water rights and infrastructure use agreements to move water to parts of the reservation that are not able to meet their demands, especially during times of drought. Along with the five Tribal Bands, the IWA is planning stakeholder outreach activities that include eight additional municipal water districts, two community service districts, six mutual water companies, and farm bureau and agricultural interests. In addition, the IWA will conduct a surface and groundwater inventory, and establish a format for ongoing coordination between the IWA, the Bands, and non-Indian entities to support water supply reliability. 2022 FY 2022 project selections have not been made. Selections see to make funding for projects that save water; increase the use of renewable energy; accomplish other sustainability benefits; develop water marketing strategies that will help prevent water conflicts and will contribute to water supply sustainability; and small-scale water efficiency projects that conserve and use water more efficiently; mitigate conflict risk in areas at a high risk of future water conflict; and accomplish other benefits that contribute to water supply reliability in the western United States.

OBJECTIVES:

All funding has been obligated, however should additional funds become available they will be expended for various activities for the benefit of at-risk terminal lakes to provide water and assistance to a terminal lake to carry out research, support, and conservation activities for associated fish, wildlife, plant, and habitat resources in Nevada and California.

TYPES OF ASSISTANCE:

Cooperative Agreements (Discretionary Grants), Project Grants (Cooperative Agreements or Contracts)

USES AND USE RESTRICTIONS:

Funding is directed to be used for terminal lakes and associated watersheds in the State of Nevada and California.

Applicant Eligibility:

Local (includes State-designated Indian Tribes, excludes institutions of higher education and hospitals); Public nonprofit institution/organization (includes institutions of higher education and hospitals); State; All funding has been obligated, if additional funding is realized, the following would apply: State and local public agencies, Indian tribes, nonprofit organizations, educational institutions, and individuals may submit a proposal which will be considered by Reclamation. Foreign entities and Federal agencies are not eligible to apply.

Beneficiary Eligibility:

Individual/Family; Small business; Profit organization; Private nonprofit institution/organization; Quasi-public nonprofit organization; Other private institution/organization; Anyone/general public; Native American Organizations; State; Local; Public nonprofit institution/organization; Other public institution/organization; Federally Recognized Indian Tribal Governments; All funding has been obligated, if additional funding is realized, the following would apply: State and local entities, public nonprofit institutions/organizations, other public institutions/organizations, Federally recognized Indian Tribal Governments, individuals, small businesses, profit organizations, private organizations, quasi-public nonprofit organizations, other private institutions/organization, general public, Native American organizations, higher education institutions, irrigation districts, municipal water authorities, farmers/ranchers/agriculture producers, and land/property owners.

Credentials/Documentation:

All funding has been obligated, if additional funding is realized, the following would apply: (1) A detailed written technical proposal including background data regarding the applicant, technical approach proposed to accomplish the work, a scope of work that separates the work into major tasks, type of personnel implementing the proposal, experience in performing this type of work, benefits to be received by implementation of the project(s), environmental impact(s), timeline(s), the level of cooperation with other parties involved in the proposal, and other information that may be useful for proposal evaluation. (2) A detailed cost proposal by project including a budget covering labor categories, salaries and wages with estimated hours, fringe benefits, travel, equipment, supplies, subcontracts, indirect cost rates, other funding sources and commitments, cost-sharing, value of in-kind contributions of goods and services, and a narrative discussion. 2 CFR 200, Subpart E - Cost Principles applies to this program. 2 CFR 200, Sub-part E - Cost Principles applies to this program.

Preapplication Coordination:

Pre-application coordination is required. An environmental impact statement is required for this listing. An environmental impact assessment is required for this listing. This program is excluded from coverage under E.O. 12372. All funding has been obligated, if additional funding is realized, the following would apply: Funding is allowed for work that will be for the benefit of at-risk terminal lakes and to carry out research, support, and conservation activities for associated fish, wildlife, plant, and habitat resources in Nevada and California. An environmental NEPA document may be required depending on the nature of the proposal and its impact on the environment. Compliance with National Historic Preservation Act and Endangered Species Act may also be required. Pre-application Coordination: Although it is not mandatory, Reclamation strongly encourages offerors to submit a pre-proposal to eliminate the possibility of submitting a full proposal that would not be considered for award. The pre-proposal should describe 1) how the proposal will provide benefits to a terminal lake or associated watershed, 2) the quantity of water anticipated to be provided if part of the proposal or benefit to the associated riparian and watershed resources, 3) the associated estimated cost, 4) potential environmental impacts, 5) state, local and other permits or approvals needed to implement the proposal.

ASSISTANCE LISTINGS DESCRIPTIONS

Application Procedures:

2 CFR 200, Uniform Administrative Requirements, Cost Principles, and Audit Requirements for Federal Awards applies to this program. All funding has been obligated, if additional funding is realized, the following would apply: Funding is allowed for work for the benefit of at-risk terminal lakes and to carry out research, support, and conservation activities for associated fish, wildlife, plant, and habitat resources in Nevada and California. For Summit Lake, Reclamation will only accept proposals from the Summit Lake Paiute Tribe, since the lake is entirely within the reservation boundaries and any proposal affecting the lake would need the consent of the Tribe; the exception is if DTL funding is reprogrammed in another DTL grant for Summit Lake. For all other terminal lakes, Reclamation may accept applications after the applicant provides enough pre-application information to Reclamation to assure that the proposed work will be for the benefit of at-risk natural desert terminal lakes and associated riparian and watershed resources in Nevada and California or fund designated activities, the associated cost is reasonable, and it is likely Reclamation can satisfy its federal Indian trust, endangered species, environmental, and other responsibilities. If funding becomes available, and sole source qualifications do not apply, discretionary funding opportunities will be posted. Submission of a complete technical proposal and a project budget proposal in accordance with the instructions in the FOA is mandatory. In addition, applicants must submit all applicable SF424 forms, which are referenced in the FOA.

Award Procedure:

Unless sole source qualifications apply, proposals will be evaluated using a merit-based review process.

Deadlines:

Contact the headquarters or regional location, as appropriate for application deadlines.

Range of Approval/Disapproval Time:

Other. Contact Reclamation for the range of time when proposals are approved or disapproved.

Appeals:

Not Applicable. Reclamation will, however, provide all applicants with information on why their proposals were not selected.

Renewals:

Other. Additional funding for the program is at the discretion of Congress. Any request for a time extension must be in writing in accordance with the provisions stated in the agreement.

Formula and Matching Requirements:

Statutory formula is not applicable to this assistance listing. Matching requirements are not applicable to this assistance listing. MOE requirements are not applicable to this assistance listing.

Length and Time Phasing of Assistance:

15.509 Title II, Colorado River Basin Salinity Control

Basinwide Program,

FEDERAL AGENCY:

BUREAU OF RECLAMATION, INTERIOR, DEPARTMENT OF THE AUTHORIZATION:

Public Law 93-320, 59 Stat. 1219, 43 U.S.C. 1571-1573 and U.S.C. 1592(c), as amended; Sec. 2, Pub. L. 98-569, 98 Stat. 43 U.S.C. 1592(c); Sec. 1, Pub. L. 104-20, 43 U.S.C. 1592; Title III, Subtitle D, Chapter 4, Pub. L. 104-127, 110 Stat. 1006; Pub. L. 106-459, 114 Stat. 1987.,

OBJECTIVES:

To provide financial and technical assistance to: (1) identify salt source areas; (2) develop project plans to carry out conservation practices to reduce salt loads; (3) install conversation practices to reduce salinity levels; (4) carry out research, education, and demonstration activities; (5) carry out monitoring and devaluation activities; and (6) to decrease salt concentration and salt loading which causes increased salinity levels within the Colorado River and to enhance the supply and quality of water available for use in the United States and the Republic of Mexico. Such programs shall consist of cost-effective measures and associated works to reduce salinity from saline springs, leaking wells, irrigation sources, industrial sources, erosion of public and private land, or other sources.

TYPES OF ASSISTANCE:

Cooperative Agreements (Discretionary Grants)

USES AND USE RESTRICTIONS:

Eligible owners or operators in the Colorado River Basin above Imperial Dam may receive assistance to treat salinity problems.

Applicant Eligibility:

State (includes District of Columbia, public institutions of higher education and hospitals); Local (includes State-designated Indian Tribes, excludes institutions of higher education and hospitals); Public nonprofit institution/organization (includes institutions of higher education and hospitals); Federally Recognized Indian Tribal Governments; U.S. Territories and possessions (includes institutions of higher education and hospitals); Individual/Family; Profit organization; Private nonprofit institution/organization (includes institutions of higher education and hospitals); Any legal entity that is the owner or operator of the features to be replaced and/or to be constructed and capable of contracting with Reclamation.

Beneficiary Eligibility:

Anyone/general public; Any person who uses or reuses Colorado River water for irrigation, domestic, municipal or industrial water supply, or for fish and wildlife habitat will benefit.

Credentials/Documentation:

Projects will require compliance with the National Environmental Policy Act and Endangered Species Act. Information regarding whether these requirements must be met will be included in the funding opportunity announcement posted on www.grants.gov. 2 CFR 200, Sub-part E - Cost Principles applies to this program.

Preapplication Coordination:

Pre-application coordination is required. An environmental impact statement is required for this listing. An environmental impact assessment is required for this listing. This program is eligible for coverage under E.O. 12372, "Intergovernmental Review of Federal Programs." An applicant should consult the office or official designated as the single point of contact in his or her State for more information on the process the State requires to be followed in applying for assistance, if the State has selected the program for review. Environmental compliance for this program may be required depending on the scope of the specific project funded. This may result in the need for an environmental impact assessment or environmental impact statement prior to the commencement of project activities.

Application Procedures:

2 CFR 200, Uniform Administrative Requirements, Cost Principles, and Audit Requirements for Federal Awards applies to this program. Funding opportunity announcements for this program, along with registration procedures, application packages and instructions, SF-424 forms and any other forms to be used to submit application information, points of contact, and procedures for submitting applications will be available on www.grants.gov. Notice of Funding Opportunities (NOFO) for this listing will be posted on Grants.gov.

Award Procedure:

Reclamation will solicit proposals and award funding through a Notice of Funding Opportunity process. The NOFO will request proposals from public and private sectors that would control salinity based on cost per ton. The proposals will be ranked based on their cost effectiveness for preventing salt from entering the Colorado River system. The ranking would consider risk factors that might affect the project's performance. Upon receipt of applications/proposals by the date identified in the announcement(s), the applications will be reviewed to determine if application/proposal(s) are consistent with requirements identified in the announcements. The application/proposal(s) are reviewed against identified criteria by a Federal technical team of experts, that may include representatives of states as advisors. Based on the review, a ranking will be defined. Negotiations will be conducted and/or awards will be made based on recommendations from the technical experts. Award will be based on those applications best meeting the needs of the program, including cost and risk factors.

Deadlines:

Contact the headquarters or regional location, as appropriate for application deadlines.

Range of Approval/Disapproval Time:

Other. Approximately 90 days.

Appeals:

Other. Final award decisions are not subject to appeal; however, the Bureau of Reclamation will provide all applicants with information on why their proposals were not selected for award.

Renewals:

Not Applicable. NONE.

Formula and Matching Requirements:

Statutory formula is not applicable to this assistance listing. Matching Requirements: Percent: 0%. Requirement: Matching requirements are mandatory. Cost share in the amount of $.43 per $1.00 of appropriated funds is provided from the Upper Colorado River Basin Fund and the Lower Colorado River Basin Development Fund (Basin Funds). Moneys in the Basin Funds come from a surcharge on power produced at Reclamation power generation facilities on the Colorado River. $1.00 Appropriated+$0.43 Basin Fund = $1.43 for the Basinwide Salinity Control Program. MOE requirements are not applicable to this assistance listing.

Projects selected for this program seek to find cost-effective measures and associated works to reduce salinity from saline springs, leaking wells, irrigation sources, industrial sources, erosion of public and private land, or other sources. 2022 FY 2022 project selections are not yet available. Projects selected for this program seek to find cost-effective measures and associated works to reduce salinity from saline springs, leaking wells, irrigation sources, industrial sources, erosion of public and private land, or other sources.

CRITERIA FOR SELECTING PROPOSALS:

In 1984, the Salinity Control Act was amended to direct the Secretary of the Interior to give preference to units which reduce salinity at the least cost per unit of salinity reduction (or cost-effectiveness). Cost-effectiveness is defined as the Salinity Programs annual cost per ton of salt prevented from entering the Colorado River system. Conceptually, cost-effectiveness is analogous to determining the cost per mile to own and operate a car. That computation combines the annual expenses (loan payments, gas, maintenance, etc.) and divides by the miles traveled each year. The key to understanding this approach is to appreciate that the government evaluates all projects as if the money is borrowed from a loan institution and repaid in annual installments over the life of the project. This economic evaluation principle is required by the Economic and Environmental Principles Guidelines for Water and Related Land Resources Implementation Studies, March 1983. This method lends consistency in the comparison of non-federally financed alternatives (which must borrow funds) to Federally financed projects. Each proposal will be evaluated by an application review committee in accordance with the following criteria and corresponding percentage weights: (a) Technical merit those passing will be evaluated further; (b) Cost effectiveness 35%, (the annual cost for each ton of salt load reduction, expressed in dollars per ton); (c) The ability to enable future on-farm projects with the USDA 30%; (d) Performance risk factors 25%. Detailed information will be included in each FOA or may be obtained from the Salinity Control Program contacts listed above.

15.510 Colorado Ute Indian Water Rights Settlement Act

Colorado Ute Settlement Act/Animas La Plata,

FEDERAL AGENCY:

BUREAU OF RECLAMATION, INTERIOR, DEPARTMENT OF THE AUTHORIZATION:

Colorado River Basin Project Act, Public Law 90-537, 82 Stat.885; Colorado Ute Indian Water Rights Settlement Act of 1988, as amended, Public Law 100-585, 102 Stat. 1973; Colorado Ute Settlement Act Amendments of 2000, Public Law 106-554, 114 Stat 2763A-266.,

OBJECTIVES:

To supply municipal and industrial water supply to the Ute Mountain Ute, Southern Ute Indian Tribe, the Navajo Nation and non-Tribal participants from the Animas-La Plata Project in settlement of water rights claims for the Tribes, and also fulfill other project activities that may be required as a result of the construction, such as relocation of roads and moving powerlines. To complete construction of a reconfigured Animas-La Plata Project, consisting of facilities to divert and store water from the Animas River to provide for an average annual depletion of 57,100 acre-feet of water, to be used for municipal and industrial water supply only, for the Ute Mountain Ute and Southern Ute Indian Tribes, and other tribal and non-tribal entities in the Four Corners Region of the United States. Also, to supply 4,680 acre-feet per year to the Navajo Nation through a pipeline from Farmington to Shiprock, NM.

TYPES OF ASSISTANCE:

Cooperative Agreements, Direct Payments for Specified Use, Project Grants

USES AND USE RESTRICTIONS:

The Bureau of Reclamation is specifically authorized to: (1) Construct a reservoir, a pumping plant, a reservoir inlet conduit, and appurtenant facilities with sufficient capacity to divert and store water from the Animas River to provide for an average annual depletion of 57,100 acre-feet of water to be used for a municipal and industrial water supply. (2) Meet specific annual depletion rates for water allocation delivery. (3) To supply 4,680 acre-feet per year to the Navajo Nation through a pipeline from Farmington to Shiprock, NM. The design and construction functions of the Bureau of Reclamation with respect to the Dolores and Animas-La Plata Projects shall be subject to the provisions of the Indian Self-Determination and Education Assistance Act (ii Stat. 2203; 25 U.S.C. 450 et seq.) to the same extent as if such functions were performed by the Bureau of Indian Affairs.

Applicant Eligibility:

Federal; State (includes District of Columbia, public institutions of higher education and hospitals); Local (includes State-designated Indian Tribes, excludes institutions of higher education and hospitals); Federally Recognized Indian Tribal Government - Projects shall be subject to the provisions of the Indian Self-Determination and Education Assistance Act (ii Stat. 2203; 25 U.S.C. 450 et seq.) to the same extent as if such functions were performed by the Bureau of Indian Affairs; and for projects not awarded subject to Public Law 93-638: State, local, Federally recognized Indian Tribal governments, small businesses, individuals, and profit organizations.

Beneficiary Eligibility:

Federal; Individual/Family; Small business; Profit organization; Other private institution/organization; Anyone/general public; Local; Federally Recognized Indian Tribal Governments; Federally recognized Indian Tribal Government members and the general public in southwestern Colorado and northwestern New Mexico.

Credentials/Documentation:

This program is excluded from coverage under 2 CFR 200, Subpart E - Cost Principles.

Preapplication Coordination:

Pre-application coordination is required. An environmental impact statement is required for this listing. An environmental impact assessment is required for this listing. This program is excluded from coverage under E.O. 12372. Environmental compliance for this program may be required depending on the scope of the specific project funded. This may result in the need for an environmental impact assessment or environmental impact statement prior to the commencement of project activities. This program is excluded from coverage under E.O. 12372.

Application Procedures:

2 CFR 200, Uniform Administrative Requirements, Cost Principles, and Audit Requirements for Federal Awards applies to this program. The Bureau of Reclamation is required by Public Law 100-585 to use Public Law 93-638 procedures to contract for construction of the Animas-La Plata Project with the Ute Mountain Ute Tribe and the Southern Ute Indian Tribe. Construction contracts for estimated quantities and with firm fixed unit pricing are issued to accomplish the work. For projects under this program that are not required to be awarded subject to Public Law 93-638, funding opportunity announcements, along with registration procedures, application packages and instructions, SF-424 forms and any other forms to be used to submit application information, points of contact, and procedures for submitting applications will be available on <http://www.grants.gov>.

Award Procedure:

An initial statement of work is issued to the Tribe for review and pricing by the Contract Specialist. The Tribe reviews the initial statement of work, and submits a proposal with an estimate for completion of the work. The proposal with cost estimate is evaluated by the Government Technical Team, the Government Cost & Price Analyst, Contract Specialist, Contract Administrator, and Contracting Officer. Negotiations are held on the various elements until an agreement is reached and an award is then made. For projects not awarded subject to Public Law 93-638, all applications will be initially screened for eligibility and compliance with the requirements stated in the program funding announcement. Applications passing this screening process will be forwarded for review by a proposal evaluation panel comprised of qualified experts in the program area. Applications will be reviewed against the proposal evaluation criteria, and any additional review factors, as stated in the funding announcement. Final selection will be determined by the Commissioner, Bureau of Reclamation, or regional officials, as applicable to the project.

Deadlines:

Contact the headquarters or regional location, as appropriate for application deadlines.

Range of Approval/Disapproval Time:

Other. Varies depending on the type and complexity of the project. Further information will be available for each specific project at the time the funding opportunity announcement is posted on www.grants.gov and may be obtained by contacting the Reclamation personnel listed as the point of contact in the funding announcement.

Appeals:

Other. Final award decisions are not subject to appeal; however, the Bureau of Reclamation will provide all applicants with information on why their proposals were not selected for award.

Renewals:

Not Applicable.

Formula and Matching Requirements:

Statutory formula is not applicable to this assistance listing. Matching requirements are not applicable to this assistance listing. MOE requirements are not applicable to this assistance listing.

Length and Time Phasing of Assistance:

Public Law 93-638 contracts and agreements are written for a specific period of time to complete a project, but normally not over 5 years. Funds are disbursed by progress payments, based on percentage of completion of estimated quantities of work. CRITERIA FOR SELECTING PROPOSALS:

There are no criteria for selecting proposals for projects awarded under Public Law 93-638 procedures. When needed work is identified, a request for proposal is issued with a statement of work. The Tribe submits a proposal based on the statement of work. Negotiations are held to arrive at a mutually agreed upon Public Law 93-638 contract for award of the project and the costs associated with performance of the work. For any projects that may be identified that are not subject to Public Law 93-638 procedures, specific evaluation criteria will be included in the funding announcements posted on www.grants.gov.

15.511 Cultural Resources Management

FEDERAL AGENCY:

BUREAU OF RECLAMATION, INTERIOR, DEPARTMENT OF THE AUTHORIZATION:

National Historic Preservation Act of 1966, Pub. L. 89 665, as amended (54 U.S.C. 300101 et seq.); Archaeological and Historic Preservation Act of 1974, P.L. 93-291 (54 U.S.C. 312505 et seq.); Native American Graves Protection and Repatriation Act, P.L. 101-601 (25 U.S.C. 3001 et seq.),

OBJECTIVES:

To manage and protect cultural resources on Reclamation land; provide for the curation of and public access to collectible heritage assets, including the increase of public awareness, appreciation, and knowledge of these resources; and provide for the protection and preservation of the tribal cultural resources impacted by operations of some Reclamation projects.

TYPES OF ASSISTANCE:

Cooperative Agreements (Discretionary Grants)

USES AND USE RESTRICTIONS:

All activities are related to Reclamation cultural resource management programs and activities. Cooperative agreements are used for providing long-term care of Reclamation-owned heritage assets and meeting curation requirements per 36 CFR Part 79 and the Departmental Manual, Part 411. Grants or cooperative agreements are issued to State or Tribal Historic Preservation Offices to share databases, including geographic information systems. Awards made under the National Historic Preservation Act include grants or contracts for cultural resource work. The amount of funding available for projects is variable from year to year. Projects are approved through the budget cycle and may require up to three years for funding approval.

Applicant Eligibility:

Interstate; State (includes District of Columbia, public institutions of higher education and hospitals); Local (includes State-designated Indian Tribes, excludes institutions of higher education and hospitals); Public nonprofit institution/organization (includes institutions of higher education and hospitals);

Federally Recognized Indian Tribal Governments; Small business (less than 500 employees); Native American Organizations (includes Indian groups, cooperatives, corporations, partnerships, associations); State and local agencies, sponsored organizations, public nonprofit institutions/organizations, other public institutions/organizations, Federally-recognized Indian Tribal governments, minority groups, specialized groups, small businesses, profit organizations, private nonprofit institutions/organizations, quasi-public nonprofit institutions/organizations, other private institutions/organizations, and Native American Organizations, educational or scientific organization, or any institution, corporation, association, or individual that possesses the requisite professional requirements.

Beneficiary Eligibility:

Small business; Interstate; Native American Organizations; State; Local; Public nonprofit institution/organization; Federally Recognized Indian Tribal Governments; State and local governments, Tribes, universities, anyone/general public, entities that have an education mission or mission-component, and repositories that meet the standards of the Department of the Interior, Department Manual, Part 411: Identifying and Managing Museum Property, for facilities managing Federal museum property. Further information regarding the general purpose and scope of the Department Manual (DM) is included in Part 001, Chapter 1, of the DM. The DM may be accessed at http://elips.doi.gov/app_DM/index.cfm?fuseaction=home.

Credentials/Documentation:

Repositories must meet the standards for managing museum property at 411 DM; and repositories holding archeological collections must also meet the standards for Curation of Federally-owned and Administered Archeological Collections included in the Code of Federal Regulations at Title 36, Part 79, available at <http://www.access.gpo.gov/nara/cfr/cfr-table-search.html#page1>. Preapplication Coordination:

Pre-application coordination is not applicable. Environmental impact information is not required for this program. This program is excluded from coverage under E.O. 12372.

Application Procedures:

2 CFR 200, Uniform Administrative Requirements, Cost Principles, and Audit Requirements for Federal Awards applies to this program. Notice of funding opportunity announcements for this program, along with registration procedures, application packages and instructions, SF-424 forms and any other forms to be used to submit application information, points of contact, and procedures for submitting applications will be available on www.grants.gov. Notice of Funding Opportunities (NOFO) for this listing will be posted on Grants.gov.

Award Procedure:

All applications will be initially screened by Bureau of Reclamation personnel for eligibility and compliance with the requirements stated in the program funding announcement. Applications passing this screening process will be forwarded for review by the issuing office. Qualified experts from the Bureau of Reclamation will review applications against the proposal evaluation criteria, and any additional review factors, as stated in the funding announcement. Final selection will be determined by the Commissioner, Bureau of Reclamation, or regional officials, as applicable to the project.

Deadlines:

Contact the headquarters or regional location, as appropriate for application deadlines.

Range of Approval/Disapproval Time:

Other. Varies depending on the number of proposals received and the complexity of the project. Generally, offices review and award assistance agreements within 60 days of proposal submission.

Appeals:

Other. None. Final award decisions are not subject to appeal; however, the Bureau of Reclamation will provide all applicants with information on why their proposals were not selected for award.

Renewals:

CRITERIA FOR SELECTING PROPOSALS:

Criteria used for selecting a recipient are based on a balanced and informed review of program needs and sources of information. For example, states have mandatory responsibilities to cooperate with Federal agencies to maintain statewide inventories of cultural resources, so states are sole sourced funds to maintain databases under the various National Historic Preservation Act sections requiring data sharing and cooperation. Indian tribes are often sole sourced because only they can identify properties of religious and cultural concern to tribal members. For other cultural resources activities, a technical proposal, budget proposal, and relevancy to program objectives are required. The specific evaluation criteria for each project will be included in the funding announcement posted on www.grants.gov.

15.512 Central Valley Improvement Act, Title XXXIV

FEDERAL AGENCY:

BUREAU OF RECLAMATION, INTERIOR, DEPARTMENT OF THE AUTHORIZATION:

Reclamation Projects Authorization and Adjustment Act of 1992, Title XXXIV, Central Valley Project Improvement Act, Public Law 102-575.,

OBJECTIVES:

The purposes of the Central Valley Project Improvement Act (CVPIA) are (1) to protect, restore, and enhance fish, wildlife, and associated habitats in the Central Valley and Trinity River basins of California, (2) to address impacts of the Central Valley Project on fish, wildlife, and associated habitats, (3) to improve the operational flexibility of the Central Valley Project, (4) to increase water-related benefits provided by the Central Valley Project to the State of California through expanded use of voluntary water transfers and improved water conservation, (5) to contribute to the State of California's interim and long-term efforts to protect the San Francisco Bay/Sacramento-San Joaquin Delta Estuary, and (6) to achieve a reasonable balance among competing demands for use of Central Valley Project water, including the requirements of fish and wildlife, agricultural, municipal and industrial and power contractors.

TYPES OF ASSISTANCE:

Cooperative Agreements (Discretionary Grants)

USES AND USE RESTRICTIONS:

Agreements will be awarded for projects that will result in attaining the objectives noted above and the mandates set out in the CVPIA. Areas of emphasis include fish and wildlife restoration activities and investigations, evaluation of ecologic and hydrologic effects of existing and alternative operations of water facilities and systems, the effects of the Central Valley Project (CVP) on anadromous fish populations, and delivery of refuge water supplies. The Secretary of the Interior is authorized and directed to promulgate such regulations and enter into such agreements as may be necessary to implement the intent, purposes and provisions of Title XXXIV. This title does not and shall not be interpreted to authorize construction of water storage facilities.

Applicant Eligibility:

Preapplication Coordination:

Pre-application coordination is required. An environmental impact statement is required for this listing. This program is eligible for coverage under E.O. 12372, "Intergovernmental Review of Federal Programs." An applicant should consult the office or official designated as the single point of contact in his or her State for more information on the process the State requires to be followed in applying for assistance, if the State has selected the program for review. Environmental compliance for this program may be required depending on the scope of the specific project funded. This may result in the need for an environmental impact assessment or environmental impact statement prior to the commencement of project activities.

Application Procedures:

2 CFR 200, Uniform Administrative Requirements, Cost Principles, and Audit Requirements for Federal Awards applies to this program. Funding opportunity announcements for this program, along with registration procedures, application packages and instructions, SF-424 forms and any other forms to be used to submit application information, points of contact, and procedures for submitting applications will be available on www.grants.gov. Notice of Funding Opportunities (NOFO) for this listing will be posted on Grants.gov.

Award Procedure:

All applications will be initially screened for eligibility and compliance with the requirements stated in the program funding announcement. Applications passing this screening process will be forwarded for review by a proposal evaluation panel comprised of qualified Federal experts in the program area. Applications will be reviewed against the proposal evaluation criteria, and any additional review factors, as stated in the funding announcement. Final selection will be determined by the Commissioner, Bureau of Reclamation, or regional officials, as applicable to the project.

EXAMPLES OF FUNDED PROJECTS:

2020 This program funds collaborative Drought Contingency Plans that will help provide water managers prepare in advance of a drought. This program also funds Drought Resiliency Projects that help provide water managers with flexibility during periods of drought. For example, the Dolores Water Conservancy District in Colorado will develop a Drought Contingency plan in partnership with the Ute Mountain Ute Tribe Farm and Ranch Enterprise, and the Montezuma Valley Irrigation Company. The plan will include the areas served by the Bureau of Reclamation's Dolores Project, located in southwest Colorado, which provides irrigation water for approximately 36,600 acres of irrigated land, provides municipal and industrial water to the Ute Mountain Ute Tribe, the tribal community of Towaoc, several other towns and cities, and serves downstream fish and wildlife purposes. The Dolores Project suffered severe shortages (25%) from drought in 2013. The plan will include a comprehensive evaluation of mitigation and response actions to reduce water shortages and improve drought resiliency for water users through collaboration with local agricultural districts, tribal farmers, municipal and industrial users, non-governmental organizations, and Federal and state agencies 2021 This program funds collaborative Drought Contingency Plans that will help provide water managers prepare in advance of a drought. This program also funds Drought Resiliency Projects that help provide water managers with flexibility during periods of drought. For example, in Arizona, the City of Phoenix, will purchase components for a well as part of an Aquifer Storage and Recovery Well Restoration project at their Deer Valley Water Treatment plant. The City will construct a dual-purpose well that will directly inject under-utilized surface water supplies into the aquifer for later withdrawal during times of drought. The City, which services more than 1.5 million residents, is currently experiencing drought conditions. This project enables the City to maintain a supply of surplus water while offering operational flexibility during times of drought. The City estimates the groundwater recharge to be 2,400 gallons per minute, or approximately 3,874 acre-feet per year. 2022 FY 2022 selections are not complete. Selected projects will fund collaborative Drought Contingency Plans that will help provide water managers prepare in advance of a drought. This program also funds Drought Resiliency Projects that help provide water managers with flexibility during periods of drought.

CRITERIA FOR SELECTING PROPOSALS:

Drought contingency plans must include input and participation by multiple stakeholders. Plans will also consider uncertainties related to changing hydrologic conditions and identify potential drought mitigation and response actions to build resilience to drought. Drought resiliency projects supported by an existing drought contingency plan (e.g., an existing state, county, municipal, or other plan is acceptable) receive prioritization. Projects that are eligible for funding should address at least one of the following goals: 1) increase the reliability of water supply; 2) improve water management; and 3) provide benefits for fish and wildlife and the environment.

15.516 Fort Peck Reservation Rural Water System

Fort Peck Water Supply Project,

FEDERAL AGENCY:

BUREAU OF RECLAMATION, INTERIOR, DEPARTMENT OF THE AUTHORIZATION:

Fort Peck Reservation Rural Water System Act of 2000, Pub. L. 106-382.,

OBJECTIVES:

To ensure a safe and adequate municipal, rural and industrial water supply for the residents of the Fort Peck Indian Reservation in the State of Montana; and to assist the citizens in those portions of Roosevelt, Sheridan, Daniels, and Valley Counties that are outside the Fort Peck Indian Reservation, in developing safe and adequate municipal, rural, and industrial water supplies.

Environmental compliance for this program may be required depending on the scope of the specific project funded. This may result in the need for categorical exclusion, environmental assessment, or environmental impact statement prior to the commencement of project activities.

Application Procedures:

2 CFR 200, Uniform Administrative Requirements, Cost Principles, and Audit Requirements for Federal Awards applies to this program. State and local governments that have managing partner agreements with Reclamation submit proposals with detailed scopes of work and budgets for recreation as well as fish and wildlife improvement projects.

Award Procedure:

All applications will be initially screened by Bureau of Reclamation personnel for eligibility and compliance with the requirements stated in the program funding announcement. Applications are reviewed by the Bureau of Reclamation office having administrative jurisdiction of the land and water areas being considered for public recreation purposes.

Deadlines:

Contact the headquarters or regional location, as appropriate for application deadlines.

Range of Approval/Disapproval Time:

Other. Varies depending on the type and complexity of the project.

Appeals:

Other. None. Final award decisions are not subject to appeal; however, the Bureau of Reclamation will provide all applicants with information on why their proposals were not selected for award.

Renewals:

Other. If renewals or extensions are applicable to the project, this information will be communicated to the Recipient. The financial assistance agreements are renewable if both the Bureau of Reclamation and the state or local partners are in mutual agreement. When renewals or extensions are applicable, continuation of funding for these activities is at the discretion of Congress and will be subject to availability of appropriated funds.

Formula and Matching Requirements:

Statutory formula is not applicable to this assistance listing. Matching Requirements: Percent: 0%. Requirement: Matching requirements are mandatory. In the case of recreation development, a minimum cost share of 50 percent is required from a non-Federal partner. For fish and wildlife enhancement projects, the Federal share is exactly 75 percent of the project cost. (16 U.S.C. 4601-13(a)). MOE requirements are not applicable to this assistance listing.

Length and Time Phasing of Assistance:

Agreements are typically for 1 to 5 years depending on the type of project. Method of awarding/releasing assistance: other

Fiscal Year 2020: Columbia Pacific Northwest. Howard Prairie Resort was a turnback from a Concession and Jackson County Parks took over this facility but inherited many dilapidated facilities that would not meet public health and safety requirements. One of the public health and safety violations were exposed electrical to the public and code electrical violations, Howard Prairie Resort Campground completed a utility upgrade project due to Title XXVIII cost share grant. This project was completed and is now in full compliance with safety codes. Henry Hagg day use facilities had multiple ABA (often referred to as ADA) barriers for people with disabilities at several restrooms around the park. Several new restrooms were installed that met ABA compliance and included accessible parking and accessible routes to those restrooms. All other CPN TXXVIII grants have completion dates between FY21 FY 25 and two were extended due to COVID. // Upper Colorado Basin. Brantley Project Brantley Lake State Park Limestone Comfort Station Renovation. Renovation of the Limestone comfort station is in nearing completion, which includes replacing all of the fixtures, partitions, electrical, HVAC and plumbing, as well as the roof, windows and doors. Installation of two new 8,000-gallon septic tanks, along with a new leach field is in progress and scheduled to be completed in early 2021. The total cost of the project is estimated at $1,155,000.00. The total expenditures on this project as of September 30, 2020, were $711,696.79 ($327,223.72 in Federal funds and $384,473.07 in State funds) Fiscal Year 2021: FY 2021 accomplishment information not yet available. 15.529 Upper Colorado and San Juan River Basins Endangered Fish Recovery

ASSISTANCE LISTINGS DESCRIPTIONS

Upper Colorado and San Juan River Recovery Implementation Program,
FEDERAL AGENCY:

BUREAU OF RECLAMATION, INTERIOR, DEPARTMENT OF THE
AUTHORIZATION:

Upper Colorado and San Juan River Basins Endangered Fish Recovery Programs,
Pub. L. 106-392, 114 Stat. 1602, as amended; Upper Colorado and San Juan River
Basins Endangered Fish Recovery Programs Extension, Pub. L. 107-375, 116 Stat.
3113,

OBJECTIVES:

To authorize the Bureau of Reclamation to provide cost sharing for the endangered fish recovery implementation programs for the Upper Colorado and San Juan River Basins.

TYPES OF ASSISTANCE:

Project Grants (Cooperative Agreements)

USES AND USE RESTRICTIONS:

The Recovery Implementation Programs are designed to help recover the Colorado Pikeminnow, Razorback Sucker, Bonytail, and the Humpback Chub while allowing water development to continue in the Upper Colorado and San Juan River Basins.
The term Recovery Implementation Programs mean the intergovernmental programs established pursuant to the 1988 and 1992 Cooperative Agreement described in Sec. 2 of the Act. The major portion of the work (between 80% to 90%) will be accomplished through mandatory grant and cooperative agreement awards established by these intergovernmental Cooperative Agreements. The remaining work is done under contracts to purchase equipment for O&M or monitoring work. The types of projects authorized by these Cooperative Agreements include Administration of Water Right; Oversight of the Development of Water Resources; Protection and Management of Fish and Wildlife Resources; Projects related to Tribal Sovereignty; Long Range Plan and Program Goal
Development; Protection, Management and Augmentation of Habitat; Interactions Between Native and Non-Native Fish Species; and Monitoring and Data Management. Periodically, the Bureau of Reclamation will have discretionary funding available to make awards for certain types of projects. When this project funding becomes available, funding opportunity announcements will be posted to www.Grants.gov or Fedbizopps.gov

Applicant Eligibility:

Federal; Interstate; Intrastate; State (includes District of Columbia, public institutions of higher education and hospitals); Local (includes State-designated Indian Tribes, excludes institutions of higher education and hospitals); Public nonprofit institution/organization (includes institutions of higher education and hospitals); Federally Recognized Indian Tribal Governments; Federal, Interstate, Intrastate, State and Local governments; Public Institution/Organizations, and Federally Recognized Indian Tribal Governments and private contractors.

Beneficiary Eligibility:

Specialized group (e.g. health professionals, students, veterans); Anyone/general public; Federally Recognized Indian Tribal Governments; Indian Tribes in the location of the San Juan River Basin and in the Duchesne River Basin, and the general public in the Colorado River Basin.

Credentials/Documentation:

2 CFR 200, Sub-part E - Cost Principles applies to this program.

Preapplication Coordination:

Pre-application coordination is required. An environmental impact statement is required for this listing. An environmental impact assessment is required for this listing. This program is eligible for coverage under E.O. 12372, "Intergovernmental Review of Federal Programs." An applicant should consult the office or official designated as the single point of contact in his or her State for more information on the process the State requires to be followed in applying for assistance, if the State has selected the program for review. Depending on the project to be accomplished, an environmental impact statement may be required for this program, but not until after receipt of applications.

Application Procedures:

2 CFR 200, Uniform Administrative Requirements, Cost Principles, and Audit Requirements for Federal Awards applies to this program. All discretionary funding opportunities will be posted on www.grants.gov or fedbizopps.gov. The funding opportunity will include the name of the Federal agency, the Funding Opportunity Title of work associated with the project, the application due date, eligible applicants, the federal funding amounts per agreement, the estimated number of agreements to be awarded, and the overall total amount of funding available for awards. All applicants, whether submitting projects under the mandatory or discretionary portions of this authority, will be required to submit a Standard Form 424, Application for Federal Assistance, and Standard Forms 424B or 424D for Assurances must also be submitted. A detailed budget worksheet guide form will be included to assist in preparation of the budgeted amount requested.

The Funding Opportunity posting will identify the program description, background and purpose, program objectives, objective or request for proposals, eligible projects, types of projects, and program authority. General provisions and special provisions, along with reporting requirements will be identified to provide applicants with information that must be followed if an award is made. The funding opportunity will identify a point of contact for assistance or consultation for preparing the form. Notice of Funding Opportunities (NOFO) for this listing will be posted on Grants.gov.

Award Procedure:

Upon receipt of applications by the date identified in the announcement(s), the applications will be reviewed to determine if applications are consistent with requirements identified in the announcements. The application/proposal(s) are reviewed by a Federal technical team of experts (along with state and private advisors) against identified criteria. Negotiations, revised applications, or awards will be made based on recommendations from the technical experts. Proposals submitted under the mandatory authority portion of this program will undergo a similar review and screening procedure.

Deadlines:

Contact the headquarters or regional location, as appropriate for application
deadlines.

Range of Approval/Disapproval Time:

From 90 to 120 days.

Appeals:

PROGRAM ACCOMPLISHMENTS:

Fiscal Year 2020: The Upper Colorado River and San Juan River Endangered Fish Recovery Programs (Recovery Programs) are partnerships composed of State, Tribal and Federal agencies, water and power interests, and environmental groups working to recover endangered fish in the Upper Colorado and San Juan River basins while water development proceeds in accordance with federal and state laws and interstate compacts. In Fiscal Year 2019 and 2020, the Recovery Programs continued to provide ESA coverage to over 2,500 of state, federal and private water development projects while advancing endangered fish recovery. Proposals to downlist two of the four endangered fish species and associated rulemaking notices are currently working their way through US Fish and Wildlife Service regulatory channels. The programs implemented management actions and projects to recover endangered fish in the areas of in-stream flow protection, habitat restoration, nonnative fish management, propagation and genetics, research and monitoring, information and education, and program management. Specific examples include operation and maintenance of river flow gages and infrastructure (fish passages, and screens), installation of and maintenance of electronic fish monitoring systems, maintenance of online databases, coordination of reservoir operations for recovery of endangered fish, completion of a small student-run fish hatchery at Palisade High School, Palisade, CO, management of floodplain wetland rearing habitats including stocking of endangered fish in managed wetlands, removal of and translocation of nonnative fish, collection of juvenile endangered fish for broodstock development, propagation and stocking of endangered fish, planning for pond construction, research and monitoring of early life history endangered fish survival including larval fish monitoring, database management, population estimates, maintenance of program website and publication and distribution of outreach materials. Fiscal Year 2021: FY 2021 accomplishment information not yet available. Fiscal Year 2022: FY 2022 accomplishment information not yet available.

FEDERAL AGENCY:

BUREAU OF RECLAMATION, INTERIOR, DEPARTMENT OF THE AUTHORIZATION:

Yavapai-Prescott Indian Tribe Water Rights Settlement Act of 1994, Title XII, Yakima River Basin Water Enhancement Project, Public Law 103-434.

OBJECTIVES:

Within the Yakima River Basin: (1) to protect, mitigate, and enhance fish and wildlife through improved water management; improved instream flows; improved water quality; protection, creation and enhancement of wetlands; and by other appropriate means of habitat improvement; (2) to improve the reliability of water supply for irrigation; (3) to authorize a Yakima River basin water conservation program that will improve the efficiency of water delivery and use; enhance basin water supplies; improve water quality; protect, create and enhance wetlands, and determine the amount of basin water needs that can be met by water conservation measures; (4) to realize sufficient water savings from the Yakima River Basin Water Conservation Program so that not less than 40,000 acre-feet of water savings per year are achieved by the end of the fourth year of the Basin Conservation Program; (5) to encourage voluntary transactions among public and private entities which result in the implementation of water conservation measures, practices and facilities; and (6) to provide for the implementation by the Yakama Indian Nation at its sole discretion of (A) Wapato Irrigation Project improvements, (B) an irrigation demonstration project on the Yakama Indian Reservation using water savings from system improvements to the Wapato Irrigation Project, and (C) a Toppenish Creek corridor enhancement project integrating agricultural, fish, wildlife, and cultural resources.

TYPES OF ASSISTANCE:

Cooperative Agreements

USES AND USE RESTRICTIONS:

To participate in the Conservation Basin Program an entity must submit a proposed water conservation plan to the Secretary of the Interior. Assistance is limited to those entities (districts, irrigation districts, individuals, or other entities) that equip all surface water delivery systems within their boundaries with volumetric water meters or equally effective water measuring methods within five years of the date of enactment of this Act. The Yakima Nation is not included in the provisions of this, Section 1203, except as to any funds specifically applied for from the Basin Conservation Program. The Secretary of the Interior may use appropriated funds to purchase, or lease, land, water, or water rights from an entity or individual willing to limit or forego water use on a temporary or permanent basis. Funds used for purchase or lease under this paragraph are not subject to the cost sharing provisions of Section 1203(d).

Applicant Eligibility:

EXAMPLES OF FUNDED PROJECTS:

2020 Funding projects for Fiscal Years 2020 and 2021 include continued funding for the Sunnyside Division Board of Control Phase IID to continue enclosing laterals to pipelines in their 20-year piping project. Sunnyside Division Board of Control Phase IIE as first year of 5-year agreement for additional earthen canal being converted to an installed pressurized pipe system expected to conserve 1,623 ac-ft annually.

CRITERIA FOR SELECTING PROPOSALS:

Specific evaluation criteria will be included in the funding announcements posted on www.grants.gov. Initial selection based on projects that would meet/fulfill the objectives of YRBWEP. After Water Conservation Plans are approved, feasibility studies are approved for those projects/measures that appear to result in the greatest benefit to YRBWEP. Implementation awards are based on those that are the most cost effective and result in the greatest water savings.

2 CFR 200, Sub-part E - Cost Principles applies to this program.

Preapplication Coordination:

Pre-application coordination is required. An environmental impact statement is required for this listing. An environmental impact assessment is required for this listing. This program is excluded from coverage under E.O. 12372. Environmental compliance for this program may be required depending on the scope of the specific project funded. This may result in the need for an environmental impact assessment or environmental impact statement prior to the commencement of project activities.

Application Procedures:

2 CFR 200, Uniform Administrative Requirements, Cost Principles, and Audit Requirements for Federal Awards applies to this program. A Notice of Funding Opportunity (NOFO) will be posted at Grants.gov as funding is made available by the Bureau of Reclamation. Applications shall include: 1) A detailed written technical proposal that should include information such as a scope of work which separates the work into major tasks, the approach proposed to accomplish the work, type of personnel who will participate in accomplishing the work, background and location of applicant, any equipment that will be utilized by the project applicant, experience in this type of work, an estimate of the costs and/or cost savings, any economic benefit, and any other information that may be useful for proposal evaluation. 2) A detailed cost proposal including a budget covering salaries and wages, fringe benefits, travel, equipment, supplies, subcontracts, indirect cost rates, funding sources and commitments, cost-sharing, and a breakdown of costs by task. In addition, applicants must submit all applicable SF 424 forms, which are referenced in the NOFO. Notice of Funding Opportunities (NOFO) for this listing will be posted on Grants.gov.

Award Procedure:

The number of awards, maximum funding amount per award, and areas of interest for which proposals will be considered, are determined on an annual basis and are dependent upon the annual appropriation from Congress. Proposals received in response to the FOA are reviewed on the basis of a competitive, merit-based review process, and are rated in accordance with the evaluation criteria stated in the FOA. The review team will consist of Federal personnel and qualified non-Federal personnel when specific expertise is required by the review team. The Bureau of Reclamation will make awards to the highest rated proposals based on the amount of funding available each year. The Bureau of Reclamation reserves the right to prioritize projects based on availability of funds and to ensure balance among the program objectives listed in the FOA.

Whenever applicable, all necessary federal, state, local, and/or private access, collection, and other environmental permits must be provided. 2 CFR 200, Sub-part E - Cost Principles applies to this program.

Preapplication Coordination:

Pre-application coordination is required. An environmental impact statement is required for this listing. An environmental impact assessment is required for this listing. This program is excluded from coverage under E.O. 12372. Environmental compliance for this program may be required depending on the scope of the specific project funded. This may result in the need for an environmental impact assessment or environmental impact statement prior to the commencement of project activities.

Application Procedures:

2 CFR 200, Uniform Administrative Requirements, Cost Principles, and Audit Requirements for Federal Awards applies to this program. Funding opportunity announcements for this program, along with registration procedures, application packages and instructions, SF-424 forms and any other forms to be used to submit application information, points of contact, and procedures for submitting applications will be available on www.grants.gov. Notice of Funding Opportunities (NOFO) for this listing will be posted on Grants.gov.

Award Procedure:

All applications will be initially screened for eligibility and compliance with the requirements stated in the funding opportunity announcement. Applications passing this screening process will be forwarded for review by a proposal evaluation panel comprised of qualified experts (federal and non-federal stakeholders) in the program area. Applications will be reviewed against the proposal evaluation criteria and any additional review factors stated in the funding announcement. Final selection will be determined by the designated Grants Officer.

Deadlines:

Contact the headquarters or regional location, as appropriate for application deadlines.

Range of Approval/Disapproval Time:

Other. Varies depending on the type and complexity of the project. Further information will be available for each specific project at the time the funding opportunity announcement is posted on www.grants.gov and may be obtained by contacting the Reclamation personnel listed as the point of contact in the funding announcement.

Appeals:

Not Applicable. None. Final award decisions are not subject to appeal; however, upon request, the Bureau of Reclamation will provide applicants with information on why their proposals were not selected for award.

Renewals:

Other. If renewals or extensions are applicable to the project, this information will be included in the funding opportunity announcement. When renewals or extensions are applicable, continuation of funding for these activities is at the discretion of Congress and will be subject to availability of appropriated funds.

Formula and Matching Requirements:

Statutory formula is not applicable to this assistance listing. Matching requirements are not applicable to this assistance listing. MOE requirements are not applicable to this assistance listing.

Length and Time Phasing of Assistance:

Federal assistance is typically available during the current fiscal year of appropriations. The Program expects all awarded funds to be expended during the fiscal year in which grant awards were made or no more than 2 years from the time of grant award. For more complex projects that may involve environmental compliance, design, feasibility studies, construction and implementation, effectiveness monitoring, and other related activities, the project will be divided into phases. The project will then be funded incrementally at phase level costs. Funding of subsequent phases will be based on project viability, effectiveness, and fund availability. Method of awarding/releasing assistance: other

Reports:

Unless otherwise stated in the agreement document, recipients shall submit on annual basis Program Performance Reports. Upon completion of the agreement, recipients shall submit a final Program Performance Report, and other specific reports that may be applicable to the agreement such as property inventories, and patent and invention disclosures. Unless otherwise stated in the agreement document, recipients shall submit on an annual basis the SF-425, Federal Financial Report. Upon completion of the agreement, recipients shall submit a final SF-425, Federal Financial Report.

Audits:

In accordance with the provisions of 2 CFR 200, Subpart F - Audit Requirements, nonfederal entities that expend financial assistance of $750,000 or more in Federal awards will have a single or a program-specific audit conducted for that year. Non-Federal entities that expend less than $750,000 a year in Federal awards are exempt from Federal audit requirements for that year, except as noted in 2 CFR 200.503

EXAMPLES OF FUNDED PROJECTS:

2020 Lake Mead / Las Vegas Wash program, Las Vegas Wash archaeological investigations, and revegetation implementation.

CRITERIA FOR SELECTING PROPOSALS:

The Las Vegas Wash Coordination Committee has decided that the SNWA will be the lead agency for receiving funding for this program due to the high costs and types of environmental improvement and enhancement, and ability to maintain restoration projects. The Las Vegas Wash Program plays an important role in environmental and water resource issues in Southern Nevada. Historically, the Las Vegas was an ephemeral stream carrying storm flows from the Las Vegas Valley to Lake Mead and the Colorado River. Urban development over the past 60 years has resulted in the formation of the wetlands that helped remove nutrients from these wastewater flows. As the rate of discharges increased, erosion also increased, gradually destroying the existing natural treatment systems and wildlife habitat and creating a large delta in the Las Vegas Bay of Lake Mead. Accelerating erosion, declining water quality, and loss habitat are some of the more pressing issues. Proposals submitted will be reviewed and awarded based on priority fulfillment of the 44 action items identified in the Plan and the availability of funding appropriations.

15.554 Cooperative Watershed Management

CWMP,

FEDERAL AGENCY:

BUREAU OF RECLAMATION, INTERIOR, DEPARTMENT OF THE AUTHORIZATION:

Public Law 111-11, Omnibus Public Land Management Act of 2009, Title VI, Subtitle A, Sec. 6001-6003 (16 USC 1015 et seq.).

OBJECTIVES:

The purpose of the Cooperative Watershed Management Program is to enhance water conservation, uses; improve water quality; improve ecological resiliency of a river or stream; and to reduce conflicts over water at the watershed level by supporting the formation of watershed groups to develop local solutions to address water management issues.

TYPES OF ASSISTANCE:

Project Grants (Cooperative Agreements)

USES AND USE RESTRICTIONS:

Watershed Group Development and Restoration Planning (Phase I): In 2012, Reclamation began providing funding for the establishment or further development of watershed groups. A watershed group is a self-sustaining, non-regulatory, consensus-based group that is composed of a diverse array of stakeholders, which may include, but is not limited to, private property owners, non-profit organizations, Federal, State, or local agencies, and Tribes. As part of Phase I activities, applicants may use funding to develop bylaws, a mission statement, watershed management project concepts, and complete stakeholder outreach and a watershed restoration plan. For Phase I projects, Reclamation will award a successful applicant up to $50,000 per year for a period of up to two years with no non-Federal cost-share required. Implementation of Watershed Management Projects (Phase II): Starting in 2017, Reclamation began providing cost-shared financial assistance to watershed groups to implement watershed management projects (Phase II). These on-the-ground projects, collaboratively developed by members of a watershed group, address critical water supply needs, water quality, and help water users meet competing demands and avoid conflicts over water. Reclamation will award a successful applicant up to $300,000 per project over a two-year period. For Phase II projects, applicants must contribute at least 50% of the total project costs.

Applicant Eligibility:

Local (includes State-designated Indian Tribes, excludes institutions of higher education and hospitals; Public nonprofit institution/organization (includes institutions of higher education and hospitals); Federally Recognized Indian Tribal Governments; State; Watershed Group Development and Restoration Planning (Phase I): Applicants eligible to receive financial assistance through Phase I of the Cooperative Watershed Management Program include: States; Indian tribes; Local and special districts; (e.g., irrigation and water districts, county soil conservation districts, etc.); Local governmental entities; and non-profit organizations, including watershed groups. To be eligible, applicants must also significantly affect or be affected by the quality or quantity of water in a watershed; be capable of promoting the sustainable use of water resources within the given watershed area; and be located in the Western United States or United States Territories including Alaska, Arizona, California, Colorado, Hawaii, Idaho, Kansas, Montana, Nebraska, Nevada, New Mexico, North Dakota, Oklahoma, Oregon, South Dakota, Texas, Utah, Washington, Wyoming, American Samoa, Guam, the Northern Mariana Islands, and the Virgin Islands. Implementation of Watershed Management Projects (Phase II): An eligible applicant is an established watershed group as defined in the Section 6001(5) of the Cooperative Watershed Management Act (Act) that has met the requirements outlined in Section 6002(c)(2)(A)(iv) of the Act (see Section A.3. Statutory Authority for full citation). In summary, the applicant must be a grassroots, non-regulatory entity that addresses water availability and quality issues within the relevant watershed, represents a diverse group of stakeholders, and is capable of promoting the sustainable use of water resources in the watershed. The applicant must also have approved articles of incorporation, bylaws, and a mission statement; hold regular meetings; and have developed a restoration plan and project concepts for the watershed. A fiscal agent can also apply on behalf of a watershed group. Applicants must also be located in the Western United States or United States Territories including Alaska, Arizona, California, Colorado, Hawaii, Idaho, Kansas, Montana, Nebraska, Nevada, New Mexico, North Dakota, Oklahoma, Oregon, South Dakota, Texas, Utah, Washington, Wyoming, American Samoa, Guam, the Northern Mariana Islands, the Virgin Islands, and Puerto Rico.

Beneficiary Eligibility:

State; Local; Public nonprofit institution/organization; Federally Recognized Indian Tribal Governments; The Cooperative Watershed Management Program benefits a diverse array of stakeholders, which may include but is not limited to, private property owners, Federal, State, or local agencies, and Indian tribes that are located in the Western United States or United States Territories including Alaska, Arizona, California, Colorado, Hawaii, Idaho, Kansas, Montana, Nebraska, Nevada, New Mexico, North Dakota, Oklahoma, Oregon, South Dakota, Texas, Utah, Washington, Wyoming, American Samoa, Guam, the Northern Mariana Islands, the Virgin Islands, and Puerto Rico.

Credentials/Documentation:

(1) A detailed written technical proposal is required, including background data regarding the applicant, such as: location; diversity, and the geographic scope of the proposed or existing watershed group; a description of the watershed, including the source of water supply, the water rights involved, current water uses (i.e., agricultural, municipal, domestic, instream uses or industrial), and the types of water issues faced in the affected watershed (e.g., shortfalls in water supply, endangered species concerns, environmental issues, or other issues in the watershed) an overview of the proposed project; an estimated project schedule that shows the stages and duration of the proposed work, including major tasks, milestones, and dates for the project upon entering into a financial assistance agreement; and describing data responsive to the evaluation criteria listed in the Funding Opportunity. (2) A detailed project cost proposal, including a budget with the annual estimated project costs, including salaries and wages, fringe benefits, travel, equipment, supplies, contracts, and indirect costs, an estimate of annual operation & maintenance costs, and the value of in-kind contributions of goods and

15.555 San Joaquin River Restoration

FEDERAL AGENCY:

BUREAU OF RECLAMATION, INTERIOR, DEPARTMENT OF THE
AUTHORIZATION:

Public Law 111-11, Omnibus Public Land Management Act of 2009, Title X, Subtitle A, Part I, San Joaquin River Restoration Settlement Act (123 Stat. 1349), and Part III, Friant Division Improvements,

OBJECTIVES:

The objective of the San Joaquin River Restoration Program (SJRRP) is to implement the Stipulation of Settlement in NRDC, et al., v. Rodgers, et al., consistent with and as supplement by, the San Joaquin River Restoration Settlement Act. The Settlement identifies the following two goals: (1) Restoration Goal - Restore and maintain fish populations in good condition in the main stem of the San Joaquin River below Friant Dam to the confluence of the Merced River, including naturally-reproducing and self-sustaining populations of salmon and other fish; and, (2) Water Management Goal - Reduce or avoid adverse water supply impacts to all of the Friant Division long-term contractors that may result from the Interim Flows and Restoration Flows provided for in this Settlement.

TYPES OF ASSISTANCE:

Project Grants (Cooperative Agreements)

USES AND USE RESTRICTIONS:

Assistance can be used only to implement the Settlement consistent with and as supplement by, the San Joaquin River Restoration Settlement Act. It is anticipated that all activities funded will be Project Grants or Financial Assistance that will relate to implementing specific activities in the Settlement and the San Joaquin River Restoration Settlement Act or specific monitoring, mitigation or other commitments that are necessary to implement the Settlement or the San Joaquin River Restoration Settlement Act (such as project implementation or mitigation commitments in environmental compliance documents prepared for SJRRP actions, including the SJRRP's Program Environmental Impact Statement and Record of Decision signed in September 2012).

Applicant Eligibility:

Local (includes State-designated Indian Tribes, excludes institutions of higher education and hospitals; Private nonprofit institution/organization (includes institutions of higher education and hospitals); State; Anyone/general public; State, tribal, and local governmental agencies, and with private parties, including agreements related to construction, improvement, and operation and maintenance of facilities, subject to any terms and conditions that the Secretary deems necessary to achieve the purposes of the Settlement.

Beneficiary Eligibility:

Private nonprofit institution/organization; Anyone/general public; State; Local; Federally Recognized Indian Tribal Governments; State, tribal, and local governmental agencies, private parties, and the general public

Credentials/Documentation:

Preapplication Coordination:

Pre-application coordination is required. An environmental impact statement is required for this listing. An environmental impact assessment is required for this listing. This program is excluded from coverage under E.O. 12372. Environmental compliance for this program may be required depending on the scope of the specific project funded. This may result in the need for an environmental impact assessment or environmental impact statement prior to the commencement of project activities. Federal, state, or local permits and approvals for the program may be required depending on the scope of the specific project funded. This may result in the need for the issuance of the required permits and approvals prior to the commencement of project activities.

Application Procedures:

2 CFR 200, Uniform Administrative Requirements, Cost Principles, and Audit Requirements for Federal Awards applies to this program. Funding announcements for this program, along with registration procedures, application packages and instructions, points of contact, and procedures for submitting applications will be available on www.grants.gov. Notice of Funding Opportunities (NOFO) for this listing will be posted on Grants.gov.

Award Procedure:

All applications will be initially screened by Bureau of Reclamation personnel for eligibility and compliance with the requirements stated in the program funding announcement. Applications passing this screening process will be forwarded for review by the issuing office. Qualified experts from the Bureau of Reclamation will review applications against the proposal evaluation criteria, and any additional review factors, as stated in the funding announcement. Final selection will be determined by the Commissioner, Bureau of Reclamation, or regional officials, as applicable to the project.

Deadlines:

Contact the headquarters or regional location, as appropriate for application deadlines.

Range of Approval/Disapproval Time:

Other. Varies depending on the type and complexity of the project. Further information will be available for each specific project at the time the funding opportunity announcement is posted on www.grants.gov and may be obtained by contacting the Bureau of Reclamation personnel listed as the point of contact in the funding announcement.

Appeals:

Other. None. Final award decisions are not subject to appeal; however, the Bureau of Reclamation will provide all applicants with information on why their proposals were not selected for award.

Renewals:

Other. Projects may generally be renewed on an annual basis, not to exceed a total of 5 years. If renewals or extensions are applicable to the project, this information will be included in the funding opportunity announcement. When renewals or extensions are applicable, continuation of funding for these activities is at the discretion of Congress and will be subject to availability of appropriated funds.

Formula and Matching Requirements:

Statutory formula is not applicable to this assistance listing. Matching Requirements: Percent: 0%. Requirement: Matching requirements are mandatory. Projects undertaken under Section 10004 have no matching requirements. Projects undertaken under Section 10202 require a 50 percent share of the costs associated with planning, design, and environmental compliance activities associated with such a project and a 50 percent share of the costs associated with construction of any such project. For these projects, all operation, maintenance, and replacement and rehabilitation costs of such projects shall be the responsibility of the local agency. The Secretary shall not provide funding for any operation, maintenance, and replacement and rehabilitation costs of projects funded. MOE requirements are not applicable to this assistance listing.

Length and Time Phasing of Assistance:

Crow Tribe Water Rights Settlement Act of 2010,

FEDERAL AGENCY:

BUREAU OF RECLAMATION, INTERIOR, DEPARTMENT OF THE

AUTHORIZATION:

Public Law 111-291, Claims Resolution Act of 2010, Title IV, Crow Tribe Water Rights Settlement (31 USC 1101).

OBJECTIVES:

To rehabilitate and improve the water diversion and delivery features of the Crow Irrigation Project (CIP). To plan, design and construct a new municipal, rural & industrial (MR&I) water system for the benefit of the Crow Tribe and its members. Both objectives are part of an Indian Water Rights Settlement among the U.S. government, the state of Montana, and the Crow Tribe.

TYPES OF ASSISTANCE:

Direct Payments for Specified Use

USES AND USE RESTRICTIONS:

The project is for the rehabilitation and improvement of the existing CIP and for the construction of a new MR&I Water system on the Crow Reservation. These projects are authorized under Title IV of the Claims Resolution Act of 2010.

Applicant Eligibility:

Federally Recognized Indian Tribal Governments; The Crow Tribe of Montana

Beneficiary Eligibility:

Federally Recognized Indian Tribal Governments; Irrigable lands within the Crow Reservation. Drinking water for people on the reservation.

Credentials/Documentation:

15.557 Applied Science Grants

Applied Science Grants,
FEDERAL AGENCY:

BUREAU OF RECLAMATION, INTERIOR, DEPARTMENT OF THE AUTHORIZATION:

Public Law 111-11, Omnibus Public Land Management Act of 2009, Subtitle F, Secure Water, Section 9509.,

OBJECTIVES:

The objective of the Applied Science Grants is to improve water management in the West through the development of applied science tools and information that will improve: access to water availability information and the latest forecasting tools; management of water supplies during drought; and watershed management, in the West.

TYPES OF ASSISTANCE:

Project Grants (Cooperative Agreements)

USES AND USE RESTRICTIONS:

Through Applied Science Grants, Reclamation provides cost-shared financial assistance on a competitive basis for projects to develop tools and information for: (1) assessing water availability and quality, (2) assessing risks to water supplies from drought and other water management challenges (e.g., invasive species, sedimentation, managing to meet competing water demands, meeting endangered species requirements, etc.), and (3) assessing and evaluating watershed management practices. Eligible projects must be located in the 17 Western States or Territories (see below for eligibility).

Applicant Eligibility:

Federally Recognized Indian Tribal Governments; U.S. Territories and possessions; State; Category A applicants: States, Indian tribes, irrigation districts, water districts, or other organizations with water or power delivery authority located in the Western United States or United States Territories including Alaska, Arizona, California, Colorado, Hawaii, Idaho, Kansas, Montana, Nebraska, Nevada, New Mexico, North Dakota, Oklahoma, Oregon, South Dakota, Texas, Utah, Washington, Wyoming, American Samoa, Guam, the Northern Mariana Islands, and the Virgin Islands. Category B applicants: Universities, nonprofit research institutions, federally-funded research and development centers, and non-profit entities including 501(c)(3). Category B applicants must be located in the United States or American Samoa, Guam, the Northern Mariana Islands, or the Virgin Islands. These applicants must also include, as a partner, at least one entity from Category A that meets the eligibility requirements as documented by a letter included with the application stating that the partner commits to participate in the project and supports the need for the project. A letter of participation must demonstrate that the partner intends to participate in the project in some way, for example, by providing input, feedback or other support for the project.

Beneficiary Eligibility:

U.S. Territories; Anyone/general public; State; Public nonprofit institution/organization; Federally Recognized Indian Tribal Governments; The general public; agricultural, municipal and industrial water users; irrigation or water districts; state governmental entities with water or power delivery authority; tribes; non-profit research institutions; and non-profit organizations located in the states identified in the Act of June 17, 1902.

Credentials/Documentation:

(1) A detailed written technical proposal including background data regarding the applicant, such as location, a detailed scope of work separating the work into major tasks, detail the stages of the proposed project, include an estimated project schedule showing the stages and the duration of the proposed work, including major milestones and dates, and substantiate the method(s) selected, the principles or techniques which are proposed to solve the problem, and the degree of success expected, and describing data responsive to the evaluation criteria listed in the Announcement. (2) A funding plan showing how the applicant will pay for its 50% cost share requirement, and an official resolution adopted by the applicants board of directors or governing body, or for state government entities and universities, an official authorized to commit the applicant to the financial and legal obligations associated with receipt, resolving that, if selected, it will negotiate and execute a cooperative agreement with Reclamation. (3) A detailed project cost proposal, including a budget with the annual estimated project costs, including salaries and wages, fringe benefits, travel, equipment, supplies, contracts, and indirect costs, an estimate of annual operation & maintenance costs, and the value of in-kind contributions of goods and services. 2 CFR 200, Sub-part E - Cost Principles applies to this program.

Preapplication Coordination:

ASSISTANCE LISTINGS DESCRIPTIONS

Pre-application coordination is required. An environmental impact statement is required for this listing. An environmental impact assessment is required for this listing. This program is excluded from coverage under E.O. 12372. Environmental compliance for this program may be required depending on the scope of the specific project funded. This may result in the need for an environmental impact assessment or environmental impact statement prior to the commencement of project activities.

Application Procedures:

2 CFR 200, Uniform Administrative Requirements, Cost Principles, and Audit Requirements for Federal Awards applies to this program. Multiple Funding Opportunity Announcements (Announcement) are annually posted on www.grants.gov. Submission of a complete technical proposal and projects budget is mandatory by the due date identified in the Announcement. In addition, applicants must submit all applicable SF 424 forms referenced in the Announcement. Notice of Funding Opportunities (NOFO) for this listing will be posted on Grants.gov.

Award Procedure:

Proposals received in response to the Announcement are reviewed on the basis of a competitive, merit-based review process, and are rated in accordance with the evaluation criteria stated in the Announcement. Reclamation will make awards to the highest rated proposals based on the amount of funding available each year.

2020 The Henry's Fork Foundation, Inc., Predictive Hydrologic Modeling and Real-Time Data Access to Support Water Resources Management Planning Reclamation: $273,211 Total Project Cost: $561,282. The Henry's Fork Foundation will partner with the Fremont-Madison Irrigation District to develop hydrologic models and a web-based platform to improve access to hydrologic information within the Henry's Fork of the Snake River watershed, located in eastern Idaho and western Wyoming. In addition to competing water demands for irrigation and fisheries, new concerns about declining aquifer levels in the Eastern Snake Plains Aquifer have added to water management challenges in this watershed. This project builds on a WaterSMART basin study completed in 2015, identifying unmet water needs in the basin that total 350,000 acre-feet per year in dry years, based on the most recent calculations. This project will provide modeling tools and hydrologic data to enhance water management efforts to address the projected shortfalls, including demand-reduction, water marketing, and increasing reservoir carryover. //Texas Water Trade, Modeling Aquifer Properties in the Contributing Zone of Comanche Springs Reclamation Funding: $150,000 Total Project Cost: $300,000 The Texas Water Trade, in partnership with the Middle Pecos Groundwater Conservation District, located in Fort Stockton, Texas will develop a groundwater flow model to increase the Districts understanding of the impacts of seasonal groundwater pumping in the Edwards-Trinity Aquifer to spring flows at Comanche Springs in the City of Fort Stockton. This area has experienced conflicts and litigation between surface and groundwater users since the 1950s. Currently, rising demand for water for oil and gas extraction activities and demands from nearby municipalities are adding to these tensions. The District is evaluating the potential for restoration of perennial spring flows at Comanche Springs, exploring pumping in deeper zones in the Edwards aquifer, and developing a water marketing strategy to meet competing demands. This project will provide the District with critical information to further develop these strategies and to make water management decisions that optimize available water resources.

CRITERIA FOR SELECTING PROPOSALS:

Specific evaluation criteria will be included in the funding announcements posted on www.grants.gov. All applications will be evaluated using criteria that give priority to a projects technical merit, the relevance to water managers in the West, dissemination of results to Reclamation and stakeholders, and connections to Reclamation activities.

15.565 Implementation of the Taos Pueblo Indian water rights settlement

FEDERAL AGENCY:

BUREAU OF RECLAMATION, INTERIOR, DEPARTMENT OF THE AUTHORIZATION:

Taos Pueblo Indian Water Rights Settlement Act, Title V of Pub. L. 111-291 (Settlement Act).

OBJECTIVES:

The Claims Resolution Act of 2010 was signed into law on December 8, 2010, authorizing the settlement of two long-running New Mexico Indian water rights cases. Title V, the Taos Pueblo Indian Water Rights Settlement Act, authorizes implementation of the Abeyta (Taos Pueblo) settlement. The Settlement Act authorizes and directs the Bureau of Reclamation to provide financial assistance in the form of grants on a non-reimbursable basis to plan, permit, design, engineer, and construct Mutual-Benefit Projects that will minimize adverse effects on the Pueblos water resources by moving future non-Indian ground water pumping away from the Pueblos Buffalo Pasture, a culturally sensitive wetland. The Federal Team is working with the Mutual-Benefit Project parties as they get ready for the on-the-ground phase of settlement implementation. Reclamations Albuquerque Area Office is in the process of completing environmental compliance and awarding grants to the entities that are moving forward with their projects. The overall cost of the settlement is $144 million, of which $124 million would be paid by the Federal government and $20 million by the State of New Mexico. The total federal contribution of $124 million includes $88.0 million directed to the Bureau of Indian Affairs for the Taos Pueblo Water Development Fund, and a $36 million settlement fund ($16 million mandatory and $20 million discretionary funds) directed to Reclamation for the Mutual-Benefit Projects.

TYPES OF ASSISTANCE:

Project Grants (Cooperative Agreements)

USES AND USE RESTRICTIONS:

Section 507 of the Settlement Act provides that the financial assistance will be used to plan, permit, design, engineer, and construct the Mutual-Benefit Projects in accordance with the Settlement Agreement. Project grants (cooperative agreements) will be provided to the eligible non-Pueblo entities for the Mutual-Benefit Projects, as specified in the section 507(a) of the Settlement Act. The up to amount of financial assistance for each of the Mutual-Benefit Projects will be in accordance with the limitations specified in the Settlement Agreement.

Applicant Eligibility:

Native American Organizations (includes Indian groups, cooperatives, corporations, partnerships, associations); Only the eligible non-Pueblo entities identified in section 503(1) of the Settlement Act are eligible to receive financial assistance.

Beneficiary Eligibility:

Credentials/Documentation:

All of the eligible non-Pueblo entities are political subdivisions of the State of New Mexico, as provided in the Settlement Agreement. 2 CFR 200, Sub-part E - Cost Principles applies to this program.

Preapplication Coordination:

Pre-application coordination is required. An environmental impact statement is required for this listing. An environmental impact assessment is required for this listing. This program is excluded from coverage under E.O. 12372. Section 509(e)(2) of the Settlement Act requires Reclamation to comply with each law of the federal government relating to the protection of the environment. The Mutual-Benefit Projects will require an environmental impact assessment, which will be completed before an eligible non-Pueblo may begin implementation of an assisted activity that requires environmental or other regulatory compliance approval. An environmental impact statement is required for this program. An environmental impact assessment is required for this program.

Application Procedures:

2 CFR 200, Uniform Administrative Requirements, Cost Principles, and Audit Requirements for Federal Awards applies to this program. The award of the financial assistance is mandatory. See section 507(a) of the Settlement Act. Reclamation will conduct a workshop to inform and educate the eligible non-Pueblo entities about the procedures for entering into financial assistance agreements and the responsibilities of the parties. Section 509(d) authorizes the Secretary, acting through Reclamation, to enter into such agreements and to take such measures as the Secretary may deem necessary or appropriate to fulfill the intent of the Settlement Agreement and Settlement Act.

15.566 Upper Klamath Basin Hydrolic Analyses

FEDERAL AGENCY:

BUREAU OF RECLAMATION, INTERIOR, DEPARTMENT OF THE AUTHORIZATION:

Public Law 106-498 Klamath Basin Water Supply Enhancement Act of 2000, as amended by PL 115-270 and PL 116-191,

OBJECTIVES:

To plan, implement, and administer programs to align water supplies and demand for irrigation water users associated with the Klamath Project, with a primary emphasis on programs developed or endorsed by local entities comprised of representatives of those water users. Activities are subject to appropriations and required environmental reviews. Expenditures may not exceed $10 million on an average annual basis, and programs may not:(A) foster groundwater use that results in groundwater level declines that, based on existing data from the United States Geological Survey, are more than appropriate in a critically dry year, taking into consideration the long-term sustainability of aquifers;(B) adversely affect compliance with applicable laws protecting fishery resources in Upper Klamath Lake and the Klamath River.

TYPES OF ASSISTANCE:

Cooperative Agreements (Discretionary Grants), Direct Payments for Specified Use, Dissemination of Technical Information, Formula Grants, Project Grants

USES AND USE RESTRICTIONS:

Activities must be conducted pursuant to the reclamation laws and subject to appropriations and required environmental reviews. Programs may not--(A) foster groundwater use that results in groundwater level declines that, based on existing data from the United States Geological Survey, are more than appropriate in a critically dry year, taking into consideration the long-term sustainability of aquifers;(B) adversely affect compliance with applicable laws protecting fishery resources in Upper Klamath Lake and the Klamath River.

Applicant Eligibility:

Federal; Interstate; State (includes District of Columbia, public institutions of higher education and hospitals); Local (includes State-designated Indian Tribes, excludes institutions of higher education and hospitals); Sponsored organization; Public nonprofit institution/organization (includes institutions of higher education and hospitals); Federally Recognized Indian Tribal Governments; Minority group; Small business (less than 500 employees); Profit organization; Private nonprofit institution/organization (includes institutions of higher education and hospitals); Other private institutions/organizations; Native American Organizations (includes Indian groups, cooperatives, corporations, partnerships, associations); Federal - Department and establishment of the Federal government which are responsible for enforcement and the fulfillment of public policy. These departments and establishments directly administer and exercise jurisdiction over matters assigned to them, and are the administering agencies of Federal domestic assistance programs. Interstate - An organizational unit established by two or more States to coordinate certain regional programs relating usually to boundaries for the control and improvement of rivers for irrigation or water power, conservation of natural resources, public utility regulation, development of ports, regional educational development, and regional planning. State - Any agency or instrumentality of the fifty States and the District of Columbia excluding the political subdivisions of State, but including public institutions of higher education and hospitals. (This term does not include U.S. possessions or territories.) Local - Political subdivisions of a State created under general law or State charter that regulate and administer matters chiefly of local concern. These subdivisions include cities, parishes, counties, municipalities, towns, townships, villages, school districts, special districts, or agencies or instrumentalities of local government, exclusive of institutions of higher education and hospitals. Included are Indian tribes on State reservations, Indian school boards, and State-designated Indian tribes. Sponsored organizations - A public purpose group other than a unit of government that is a beneficiary under a plan or program administered by a State, or political subdivision of a State or local government, and which is subject to approval by a Federal agency. Usually organized to work for a specific purpose. Examples: Community development agencies, model cities, community action agencies. Public nonprofit institution/organizations - A publicly owned agency or organization established to perform specialized functions or services for the benefit of all or part of the general public either without charge or at cost, making no profits and having no shareholders to receive dividends. Includes institutions of higher education and hospitals. Federally Recognized Indian Tribal Government - The governing body or a governmental agency of an Indian tribe, Nation, pueblo, or other organized group or community (including any Native village as defined in the Alaska Native Claims Settlement Act) certified by the special programs and services provided through the Bureau of Indian Affairs. Minority group - A group regarded as a subgroup of the majority to include African Americans, Americans of Spanish descent, Asians, and other nonwhite persons. It may include disadvantaged or under-represented groups, such as women, Vietnam-era veterans, and the physically challenged/disabled. Small business - A business of less than 500 employees, independently owned and not dominant in its field. (Detailed criteria are established by the Small Business Administration.) Profit organization - A public or private organization designed to produce product or deliver services to the public through a business enterprise which is structured and managed for profit. Private nonprofit institution/organization A privately owned organization or institution that represents community special interests through community service networks, public information, technical assistance, and public education. Operated exclusively for charitable, scientific, literary or educational purposes such that no part of its earnings is for the benefit of any private shareholder or individual. Includes private institutions of higher education and hospitals. Examples: Girl Scouts, American Civil Liberties Union. Other private institution/organization - A privately owned agency that operates for profit and disburses dividends to shareholders. Native American Organization - Groups of Indians to include urban Indian groups, cooperatives, corporations, partnerships, and associations. Also, include Indians as a minority group.

PROGRAM ACCOMPLISHMENTS:

Fiscal Year 2020: Three California projects received $1.3 million total in CALFED Water Use Efficiency grants for fiscal year 2020. Combined with local cost-share contributions, these projects are expected to implement about $2.8 million in water management improvements during the next 24 months. The projects will conserve an estimated 2,548 acre-feet per year of water and better manage 10,000 acre-feet, contributing to the CALFED Bay-Delta Program objectives of improving ecosystem health, water supply reliability and water quality. California and federal agencies are partners in the 30-year Program (2000-2030). Fiscal Year 2021: Two California projects received $1 million total in CALFED Water Use Efficiency grants for fiscal year 2021. Combined with local cost-share contributions, these projects are expected to implement about $4.7 million in water management improvements during the next two years. The projects will conserve an estimated 1,200 acre-feet per year of water and better manage 8,160 acre-feet, contributing to the CALFED Bay-Delta Program objectives of improving ecosystem health, water supply reliability, and water quality. California and federal agencies are partners in the 30-year program (2000-2030).

ASSISTANCE LISTINGS DESCRIPTIONS

RELATED PROGRAMS:

15.507 Water SMART (Sustaining and Manage America's Resources for Tomorrow);

EXAMPLES OF FUNDED PROJECTS:

2020 Delta Diablo, $364,387 Delta Diablo will upgrade their Recycled Water Facility near the City of Pittsburg, California by upgrading a sand backwash filter to a controlled backwash filtration system. By changing from a continuous to intermittent filtration process, the project will make available an additional 1,120 acre-feet annually over the 20-year life of the project. Annual water savings to the California Bay-Delta is estimated at 1,075 acre-feet annually. The total project cost is $728,776 with a federal cost share of $364,387. Shafter Wasco Irrigation District, $500,000 Located near the City of Shafter, the Pipeline Improvement for Bell Recharge project will improve an existing pump station and install 1-mile of 21 PVC pipeline from the Central Valley Project Friant Kern Canal to the Bell Recharge Facilities. This new intertie will increase water conveyance for irrigation demand and recharge capacity by an average of 1,428 acre-feet annually over the 50-year life of the project. Annual water savings to the California Bay-Delta is estimated at 428 acre-feet annually. The total project cost is $1,115,229 with a federal cost share of $500,000. Sutter Extension Water District, $422,700 The Looney Weir Modernization Project is located in Butte County, near the City of Biggs, along the Feather River. The project will better manage over 10,000 acre-feet of water annually over the 30-year project life by installing a new Langemann gate to increase conveyance capacity and reduce spillage. This new gate will allow for constant upstream water level control and will allow for more flexible regulation of release of deliveries. All water better managed by this project will benefit the California Bay-Delta. The total project cost is $960,800 with a federal cost share of $422,700. 2021 Semitropic Water Storage District, $500,000 The B230 System Extension Project is in Kern County near the cities of Wasco and Shafter. The project will connect the B369 System Extension pipeline to Shafter-Wasco Irrigation Districts Leonard Avenue Intertie pipeline. It will also allow for conveyance of surplus Central Valley Project water to Semitropic Water Storage Districts landowners currently dependent on groundwater. By connecting these pipelines, this project will better manage 4,560 acre-feet of water annually over the 50-year life of the project and the benefits to the California Bay-Delta are estimated at 1,194 acre-feet annually. An acre foot is the amount of water that would cover an acre, about a football field, one foot deep. The total project cost is $3,484,666 with a federal cost share of $500,000. Shafter Wasco Irrigation District, $500,000 Located near the City of Shafter, construction of the Merced Avenue Recharge Intertie Project will install new pipeline to convey surface water supplies to three farms for groundwater recharge. This new, innovative practice at the three farms will use perforated pipe installed under the root zone, enabling the fields to remain in production while subsurface groundwater recharge occurs. This new intertie will save an average of 1,200 acre-feet of water annually and better manage 3,600 acre-feet annually over the 50-year life of the project. Annual water savings to the California Bay-Delta is estimated at 756 acre-feet annually, while water management benefits to the California Bay-Delta are estimated at 2,270 acre-feet annually. The total project cost is $1,199,231 with a federal cost share of $500,000.

15.572 Agricultural Water Use Efficiency Program

AgWUE,

FEDERAL AGENCY:

BUREAU OF RECLAMATION, INTERIOR, DEPARTMENT OF THE
AUTHORIZATION:

Public Law 111-11

OBJECTIVES:

The objective of the Agricultural Water Conservation Efficiency Program is to invite eligible applicants to leverage their money and resources by cost sharing with Reclamation on projects that save water, improve water management, increase water supply reliability, improve energy efficiency, and benefit endangered species. Projects that achieve this by directly enabling on-farm water conservation or water use efficiency projects that can be undertaken by farmers and ranchers remain a high priority for this program. Reclamation and the USDA's Natural Resource Conservation Service (NRCS) are encouraging water suppliers to work with farmers to identify the roles at play to facilitate and/or assist with on-farm improvements that contribute to water supply reliability in the State of California.

TYPES OF ASSISTANCE:

15.574 Water Storage Enhancement

FEDERAL AGENCY:

BUREAU OF RECLAMATION, INTERIOR, DEPARTMENT OF THE
AUTHORIZATION:

Public Law 114-322

OBJECTIVES:

Section 4007 of Public Law 114-322, also known as The Water Infrastructure Improvements for the Nation (WIIN) Act allows the Secretary of the Interior to negotiate and enter into an agreement on behalf of the United States for the design, study and construction or expansion of federally owned or State-led water storage project. The Secretary may participate in a federally owned storage project in an amount equal to not more than 50 percent of the total cost of the federally owned storage project, (4007(b)(2)) and may participate in a State-led storage project in an amount equal to not more than 25 percent of the total cost of the State-led storage project (4007(c)(1)). In return for this cost-share, at least a proportional share of the project benefits are the Federal benefits, including water supplies dedicated to specific purposes such as environmental enhancement and wildlife refuges (4007(c)(2)(C)). To be eligible for funding, the Secretary of the Interior must have determined the project to be feasible before January 1, 2021.

TYPES OF ASSISTANCE:

Project Grants (Cooperative Agreements)

USES AND USE RESTRICTIONS:

The WIIN Act Section 4007(b) allows the Secretary to participate in federally owned storage projects in a Reclamation State to which the United States holds title and that was authorized to be constructed, operated and maintained pursuant to reclamation laws. The WIIN Act Section 4007(c) allows the Secretary to participate in State-led water storage projects that are constructed, operated, and maintained by a State agency or agency organized pursuant to State law and provide a benefit in meeting any obligation under Federal law, including regulations.

Applicant Eligibility:

State; Any State, department, agency, or subdivision of a State, or any public agency organized pursuant to State law.

Beneficiary Eligibility:

Anyone/general public; Water users, including municipal, industrial, agricultural, and environmental that benefit from the additional water storage.

Credentials/Documentation:

To be eligible to receive funding for construction activities, a water storage project must be specifically authorized under the amendments in section 4007 of the Water Infrastructure Improvements for the Nation (WIIN) Act and the Secretary of the Interior must have determined the project to be feasible before January 1, 2021. Reclamation will proceed with expenditure of construction funding once a project has been found feasible, a cost sharing agreement has been signed with a non-Federal partner for a construction project, and the project has been named in appropriations legislation. These include: (1) a finding that the feasibility study meets the requirements of WIIN; (2) complete compliance with the National Environmental Policy Act and other environmental clearances; (3) an approved determination of financial capability; and (4) an executed cooperative agreement for financial assistance. 2 CFR 200, Subpart E - Cost Principles applies to this program. 2 CFR 200, Sub-part E - Cost Principles applies to this program.

Preapplication Coordination:

Pre-application coordination is required. Environmental impact information is not required for this program. This program is excluded from coverage under E.O. 12372. Preapplication coordination is required. Contact the headquarters or regional location, as appropriate.

Application Procedures:

2 CFR 200, Uniform Administrative Requirements, Cost Principles, and Audit Requirements for Federal Awards applies to this program. 2 CFR 200, Uniform Administrative Requirements, Cost Principles, and Audit Requirements for Federal Awards applies to this program. Applicant must submit all applicable SF-424 forms; and a statement of work separating the work into major tasks, level of cooperation with parties involved, and how the subject proposal will provide the outcome sought.

Award Procedure:

Maximum funding amount is dependent upon the approved allocation of appropriations from Congress.

Deadlines:

Contact the headquarters or regional location, as appropriate for application deadlines.

Range of Approval/Disapproval Time:

Other. Varies depending on the type and complexity of the project or activity.

Appeals:

Not Applicable.

Renewals:

Other. Continuation of funding from one fiscal year to the next is at the discretion of Congress.

Formula and Matching Requirements:

Statutory formula is not applicable to this assistance listing. Matching Requirements: Percent: 0%. Requirement: Matching requirements are voluntary. The Secretary may participate in a federally owned storage project in an amount equal to not more than 50 percent of the total cost of the federally owned storage project, (4007(b)(2)) and may participate in a State-led storage project in an amount equal to not more than 25 percent of the total cost of the State-led storage project (4007(c)(1)). The Federal share of the costs of a project or activity carried out under this Program may vary dependent upon activity and authority. Costs of operation, maintenance, repair and rehabilitation of facilities shall be a non-federal responsibility. MOE requirements are not applicable to this assistance listing.

Length and Time Phasing of Assistance:

Reclamation will proceed with expenditure of construction funding once a project has been found feasible and a cost sharing agreement has been signed with a non-Federal partner for a construction project. Multi-year projects may be considered if justified and annual accomplishments can be demonstrated. Method of awarding/releasing assistance: Payment terms vary by agreement awarded under this program. Method of awarding/releasing assistance: other

ASSISTANCE LISTINGS DESCRIPTIONS

15.608 Fish and Wildlife Management Assistance

FEDERAL AGENCY:

U.S. FISH AND WILDLIFE SERVICE, INTERIOR, DEPARTMENT OF THE AUTHORIZATION:

Nonindigenous Aquatic Nuisance Prevention and Control Act-State aquatic nuisance species management plans (16 U.S.C. 4724) and Regional coordination (16 U.S.C. 4723); Fish and Wildlife Coordination Act-Cooperation of agencies (16 U.S.C. 661); Conservation Enhancement Act-National Fish Habitat Conservation Through Partnerships (Pub. L. 116188, title II, 201, 134 Stat. 924); Great Lakes Fish and Wildlife Restoration Act (16 U.S.C. 941 et seq.); Great Lakes Fishery Act (16 U.S.C. 953 et seq.).

OBJECTIVES:

The objectives of the Fish and Aquatic Conservation activities conducted under this program are as follows: State and Interstate Aquatic Nuisance Species Management Plans (ANS Plans): To provide funding to States to implement ANS Plans approved by the ANS Task Force, as authorized in the Nonindigenous Aquatic Nuisance Prevention and Control Act (NANPCA). The plans identify activities needed to eliminate or reduce the risks associated with ANS, focusing on feasible, cost-effective management efforts to prevent and control ANS infestations in an environmentally sound manner. Only States with approved ANS Plans are eligible for this annual funding. Aquatic Nuisance Species (ANS) Task Force Regional Panels: To provide funding to the ANS Task Force established by the NANPCA. The Task Force implements a program for waters of the United States to prevent introduction and dispersal of ANS, monitor, control, and study such species, and disseminate related information. Task Force activities include six regional panels that engage a broad spectrum of stakeholders to provide balanced advice to the Task Force on issues of regional significance. The program helps the panels fulfill their responsibilities under the NANPCA including identifying regional priorities, coordinating regional activities, providing advice pertinent to regional issues, and making recommendations and reporting to the Task Force. National Fish Passage (NFP): To restore native fish and other aquatic species to self-sustaining levels by reconnecting habitat that barriers have fragmented, where such reconnection would not result in a net negative ecological effect such as providing increased habitat to aquatic nuisance species. Fish passage projects restore unimpeded flows and fish movement by removing barriers or providing ways for aquatic species to bypass them. The program works on a voluntary basis and provides support to Federal, State, local, and tribal agencies, as well as private partners and stakeholders. National Fish Habitat Partnership (NFHP): To comprehensively address the causes of fish habitat decline by working together with partners to maximize the impact of limited funding for fish habitat conservation. Under NFHP, Federal, State, Tribal, and privately-raised funds are leveraged through regional Fish Habitat Partnerships to address the fish habitat challenges. More information about the Fish Habitat Partnerships and their partners can be found online at www.fishhabitat.org. Great Lakes Fish and Wildlife Restoration Act (GLFWRA): To provide assistance to States, Indian Tribes, and other interested entities to encourage cooperative conservation, restoration, research, and management of the fish and wildlife resources and their habitats in the Great Lakes Basin. Sea Lamprey Control (SLC): To work with partners to assess sea lamprey abundance in the Great Lakes by monitoring the spring spawning migration in tributaries. Population assessments allow the Service to estimate the index of adult sea lampreys and evaluate the success of the Sea Lamprey Control Program. Invasive Carp: To work with partners to assess priority needs across the Mississippi River Sub-basins (Upper Mississippi River, Missouri River, Arkansas-Red-White River, Lower Mississippi River, Tennessee Cumberland River, and Ohio River including in Kentucky Lake, Lake Barkley) and the Great Lakes, to determine the most effective allocation of resources to support goals identified in the Management and Control Plan for Bighead, Black, Grass, and Silver Carps in the United States (National Plan).

TYPES OF ASSISTANCE:

Project Grants (Discretionary)

USES AND USE RESTRICTIONS:

Funds may be used to conduct fish and wildlife management activities that align with the conservation, restoration, and management goals and priorities of the Fish and Wildlife Conservation Offices. This includes goals and priorities identified by the National Fish Passage Program (NFPP), the individual partnerships under the National Fish Habitat Partnership (NFHP), and work conducted under the Strategic Plan. Restoration work can consist of habitat construction activities such as culvert replacements, dam removals, fish way construction, installation of fish habitat structures and vegetation plantings. Examples of funded activities include habitat restoration (stream improvements or deconstruction of barriers to increase quality of aquatic habitats), monitoring and assessment, removal of barriers to passage, fish propagation, and aquatic plant establishment. This also includes efforts to minimize the establishment, spread, and impact of aquatic invasive species, including those efforts conducted under the auspices of the State/Interstate Aquatic Nuisance Species (ANS) Management Plan Grant Program. Technical assistance in the form of advice on biological, chemical, and/or physical aspects of a project is also available to awardees. Awardees are expected to include a public outreach component in their project. Applicants applying for State/Interstate ANS Management Plan funds must be a State or Interstate organization with an ANS Task Force approved plan.

Applicant Eligibility:

Federal; State (includes District of Columbia, public institutions of higher education and hospitals); Federally Recognized Indian Tribal Governments; Local (includes State-designated Indian Tribes, excludes institutions of higher education and hospitals); Public nonprofit institution/organization (includes institutions of higher education and hospitals); Private nonprofit institution/organization (includes institutions of higher education and hospitals); Individual/Family; Interstate; Intrastate; ANS Plans: Limited to any state or interstate organization of states and Tribes with an ANS Management Plan approved by the ANS Task Force. ANS Panels: Limited to the six organizations responsible for administering and managing ANS Task Force Regional Panels. NFP: Entities must be willing and able to implement program projects collaboratively with the Service. NFHP: Limited to entities associated with a Fish Habitat Partnership recognized by the National Fish Habitat Partnership Board.

Beneficiary Eligibility:

Federal; Private nonprofit institution/organization; American Indian; State; Local; Public nonprofit institution/organization; ANS Plans: Limited to any state or interstate organization of states and Tribes with an ANS Management Plan approved by the ANS Task Force. ANS Panels: Limited to the six organizations responsible for administering and managing ANS Task Force Regional Panels. NFP: Entities must be willing and able to implement program projects collaboratively with the Service. NFHP: Limited to entities associated with a Fish Habitat Partnership recognized by the National Fish Habitat Partnership Board.

Credentials/Documentation:

For GLFWRA, Regional Project proposals must include the signature or other written documentation of all State Directors and Tribal Chairs who support the project (or joint signatures or letter of support from the supervisors of the agencies fish and wildlife programs on behalf of the State Director or Tribal Chair). 2 CFR 200, Sub-part E - Cost Principles applies to this program.

Preapplication Coordination:

Pre-application coordination is required. An environmental impact statement is required for this listing. An environmental impact assessment is required for this listing. This program is eligible for coverage under E.O. 12372, "Intergovernmental Review of Federal Programs." An applicant should consult the office or official designated as the single point of contact in his or her State for more information on the process the State requires to be followed in applying for assistance, if the State has selected the program for review. ANS Plans: Information on this programs pre-proposal requirements and deadlines are provided in Notices of Funding Opportunity on Grants.gov.

Application Procedures:

2 CFR 200, Uniform Administrative Requirements, Cost Principles, and Audit Requirements for Federal Awards applies to this program. An approved State ANS Management Plan is needed for the State ANS Management Plan Grant program. See www.Grants.gov for additional information and application procedures. To apply for NFHP funds, applicants must contact the appropriate Fish Habitat Partnership or visit www.Grants.gov for application procedures and requirements. To apply for NFPP funds, applicants should visit www.Grants.gov for application procedures and requirements. Notice of Funding Opportunities (NOFO) for this listing will be posted on Grants.gov.

Award Procedure:

Successful applicants will receive a Notice of Award electronically via the Departments grants management system (currently GrantSolutions). For ANS Plans and Panels, applicants can anticipate awards between late spring and summer. For GLFWRA, successful applicants can anticipate receiving awards by August or September.

Deadlines:

Deadlines vary by subprogram. ANS Plans and Panels: Contact the headquarters or regional aquatic invasive species coordinator, as appropriate, for application deadlines. NFP, NFHP and SLC: Contact the headquarters or regional location, as appropriate, for application deadlines. GLFWRA: See the program's Notices of Funding Opportunity on Grants.gov for program contact and annual application deadlines.

Range of Approval/Disapproval Time:

Other. NFP projects are selected for funding on an ongoing basis throughout the year. Awards are approved annually. Unfunded projects that are ranked highly by the Regional Directors are maintained in a FWS database until the project is funded or no longer viable. NFHP project applications are submitted through Fish Habitat Partnerships. Contact Fish Habitat Partnerships for information on approval/disapproval time. GLFWRA successful and unsuccessful applicants receive an email notification within 2 weeks after a pre-proposal, full proposal, or Regional Project has been selected for the respective phase.

coordinating regional activities, providing advice pertinent to regional issues, and making recommendations and reporting to the Task Force. NFP: Supported activities included culvert replacement, dam removal, and fish way construction. NFHP: Supported activities included oyster reef restoration, installation of structures in reservoirs, culvert replacement, dam removal, water quality monitoring, and vegetation plantings. GLFWRA: Provided funding for the following research and restoration projects: Great Lakes mallard movements, habitat selection, survival and productivity; resolution of nutritional deficiencies in captive bloater (Coregonus hoyi) brood stock gametes to advance Coregonine restoration; development of a basis for allocation of fish production between management needs and double-crested cormorant predation within their nesting range; spatial variation in lake whitefish recruitment in Lake Michigan investigating the potential roles of zooplankton prey and the relative fitness of age-0 fish; Lake Butte des Morts Wetland and common tern habitat restoration; spawning site selection by lake whitefish at two spawning grounds in northeast Lake Michigan; a collaborative partnership to demonstrate restoration of early successional wet meadow in northeast Ohio; and development and application of eDNA biodiversity survey tools to identify critical habitat for wetland herpetological communities in the Great Lakes. SL: Provided support to and worked cooperatively with Indian tribes and other partner entities to carry out adult and juvenile sea lamprey assessment and lampricide treatment. 2021 Projects not yet selected for funding. 2022 Funding not yet available.

CRITERIA FOR SELECTING PROPOSALS:

The criteria varies by subprogram. For all competitive subprograms, the specific criteria used to select proposals for funding are described in all Notices of Funding Opportunity posted on Grants.gov. Additionally, for NFP, see the Services Fish Passage Program Policy at <https://www.fws.gov/policy/710fw1.html>. Conservation activities and projects under NFPP are selected on a regional basis based upon regional focus areas. Projects that meet region-specific priorities will receive higher priority, though staff are not prohibited from implementing high-value habitat improvement projects outside of these priorities areas. For NFHP, see the Services National Fish Habitat Action Plan Policy at <https://www.fws.gov/policy/717fw1.html>. To be considered for funding, proposed projects must be submitted as part of an FHPs Work Plan and Accomplishments Report (Report). Contact the individual FHP for more information on their respective project selection criteria (<http://www.fishhabitat.org/the-partnerships/>). After review and selection, FHPs will submit the proposed project to the Service for funding consideration as part of their Work Plan and Accomplishments Report. For GLFWRA, the Proposal Review Committee (PRC) is comprised of two representatives (one fishery expert and one wildlife expert) of each of the State Directors (New York, Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Michigan, Wisconsin, Minnesota and Pennsylvania) and Indian Tribes (Chippewa Ottawa Resource Authority, Great Lakes Indian Fish and Wildlife Commission, Keweenaw Bay Indian Community, Seneca Nation, Oneida Nation, and Fond du Lac Band of Lake Superior Chippewa) in the Great Lakes Basin. They are appointed by the State Director or Indian Tribe to serve on the PRC. The PRC is responsible for review of research, restoration and Regional Project proposals and makes funding recommendations to the Services Midwest Regional Director. The PRC operates under the guidance of the Service. For restoration and research projects, applicants must submit pre-proposals and based on PRC ranking some are invited to submit full proposals, which are peer reviewed and summary of those are sent to the PRC. The PRC then makes final funding recommendations to the Services Midwest Regional Director. For Regional Projects, proposals are scored and ranked by the PRC. Applicants are invited to give a presentation on their proposal to the PRC. The PRC makes recommendations to the Midwest Region Director on how much of the annual appropriations should be allocated to Regional Projects and which projects should be developed into final Service work plans for funding.

15.611 Wildlife Restoration and Basic Hunter Education

(Pittman-Robertson Wildlife Restoration Program),

FEDERAL AGENCY:

U.S. FISH AND WILDLIFE SERVICE, INTERIOR, DEPARTMENT OF THE

AUTHORIZATION:

Pittman-Robertson Wildlife Restoration Act/Wildlife Restoration and Basic Hunter Education (16 U.S.C. 669 et seq., except as Pub. L. 106-553 is applied) as amended Target Practice and Marksmanship Training Support Act (Public Law 116-17, May 10, 2019), as amended Modernizing the Pittman-Robertson Fund for Tomorrows Needs Act (Public Law 116-94, December 20, 2019).

OBJECTIVES:

The Act provides grants to State, Commonwealth, and territorial fish and wildlife agencies for projects to restore, conserve, manage, and enhance wild birds and mammals and their habitat. Projects also include providing public use and access to wildlife resources; hunter education and safety; the development and management of shooting ranges, and the promotion of hunting and recreational shooting.

TYPES OF ASSISTANCE:

Formula Grants

USES AND USE RESTRICTIONS:

Approved activities include selection, restoration, rehabilitation, and improvement of wildlife habitat; wildlife management research; wildlife population surveys and inventories; land acquisition; coordination; development of facilities; facilities and services for conducting hunter safety. Law enforcement is not eligible under the Act.

Applicant Eligibility:

State (includes District of Columbia, public institutions of higher education and hospitals); Agencies from the 50 States, the Commonwealths of Puerto Rico and the Northern Mariana Islands, and the territories of Guam, the U.S. Virgin Islands, and American Samoa with primary responsibility for fish and wildlife conservation may submit grant proposals to the Fish and Wildlife Service. To be eligible, they must pass assent legislation to the provisions of the Act for conservation of wildlife that includes a prohibition against the diversion of license fees paid by hunters for any other purpose than the administration of the fish and wildlife agency.

Beneficiary Eligibility:

State; General Public (While direct participation is limited to fish and wildlife agencies, the general public will ultimately benefit from these wildlife conservation measures.)

Credentials/Documentation:

Each year within 60 days of the apportionment notice, States, Commonwealths, and territories must notify the Secretary of the Interior that they want to participate in the program for the year. The State, Commonwealth, or territorial fish and wildlife Director must furnish a certification of the number of paid hunter license holders. Allocable costs are determined in accordance with 2 CFR 200. 2 CFR 200, Sub-part E - Cost Principles applies to this program.

Preapplication Coordination:

Pre-application coordination is required. An environmental impact statement is required for this listing. An environmental impact assessment is required for this listing. This program is eligible for coverage under E.O. 12372, "Intergovernmental Review of Federal Programs." An applicant should consult the office or official designated as the single point of contact in his or her State for more information on the process the State requires to be followed in applying for assistance, if the State has selected the program for review. 15.615 Cooperative Endangered Species Conservation Fund

FEDERAL AGENCY:

U.S. FISH AND WILDLIFE SERVICE, INTERIOR, DEPARTMENT OF THE AUTHORIZATION:

Endangered Species ActCooperation with States (16 U.S.C. 1535),

OBJECTIVES:

Cooperative Endangered Species Conservation Fund grants include multiple subprograms (described below) that provide Federal financial assistance to States and Territories that have entered into a cooperative agreement pursuant to section 6(c) of the Endangered Species Act (ESA) for species and habitat conservation actions on non-Federal lands, including habitat acquisition, conservation planning, habitat restoration, status surveys, captive propagation and reintroduction, research, and education.Traditional Conservation Grants: The principle objective of the Traditional Conservation Grant Program is to support the development and implementation of States programs to conserve and recover threatened and endangered species under the Service's jurisdiction and to monitor candidate, at-risk, and recently delisted species.Habitat Conservation Plan (HCP) Planning Assistance Grants: Established in fiscal year 2001, the HCP Planning Assistance Grant program provides funding to States and Territories to support the development of new HCPs as well as the renewal or amendment of existing HCPs. Funding may be used to support HCP development and planning activities such as document preparation, public outreach, baseline species surveys, habitat assessments, and inventories.Recovery Land Acquisition Grants: The principle objective of the RLA Grant program is to promote State and Federal cooperation in listed species conservation by leveraging funds to acquire specific parcels of land, through fee simple or conservation easement, in support of Service-approved recovery plans and outlines. The ESA conveys the importance of recovery plans as a central organizing tool for guiding the recovery process by requiring their development for every listed species.HCP Land Acquisition Grants: Established by Congress in fiscal year (FY) 1997, the HCP Land Acquisition Grant program was designed to reduce conflicts between the conservation of listed species and competing land uses on specific parcels of land associated with approved and permitted HCPs. Under this program, the Service provides matching grants to States in support of land acquisition projects that will conserve species habitat in perpetuity through fee simple acquisition or the acquisition of permanent conservation easements. All land acquired through these grants complements, but does not replace, the mitigation, minimization, and/or monitoring commitments of the HCP. Thus, this work is additive to the conservation commitments entered into when HCPs are permitted and serves as a meaningful way to leverage non-Federal investment in species recovery and connect conservation lands across the landscape.

TYPES OF ASSISTANCE:

Project Grants (Discretionary)

USES AND USE RESTRICTIONS:

Cooperative Endangered Species Conservation Fund grants provide Federal financial assistance to States and Territories that have entered into a cooperative agreement pursuant to section 6(c) of the Endangered Species Act for species and habitat conservation actions on non-Federal lands, including habitat acquisition, conservation planning, habitat restoration, status surveys, captive propagation and reintroduction, research, and education. This program funds real property acquisition through Recovery Land Acquisition and HCP Land Acquisition Grants. Real property acquisition is not an eligible use of funds awarded through Traditional Conservation and HCP Planning Assistance Grants.

Applicant Eligibility:

State (includes District of Columbia, public institutions of higher education and hospitals); U.S. Territories and possessions (includes institutions of higher education and hospitals); Participation limited to State agencies that have a cooperative agreement with the Secretary of the Interior. The annual Notice of Funding Opportunity (NOFO), announced through www.grants.gov and posted to the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service Web site at <http://www.fws.gov/endangered/grants/index.html>, describes the criteria that must be satisfied for an application to be eligible for funding.

Beneficiary Eligibility:

U.S. Territories; State; All States that have entered into a cooperative agreement with the Secretary of the Interior.

Credentials/Documentation:

Applicants must be entered into a Cooperative Agreement pursuant to Section 6(c) of the ESA to be eligible for funding and have provided the information necessary for annual renewal (reconfirmation) of their cooperative agreement. 2 CFR 200, Sub-part E - Cost Principles applies to this program.

Preapplication Coordination:

Pre-application coordination is required. Environmental impact information is not required for this program. This program is eligible for coverage under E.O. 12372, "Intergovernmental Review of Federal Programs." An applicant should consult the office or official designated as the single point of contact in his or her State for more information on the process the State requires to be followed in applying for assistance, if the State has selected the program for review.

Application Procedures:

2 CFR 200, Uniform Administrative Requirements, Cost Principles, and Audit Requirements for Federal Awards applies to this program. An applicant must complete the Standard Form SF-424, Application for Federal Assistance and the appropriate Budget and Assurances forms (SF-424A and SF-424B - Non Construction; or SF-424C and SF-424D - Construction). The project description section of the application should address the evaluation factors identified in the annual request for proposals that will be posted at www.grants.gov and to the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service website at <http://www.fws.gov/engangered/grants/index.html>. Notice of Funding Opportunities (NOFO) for this listing will be posted on Grants.gov.

Award Procedure:

Final selection is made by the Secretary of the Interior, based on recommendations by the Director or Regional Directors of the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service. Funds are obligated by an authorized signature on an award agreement.

Renewals:

Other. Renewals can be made through submission of a project proposal and approval of a grant award document.

Formula and Matching Requirements:

Statutory formula is not applicable to this assistance listing. Matching Requirements: Percent: 0%. Requirement: Matching requirements are mandatory. States may receive up to 75 percent of the program costs. When two or more States have a common interest in one or more endangered or threatened species and enter into a joint agreement, the Federal share of the total project cost may be increased to 90 percent. MOE requirements are not applicable to this assistance listing.

Length and Time Phasing of Assistance:

The maximum period of performance (PoP) for CESCFC grants is three years. If an approved project cannot be completed within the PoP, the State Director/Commissioner may request an extension of up to 12 months from the Director of the Service provided appropriate justification. Any awarded project that will not be completed within the PoP, and from which funds are deobligated, may be eligible for funding in future competitions. Reports:

Annual interim reports are due 90 calendar days after the end of each four full quarters based on fiscal quarters (March 31, June 30, September 30, December 31). The final report is due 90 calendar days after the grant ending date. Cash reports are required. Recipients must report Federal award cash receipts and disbursements on the SF-425, Federal Financial Report. Progress reports are required. Recipients of awards with performance periods longer than 12 months are required to submit progress reports, which includes submission of interim performance reports and interim SF-425, Federal Financial Reports. Interim progress reporting may be required annually, semiannually, or quarterly. Expenditure reports are required. Recipients must report award expenditures on the SF-425, Federal Financial Report. Performance reports are required. Recipients must monitor and report on project performance in accordance with the requirements in 2 CFR 200.329. Final performance reports and final SF-425, Federal Financial Reports are due within 120 calendar days of the award period of performance end date, unless the awarding program approves a due date extension. The FWS details all reporting requirements including frequency and due dates in Notices of Award.

Audits:

In accordance with the provisions of 2 CFR 200, Subpart F - Audit Requirements, nonfederal entities that expend financial assistance of $750,000 or more in Federal awards will have a single or a program-specific audit conducted for that year. Non-Federal entities that expend less than $750,000 a year in Federal awards are exempt from Federal audit requirements for that year, except as noted in 2 CFR 200.503

EXAMPLES OF FUNDED PROJECTS:

2020 In FY20, the Service awarded an estimated 150 grants in support of projects with direct conservation benefits for federally listed, candidate, and at-risk species. Grants are awarded to assist States in the implementation of their respective programs for the conservation of resident threatened and endangered species of fish, wildlife, and plants. Funded activities include species and habitat management, monitoring and research, as well as public outreach. For example, the State of Idaho was awarded $15,000 for grizzly bear monitoring in the Idaho portion of the Greater Yellowstone Ecosystem. The State of California was awarded nearly $300,000 to promote the recovery of Humboldt marten with a rapid assessment of population size of the north coastal California extant population. 2021 Program has not yet selected projects for funding. Program anticipates funding an estimated 200 projects to assist States in the implementation of their respective programs for the conservation of resident threatened and endangered species of fish, wildlife, and plants. Program expects to fund species and habitat

CRITERIA FOR SELECTING PROPOSALS:

Proposals for grant funding must be submitted by the State fish and wildlife agency. The State must have an approved cooperative agreement with the Secretary of the Interior which provides for sharing responsibilities for endangered species, prior to receiving Cooperative Endangered Species Conservation Fund (section 6 of the Endangered Species Act) funds. Individual project proposals must compete with other State submissions for funding. For additional information please visit <http://www.fws.gov/endangered/grants/index.html>.

Section 5604(c) of the Clean Vessel Act Grant program (33 U.S.C. 1322 note); and Dingell-Johnson Sport Fish Restoration Act, 16 U.S.C. 777 et seq.,

OBJECTIVES:

This program provides funding to States, the District of Columbia, Commonwealths, and territories for the construction, renovation, operation, and maintenance of sewage pumpout stations, waste reception facilities, and pumpout boats for recreational boaters and for educational programs that inform boaters of the importance of proper disposal of their sewage.

TYPES OF ASSISTANCE:

Project Grants (Discretionary)

USES AND USE RESTRICTIONS:

This program authorizes matching funds on a competitive basis for installing, operating and maintaining sewage pumpouts and dump stations for recreational boats in the coastal zones (where applicable) and inland zones of States, the District of Columbia and insular areas; and for construction of sewage pumpouts and dump stations for recreational boats; and for implementation of education programs.

Applicant Eligibility:

U.S. Territories and possessions; State; Agencies from the 50 States, the District of Columbia, the Commonwealths of Puerto Rico and the Northern Mariana Islands, and the territories of Guam, the U.S. Virgin Islands, and American Samoa may submit grant proposals to the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service.

RELATED PROGRAMS:

15.605 Sport Fish Restoration Program;

EXAMPLES OF FUNDED PROJECTS:

2020 The Connecticut Department of Energy and Environmental Protection plans to install two new stationary pumpouts, replace three stationary pumpouts, provide operations and maintenance assistance to 24 pumpout boats and for a minimum of 36 existing stationary pumpout stations. They will continue to work cooperatively with the states of Rhode Island and New York. They will also continue their information and education program with a focus on helping boaters to understand their boats sewage system and to encourage them to use pumpout services. The Maine Department of Environmental Protection, Division of Water Resource Regulation, plans to use CVA funds to install or replace ten pumpout stations/facilities. They will provide operation and maintenance stipends to approximately 14 mobile and stationary pumpout facilities. They also propose to review and update their Education and Outreach Plan, work with other state CVA coordinators on the Pumpout Nav app effort and update and distribute educational materials to boaters and boating facilities. The Oregon State Marine Board plans to replace four existing pumpout and dump stations, retrofit one floating restroom, provide funds to assist with operation and maintenance of 16 pumpout stations, 16 dump stations and five floating restrooms in coastal waters. They also plan to replace four existing pumpout and dump stations, provide funds to assist with operation and maintenance of 17 pumpout stations, 21 dump stations and 15 floating restrooms in inland waters. They will also use this funding to administer their CVA grant program and to conduct outreach and education efforts statewide. 2021 Program has not yet selected projects for funding. Program anticipates funding projects that construct, renovate, operate, and maintain sewage pumpout stations, waste reception facilities, floating restrooms and pumpout boats for recreational boaters and for educational programs that inform boaters of the importance of proper disposal of their sewage. 2022 Program has not yet selected projects for funding. Program anticipates funding projects with similar objectives as those in FY21.

CRITERIA FOR SELECTING PROPOSALS:

The Director of the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service will select projects based on established criteria included in the NOFO and available funding.

15.619 Rhinoceros and Tiger Conservation Fund

FEDERAL AGENCY:

U.S. FISH AND WILDLIFE SERVICE, INTERIOR, DEPARTMENT OF THE AUTHORIZATION:

Rhinoceros and Tiger Conservation Act, 16 U.S.C. 5301 et seq.,

OBJECTIVES:

To provide financial assistance for projects for the effective long-term conservation of rhinoceros and tigers. This program supports projects that focus on one or more of the following areas: Enhanced protection of at-risk rhinoceros and tiger populations; protected area/reserve management in important rhinoceros and tiger range; Veterinary care for wild populations; habitat conservation and management; reintroduction to former range; restoration of habitat; wildlife inspection, law enforcement, and forensics skills; conservation education and community outreach; efforts to decrease human-rhinoceros and human-tiger conflicts; strengthening local capacity to implement conservation programs; transfrontier rhinoceros and tiger conservation; applied research on rhinoceros and tiger populations and their habitats, including surveys and monitoring; development and execution of rhinoceros and tiger conservation management plans; and compliance with applicable treaties and laws that prohibit or regulate the taking or trade of rhinoceros and tigers or regulate the use and management of their habitat.

TYPES OF ASSISTANCE:

Project Grants (Discretionary)

USES AND USE RESTRICTIONS:

Proposed project work should occur within the rhinoceros or tiger range, or, if work is to be conducted outside of the range, the proposal should show clear relevance to rhinoceros or tiger conservation. If the project includes research, the applicant must provide a convincing argument that the results will address management needs or threats from disease and climate change and will result in management actions. Funds provided under this program will not be used for: the purchase of firearms or ammunitions; buying intelligence information or paying informants; gathering information by persons who conceal their true identity; law enforcement operations that, to arrest suspects, prompt them to carry out illegal activities (entrapment); any activity that would circumvent sanctions, laws or regulations of either the U.S. or the country of proposed activity; material support or resources to individuals, entities, or organizations of countries that the U.S. Department of State has identified as state sponsors of terrorism. These countries are: Cuba, Iran, Sudan and Syria (exceptions may be allowed with clearance from U.S. Department of State).

Applicant Eligibility:

Federal; State (includes District of Columbia, public institutions of higher education and hospitals); Local (includes State-designated Indian Tribes, excludes institutions of higher education and hospitals); Public nonprofit institution/organization (includes institutions of higher education and hospitals); Other public institution/organization; Private nonprofit institution/organization (includes institutions of higher education and hospitals); Other private institutions/organizations; Applications may be submitted by any government agency responsible for the conservation and protection of rhinoceroses and/or tigers and any other organization, multi-national secretariat or individual with demonstrated experience in rhinoceros and/or tiger conservation may submit

A proposal will not be considered complete if all required elements are not submitted as instructed. U.S. applicants must submit (among other elements) a complete, signed Standard Form 424 "Application for Federal Assistance." Notice of Funding Opportunities (NOFO) for this listing will be posted on Grants.gov.

Award Procedure:

Projects are competitively selected for funding using criteria from the Rhinoceros and Tiger Conservation Act (16 USC 5301 et seq.). Review criteria can be found in the application information at <https://www.fws.gov/international/grants-and-reporting/how-to-apply.html>. Once a proposal has been selected for funding, an Assistance Award between the Fish and Wildlife Service and the Recipient is executed by an FWS approving official. Fully executed Awards are sent to the Recipient either electronically or through the mail. The Division of International Conservation then administers all other aspects of the Assistance Award.

15.620 African Elephant Conservation Fund

FEDERAL AGENCY:

U.S. FISH AND WILDLIFE SERVICE, INTERIOR, DEPARTMENT OF THE AUTHORIZATION:

African Elephant Conservation Act, 16 U.S.C. 4201 et seq.,

OBJECTIVES:

To provide financial assistance to support projects that will enhance sustainable conservation programs to ensure effective, long-term conservation of African elephants. The African Elephant Conservation Fund supports projects that promote conservation through: Applied research on elephant populations and their habitat, including surveys and monitoring; Development and execution of elephant conservation management plans; Compliance with applicable treaties and laws that prohibit or regulate the taking or trade of elephants or regulate the use and management of elephant habitat; Conservation education and community outreach; Enhanced protection of at-risk elephant populations; Efforts to decrease human-elephant conflict; Habitat conservation and management; Protected area/reserve management in important elephant range; Strengthening local capacity to implement conservation programs; Transfrontier elephant conservation; and Wildlife inspection, law enforcement, and forensics skills.

TYPES OF ASSISTANCE:

Project Grants (Discretionary)

USES AND USE RESTRICTIONS:

Project work should occur within the range of the African elephant, or, if work is to be conducted outside of the range, the proposal should show a clear relevance to African elephant conservation. Applied research projects should address specific management needs and actions. Funds provided under this program will not be used for: the purchase of firearms or ammunitions; buying of intelligence information or paying informants; gathering information by persons who conceal their true identity; law enforcement operations that prompt suspects to carry out illegal activities so they may be arrested (entrapment); or any activity that would circumvent sanctions, laws or regulations of either the U.S. or the country in which the activity would occur. Funds may not be used to provide material support or resources to individuals, entities, or organizations of countries that have been identified by the U.S. Department of State as state sponsors of terrorism. The countries currently identified are: Cuba, Iran, North Korea, Sudan and Syria. This program is administered in compliance with the Federal Grants and Cooperative Agreements Act of 1977, as amended. These funds may not be used towards training U.S. Federal Government personnel.

Applicant Eligibility:

Public nonprofit institution/organization (includes institutions of higher education and hospitals); Private nonprofit institution/organization (includes institutions of higher education and hospitals); Anyone/general public; Applications may be submitted by any African government agency responsible for African elephant conservation and protection and any other organization or individual with demonstrated experience in African elephant conservation.

Beneficiary Eligibility:

Private nonprofit institution/organization; Anyone/general public; Public nonprofit institution/organization; Any African government agency responsible for African elephant conservation and protection and any other organization or individual with demonstrated experience in African elephant conservation.

Credentials/Documentation:

2 CFR 200, Sub-part E - Cost Principles applies to this program.

Preapplication Coordination:

Pre-application coordination is not applicable. Environmental impact information is not required for this program. This program is excluded from coverage under E.O. 12372.

Application Procedures:

2 CFR 200, Uniform Administrative Requirements, Cost Principles, and Audit Requirements for Federal Awards applies to this program. The program announcement and application instructions for this program can be found at the Grants.gov website: <http://www.grants.gov>. The Notice of Funding Availability and Application Instructions are also located on this program's website at <https://www.fws.gov/international/grants-and-reporting/how-to-apply.html>. If you are unable to access the Internet, hard copies are available upon request from the Branch of Near East, South Asia and Africa, Division of International Conservation, U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service, 5275 Leesburg Pike, Falls Church, VA 22041. A proposal will not be considered complete if all required elements are not submitted as instructed. U.S. applicants must submit (among other elements) a complete, signed Standard Form 424 "Application for Federal Assistance." Notice of Funding Opportunities (NOFO) for this listing will be posted on Grants.gov.

Award Procedure:

Projects are reviewed and competitively selected for funding using criteria developed on the requirements of the African Elephant Conservation Fund (16 USC et seq.) Review criteria can be found in the application information at <http://www.fws.gov/international/grants-and-reporting/how-to-apply.html>. Once a proposal has been selected for funding, an FWS approving official executes an Assistance Award between the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service and the Recipient. Fully executed Awards are sent to the Recipient either electronically or through the mail. The Division of International Conservation then administers all other aspects of the Assistance Award.

15.605 Sport Fish Restoration Program;

EXAMPLES OF FUNDED PROJECTS:

2020 The Maine Department of Transportation will partner with Great Island Boat Yard to expand and replace existing slips with 24 wellappointed boat slips dedicated to eligible transient vessels. The new slips will be longer and wider than the existing slips, in line with modern design guidelines, allowing the marina to cater to a wider range of vessel sizes and types and provide reliable, stateoftheart shore power, potable water, and better lighting for visiting transient boaters. The new layout will also provide approximately 292 foot of dinghy dockage dedicated solely for use by transient visitors. The Louisiana Department of Wildlife and Fisheries will partner with Marina del Ray to replace three existing docks and dedicate them to transient boaters and add an additional six covered wet slips. They will also refit to meet electrical code, repair and upgrade the bathroom and laundry facilities, make two gangways compliant with ADA requirements, and add new marine pedestals providing utilities, fast internet, and Wi-Fi.The Washington State Recreation and Conservation Office will partner with the Port of Poulsbo to construct 3,420 linear feet of dedicated transient moorage creating dockage for 86 transient vessels. Replace the existing fixed breakwater, which offers no transient moorage and limits room for expansion of the marina, with a new floating breakwater specifically designed to provide transient moorage for larger vessels. 2021 Program has not finalized projects for funding. Program anticipates funding projects that include construction of tie-up facilities for nontrailerable, recreational vessels of 26 feet or greater in length; development of amenities for eligible boaters, such as restrooms or other facilities; development of utilities or other services for eligible vessels. 2022 Program has not yet selected projects for funding. Program anticipates funding projects with similar objectives as those in FY20.

CRITERIA FOR SELECTING PROPOSALS:

The Director of the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service will select projects for funding based on established criteria included in the NOFO and available funding.

15.623 North American Wetlands Conservation Fund

NAWCF,

FEDERAL AGENCY:

U.S. FISH AND WILDLIFE SERVICE, INTERIOR, DEPARTMENT OF THE AUTHORIZATION:

North American Wetlands Conservation Act, 16 U.S.C. 4401 et seq.,

OBJECTIVES:

To provide grant funds for wetlands conservation projects in the United States, Canada, and Mexico.

TYPES OF ASSISTANCE:

Project Grants (Discretionary)

USES AND USE RESTRICTIONS:

Funds may be used to acquire real property interest in lands or waters, including water rights. Funds may also be used to restore, manage, and/or enhance wetland ecosystems and other habitat for migratory birds and other fish and wildlife. Projects must provide long-term conservation for wetlands-associated migratory birds and other wetlands-associated wildlife. Coastal Wetlands Planning, Protection and Restoration act-derived funds eligible for NAWCA projects may be used only in U.S. coastal wetlands ecosystems. More specific restrictions are outlined on the NAWCA grants information and instructions website. For further information, please contact the headquarters office. 100% of funding is discretionary.

Applicant Eligibility:

State (includes District of Columbia, public institutions of higher education and hospitals); U.S. Territories and possessions; Private nonprofit institution/organization (includes institutions of higher education and hospitals); Other private institutions/organizations; Public nonprofit institution/organization (includes institutions of higher education and hospitals); Other public institution/organization; Individual/Family; Available to private or public organizations or to individuals who have developed partnerships to carry out wetlands conservation projects in the U.S., Canada, and Mexico.

Beneficiary Eligibility:

Beneficiary eligibility is the same as applicant eligibility.

Credentials/Documentation:

2 CFR 200, Sub-part E - Cost Principles applies to this program.

Preapplication Coordination:

Pre-application coordination is required. Environmental impact information is not required for this program. This program is eligible for coverage under E.O. 12372, "Intergovernmental Review of Federal Programs." An applicant should consult the office or official designated as the single point of contact in his or her State for more information on the process the State requires to be followed in applying for assistance, if the State has selected the program for review.

Application Procedures:

2 CFR 200, Uniform Administrative Requirements, Cost Principles, and Audit Requirements for Federal Awards applies to this program. Complete program information and application instruction can be found on the Division of Bird Habitat Conservation (DBHC) website, at <https://www.fws.gov/birds/grants/north-american-wetland-conservation-act.php>, or can be accessed through grants.gov. Grant applications, including Standard Form 424 Application for Federal

ASSISTANCE LISTINGS DESCRIPTIONS

Assistance, and the appropriate Assurance forms (SF 424C or SF 424D) are submitted through www.grants.gov. Notice of Funding Opportunities (NOFO) for this listing will be posted on Grants.gov.

Award Procedure:

Applications are screened by Fish and Wildlife Service staff, and further reviewed and ranked by the North American Wetlands Conservation Council (Council) Staff and North American Waterfowl Management Plan Joint Venture Coordinators. Site visits are conducted as needed. Grant proposals are recommended for approval by the Council to the Migratory Bird Conservation Commission (Commission). The Council selects proposals in June and December that are recommended to the Commission for final funding approval in September and March. The grant is administered by FWS Division of Bird Habitat Conservation. The U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service conducts a National Environmental Policy Act and National Historic Preservation Act review of the projects that the Council selects to recommend to the Commission.

Deadlines:

U.S. Standard grant proposals are due February 26, 2021 and July 9, 2021. Mexico grant proposals are due by May 19, 2021. Canada grant proposals are due by August 27, 2021. U.S. Small grant proposals are due by October 14, 2021.

EXAMPLES OF FUNDED PROJECTS:

2020 Example of Mexico grant project, Integrated Management in Santiaguillo Lagoon Watershed- This effort is within the Santiaguillo Lagoon, a wetland in the Chihuahuan Desert, that is critical for the migration of aquatic birds in the Central Flyway. An innovative social governance scheme has been established for this lagoon, featuring an active citizen committee. The grant project follows guidance from this committee, and is consistent with the North American Waterfowl Management Plan, the North American Shorebird Conservation Plan, the Waterbird Conservation Plan of the Americas, and the Partners in Flight Bird Conservation Plans. This project will establish conservation reserves on 19,027 acres. It will enhance 2,508.12 acres of aquatic habitat; restore 15,936.75 acres of degraded uplands in the upper and middle watershed; and manage 11,119 acres of aquatic habitat. It will also develop a protocol for the remediation of contaminants and establish two oxidation lagoons. 2021 Example of US grant project, Pearl River Valley Wetlands Conservation, Mississippi The goal of this project is to protect in perpetuity 1,693 acres of wetlands and associated uplands along both the upper and lower Pearl River, as well as its tributaries. Furthermore, this project will restore 100 of these acres to bottomland hardwood forest. The Pearl River Basin is located in the East Gulf Coastal Plain in Mississippi, and encompasses the Pearl River and its tributaries beginning at its headwaters, at the confluence of the Nanih Waiya and Tallahaga Creeks in Neshoba County. This project will protect habitats along the Pearl River, including palustrine wetland types, riverine, bottomland ponds, interior streams adjacent to upland pine, and mixed hardwoods. 2022 Program has not yet selected projects for funding. Program anticipates funding projects that protect and improve habitat for migratory birds and other wetland-associated species. More examples of NAWCA projects can be found at <http://www.fws.gov/birds/grants/north-american-wetland-conservation-act.php>.

CRITERIA FOR SELECTING PROPOSALS:

The Council selects proposals based on factors given in Section 5 of the North American Wetlands Conservation Act, results of site visits, available funds and other factors deemed important to meeting Act objectives.

15.626 Enhanced Hunter Education and Safety

FEDERAL AGENCY:

U.S. FISH AND WILDLIFE SERVICE, INTERIOR, DEPARTMENT OF THE AUTHORIZATION:

Pittman-Robertson Wildlife Restoration Act Firearm and bow hunter education and safety program grants (16 U.S.C. 669h-1) as amended Target Practice and Marksmanship Training Support Act (Public Law 116-17, May 10, 2019), as amended Modernizing the Pittman-Robertson Fund for Tomorrows Needs Act (Public Law 116-94, December 20, 2019).

Projects also include construction, development, and enhancement of firearm and archery ranges, as well as updating safety features at firearms and archery ranges. 2021 The Program has not yet completed selecting projects for funding. The Program anticipates funding Section 10 Enhanced Hunter Education and Safety projects and activities that are eligible each year. 2022 The Program has not yet completed selecting projects for funding. The Program anticipates funding Section 10 Enhanced Hunter Education and Safety projects and activities that are eligible each year.

CRITERIA FOR SELECTING PROPOSALS:

The State, Commonwealth, or territory agency having responsibility for the management of their resources must submit the projects. The State, Commonwealth's, or territory's wildlife resources must submit the projects. The State, Commonwealth, or territorial agency selects those projects submitted for funding under the program. If approved, projects must meet the basic criteria outlined in the regulations and the Fish and Wildlife Service Manual.

15.628 Multistate Conservation Grant

FEDERAL AGENCY:

U.S. FISH AND WILDLIFE SERVICE, INTERIOR, DEPARTMENT OF THE AUTHORIZATION:

Wildlife and Sport Fish Restoration Programs Improvement Act, Pub. L. 106-408, 114 STAT. 1766, 112 et seq.; Dingell-Johnson Sport Fish Restoration Act, 16 U.S.C. 777 et seq.; and Pittman-Robertson Wildlife Restoration Act, 16 U.S.C. 669 et seq.,

OBJECTIVES:

This program provides funding for sport fish and wildlife restoration projects identified by the Association of Fish and Wildlife Agencies. Recipients awarded under the Traditional Multistate Conservation Funds (T-MSCGP) may use the funds for sport fisheries and wildlife management including research projects, boating access development, hunter safety and education, aquatic education, fish and wildlife habitat improvements, and other purposes consistent with the enabling legislation. Recipients awarded under the R3 Multistate Conservation Grant Program (R3-MSCGP) can only use the funds for making hunter recruitment and recreational shooter recruitment projects that promote a national hunting and shooting sport recruitment program, including related communication and outreach activities.

TYPES OF ASSISTANCE:

Project Grants (Discretionary)

USES AND USE RESTRICTIONS:

Project types that are generally selected for funding are those considered of national importance according to state fish and wildlife agencies. Funding activities focus on: education, training, data analysis, values and use of sport fish and wildlife restoration programs; new technologies, hunting and fishing participant recruitment/retention; and evaluation in restoration, recreation, enhancement, or protection of sport fish and wildlife and their habitats. Funds under this program are not used for land acquisition or major construction projects. For further information, please contact the Washington D.C. Office.

Applicant Eligibility:

State (includes District of Columbia, public institutions of higher education and hospitals); U.S. Territories and possessions; Federal; Non-Government - General; Eligibility is limited to: 1) Agencies with lead management responsibility for fish and wildlife resources in each of the 50 States, the District of Columbia, Commonwealths of Puerto Rico and the Northern Mariana Islands, and the territories of American Samoa, Guam, and the U.S. Virgin Islands, or a group of these agencies; 2) The Service, only for the purpose of carrying out the National Survey; or 3) Non-governmental organizations (NGOs). NGOs including educational institutions that are invited to submit full proposals must submit a certification that their organization will not use grant funds to fund, in whole or in part, any activity that promotes or encourages opposition to the regulated hunting or trapping of wildlife or the regulated taking of fish in their application. Only projects that propose benefits to sport fish, wild birds and/or mammals are eligible. Proposed projects must also benefit: 1) At least 26 States or; 2) A majority of the States in a Service Region; or 3) A regional association of State fish and wildlife agencies.

Beneficiary Eligibility:

State; Projects must benefit at least 26 States, a majority of States in a Region of the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service, or a Regional association of State fish and game departments.

Award Procedure:

The Director of the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service will select projects for funding from a priority list developed by the Association of Fish and Wildlife Agencies (AFWA) based on established criteria.

Deadlines:

The Association expects to post the availability of FY2022 Multistate Conservation Grant Award Funds and specific deadlines on their website, <http://www.fishwildlife.org> during the third week of March 2021. The Wildlife and Sportfish Restoration Program (WSFR) will also post the availability of FY2022 Award Funds, Notice of Funding Opportunity by March 19 in GrantSolutions.gov and in Grants.gov. Initial Proposals will be due to the Association by May 17, 2021. The Association reviews and scores the Initial Proposals and invites applicants with the highest scoring proposals to submit Full Grant Proposals by June 21, 2021. Full Grant Proposals must be submitted through GrantSolutions.gov or Grants.gov and to the Association by July 20, 2021. The Association scores and ranks the Full Grant Proposals and produces a priority list of projects of the highest ranking proposals. The Association submits the priority list of projects for award consideration to the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service, Assistant Director, Wildlife and Sport Fish Restoration Program by October 1 of each year. WSFR can only award projects that appear on the priority list. The WSFR approved and awarded projects are published in the Federal Register in the spring/summer of each calendar year.

PROGRAM ACCOMPLISHMENTS:

Fiscal Year 2020: The Association received 48 applications (from recipients invited by the Association to submit applications from 63 submitted Letters of Intent). The Association recommended 40 to be awarded by the WSFR Program. WSFR reviewed, approved and awarded all 40 applications. Program accomplishments vary and are based upon National Conservation Needs (NCNs), selected annually by the Associations National Grants Committee. All proposals must address at least one of the annually selected NCNs. Fiscal Year 2021: Beginning for the first time this year, the Association replaced National Conservation Needs with Strategic Priorities. All projects were required to address one or more of the selected Strategic Priorities, which were reviewed and approved by the Associations Executive Committee at the North American Wildlife and Natural Resources Conference, March 8-13, 2020. In addition, the first stage submission requirement for use of Letters of Intent was replaced by the submission of Initial Proposals (for requirements see <http://www.fishwildlife.org>)The Association received 85 Initial Proposals and invited 52 applicants to submit Full Grant Proposal packages. The Association recommended 38 for award within their priority list to the WSFR Program. WSFR is currently in the process of reviewing, approving and awarding all 38 applications. Program accomplishments vary and are based upon Strategic Priorities, selected annually by the Associations National Grants Committee. Fiscal Year 2022: The Program has not invited prospective grantees to submit Initial Proposals or Full Grant Proposal packages at this time.

RELATED PROGRAMS:

15.611 Wildlife Restoration; 15.605 Sport Fish Restoration Program;

EXAMPLES OF FUNDED PROJECTS:

2020 (1) Chronic Wasting Disease (CWD) was first observed in mule deer in a research facility in Colorado in 1967 and in wild cervids in the 1980s in Colorado and Wyoming. Currently, CWD has been confirmed in wild deer, elk, and/or moose in 24 states and two provinces. Among captive cervids, CWD has been confirmed in 112 herds in 17 states and 109 herds in three provinces. The disease continues to be detected in new areas, and negative population impacts have been documented in heavily infected, wild, elk, mule deer, and whitetail herds. The Wildlife Management Institute continues working to provide critically needed technical assistance and authoritative guidance to state wildlife agencies developing, revising, or implementing CWD prevention, surveillance, and management programs for free-ranging deer, elk, and moose.(2) The future of fishing participation and the associated license sales and excise tax revenues depend on recruiting younger anglers into the sport. The American Sportfishing Association continues working on a project to determine if a fishing in the schools program is sustainable, scalable and if it increases localized angler participation. The pilot year was to be focused on establishing a fishing program in 50 schools in five states, providing teacher trainings, and conducting surveys. Program reports and survey results will be compiled, analyzed and presented to state and federal agencies, the industry and partners. The information provided can be used to identify areas where: State agency involvement can improve upon and/or enhance the program and its effectiveness; tackle retail stores can focus marketing efforts; conservation organizations can build partnerships with public and private schools, assisting with and improving the fishing event portion of the program.(3) Each year, state agencies and their industry partners, as well as non-profit groups such as the Recreational Boating and Fishing Foundation (RBFF) and the American Sportfishing Association (ASA), must make difficult decisions regarding which R3 (recruitment, retention, and reactivation) fishing programs and projects to fund given their fixed budgets. The Recreational Boating and Fishing Foundation continues work on a study that will entail a comprehensive assessment of what both the research to-date and the angler R3 community indicate are the most effective and worthwhile programs. The overall goal is to provide state agencies and partners (especially organizations that offer grant opportunities) with strategic direction for which R3 programs and projects should receive the highest priority for funding. The study will explore existing programs to assess which ones have the greatest impact on increasing fishing participation, such as programs for adults, youth, or minorities. 2021 (1) The American Fisheries Society will begin a project titled Communicating the Effects of Climate change on Fish and Fisheries. The goal of this proposal is to substantially enhance the communication skills of state agency fisheries professionals by building on and expanding AFS programs to serve as a source of communication training, impactful content, and innovative approaches to effectively integrate climate change scientific information into accessible messaging.(2) The Sportmens Alliance Foundation will begin a project titled State and Congressional District-Level Economic Impacts for Hunting and Target Shooting. The main goals is to provide all 50 states with scientific, easy-to-understand information about hunting and target shooting's expenditures, jobs, tax revenue, conservation contributions (Pittman Robertson plus license revenues), income and other economic data needed to increase public awareness of, and support for, proper scientific management. The results will be complimentary and additive to the sportfishing economic insights now under production by the ASA to allow states to sum all numbers to enhance their communications efforts.(3) The Wildlife Management Institute in partnership with the Association of Conservation Information (ACI) will begin a project titled Effective R3 Marketing Strategies. Marketing is an effective way to accomplish Recruitment, Retention and Reactivation (R3) of hunters and recreational sport shooting. This project will deliver a practical and applicable online compendium of successes and lessons learned from agency implemented R3 marketing efforts that can be used by any agency to create an effective R3 marketing campaign. ACI and its partners are focused on helping states boost their marketing successes. 2022 The Program has not yet selected projects for funding. The Program anticipates funding regular Multistate Conservation Grant projects that address species or habitat research activities, hunting and fishing recruitment and retention information collection, aquatic or hunter education activities, conservation planning, outreach and coordination.

CRITERIA FOR SELECTING PROPOSALS:

Projects will be reviewed and evaluated for scope, significance, feasibility, and cost effectiveness. In addition, projects must address one or more focus areas as described in the National Conservation Needs established annually by the Association of Fish and Wildlife Agencies (AFWA).

15.629 Great Apes Conservation Fund

FEDERAL AGENCY:

U.S. FISH AND WILDLIFE SERVICE, INTERIOR, DEPARTMENT OF THE AUTHORIZATION:

Great Ape Conservation Act, 16 U.S.C. 6301 et seq.,

OBJECTIVES:

To provide financial assistance for projects for the effective long-term conservation of great apes and their habitats. This program supports projects that focus on one or more of the following areas: applied research on ape populations and their habitats, including surveys and monitoring; development and execution of ape conservation management plans; compliance with applicable treaties and laws that prohibit or regulate the taking or trade of ape or regulate the use and management of ape habitat; conservation education and community outreach; enhanced protection of at-risk ape populations; efforts to decrease human-ape conflicts; habitat conservation and management; protected area/reserve management in important ape range; strengthening local capacity to implement conservation programs; transfrontier ape conservation; and wildlife inspection, law enforcement, and forensics skills.

TYPES OF ASSISTANCE:

Project Grants (Discretionary)

USES AND USE RESTRICTIONS:

Project work should occur within the ape range, or, if work is to be conducted outside of the range, the proposal should show a clear relevance to ape conservation. Applied research projects should address specific management needs and actions. Funds provided under this program will not be used for: the purchase of firearms or ammunitions; buying of intelligence information or paying informants; gathering information by persons who conceal their true identity; law enforcement operations that prompt suspects to carry out illegal activities so they may be arrested (entrapment); or any activity that would circumvent sanctions, laws or regulations of either the U.S. or the country in which the activity would occur. Funds may not be used to provide material support or resources to individuals, entities, or organizations of countries that have been identified by the Department of State as state sponsors of terrorism. The countries currently identified are: Cuba, Iran, Sudan and Syria. This program is administered in compliance with the Federal Grants and Cooperative Agreements Act of 1977, as amended. These funds may not be used towards training Federal Government personnel.

Applicant Eligibility:

Federal; State (includes District of Columbia, public institutions of higher education and hospitals); Local (includes State-designated Indian Tribes, excludes institutions of higher education and hospitals); Public nonprofit institution/organization (includes institutions of higher education and hospitals); Other public institution/organization; Private nonprofit institution/organization (includes institutions of higher education and hospitals); Other private institutions/organizations; Applications may be submitted by any government agency responsible for conservation and protection of apes and any other organization or individual with demonstrated experience in ape conservation.

Beneficiary Eligibility:

Federal; Private nonprofit institution/organization; Other private institution/organization; State; Local; Public nonprofit institution/organization; Other public institution/organization; Any government agency responsible for conservation and protection of apes and any other organization or individual with demonstrated experience in ape conservation.

Preapplication Coordination:

Pre-application coordination is not applicable. Environmental impact information is not required for this program. This program is excluded from coverage under E.O. 12372.

Application Procedures:

2 CFR 200, Uniform Administrative Requirements, Cost Principles, and Audit Requirements for Federal Awards applies to this program. The program announcement and application instructions for this program can be found at Grants.gov website <http://www.grants.gov>. The Notice of Funding Availability and Application Instructions are also located on this program's website at <http://www.fws.gov/international/pdf/notice-of-funding-availability-great-ape.pdf>. If you are unable to access the Internet, hard copies are available upon request from the Branch of Near East, South Asia & Africa, Division of International Conservation, U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service, 5275 Leesburg Pike, Falls Church, VA 22041. A proposal will not be considered complete if required elements are not submitted as instructed. U.S. applicants must submit (among other elements) a complete, signed Standard Form 424 "Application for Federal Assistance." Notice of Funding Opportunities (NOFO) for this listing will be posted on Grants.gov.

Award Procedure:

Projects are reviewed and competitively selected for funding using criteria developed on the requirements of the Great Ape Conservation Act (16 USC 6301 et seq.). Review criteria can be found in the application information at <http://www.fws.gov/international/grants-and-reporting/how-to-apply.html>. Once a proposal has been selected for funding, an FWS approving official executes an Assistance Award between the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service and the Recipient. Fully executed Awards are sent to the Recipient either electronically or through the mail. The Division of International Conservation then administers all other aspects of the Assistance Award.

EXAMPLES OF FUNDED PROJECTS:

2020 Maryland:Landscape Conservation: Wetland/Upland Restoration in Choptank River WatershedChesapeake Bay Field Offices Partners for Fish and Wildlife biologists, in coordination with a Caroline County, Maryland landowner and the Natural Resources Conservation Service (NRCS), are restoring an 89-acre mosaic of wetlands and uplands on mostly hydric soil cropland. Enrolled in the NRCS Wetland Reserve Easement program (WRE), the project is located in the headwaters of the Choptank River watershed, a major tributary of the Chesapeake Bay with significant runs of river herring (Alosa spp.) and striped bass (Morone saxatilis) among many other species of fish. The restoration includes construction to create emergent wetlands, planting trees, and planting meadow areas. The restored forests and grasslands will provide a buffer for emergent wetlands, slow surface runoff, and improve infiltration for stream base flow. The permanent protection of the forest will provide habitat for forest interior nesting birds. Grasslands will provide habitat for grassland nesting birds, as well as pollinators. The wetland component will provide habitat for many types of birds, including ducks, geese, wading birds, shorebirds, and neotropical migratory songbirds. This project is part of an ongoing initiative to restore vital habitats on the Delmarva Peninsula where over 50 percent of historic wetlands and forests have been drained or cleared.Montana:Hat Creek Ranch Sage steppe and Wildlife Corridor ProjectMontana Partners for Fish and Wildlife Program completed multiple projects on the Hat Creek Ranch (HCR) in the Big Hole watershed of southwest Montana to enhance sage steppe habitat and wildlife migratory corridors. HCR is home to a diverse array of wildlife species including greater sage grouse, sage steppe obligate song birds, pronghorn, elk, moose, mule deer, numerous carnivores, raptors and Arctic grayling. The project included improved wildlife passage through 10 miles of fence modification, enhanced range and riparian conditions on 4,981 acres, restoration of 5 acres of mesic habitat, and removal of invasive conifers on 100 acres. Cumulatively these projects will enhance healthy habitat and corridors for wildlife and maintain a sustainable and economically viable ranch. The HCR Sage Steppe and Wildlife Corridor Project exemplifies the importance of landowner stewardship and partnerships necessary to enhance and protect wildlife habitat, maintain open spaces and support a working landscape. Partners for this project include Hat Creek Ranch, National Fish and Wildlife Foundation, Montana Fish, Wildlife & Parks, Southwest Montana Sagebrush Partnership, The Nature Conservancy and the Montana Conservation Corps.Oklahoma:Livestock Grazing Control and Improved Water QualityThe cooperators installed a permanent barbed wire fence along 4.25 miles of the Cimarron River to prevent livestock access to the riparian area. This practice helped control livestock grazing, reduce soil bank erosion, and improve water quality. Once restored, the area will provide improved habitat for many endemic and migratory riparian dependent species as well as aquatic species such as the Arkansas River shiner. The project area will also be burned as needed to enhance native plant growth, increase pollinator plants, and protect the area from encroachment of non-native vegetation and woody tree species. The project has also prevented livestock escapes into the River and slowed soil erosion along the river. 2021 Program has not yet selected projects for funding. Program anticipates funding projects that voluntarily restore habitat for wildlife and recreational benefits to the American people. 2022 Program has not yet selected projects for funding. Program anticipates funding projects that voluntarily restore habitat for wildlife and recreational benefits to the American people.

CRITERIA FOR SELECTING PROPOSALS:

All projects must benefit Federal trust species, involve partnerships, be-cost effective, and where applicable involve on-the-ground habitat restoration. Specific criteria for reviewing and ranking projects were established in the national Partners policy, at <https://www.fws.gov/policy/640fw1.html>. The program gives high priority to proposed projects that benefit the National Wildlife Refuge System, species at risk, conserve globally or nationally imperiled habitats; and reduce habitat fragmentation. Please review the annual Notice of Availability of Federal Assistance for additional selection criteria referenced in <http://www.grants.gov>.

15.633 Landowner Incentive

(LIP).

FEDERAL AGENCY:

U.S. FISH AND WILDLIFE SERVICE, INTERIOR, DEPARTMENT OF THE AUTHORIZATION:

Revised Continuing Appropriations Resolution, 2007 Landowner Incentive Program (Pub. L. 110-5), Department of the Interior and Related Agencies Appropriations Act of 2006 (Pub. L. 109-148), Land and Water Conservation Fund Act of 1965 (16 U.S.C. 4601-4 through 11, Pub. L. 109-148, 16 US Code 4601-4 through 11),

OBJECTIVES:

This program establishes or supplements existing landowner incentive programs that provide technical or financial assistance. This includes habitat protection and restoration; to assist private landowners in protecting and managing habitats to benefit federally listed, proposed, or candidate species, or other at-risk species; and to encourage States, the District of Columbia, Commonwealths, or territories to enhance private landowner conservation.

TYPES OF ASSISTANCE:

Project Grants (Discretionary)

USES AND USE RESTRICTIONS:

Tier 1 projects provide the States, the District of Columbia, Commonwealths, or territories to support development of a new program, or to enhance an existing landowner incentive program, through administration, development of plans, outreach, and other associated activities that assist in the accomplishment of projects on private lands. Tier 2 projects should place a priority on the implementation of State, the District of Columbia, Commonwealth, or territorial programs that provide technical and financial assistance to private landowners for the protection and restoration of habitats that benefit federally listed, proposed, or candidate species, or other species-at-risk.

Applicant Eligibility:

State (includes District of Columbia, public institutions of higher education and hospitals); U.S. Territories and possessions; Agencies from the 50 States, the District of Columbia, the Commonwealths of Puerto Rico and the Northern Mariana Islands, and the territories of Guam, the U.S. Virgin Islands, and American Samoa with primary responsibility for fish and wildlife conservation may submit grant proposals to the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service.

Beneficiary Eligibility:

Anyone/general public; Private landowners and the public (While direct participation is limited to State, the District of Columbia, Commonwealth, or territorial fish and wildlife agencies, private landowners will directly benefit from financial and technical assistance and the public will ultimately benefit from these wildlife conservation measures implemented on private lands).

Credentials/Documentation:

Only that agency that has lead management responsibility for fish and wildlife resources within the State, the District of Columbia, Commonwealth, or territory may apply for these grants. 2 CFR 200, Sub-part E - Cost Principles applies to this program.

Preapplication Coordination:

Pre-application coordination is required. Environmental impact information is not required for this program. This program is eligible for coverage under E.O. 12372, "Intergovernmental Review of Federal Programs." An applicant should consult the office or official designated as the single point of contact in his or her State for more information on the process the State requires to be followed in applying for assistance, if the State has selected the program for review.

Application Procedures:

2 CFR 200, Uniform Administrative Requirements, Cost Principles, and Audit Requirements for Federal Awards applies to this program.

Award Procedure:

The Regional Director of the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service or his designee approves or disapproves proposed grants. Regional Offices are responsible for notification of grant approval to the grantee.

15.634 State Wildlife Grants

SWG,

FEDERAL AGENCY:

U.S. FISH AND WILDLIFE SERVICE, INTERIOR, DEPARTMENT OF THE
AUTHORIZATION:

Consolidated Appropriations Act, 2021 State and Tribal Wildlife Grants (Pub. L.

116-260 [H.R. 133301]) and prior appropriations acts, Fish and Wildlife Act (16 U.S.C. 742 et seq.), and Fish and Wildlife Coordination Act (16 U.S.C. 661-666),

OBJECTIVES:

The State Wildlife Grant (SWG) Program provides funding to States through both the Formula and Competitive subprograms. While the intent of both subprograms is the same insofar as they support conservation of State-identified Species of Greatest Conservation Need, there are minor differences between them in delivery of funds to State recipients. The Formula SWG subprogram delivers apportioned funding to each State on an annual basis that is calculated based on the geographic size and population of each State, as described in the annual appropriations language authorizing this funding. Projects funded with Formula SWG Program awards often involve partners but typically do not involve other State fish and wildlife agencies working across State lines. The Competitive SWG subprogram delivers funds to States through a voluntary, nationally-competitive process in which interested States submit applications for grant funds that are reviewed and ranked by a national panel and awarded based on the merit of the proposed work and consistency with criteria published in the annual notice of funding opportunity. The Competitive SWG subprogram offers incentives for States to work with other States and partners to address conservation of identified species at range-wide or landscape scales.

TYPES OF ASSISTANCE:

Formula Grants, Project Grants (Discretionary)

USES AND USE RESTRICTIONS:

Approved activities include those which develop and implement programs or projects for the benefit of wildlife and their habitat, including species that are not hunted or fished. In order to receive program funds, a State fish and wildlife agency must have an approved State Wildlife Action Plan. Approved activities may focus on Action Plan update and revision and/or implementation. Funds can be used for land acquisition and/or construction projects.

Applicant Eligibility:

State (includes District of Columbia, public institutions of higher education and hospitals); Agencies from the 50 States, the District of Columbia, the Commonwealths of Puerto Rico and the Northern Mariana Islands, and the Territories of Guam, the U.S. Virgin Islands, and American Samoa with primary responsibility for fish and wildlife conservation may submit grant proposals for formula or competitive project grants to the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service if they maintain a current, Service-approved State Wildlife Action Plan. The four regional Associations of Fish and Wildlife Agencies (NEAFWA, SEAFWA, MAFWA, and WAFWA) are eligible for competitive project grants at the discretion of recipient State fish and wildlife agencies.

Beneficiary Eligibility:

Anyone/general public; State; General Public (While direct participation is limited to fish and wildlife agencies, the public will ultimately benefit from these wildlife conservation measures.)

Credentials/Documentation:

The State, District of Columbia, Commonwealth, or Territory must have a Service-approved State Wildlife Action Plan on file to receive grant funds. The Action Plan must consider the broad range of the State, the District of Columbia, Commonwealth, or Territory agencies' wildlife and associated habitats, with appropriate priority placed on those species of greatest conservation need. 2 CFR 200, Sub-part E - Cost Principles applies to this program.

Preapplication Coordination:

Pre-application coordination is required. Environmental impact information is not required for this program. This program is eligible for coverage under E.O. 12372, "Intergovernmental Review of Federal Programs." 2020 In Fiscal Year 2020, the Program (including the Formula and Competitive subprograms) funded projects benefiting State-identified animal Species of Greatest Conservation Need, targeting declining and at-risk species in danger of extinction or of potential future listing under the Endangered Species Act. In Fiscal Year 2020, projects included species monitoring, habitat analysis and improvement, acquisition of habitats, species captive rearing and release, research, and development of new conservation technologies and approaches. For example, significant funding was dedicated to addressing conservation needs of U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service candidate species such as gopher tortoise, monarch butterfly, and a variety of candidate mussel species whose continued decline will require listing as threatened or endangered without immediate conservation intervention. 2021 The Program has not yet selected projects for funding. The Program anticipates funding projects that support State, Commonwealth and Territory fish and wildlife agencies to develop programs to benefit wildlife and

FEDERAL AGENCY:

U.S. FISH AND WILDLIFE SERVICE, INTERIOR, DEPARTMENT OF THE AUTHORIZATION:

Neotropical Migratory Bird Conservation Act, 16 U.S.C. 6101 et seq.,

OBJECTIVES:

To assist in the conservation of neotropical migratory birds by providing financial resources for the projects of partnerships in countries within the ranges of neotropical migratory birds.

TYPES OF ASSISTANCE:

Project Grants (Discretionary)

USES AND USE RESTRICTIONS:

Funds may be used for approved neotropical migratory bird conservation projects. Projects must: enhance the conservation of neotropical migratory bird species in the U.S., Canada, Latin America, or the Caribbean; ensure adequate local public participation in project development and implementation; be implemented in consultation with relevant wildlife management authorities and other appropriate government officials with jurisdiction over the resources addressed by the project; be sensitive to local historic and cultural resources and comply with applicable laws; promote sustainable effective, long-term programs to conserve neotropical migratory birds; and other requirements the Secretary considers to be necessary. The Act requires that not less than 75 percent of the amounts made available each fiscal year shall be expended for projects outside of the U.S. Projects are approved for up to a 2-year period of time. For further information, please contact the headquarters office.

Applicant Eligibility:

Federal; State (includes District of Columbia, public institutions of higher education and hospitals); Public nonprofit institution/organization (includes institutions of higher education and hospitals); Individual/Family; Specialized group (e.g. health professionals, students, veterans); Small business (less than 500 employees); Other public institution/organization; Other private institutions/organizations; Private nonprofit institution/organization (includes institutions of higher education and hospitals); U.S. Territories and possessions; An individual, corporation, partnership, trust, association, or other private entity; an officer, employee, agent, department, or instrumentality of the Federal Government, of any State, municipality, or political subdivision of a State, or of any foreign government; a State municipality, or political subdivision of a State; or any other entity subject to the jurisdiction of the United States or of any foreign country; or international organization with an interest in neotropical migratory bird conservation.

Award Procedure:

Proposals are reviewed and competitively selected for funding using criteria developed on the requirements of the Neotropical Migratory Bird Conservation Act. Review criteria can be found in the application information on the program website. Proposals are reviewed by a panel of experts from the Fish and Wildlife Service and other government agencies, who make funding recommendations to the Director. After projects are selected for funding, a grant agreement between the Fish and Wildlife Service and the grantee is drafted by the Division of Bird Habitat Conservation (DBHC). The agreement is then processed by DBHC and sent to the recipient. The agreement is considered to be executed on the date of signature by the Chief of DBHC.

Deadlines:

Selection criteria are available on the program website.

15.636 Alaska Subsistence Management

FEDERAL AGENCY:

U.S. FISH AND WILDLIFE SERVICE, INTERIOR, DEPARTMENT OF THE AUTHORIZATION:

Alaska National Interest Lands Conservation Act, 16 U.S.C. 3119 and 3122; and Fish and Wildlife Coordination Act, 16 U.S.C. 661 to 666.

OBJECTIVES:

To identify and provide information needed to sustain subsistence fisheries and wildlife management on Federal public lands, for rural Alaskans, through a multidisciplinary, collaborative program. Two programs are administered under ANILCA to fulfill this objective. The Fisheries Resource Monitoring Program (Monitoring Program) funds approximately 40 studies annually to provide information on stock status and trends, harvests, and traditional ecological knowledge to manage and regulate Federal subsistence fisheries. The Partners for Fisheries Monitoring Program (Partners Program) strengthens Alaska Native and rural involvement in subsistence fisheries management and research. The program provides funds directly to Alaska Native and rural organizations to hire fishery biologists, social scientists, and educators with the intent of increasing the organizations ability to participate in Federal Subsistence Management.

TYPES OF ASSISTANCE:

Cooperative Agreements (Discretionary Grants)

USES AND USE RESTRICTIONS:

Funds may be used for approved fisheries subsistence management, fisheries monitoring, and traditional ecological knowledge projects.

Applicant Eligibility:

Federal; State (includes District of Columbia, public institutions of higher education and hospitals); Public nonprofit institution/organization (includes institutions of higher education and hospitals); Other public institution/organization; Federally Recognized Indian Tribal Governments; Individual/Family; Profit organization; Private nonprofit institution/organization (includes institutions of higher education and hospitals); Other private institutions/organizations; Native American Organizations (includes Indian groups, cooperatives, corporations, partnerships, associations); An individual/family, profit organization, other private institution/organization, public nonprofit institution/organization, an officer, employee, agent, department or instrumentality of the Federal government, of the State of Alaska, municipality or political subdivision of the State of Alaska; Federally recognized Indian Tribal Government (including any Native village as defined in the Alaska Native Claims Settlement Act).

Beneficiary Eligibility:

Federal; Individual/Family; Profit organization; Private nonprofit institution/organization; Other private institution/organization; Native American Organizations; State; Public nonprofit institution/organization; Other public institution/organization; Federally Recognized Indian Tribal Governments; An individual/Family, profit organization, other private institution/organization, public nonprofit institution/organization, an officer, employee, agent, department, or instrumentality of the Federal government, of the State of Alaska, municipality or political subdivision of the State of Alaska, or of any foreign government.

Credentials/Documentation:

Federal law mandates that all organizations applying for Federal financial assistance must have a valid Dun & Bradstreet Data Universal Number System (DUNS) number and have a current registration in the System for Award Management (SAM). 2 CFR 200, Sub-part E - Cost Principles applies to this program.

ASSISTANCE LISTINGS DESCRIPTIONS

Preapplication Coordination:

Pre-application coordination is not applicable. Environmental impact information is not required for this program. This program is excluded from coverage under E.O. 12372.

Application Procedures:

2 CFR 200, Uniform Administrative Requirements, Cost Principles, and Audit Requirements for Federal Awards applies to this program. Applicants must submit the Standard Form (SF)-424, the appropriate Budget and Assurances forms (SF-424A and SF-424B - Non-construction), Project Narrative/Investigation Plan, Budget Justification, Negotiated Indirect Cost Rate Agreement, Conflict of Interest Disclosures, Certification Regarding Lobbying, and SF-LLL Disclosure of Lobbying Activities. Notice of Funding Opportunities (NOFO) for this listing will be posted on Grants.gov.

Award Procedure:

For the Monitoring Program, an inter-agency technical review committee evaluates proposal. The committee develops a draft monitoring program from the highest priority projects, based on their technical review and available funding. The draft monitoring plan is reviewed by ten regional advisory councils and the public. An inter-agency staff committee reviews all comments, and provides recommendations. The Federal Subsistence Board selects projects for the Monitoring Plan taking into account all comments and recommendations. Funding of the Monitoring Plan is administered by the Office of Subsistence Management (OSM). For the Partners Program, an external review committee is formed to evaluate proposals and make recommendations for funding. The evaluations are based on the criteria outlined in the request for federal assistance. The proposals are ranked and, based on available funding, the highest ranking proposals are funded by OSM approximately 3 months after the NOFO closing date. Funding of the Partners Program is administered by OSM. Once a Monitoring Program project or Partners Program position is selected for funding, a funding instrument, i.e., notice of award, between Fish and Wildlife Service and the recipient is drafted by OSM and processed through the contracting office. The award is considered executed when signed copies of the agreement are sent to the recipient and the contracting office obligates the funds.

Deadlines:

FY 2022 proposals for the Fisheries Resource Monitoring Program are due March 15, 2021; and FY 2024 proposals for the Partners for Fisheries Monitoring Program are due January 31, 2023.

15.637 Migratory Bird Joint Ventures

FEDERAL AGENCY:

U.S. FISH AND WILDLIFE SERVICE, INTERIOR, DEPARTMENT OF THE AUTHORIZATION:

Fish and Wildlife Act, 16 U.S.C. 742 et seq.; Fish and Wildlife Coordination Act, 16 U.S.C. 661-666; Fish and Wildlife Conservation Act, 16 U.S.C 2901 et seq.; Migratory Bird Treaty Act 16 U.S.C. 703 et seq.; and Endangered Species Act, 16 U.S.C. 1531 et seq.,

OBJECTIVES:

To protect, restore, and enhance wetland and upland ecosystems for the conservation of migratory birds.

TYPES OF ASSISTANCE:

Project Grants, Project Grants (Discretionary)

USES AND USE RESTRICTIONS:

Joint Ventures are public/private partnerships, guided by a Management Board of public/private representatives and use a U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service (USFWS) approved Implementation Plan that establishes conservation goals, priorities, and strategies. The Implementation Plan typically includes stepped down goals and objectives from a variety of national and international bird planning efforts. A Joint Venture Coordinator facilitates the coordination and implementation of the Joint Venture program. The USFWS provides basic administrative funding to the Joint Venture to cover costs associated with coordination; planning; monitoring, evaluation and applied research; communications and outreach; and project development and implementation. Joint Ventures may provide Federal assistance to partners within these categories to achieve the goals of the Joint Venture. The USFWS does not fund the entire scope of Joint Venture operations. Joint Venture partners are expected to contribute funding towards one or more of these categories. Non-federal match is not required, but leveraging USFWS dollars provided for Joint Ventures administration is a critical component of the Joint Ventures program.

Applicant Eligibility:

Federal; State (includes District of Columbia, public institutions of higher education and hospitals); Local (includes State-designated Indian Tribes, excludes institutions of higher education and hospitals); Public nonprofit institution/organization (includes institutions of higher education and hospitals); Federally Recognized Indian Tribal Governments; Private nonprofit institution/organization (includes institutions of higher education and hospitals); Profit organization; Interstate; Intrastate; Individual/Family; Federal, State and local government agencies, Federally recognized Indian Tribal governments, private nonprofit institutions/organizations; public nonprofit institutions/organizations; profit organizations, interstate and intrastate entities, and individuals or families who are also private landowners.

Beneficiary Eligibility:

Credentials/Documentation:

Applicant must participate or intend to participate in strategic conservation planning, implementation and evaluation activities designed to meet the Joint Venture objectives as identified in an approved Implementation Plan and all related plans. 2 CFR 200, Sub-part E - Cost Principles applies to this program.

Preapplication Coordination:

Pre-application coordination is required. Environmental impact information is not required for this program. This program is eligible for coverage under E.O. 12372, "Intergovernmental Review of Federal Programs." An applicant should consult the office or official designated as the single point of contact in his or her State for more information on the process the State requires to be followed in applying for assistance, if the State has selected the program for review.

Application Procedures:

2 CFR 200, Uniform Administrative Requirements, Cost Principles, and Audit Requirements for Federal Awards applies to this program. Notice of Funding Opportunities (NOFO) for this listing will be posted on Grants.gov.

Award Procedure:

Once the project is designed and either fits within an approved Implementation Plan or is reviewed and approved by a Joint Ventures Management Board, a cooperative agreement or grant agreement is written, executed, and work can begin.

RELATED PROGRAMS:

15.630 Coastal Program; 15.623 North American Wetlands Conservation Fund; 15.631 Partners for Fish and Wildlife;

EXAMPLES OF FUNDED PROJECTS:

2020 Program funded projects that develop or implement programs that benefit wildlife and their habitat, including species of Native American cultural or traditional importance and species that are not hunted or fished. Activities include: Planning for conservation of fish and wildlife, and their habitats; Conservation management actions for fish and wildlife, and their habitats; Field and laboratory research related to fish and wildlife resources; Natural history studies; Habitat mapping or evaluation; Field surveys and population monitoring; Conservation easements; Restoration of habitat; Management of invasive species; and Public education relevant to the proposed project. 2021 Program has not yet selected projects for funding. 2022 Program has not yet selected projects for funding.

CRITERIA FOR SELECTING PROPOSALS:

The following criteria is used to select proposals: (1) Resource Benefit: What are the expected benefits to fish and wildlife resources, including species that are not hunted or fished, and their habitat if this program is successfully completed? The Service requires that the Tribe articulate how the benefits of its proposal support the goals and objectives of the TWG and Service and Tribal Performance Goals in their proposal narratives. (2) Performance Measures: To what extent does the proposal provide obtainable and quantifiable performance measures and a means to monitor, evaluate, and report on these measures compared to an initial baseline? The measures should be specific and clear, and should provide demonstrable benefits to the target species of the action. These actions must support the goals and objectives of the TWG, the Service and the Tribe. (3) Work plan: Are the program activities and objectives well-designed and achievable? (4) Budget: Are all major budget items justified in relation to the program objectives and clearly explained in the narrative description? (5) Capacity Building: To what extent does the program increase the grantee's capacity to provide for the benefit of wildlife and their habitat? (6) Contributions and Partnerships: To what extent does the applicant display commitment to the project proposal through in-kind contribution or matching funds and to what extent does it incorporate contributions from other nonfederal partners in the form of either cash or in-kind services?.

15.641 Wildlife Without Borders-Mexico

FEDERAL AGENCY:

U.S. FISH AND WILDLIFE SERVICE, INTERIOR, DEPARTMENT OF THE AUTHORIZATION:

Endangered Species Act International Cooperation, 16 U.S.C. 1537.

OBJECTIVES:

To build human and institutional capacity for biodiversity conservation and management in Mexico through training. Of interest are projects that provide direct and significant training to Mexican personnel in terms of number of individuals trained, strategic or innovative nature of the training, and impact of the training on the conservation of biodiversity.

TYPES OF ASSISTANCE:

Project Grants (Discretionary)

USES AND USE RESTRICTIONS:

To be considered, projects must fall into one or more of the following three strategic categories: (1) Managing for Excellence: Training in natural resource conservation and management for Mexican Government personnel, including policy-makers, federal, state, and municipal-level resource managers, and reserve guards. This includes short-term (2-3 weeks) on-the-job courses certified by an educational institution (Diplomados), workshops, exchanges of personnel, etc. (2) Stewards of the Land: Training in natural resource conservation/management for resource owners and/or direct users, including local communities, rural peasant farmer organizations, and indigenous peoples. This includes training provided through on-the-ground practices, workshops, exchanges of personnel, and other delivery mechanisms appropriate to the training needs of these target groups. (3) Voices for Nature: Training in environmental education and/or public outreach for targeted society stakeholder groups, including teachers, school children, journalists, tourists, legislators, nongovernmental organizations, and private sector organizations or businesses. This includes workshops, educational programs, production of educational and training material, etc. Applicants should be proposing work to be conducted in Mexico. If work is to be conducted in the United States, the proposal must show a clear connection to capacity building for biodiversity conservation in Mexico to be eligible for funding. Funds provided under this program will not be used for the following activities: the purchase of firearms or ammunition; buying of intelligence information or paying informants; gathering information by persons who conceal their true identity; law enforcement operations that prompt suspects to carry out illegal activities so they may be arrested (entrapment); or any activity that would circumvent sanctions, treaties, laws or regulations of either the U.S. or Mexico. Funds may not be used to provide material support or resources to individuals, entities, or organizations of countries that have been identified by the U.S. Department of State as state sponsors of terrorism. The countries currently identified are: Cuba, Iran, Sudan and Syria. This program is administered in compliance with the Federal Grants and Cooperative Agreements Act of 1977, as amended. These funds may not be used towards training U.S. Federal Government personnel. For further information, please contact the regional office.

A proposal will not be considered complete if required elements are not submitted as instructed. U.S. applicants must submit (among other elements) a complete, signed Standard Form 424 "Application for Federal Assistance." Notice of Funding Opportunities (NOFO) for this listing will be posted on Grants.gov.

Award Procedure:

Projects are reviewed and competitively selected for funding using criteria developed on the requirements of the Marine Turtle Conservation Act of 2004 (P.L. 108-266). Review criteria can be found in the application information at <http://www.fws.gov/international/grants-and-reporting/how-to-apply.html>. Once a proposal has been selected for funding, an FWS approving official executes an Assistance Award between the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service and the Recipient. Fully executed Awards are sent to the Recipient either electronically or through the mail. The Division of International Conservation then administers all other aspects of the Assistance Award.

15.647 Migratory Bird Conservation

FEDERAL AGENCY:

U.S. FISH AND WILDLIFE SERVICE, INTERIOR, DEPARTMENT OF THE AUTHORIZATION:

Migratory Bird Treaty Act, 16 U.S.C. 703 et seq.; Fish and Wildlife Act, 16 U.S.C. 742 et seq.; Fish and Wildlife Coordination Act, 16 U.S.C. 661-666; and Fish and Wildlife Conservation Act, 16 U.S.C. 2901 et seq.,

OBJECTIVES:

To maintain and enhance populations and habitats of migratory bird species found in the Upper Midwest (IL, IN, IA, MI, MN, MO, OH, WI).

TYPES OF ASSISTANCE:

Project Grants (Discretionary)

USES AND USE RESTRICTIONS:

Grants may be used for the conservation of any bird species protected by the Migratory Bird Treaty Act and occurring in IL, IN, IA, MI, MN, MO, OH, and WI). Special emphasis will be placed on Midwest Birds of Concern (see <https://www.fws.gov/midwest/midwestbird/concern.html>) as these species are experiencing known or suspected population declines, are recreationally important, or are party to biological or social conflicts. Implementing national, regional, and flyway bird conservation plans is the USFWS's highest priority including the Partners in Flight North American Landbird Conservation Plan (<http://www.partnersinflight.org>), U.S. Shorebird Conservation Plan (<https://www.shorebirdplan.org/>), North American Waterbird Conservation Plan (<https://www.fws.gov/birds/management/bird-management-plans/waterbird-conservation-for-the-americas.php>), North American Waterfowl Management Plan (<https://www.fws.gov/birds/management/bird-management-plans/north-american-waterfowl-management-plan.php>), Mississippi Flyway bird management plans (<http://mississippi.flyways.us/>), and the habitat conservation strategies and research priorities of the Upper Mississippi River and Great Lakes Region Joint Venture (<http://www.uppermissgreatlakesjv.org/Plans.htm>). Proposals related to the priorities identified in these plans and Bird Conservation Region and state-level bird conservation planning efforts will receive high funding consideration. The following activities are also of high interest to the USFWS: (a) Population surveys, monitoring, and assessments to determine the status, trends, distribution, demography, and responses to management of bird species and groups of concern. Emphasis will be placed on landscape-level applications of standardized inventory and monitoring protocols as identified through the Midwest Coordinated Bird Monitoring Partnership (<http://midwestbirdmonitoring.ning.com>). Local-scale bird monitoring (e.g., local land management units) will generally not be a focus of this grant program, nor will support for long-term operational bird monitoring efforts. Rather, the program seeks to address coordination of monitoring efforts and development and evaluation of new survey and monitoring techniques (both field and analytical); (b) Conservation of focal species for which conservation plans and/or working groups have been developed and research, monitoring, and other priorities have been identified. Examples of focal species with such plans include: Henslows Sparrow, Grasshopper Sparrow, Bobolink, and other Midwestern grassland birds; Golden-winged Warbler, Cerulean Warbler, and Canada Warbler; Wood Thrush; American Woodcock, Wilsons Phalarope, Upland Sandpiper, and Marbled Godwit; and Common Tern, Black Tern, King Rail, and Lesser Scaup. (For further information on focal species, see <http://www.fws.gov/midwest/midwestbird/concern.html>); and (c) Strategic Conservation, wherein the USFWS and partners integrate biological planning, landscape design, conservation delivery, and monitoring and evaluation in a manner that generates the adaptive feedback that enables sound decisions and continue to improve our efficiency and effectiveness in saving birds (<http://www.fws.gov/midwest/science/SHC/FAQ.htm>). Strategic conservation involves applied research, including studies of bird habitat requirements, threats, limiting factors, full life cycle migratory connectivity, and population responses to habitat conservation activities; testing of biological and conservation delivery assumptions; social science research that informs and facilitates conservation delivery; and use of Geographic Information Systems, modeling, and similar tools to identify bird habitat focus areas and further bird conservation planning efforts.

EXAMPLES OF FUNDED PROJECTS:

2020 Minnesota Trumpeter Swan Breeding Survey, Sustaining Non-breeding Season Monitoring of Midwest Neotropical Migrants, Monitoring Strategies for Neotropical Migratory Birds on the Osa Peninsula. 2021 Program has not yet selected projects for funding. Program anticipates funding projects that further understanding of nonbreeding ecology of migratory birds in the Midwest, build capacity in Midwest cities and communities for bird conservation, assess trends and status for Great Lakes Colonial Waterbirds, and/or build capacity for sustained monitoring of the status and survival of Neotropical migrants during the non-breeding season. 2022 Program has not yet selected projects for funding. Program anticipates funding projects that further understanding of nonbreeding ecology of migratory birds in the Midwest, build capacity in Midwest cities and communities for bird conservation, assess trends and status for Great Lakes Colonial Waterbirds, and/or build capacity for sustained monitoring of the status and survival of Neotropical migrants during the non-breeding season.

CRITERIA FOR SELECTING PROPOSALS:

Proposals will be reviewed to determine how well they address the migratory bird program priorities outlined above and in a Notice of Funding Opportunity published annually on the Grants.gov website for CFDA 15.647. All applications received will be reviewed by a team of 4-5 USFWS wildlife biologists (GS-12 grade level or higher). (Any conflict of interest identified will require that a reviewer remove themselves from the evaluation process.) Each of the reviewers will independently score each proposal on a scale of 1-10 for each of the following criteria [criteria weights in brackets]: (1) relevance to the priorities and award requirements described or referenced in the NOFO [0.2]; (2) alignment with the DOI Priorities for Financial Assistance [0.1]; (3) novel contributions to, or significant advancement of, the knowledge, methodology, or partner engagement furthering bird conservation in the Midwest [0.2]; (4) clarity and justification of objectives relevant to overall project goals, and appropriateness of methodology designed to meet those objectives [0.2]; (5) demonstrated history of successful completion of similar projects by applicants, including nature of collaboration with relevant partners [0.1]; (6) budget within range of available program funds, and budget and timeline appropriate to attain successful completion of project [0.1]; and (7) partner match demonstrating applicant's commitment to project success [0.1]. Scores will be summed across all criteria for all reviewers; project proposals will then be ranked and grants awarded in priority order, subject to available funding, unless all reviewers agree that a particular proposal scored so low that the risk of failure or likelihood of inappropriate product is too great to justify an award.

15.651 Central Africa Regional

FEDERAL AGENCY:

U.S. FISH AND WILDLIFE SERVICE, INTERIOR, DEPARTMENT OF THE AUTHORIZATION:

Endangered Species Act International Cooperation, 16 U.S.C. 1537, . 16 USC Code 1531-43.

OBJECTIVES:

The Central Africa Regional Program supports projects in Central Africa that strengthen capacity, target key threats to wildlife and their habitats, and build a better evidence base for conservation. The U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service (USFWS) prioritizes strengthening capacity for wildlife protection, including the professionalization of park staff, protected species management, and wildlife law enforcement. USFWS provides tools and technologies for measuring, evaluating, and improving the effectiveness of site-based protection and wildlife conservation. The success of USFWS efforts depends on building the capacity of Central African governments and field partners to professionally manage and protect their national resources. USFWS works closely with governments, other U.S. agencies, international donors, non-governmental organizations (NGOs), wildlife colleges, communities, and a range of other partners to ensure a strategic, results-based approach to wildlife stewardship in Central Africa. Through a competitive process, USFWS provides support where it is needed most and can be applied effectively. Long-term goals of support include: (1) promoting landscape connectivity in Central Africa's most important wildlife strongholds, (2) protecting parks by supporting the front lines of protected area management and capacity development, (3) addressing regional threats to wildlife, and (4) conserving critical wildlife populations.

TYPES OF ASSISTANCE:

Cooperative Agreements (Discretionary Grants), Project Grants (Discretionary)

USES AND USE RESTRICTIONS:

The Congo Basin is a globally important region for forest and biodiversity conservation. The U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service (USFWS) works closely with national governments, U.S. agencies, and a range of other partners to ensure a strategic, results-based approach to wildlife conservation in the basin. In collaboration with U.S. Agency of International Developments (USAID) Central Africa Regional Program for the Environment (CARPE), the USFWS is providing this funding opportunity to improve protected area management, reduce threats to key wildlife populations, and develop the requisite individual and institutional conservation capacity to undertake long-term conservation programs. It is anticipated that grant funding through the USFWS Multinational Species Conservation Funds will continue to provide support on a competitive basis to Congo Basin countries and corresponding landscapes not covered in the priorities outlined below, in future funding cycles.

15.655 Migratory Bird Monitoring, Assessment and Conservation

(Migratory Bird),

FEDERAL AGENCY:

U.S. FISH AND WILDLIFE SERVICE, INTERIOR, DEPARTMENT OF THE AUTHORIZATION:

Title Fish and Wildlife Coordination Act/Cooperation of agencies (16 U.S.C. 661), OBJECTIVES:

Working with others to conserve, enhance, and better understand the ecology and habitats of migratory bird species.

TYPES OF ASSISTANCE:

Project Grants (Discretionary)

USES AND USE RESTRICTIONS:

Grants and payments may be used for the conservation of any bird species protected by the Migratory Bird Treaty Act. Special emphasis will be placed on bird species listed in USFWS conservation and management priorities documents (e.g. USFWS Birds of Conservation Concern 2008, Focal Species list). Implementing national, regional, flyway Bird Conservation Region, and state-level bird conservation plans (e.g., Partners in Flight North American Landbird Conservation (<http://www.partnersinflight.org>), U.S. Shorebird Conservation Plan (<https://www.fws.gov/birds/management/bird-management-plans/the-us-shorebird-conservation-plan.php>) North American Waterbird Conservation Plan (<https://www.fws.gov/birds/management/bird-management-plans/waterbird-conservation-for-the-americas.php>) are among the Service's highest priorities. Projects related to the priorities identified in these plans will receive the greatest funding consideration. Projects should address one or more of the following activities: a) Population surveys and monitoring to determine the health, status, trends, and distribution of bird species and groups of concern. Emphasis will be placed on landscape-level applications of standardized inventory and monitoring protocols (e.g., Breeding Bird Atlases, national marshbird call playback surveys). Local-scale monitoring (e.g., local land management units) activities will generally not be a focus of this program; b) Applied research, including but not limited to, studies of habitat requirements, limiting factors, and population responses to habitat conservation activities; development of new monitoring techniques and programs for poorly-surveyed species; use of Geographic Information Systems, bird habitat modeling, and similar tools to identify bird habitat focus areas and further bird conservation planning efforts; and investigation of avian mortality events and monitoring of health and disease problems; c) Compilation of technical information, such as status reviews of bird species of concern, development of habitat management and restoration guidelines, disseminating updates and providing training about current and emerging diseases which impact migratory bird populations, and other outreach and education programs including programs structured towards youth and connecting people with nature. Habitat management projects are generally not covered under this program. Additionally, construction or real property acquisition projects may not be funded under this program. For further information, please contact the regional office. Approximately 15% of program funding may be discretionary depending on annual appropriations and program priorities.

EXAMPLES OF FUNDED PROJECTS:

2020 "Quantifying decision-making by mid-continent white-fronted geese": This project will use state-of-the-art Global Positioning System-acceleration (GPS-ACC) tracking devices on mid-continent greater white-fronted geese (Anser albifrons frontalis) to evaluate the effects of habitats, seasonal environmental conditions, and harvest on productivity and survival. Data collected from this project will improve understanding of greater white-fronted goose biology, demography, and migratory behavior and advance research and development of new wildlife tracking technologies. Results from this project will be used by the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service (USFWS), Canadian Wildlife Service (CWS), and state/provincial wildlife agencies to improve monitoring, harvest regulations, habitat planning, and other management and conservation efforts for greater white-fronted geese. 2021 The primary purpose of the Webless Migratory Gamebird Program (WMGBP) is to support activities that will improve management of the 16 species of migratory shore and upland game birds (MSUGBs) in North America. The USFWS administers financial assistance awards (grants and cooperative agreements), purchase orders, and contracts on a competitive basis for projects and studies that advance the general scientific community's understanding of MSUGB ecology and management and is seeking proposals from interested parties. Award announcements are expected sometime in Spring 2021. 2022 Projects have not yet been selected. Funding is again expected for projects that contribute to improving the health of migratory bird species and their habitats, and increasing opportunities for and access to outdoor recreation.

Audits:

In accordance with the provisions of 2 CFR 200, Subpart F - Audit Requirements, nonfederal entities that expend financial assistance of $750,000 or more in Federal awards will have a single or a program-specific audit conducted for that year. Non-Federal entities that expend less than $750,000 a year in Federal awards are exempt from Federal audit requirements for that year, except as noted in 2 CFR 200.503

Records:

Cost records must be maintained separately for each awarded cooperative agreement. Records, accounts and supporting documents must be retained for 3 years after submission of final financial and performance reports. If questions, such as those raised as the results of audits, remain following the 3-year period, recipients must retain records until all matters are resolved.

15.657 Endangered Species Recovery Implementation

FEDERAL AGENCY:

U.S. FISH AND WILDLIFE SERVICE, INTERIOR, DEPARTMENT OF THE AUTHORIZATION:

Consolidated Appropriations Act, 2021-Administrative Provisions (Pub. L. 116-260 [H.R. 133-301]) and prior years appropriations Acts, Endangered Species Act (16 U.S.C. 1531 et. seq.).

OBJECTIVES:

Recovery Implementation: To provide federal financial assistance to secure endangered or threatened species information, undertake restoration actions that will lead to delisting of a species; help prevent extinction of a species, or aid in the recovery of species. Recovery Challenge: To provide federal financial assistance to eligible, non-Federal longstanding and new partners working on high priority recovery actions as identified by the Service in recovery plans, recovery strategies, or recovery outlines for Endangered Species Act endangered and threatened species. State of the Birds: To provide federal financial assistance to address the crises and challenges confronting birds in every part of the country by funding projects supporting the recovery of bird species listed under the Endangered Species Act.

TYPES OF ASSISTANCE:

Project Grants (Discretionary)

USES AND USE RESTRICTIONS:

Recovery Implementation: This opportunity is limited to projects carrying out actions described in a species' approved recovery plan, in the implementation schedule of a species' approved recovery plan, or in a species recovery outline. The percentage of funds set aside for discretionary activities varies each year. Recovery Challenge: This opportunity is limited to projects carrying out actions described in a species' approved recovery plan, in the implementation schedule of a species' approved recovery plan, or in a species recovery outline. The amount of funds available is dependent on Congressional appropriations. State of the Birds: This opportunity is limited to projects carrying out actions implementing the recovery of bird species listed under the Endangered Species Act. The amount of funds available is dependent on Congressional appropriations.

Applicant Eligibility:

State (includes District of Columbia, public institutions of higher education and hospitals); Local (includes State-designated Indian Tribes, excludes institutions of higher education and hospitals); Public nonprofit institution/organization (includes institutions of higher education and hospitals); Federally Recognized Indian Tribal Governments; Profit organization; Native American Organizations (includes Indian groups, cooperatives, corporations, partnerships, associations); Private nonprofit institution/organization (includes institutions of higher education and hospitals); State and local government agencies, institutions of higher education, including public, private state colleges and universities, nonprofits, Native American tribal organizations (other than recognized tribal governments), city, county or township governments, individuals, Native American tribal governments (federally-recognized), for-profit organizations, and small businesses.

Beneficiary Eligibility:

Specialized group (e.g. health professionals, students, veterans); Small business; Private nonprofit institution/organization; Native American Organizations; State; Local; Public nonprofit institution/organization; Federally Recognized Indian Tribal Governments; State and local government agencies, institutions of higher education, including public, private, state colleges and universities, nonprofits, Native American tribal organizations (other than recognized tribal governments), city, county or township governments, individuals, Native American tribal governments (federally-recognized), for-profit organizations, and small businesses.

Credentials/Documentation:

2 CFR 200, Sub-part E - Cost Principles applies to this program.

Preapplication Coordination:

Pre-application coordination is required. Environmental impact information is not required for this program. This program is eligible for coverage under E.O. 12372, "Intergovernmental Review of Federal Programs." An applicant should consult the office or official designated as the single point of contact in his or her State for more information on the process the State requires to be followed in applying for assistance, if the State has selected the program for review. FWS Regional and Field Office contacts can provide specific information on the amount of funding available, as well as Regional recovery priorities. We encourage you to contact the appropriate FWS Regional and Field Office contacts to discuss potential projects. If funding is available and the potential project addresses a high priority Regional recovery need, then the Regional contact will refer the potential applicant of the appropriate FWS Ecological Services Field Office for further coordination.

Application Procedures:

2 CFR 200, Uniform Administrative Requirements, Cost Principles, and Audit Requirements for Federal Awards applies to this program. A Notice of Funding Opportunity (NOFO) will be posted for Recovery Implementation and Recovery Challenge. A NOFO will not be posted for the State of the Birds. Notice of Funding Opportunities (NOFO) for this listing will be posted on Grants.gov.

Award Procedure:

Awards will be announced via letters sent directly to the applicants. No work may begin on a project until the appropriate legal contracting or procurement documents, and the required environmental compliance documents, have been signed by the authorized Service official. Unsuccessful applicants will be notified either by letter, fax, email or by telephone.

Deadlines:

April 19, 2021. State of the Birds For Recovery Implementation and Recovery Challenge, contact the headquarters or regional location, as appropriate, for application deadlines.

Range of Approval/Disapproval Time:

From 90 to 120 days. Consideration of applications will ultimately be based on the FWS budget cycle. We encourage partners (especially existing partners who already have a working relationship with local FWS Field Offices) to talk to the local FWS Field Offices about possible project ideas and submittal timeframes.

RELATED PROGRAMS:

15.611 Wildlife Restoration; 15.605 Sport Fish Restoration Program; 15.615 Cooperative Endangered Species Conservation Fund; 15.631 Partners for Fish and Wildlife;

EXAMPLES OF FUNDED PROJECTS:

2020 Recovery Implementation: Oregon Silverspot Butterfly Cascade Head Habitat Enhancement: The Nature Conservancy will enhance Oregon silverspot butterfly habitat by removing small trees and shrubs in meadow area most frequently used by the Oregon silverspot butterfly and do a prescribed burn on the east side and south facing slopes of the nature preserve to reduce forest encroachment and thatch build-up into meadow areas. Native seed will be planted into treated areas.

Vegetation monitoring will be implemented to gauge project success. Spectacled eider research and monitoring: Spectacled Eiders (Somateria fischeri) historically winter in the Bering Sea, south of St. Lawrence Island. Counts made during late winter aerial surveys of this area indicate that essentially the global population of the species, which includes individuals from breeding areas on the Arctic coast of Russia, and the Yukon-Kuskokwim Delta and Arctic Coastal Plain in Alaska, winters in this area. Winter population abundance of Spectacled Eiders was last surveyed in March 2010 and an updated count was identified as important for informing an upcoming Species Status Assessment to be completed in 2021. The U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service Endangered Species Recovery and Migratory Bird Management programs, in collaboration with the University of Alaska Fairbanks, conducted an aerial survey of the wintering area of Spectacled Eiders in March of 2020. The objective of this survey was to determine the abundance and spatial distribution of Spectacled Eiders wintering in the Bering Sea. Recovery Challenge: California Condor Bi-national Recovery and Reintroduction: This project focuses on three aspects specifically related to recovery actions for the California condor: 1) increasing condor production for reintroductions, 2) developing a species-wide and flexible population model that can be used as a foundation for adaptive management actions for California condor recovery, and 3) continuing ongoing research supporting population growth of wild condors. Recovering Vicia Menziesii, the first endangered Hawaiian plant, and 4 other plants on Hawaii Island: A landscape level approach to address high-priority recovery tasks: This project will implement recovery actions to prevent the extinction of these species and investigate limiting factors in the next stage of their recovery using these three objectives addressing high-priority Recovery Tasks: 1) Establish and enhance representation ex situ to ensure that each wild founder is secured in germplasm storage and, for V. menziesii, in an inter situ managed breeding population to provide and amplify plant material for genetically balanced restoration populations; 2) Create new and expand ongoing reintroduction efforts with historically associated T&E species in protected landscapes across the species entire historic range; and 3) Conduct directed monitoring to identify limiting factors to next-generation recruitment and survival. Returning the Amargosa vole in its original home: This project is aimed at conservation of the endangered Amargosa vole in its only remaining habitat in Tecopa, Inyo County, California, and in newly restored historical habitat in nearby Shoshone. The proponent will translocate Tecopa voles to Shoshone to recreate the Shoshone vole subpopulation, and perform range-wide surveys of vole, habitat, and water in Tecopa. These activities are Priority 1 actions from the amended Recovery Plan, including directly contributing toward achieving Downlisting Criteria A.2 and Priority 1 Recovery Action #4 of the 2019 Recovery Plan Amendment, and provides critically needed updated data to fulfill Downlisting Criteria E.1 (winter population estimates) and inform A.1 (identify megamash restoration areas) and C.1 (monitor disease impacts). State of the Birds: Wetland and watershed restoration for reliable whooping crane habitat: This project implements multiple activities outlined in the recovery plan, and would build on the success of previous State of the Birds awards to improve stopover habitat at the second most important location within the Rainwater Basin Wetland Complex. The project demonstrates a shared vision by the Service and the State of Nebraska, because of its potential to fully restore and maximize the probability of the Cottonwood WPA becoming a reliable stopover site, and provide critical mid-latitude habitat within the species migration corridor. Disentangling the effects of land management, landscape context, genetic diversity, and gene flow on population growth to improve conservation practice for Florida scrub-jays: This project implements 4 out of 5 priority actions identified in the recovery plan recently revised as part of an effort to achieve an Agency Priority Goal. The proposed project would leverage existing survey data and outcomes from past management treatments resulting from significant Service and partner investments, in order to answer questions that would substantially improve the effectiveness of recovery efforts for several years into the future. 2021 Should funding become available, the Service intends to continue to fund conservation actions including securing scientific information about endangered or threatened species, implementing restoration actions that will lead to delisting of a species, help prevent extinction of a species, or aid in the recovery of a species. 2022 Should funding become available, the Service intends to continue to fund conservation actions including securing scientific information about endangered or threatened species, implementing restoration actions that will lead to delisting of a species, help prevent extinction of a species, or aid in the recovery of a species.

CRITERIA FOR SELECTING PROPOSALS:

The criteria for selecting proposals are outlined in the Notice of Funding Opportunity (NOFO).

15.658 Natural Resource Damage Assessment and Restoration

NRDAR,

FEDERAL AGENCY:

U.S. FISH AND WILDLIFE SERVICE, INTERIOR, DEPARTMENT OF THE AUTHORIZATION:

Federal Water Pollution Control Act, 33 U.S.C 1251-1387; Oil Pollution Act, 33 U.S.C. 2701 et seq.; Comprehensive Environmental Response, Compensation and Liability Act, 42 U.S.C 9601, et seq.; and Fish and Wildlife Act, 16 U.S.C 742 et seq.,

OBJECTIVES:

The purpose of the Natural Resource Damage Assessment and Restoration (NRDAR) Program is to restore natural resources and their services that have been injured by an oil spill or hazardous substance release for the benefit of the American people. The U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service is a trustee for threatened and endangered species, migratory birds, at-risk species, and interjurisdictional fishes. We identify natural resources and their services that have been injured, determine the extent of the injuries, recover damages from responsible parties, and plan and carry out natural resource restoration activities.

TYPES OF ASSISTANCE:

Project Grants (Discretionary)

USES AND USE RESTRICTIONS:

Assistance is provided to fund NRDAR-related activities that fall under two main sub-activities: 1) assessment, and 2) restoration. Assessment activities are funded from either appropriated funds or recovered past assessment costs. While assessment funding is discretionary, the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service and other DOI Bureaus involved in NRDAR cases work as collaboratively as possible with our co-Trustees (e.g., states, federally-recognized tribes, and other federal agencies with natural resource management responsibilities that were impacted by the specific NRDAR case) when deciding what assessment activities to conduct and when to offer financial assistance for specific assessment activities. Assessment activities support the specific NRDAR case and legal claim, and can include identifying the natural resources injured and any loss of services they provide (such as recreation), determining the extent of the injuries, scaling restoration costs and projects to the injuries, and determining damages (i.e., cost) necessary to restore the injured natural resources and services. Restoration activities are funded from NRDAR case-specific settlement funds that were paid by the responsible party (or parties) to all Natural Resource Trustees that were part of the NRDAR claim. These funds are non-discretionary as their use is dictated by the court consent decree (CD) or the court-lodged settlement for the case. Furthermore, all Natural Resource Trustees must unanimously approve the expenditure of case settlement funds on restoration activities, through the administrative body of a Trustee Council (TC) and a TC Resolution. Additionally, the TC produces a restoration plan(s), which is publicly reviewed, that further directs how settlement funds are to be spent and the type of restoration projects and activities that can be conducted. Again, this restoration plan(s) involves the unanimous approval of all TC members before it can be finalized and implemented. Restoration activities are intended to restore, replace, or acquire the equivalent of the injured natural resources and their services. They can include the planning, implementation, and monitoring of restoration projects; the acquisition of land (for replacement of habitat, the benefit of injured wildlife species, and the benefit of the public); the creation of habitat, such as aquatic habitat in a stream or lake; and the creation, improvement, or enhancement of natural resource services, such as boating, hiking, and fishing opportunities, to replace lost services. All assistance provided for NRDAR activities, both assessment and restoration, must meet the intent of the NRDAR Program as well as the specific needs of a given NRDAR case.

Applicant Eligibility:

Anyone/general public; Anyone/general public. Use of assistance is primarily for natural resources but also can be for public education and recreation.

Beneficiary Eligibility:

Beneficiary eligibility is the same as applicant eligibility.

Credentials/Documentation:

Not applicable. 2 CFR 200, Sub-part E - Cost Principles applies to this program.

An applicant should consult the office or official designated as the single point of contact in his or her State for more information on the process the State requires to be followed in applying for assistance, if the State has selected the program for review.

Application Procedures:

2 CFR 200, Uniform Administrative Requirements, Cost Principles, and Audit Requirements for Federal Awards applies to this program. Applicant must complete the Standard Form (SF) 424, and the appropriate Budget and Assurances forms (SF 424A and SF 424B - Non-construction; or SF 424C and SF 424D - Construction) Application for Federal Assistance. Notice of Funding Opportunities (NOFO) for this listing will be posted on Grants.gov.

Award Procedure:

The Regional Director of the Fish and Wildlife Service or his or her designee approves or disapproves of proposed projects. Regional Offices are responsible for notifying the grantee of grant approval by the return of a completed agreement.

Deadlines:

Contact the headquarters or regional location, as appropriate for application deadlines.

Range of Approval/Disapproval Time:

From 30 to 60 days. Approximately 45 working days after receipt, dependent upon the complexity of the agreement.

15.660 Candidate Species Conservation

FEDERAL AGENCY:

U.S. FISH AND WILDLIFE SERVICE, INTERIOR, DEPARTMENT OF THE AUTHORIZATION:

Consolidated Appropriations Act, 2021 Administrative Provisions (Pub. L. 116-260 [H.R. 133-301]); Endangered Species Act (16 U.S.C. 1531 et. seq.).

OBJECTIVES:

The objective is to secure candidate and other at-risk species information or undertake restoration actions that will help avert federal listing of species. The purpose is to provide a means by which the ecosystems upon which candidate and at-risk species depend may be conserved, to provide a program for the conservation of these species.

TYPES OF ASSISTANCE:

Project Grants (Discretionary)

USES AND USE RESTRICTIONS:

The assistance can be used for Candidate Conservation. Funding may be used for actions related to: (1) the development of scientific information that is useful in supporting candidate assessments, conservation actions and candidate conservation agreements; (2) reduce threats to a candidate and other high priority species, such as propagation of imperiled freshwater mussels; or (3) conservation of candidate species, such as biological field work to conduct species surveys; or (4) in a spotlight species action plan, or projects documenting species' response to climate change. These are discretionary funds that are used for project purposes to help ensure the use of the best available scientific information in making management decisions. Funding is not used for real property acquisition or construction.

15.615 Cooperative Endangered Species Conservation Fund; 15.631 Partners for Fish and Wildlife;

EXAMPLES OF FUNDED PROJECTS:

2020 Land Snail Extinction Prevention Program: The State of Hawaii Snail Extinction Prevention Program (SEPP) works to prevent the imminent extinction and local extirpation of rare and endangered land snail species across the islands. The program functions by integrating ex situ captive rearing with in situ predator control, predator exclusion fencing, and habitat management, as well as by syncing rare snail conservation objectives and management techniques across entities. SEPP has a fully functioning captive rearing facility and employs one full-time program coordinator, three field technicians, and one laboratory technician. Currently, SEPP maintains captive populations of 40 species of rare and endangered snails from five islands and has approximately 5000 individual snails. The majority of these species are unlisted but imperiled. All species at the facility are likely extinct in the wild or extremely close to being so. Funding provided will support ongoing captive propagation and reintroduction efforts including: care and maintenance of existing lab populations, management of existing predator-proof fence sites, and release of captive reared snails into existing predator-proof fences. All actions may help to prevent the listing of candidate or at-risk species. Hawaiian Lymnaeids Research: The Pacific Islands Fish and Wildlife Office is using Candidate Conservation funds to support researchers affiliated with the Bishop Museum. The project will improve the understanding of the identity, distribution and conservation status of native freshwater snails in Hawaii so that they may be better managed along with other aquatic resources in the state. To accomplish this, we will 1) undertake surveys for freshwater snails, predominantly native species belonging to the Lymnaeidae, on five of the main Hawaiian Islands where these snails have been historically recorded and in novel sites where they may persist; 2) complete targeted surveys of historical sites for Erinna newcombi to provide conservation updates needed for reassessment of this listed species; and 3) carry out a pilot study to examine the feasibility of captive rearing one species, Lymnaea reticulata, which was historically abundant on Oahu. The results of this project regarding the taxonomy, distributions, diversity and life history of Hawaiian lymnaeids will allow resource managers and USFWS to more effectively make decisions about listing species. Reporting will evaluate taxonomy, genetic diversity, effective population sizes, distributions and numbers of populations for each species encountered. In addition, a wide variety of data associated with these taxa will be recorded, including habitat type, elevation, and more, from which guides for their identification and assessments of their current conservation status will be generated. The results of captive rearing studies will be critical for population viability assessments and aid efforts to stabilize and protect remaining populations. 2021 Should funding be available, the Service anticipates funding projects similar to FY20 that secure candidate and other at-risk species information and that undertake restoration actions which help avert Federal listing of species. 2022 Should funding be available, the Service anticipates funding projects similar to FY21 that secure candidate and other at-risk species information and that undertake restoration actions which help avert Federal listing of species.

CRITERIA FOR SELECTING PROPOSALS:

This opportunity is limited to projects carrying out actions for candidate species describe in annual assessment; or for at-risk species in a conservation plan or strategy; or in a spotlight species action plan; or projects documenting species' response to climate change.

15.666 Endangered Species Conservation-Wolf Livestock Loss Compensation and Prevention

Wolf Livestock Demonstration Project Grant Program,

FEDERAL AGENCY:

U.S. FISH AND WILDLIFE SERVICE, INTERIOR, DEPARTMENT OF THE
AUTHORIZATION:

Omnibus Public Land Management Act of 2009Wolf Compensation and Prevention Program (Pub. L. 111-11, 123 STAT. 1171, 6202(a)), Omnibus Public Land Management Act of 2009Wolf Livestock Loss Demonstration Project (7 U.S.C. 8351 note),.

OBJECTIVES:

To provide federal financial assistance to livestock producers undertaking proactive, non-lethal activities to reduce the risk of livestock loss due to predation by wolves and to compensate livestock producers for livestock losses due to such predation.

TYPES OF ASSISTANCE:

Project Grants (Discretionary)

USES AND USE RESTRICTIONS:

Financial assistance awarded through this Program can be used by eligible States and Indian tribes in supporting projects that assist livestock producers in undertaking proactive, non-lethal activities to reduce the risk of livestock loss due to predation by wolves or to compensate livestock producers for livestock losses caused by wolves. Appropriated funds will be divided equally in support of these two objectives. Qualifying projects must include at a minimum a 50 percent non-Federal cost share. These restrictions can be found in Pub. L. 111-11, 123 STAT.

ASSISTANCE LISTINGS DESCRIPTIONS

1171, 6202(a).

Applicant Eligibility:

Government - General; Federal; State; Native American Organizations (includes Indian groups, cooperatives, corporations, partnerships, associations); Federally Recognized Indian Tribal Governments; State governments/agencies/Indian tribes as defined in Public Law 111-11

15.667 Highlands Conservation

FEDERAL AGENCY:

U.S. FISH AND WILDLIFE SERVICE, INTERIOR, DEPARTMENT OF THE AUTHORIZATION:

Highlands Conservation Act (Pub. L. 108-421 [H.R. 1964], 118 Stat. 2375), and Emergency Wetlands Resources Act of 1986 (16 U.S.C. 3930),.

OBJECTIVES:

To conserve priority lands and natural resources and recognize the importance of the water, forest, agricultural, wildlife, recreational, and cultural resources, and the national significance of the Highlands region of the United States. Preserve and protect high-priority conservation land in the Highland regions.

TYPES OF ASSISTANCE:

Project Grants (Discretionary)

USES AND USE RESTRICTIONS:

A state or state agency with authority to own and manage land located within the Highlands region may use a land conservation partnership project to acquire conservation-valued land, either through fee acquisition or conservation easement, from a willing seller to permanently protect, conserve, or preserve land. Project lands of conservation value are identified by the U.S. Forest Service, Department of Agriculture, with input from pertinent units of local government and the public. The list of lands of conservation value is provided to the governors of the states within the Highlands region. The list of projects to be funded is submitted to the Secretary of the Interior, who, along with the Secretary of Agriculture, submits the eligible project list to Congress. The Federal grant share of the land conservation partnership project will not exceed 50 percent of the total cost of partnership to acquire conservation-valued land.

Applicant Eligibility:

State; Any state or state agency with authority to own and manage land located within the Highlands region for conservation purposes may apply by identifying the source of non-Federal funds, describing the management objectives for the project land, identifying the purpose of the use of the land, and providing that the land will not be converted, used or disposed of for a purpose inconsistent with land conservation.

Beneficiary Eligibility:

State; Beneficiaries are states or state agencies with authority to own and manage land within the Highlands region for conservation purposes, including the Palisades Interstate Park Commission.

Credentials/Documentation:

Must be a state or state agency with the authority to own and manage land within the Highlands region for conservation purposes. 2 CFR 200, Sub-part E - Cost Principles applies to this program.

Preapplication Coordination:

Pre-application coordination is required. Environmental impact information is not required for this program. This program is eligible for coverage under E.O. 12372, "Intergovernmental Review of Federal Programs." An applicant should consult the office or official designated as the single point of contact in his or her State for more information on the process the State requires to be followed in applying for assistance, if the State has selected the program for review. The U.S. Forest Service, Department of Agriculture, is responsible for conducting the resource assessment and preparing the Highlands project lands of conservation value update for the states involved. The U.S. Forest Service will identify in the update the lands that have high conservation value.

Application Procedures:

2 CFR 200, Uniform Administrative Requirements, Cost Principles, and Audit Requirements for Federal Awards applies to this program. It is the responsibility of the Highland states to submit projects to the Department of the Interior for funding. The Highland states may do this individually or they may jointly submit land conservation partnership projects. Notice of Funding Opportunities (NOFO) for this listing will be posted on Grants.gov.

Award Procedure:

The U.S. Forest Service is responsible for doing the resource assessment and preparing the priority land update for the states involved. The U.S. Forest Service will identify in the update the lands that have high conservation value. Only lands available from willing sellers will be considered in the program. The Department of the Interior (DOI) has the sole responsibility for project grants. The states will apply directly to DOI for project funding. The DOI will award grants to the States or their entities for the acquisition of land, or interests in land, for conservation purposes in the Highlands.

EXAMPLES OF FUNDED PROJECTS:

2020 In FY20, the Program funded land acquisition projects that are expected to result in the permanent protection of approximately 3,000 acres of land of high conservation value in the Highlands regions of Connecticut, New York, New Jersey, and Pennsylvania. 2021 In FY21, the Program anticipates funding State land acquisition projects that protect land of high conservation value in the Highlands regions of Connecticut, New York, New Jersey, and Pennsylvania. 2022 In FY22, if funding is available, the Program anticipates funding State land acquisition projects that protect land of high conservation value in the Highlands regions of Connecticut, New York, New Jersey, and Pennsylvania.

CRITERIA FOR SELECTING PROPOSALS:

The U.S. Forest Service is responsible for completing the resource assessment and preparing the priority lands update for the states involved. The U.S. Forest Service will identify in the update the lands that have high conservation value. The Highland states meet annually and apply directly to DOI for funding from the project list of lands provided by U.S. Forest Service. Only lands with high conservation value that can be obtained by fee acquisition or conservation easement from willing sellers will be considered.

15.668 Coastal Impact Assistance

(CIAP).

FEDERAL AGENCY:

U.S. FISH AND WILDLIFE SERVICE, INTERIOR, DEPARTMENT OF THE AUTHORIZATION:

Outer Continental Shelf Lands Act/Coastal impact assistance program (43 U.S.C. 1356a), Outer Continental Shelf Lands Act, as amended (31 U.S.C. 6301-6305).

OBJECTIVES:

The intent of the program is to disburse funding to eligible producing states and coastal political subdivisions for the purpose of conservation, protection, or restoration of coastal areas including wetlands; mitigation of damage to fish, wildlife, or natural resources; planning assistance and the administrative costs of complying with these objectives; implementation of a federally-approved marine, coastal, or comprehensive conservation management plan; and mitigation of the impact of outer Continental Shelf activities through funding of onshore infrastructure projects and public service needs.

TYPES OF ASSISTANCE:

Formula Grants

USES AND USE RESTRICTIONS:

The intent of the program is to disburse funding to eligible producing states and coastal political subdivisions for the purpose of conservation, protection, or restoration of coastal areas including wetlands; mitigation of damage to fish, wildlife, or natural resources; planning assistance and the administrative costs of complying with these objectives; implementation of a federally-approved marine, coastal, or comprehensive conservation management plan; and mitigation of the impact of outer Continental Shelf activities through funding of onshore infrastructure projects and public service needs.

Applicant Eligibility:

Specialized group (e.g. health professionals, students, veterans); States eligible to receive funding are Alabama, Alaska, California, Louisiana, Mississippi, and Texas and 67 coastal political subdivisions among the six States.

The Fish and Wildlife Act, 16 U.S.C. 742a-742j, not including 742 d-1; National Wildlife Refuge System Administration Act, 16 U.S.C. 668dd-ee; Endangered Species Act, 16 U.S.C. 1531 et seq.; Fish and Wildlife Conservation Act, 16 U.S.C. 2901 et seq.; Fish and Wildlife Coordination Act, 16 U.S.C. 661-666; and Migratory Bird Treaty Act, 16 U.S.C. 703 et seq.,

OBJECTIVES:

The U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service (USFWS) uses a science-based, adaptive framework for setting and achieving broad-scale conservation objectives that strategically address the problems fish and wildlife will face in the future. This framework, called Strategic Habitat Conservation, is based on the principles of adaptive management and uses population and habitat data, ecological models, and focused monitoring and assessment efforts to develop and implement strategies that result in measurable fish and wildlife population outcomes. This process uses the best available scientific information to predict how fish and wildlife populations will respond to changes in the environment, thus enabling the USFWS to focus habitat conservation and other management activities where they will be most effective. In addition, the USFWS needs focused, applied science directed at high impact questions surrounding threats to fish and wildlife resources for which management and/or mitigation is required to maintain species at healthy, sustainable, desired levels. USFWS must base its decisions on the best science available, in order to defend its regulatory decisions, biological opinions and species conservation recommendations to land managers.

TYPES OF ASSISTANCE:

Support will be provided for science projects and collaborative partnerships that identify and address shared conservation priorities and science needs; inform landscape-scale planning and tools that support decision-making for at-risk and listed fish and wildlife species and their habitats; and link science to coordinated, efficient resource management actions. Support will be provided to communicate science information, tools, assessments, and other products. 15.671 Yukon River Salmon Research and Management Assistance

R&M Fund,

FEDERAL AGENCY:

U.S. FISH AND WILDLIFE SERVICE, INTERIOR, DEPARTMENT OF THE AUTHORIZATION:

Yukon River Salmon Act (16 U.S.C. 5701 et seq.).

OBJECTIVES:

The U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service (Service) receives funds for implementation of the Yukon River Salmon Agreement with Canada which was reached in March 2001. The Yukon River Salmon Act of 2000 authorizes funds for implementation of the Agreement including funds for cooperative research and management projects on the Alaska portion of the Yukon River. The Service administers these funds through financial assistance on a competitive basis for projects/studies that advance the scientific community's understanding and management of Chinook and chum salmon in the Yukon River of Alaska.

TYPES OF ASSISTANCE:

Project Grants (Discretionary)

USES AND USE RESTRICTIONS:

This funding is intended to support projects that are focused on improving the understanding of the biology and management of Yukon River Chinook salmon and summer and fall chum salmon. Projects should address one or more of the following categories: (1) assess and achieve fishery management objectives; (2) Building and maintain public support of, and meaningful participation in, salmon resource management; (3) improve understanding of salmon biology and ecology; (4) assess, conserve, and restore salmon habitats. This funding is not intended to fund real property acquisition and/or construction.

Applicant Eligibility:

Federal; Local (includes State-designated Indian Tribes, excludes institutions of higher education and hospitals); Public nonprofit institution/organization (includes institutions of higher education and hospitals); Individual/Family; Profit organization; Private nonprofit institution/organization (includes institutions of higher education and hospitals); State; The intended result of this funding is to improve the understanding of the biology and management of Yukon River salmon species.

Beneficiary Eligibility:

Federal; Individual/Family; Profit organization; Private nonprofit institution/organization; Other private institution/organization; State; Local; Public nonprofit institution/organization; Projects that are awarded money from this source will ultimately benefit the rural and urban American and Canadian public that subsist off of the salmon resources of the Yukon River.

Credentials/Documentation:

Federal law mandates that all organizations applying for Federal financial assistance must have a valid Dun & Bradstreet Data Universal Number System (DUNS) number and have a current registration in the System for Award Management (SAM). Individuals submitting an application on their own behalf and not on behalf of a company, state, local or tribal government, academia or other type of organization are exempt from the DUNS number and SAM requirements. 2 CFR 200, Sub-part E - Cost Principles applies to this program.

Preapplication Coordination:

Pre-application coordination is not applicable. Environmental impact information is not required for this program. This program is excluded from coverage under E.O. 12372.

Application Procedures:

2 CFR 200, Uniform Administrative Requirements, Cost Principles, and Audit Requirements for Federal Awards applies to this program. Applicants submit a detailed proposal including a completed and signed SF424 Application for Federal Assistance, a completed SF424A Budget Information (Non-construction) form, and a signed SF424B Assurances form. Detailed instructions for submitting a proposal will be posted on Grants.gov. The Project Officer for the grant announces the call for proposals via newspapers, email, and Grants.gov. Links to the call for proposals are posted on the Fairbanks Fish and Wildlife Field Office website and are distributed to state, federal, NGOs, and universities. Notice of Funding Opportunities (NOFO) for this listing will be posted on Grants.gov.

Award Procedure:

Detailed project proposals will be evaluated by an interagency review committee which will provide recommendations to the U.S. Section of the Yukon River Panel (Panel) for final approval. The Panel will review the prioritized list and select proposals to be funded in the spring of each fiscal year. Service staff will notify applicants of review results by either sending them an approval letter stating their selection and a project agreement to sign and return to the Service or by sending written notification to the applicant that the application was not selected. Potential recipients must sign the project agreement and return it before funds can be obligated. Once the potential recipients sign the project agreement, the Service will obligate funds and issue a fully executed Award either electronically or through the mail.

Deadlines:

March 05, 2021. FY21 detailed proposals.

Range of Approval/Disapproval Time:

Other. Applicants will receive notice of approval/disapproval within 60 calendar days of submitting an initial proposal and within 60 calendar days of submitting a detailed proposal.

Appeals:

Not Applicable.

Renewals:

Other. Recipients may request funding for a subsequent year/cycle of a currently funded project. However, these requests are subject to the same submission, review, and approval requirements as all new applications. This program will fund any approved renewal application as a new award, not as an amendment to an existing award. Recipients may request approval for budget and project plan revisions of funded projects, including period of performance and reporting due date extensions, in accordance with 2 CFR 200.

Formula and Matching Requirements:

Statutory formula is not applicable to this assistance listing. Matching requirements are not applicable to this assistance listing. MOE requirements are not applicable to this assistance listing.

Length and Time Phasing of Assistance:

The period of performance for projects funded under this program is for approximately one year, starting May 1 and ending no later than June 30, with final reports due and funding spent within 90 days after completion of the project.

Method of awarding/releasing assistance: other

Reports:

No:114-322, Sec. 5005.,

OBJECTIVES:

The Cooperative Ecosystem Studies Units (CESU) Network is a national, collaborative consortium of federal agencies, tribes, universities, state and local governments, and other partners that provide scientific research, technical assistance, and education on natural and cultural resource issues to federal land management, environmental, and research agencies. There are currently 17 CESUs throughout the country. Each is comprised of a host university, multiple federal agencies, and additional academic and nonfederal partners. The mission of the CESU Network is to: Provide resource managers with high-quality scientific research, technical assistance, and education; provide resource managers with solid natural resource information; deliver research and technical assistance that is timely, relevant to resource managers, and needed to develop and implement sound adaptive management approaches; ensure the independence and objectivity of research; create and maintain effective partnerships among federal agencies and universities to share resources and expertise; take full advantage of university resources while benefiting faculty and students; provide research, technical assistance, and educational functions within the context of cultural, social, biological, and physical sciences; enhance the ability of Federal natural and cultural resource managers to generate, acquire, synthesize, act upon, and articulate to the public sound research and scientific information; encourage professional development of federal scientists and enhance their ability to manage federal science resources efficiently.

TYPES OF ASSISTANCE:

Cooperative Agreements, Cooperative Agreements (Discretionary Grants)

USES AND USE RESTRICTIONS:

CESU awards can be used for research, studies, assessments, monitoring, technical/scientific assistance, and educational services having to do with natural science or cultural resources. CESU projects can be funded only as cooperative agreements. Partners must be approved partners of the CESU Network. No construction projects or purchase of real property is allowed. 100% of funding is discretionary.

15.680 Mexican Wolf Recovery

FEDERAL AGENCY:

U.S. FISH AND WILDLIFE SERVICE, INTERIOR, DEPARTMENT OF THE AUTHORIZATION:

Fish and Wildlife Coordination Act Cooperation of agencies (16 U.S.C. 661), Endangered Species Act International cooperation (16 U.S.C. 1537),

OBJECTIVES:

To provide federal financial assistance to secure Mexican Wolf information, undertake actions that will lead to delisting of the Mexican Wolf, and help prevent extinction or aid in the recovery of the Mexican Wolf.

TYPES OF ASSISTANCE:

Project Grants (Discretionary)

USES AND USE RESTRICTIONS:

This opportunity is limited to projects that further the recovery of the Mexican Wolf, which may be described in a species' approved recovery plan, in the implementation schedule of a species' approved recovery plan, or actions recommended in complete 5-year status review of the species or species management plan. These are discretionary funds that are used for project purposes to help ensure the use of the best available scientific information in making management decisions. Funding can be used for construction activities. Funding is not used for real property acquisition under this program.

Applicant Eligibility:

Local (includes State-designated Indian Tribes, excludes institutions of higher education and hospitals); Small business (less than 500 employees); Profit organization; Private nonprofit institution/organization (includes institutions of higher education and hospitals); Native American Organizations (includes Indian groups, cooperatives, corporations, partnerships, associations); Individual/Family; Federally Recognized Indian Tribal Governments; Public nonprofit institution/organization (includes institutions of higher education and hospitals); State; State and local government agencies; Institutions of higher education, including public, private state colleges and universities; nonprofits; Native American tribal organizations; city, county or township governments; individuals; Native American tribal governments (federally-recognized); for-profit organizations; and small businesses.

There is no formal pre-application coordination required under this program, however potential applicants are encouraged to contact the Mexican Wolf Coordinator to discuss their projects prior to application. The Service must conduct environmental compliance reviews for projects conducted in the United States.

Application Procedures:

2 CFR 200, Uniform Administrative Requirements, Cost Principles, and Audit Requirements for Federal Awards applies to this program. Notice of Funding Opportunities (NOFO) for this listing will be posted on Grants.gov.

Award Procedure:

Notification of an award is the issuance of a grant or cooperative agreement document by Awarding Official. Each proposal is reviewed by the Mexican Wolf Recovery Program staff who make recommendations for funding. The evaluations are based on the criteria outlined in the request for federal assistance. The proposals are ranked and the Mexican Wolf Recovery Coordinator selects proposals that best support the program within available funding. Once a recovery activity is selected for funding, a funding instrument, i.e., notice of award, between Fish and Wildlife Service and the recipient is drafted. The award is processed through the Southwest Regional Ecological Services office and sent to the recipient for signature. The award is considered executed when signed copies of the agreement are received from the recipient and the Ecological Services office has obligated funds to the agreement.

15.681 Cooperative Agriculture

FEDERAL AGENCY:

U.S. FISH AND WILDLIFE SERVICE, INTERIOR, DEPARTMENT OF THE AUTHORIZATION:

Fish and Wildlife Act Community partnership enhancement (16 U.S.C. 742f(d)),

OBJECTIVES:

The objectives for the use of cooperative agriculture in the National Wildlife Refuge System (NWRS) are: Production or modification of specific cover types and/or growing methods that meet the life history requirements of species for which we have established objectives (e.g., waterfowl production); and Production of foods for wildlife species for which we have established objectives or maintenance, rehabilitation, or reestablishment of natural habitat.

TYPES OF ASSISTANCE:

Use of Property, Facilities, and Equipment

USES AND USE RESTRICTIONS:

Varies by agreement.

Applicant Eligibility:

Individual/Family; Small business (less than 500 employees); Other private institutions/organizations; Applicants must be private individuals or small business entities.

Beneficiary Eligibility:

Individual/Family; Small business; Other private institution/organization; Selected cooperators who conduct cooperative agriculture on NWRS lands under this program, excluding coordination areas (which are areas managed by the Service in coordination with the States).

appropriate. The notice for each new opportunity will include a general description of the opportunity, the objective criteria the Service will use to evaluate applicants, the application due date, and application instructions. Individual cooperative agriculture agreements are typically approved for a 3-5 year period. Once that period ends, the Service will determine if those same cooperative agriculture activities should continue. If the Service will continue those same cooperative agriculture activities, a new individual cooperative agriculture opportunity will be posted on the NWRS website and made available for eligible entities to apply. In general and at a minimum, applicants must provide completed FWS Form 3-1383-C to apply for a cooperative agricultural opportunity. The Service will accept applications at the local refuge or complex office listed in the Notice in compliance with the terms and conditions in the Notice. Notice of Funding Opportunities (NOFO) for this listing will be posted on Grants.gov.

Award Procedure:

The Service will score each application based on the objective criteria outlined in the NOFO, specific opportunity requirements, and factors that make a potential recipient uniquely qualified. The Service will select the applicant best suited to conduct cooperative agriculture on NWRS lands. The Service will notify all applicants individually within 90 days after the closing of the opportunity notice. Unsuccessful applicants will be notified in writing describing why they were unsuccessful and of their right to appeal any adverse decision in accordance with 50 CFR 25.45.

15.683 Prescott Marine Mammal Rescue Assistance

FEDERAL AGENCY:

U.S. FISH AND WILDLIFE SERVICE, INTERIOR, DEPARTMENT OF THE AUTHORIZATION:

Marine Mammal Rescue Assistance Act/John H. Prescott Marine Mammal Rescue Assistance Grant Program (16 U.S.C. 1421f-1); Marine Mammal Protection Act (16 U.S.C. 1361 et seq.); Consolidated Appropriations Act of 2019 (Public Law 116-6); Further Consolidated Appropriations Act of 2020, (Senate Rep. No. 116-123),.

OBJECTIVES:

To provide financial assistance to eligible entities for: response, recovery, rescue, treatment, and, as appropriate, release of West Indian manatees, sea otters, Pacific walrus, and polar bears; the collection of data for scientific research associated with the health of these species; and facility operation costs for these species, as appropriate.

TYPES OF ASSISTANCE:

Project Grants (Discretionary)

USES AND USE RESTRICTIONS:

Funds will be awarded to and must be used by recipients for: response, recovery, rescue, treatment, and, as appropriate, release of marine mammals under the management jurisdiction of the Service (i.e., West Indian manatees, sea otters, Pacific walrus, and polar bears); the collection of data for scientific research associated with the health of these marine mammal species; and facility operation costs, as appropriate.

Applicant Eligibility:

Federal; U.S. Territories and possessions; State (includes District of Columbia, public institutions of higher education and hospitals); Federally Recognized Indian Tribal Governments; Public nonprofit institution/organization (includes institutions of higher education and hospitals); Individual/Family; Native American Organizations (includes Indian groups, cooperatives, corporations, partnerships, associations); Profit organization; Private nonprofit institution/organization (includes institutions of higher education and hospitals); To be eligible, an applicant must be a current participant or researcher associated with marine mammal stranding efforts and must demonstrate they have authorization under the Marine Mammal Protection Act (MMPA; 16 U.S.C. 1361, et seq.) and the Endangered Species Act (ESA; 16 U.S.C. 1531, et seq.), if the marine mammal species is listed under the ESA. Authorization may include a permit issued under section 104(c) or an agreement under section 112(c) to take marine mammals as described in section 109(h)(1) in response to stranded marine mammals. Eligibility also includes Federal (except DOI and DOC), State, or local government employees operating in the course of their official duties as indicated under 109(h).

Beneficiary Eligibility:

The recipients are the primary beneficiaries. The projects may have secondary benefits to States that have the identified marine mammal species in waters under State jurisdiction and supports Federal requirements for conservation of marine mammals, and other public resources.

Credentials/Documentation:

Applicants must provide a copy of their issued permit, letter of authorization, section 112 agreement, or evidence of authorization under section 109(h) along with their application request for funding. We will also accept evidence that an applicant has applied for one of these authorization, e.g., a copy of the request for authorization; however, if proof (i.e., a copy) of the final authorization is not provided by the time the agency is ready to make an award, the applicant would be determined not qualified to receive an award. 2 CFR 200, Sub-part E - Cost Principles applies to this program.

Preapplication Coordination:

Pre-application coordination is required. Environmental impact information is not required for this program. This program is eligible for coverage under E.O. 12372, "Intergovernmental Review of Federal Programs." An applicant should consult the office or official designated as the single point of contact in his or her State for more information on the process the State requires to be followed in applying for assistance, if the State has selected the program for review.

Application Procedures:

2 CFR 200, Uniform Administrative Requirements, Cost Principles, and Audit Requirements for Federal Awards applies to this program. Proposals are submitted through Grants.gov. Applicants need to address the program and species-specific priorities identified in the Notices of Funding Opportunity (NOFO). The NOFO also identifies the documents that must accompany the application. Notice of Funding Opportunities (NOFO) for this listing will be posted on Grants.gov.

Award Procedure:

Applications submitted within the identified deadline will be screened for completeness and eligibility, which includes: completed forms 424, 424A, and 424B; evidence of authorization under MMPA and ESA, if listed; submission by deadline date; signature and date by authorized representative; at least a 25% cost share; an eligible activity; at least one of the species-specific funding priorities; a budget and statement of work with milestones, and identification of the Principal Investigator. Those that pass the initial screening will be provided to the appropriate Service staff for conducting the review. The review will consider: the importance and applicability of the proposal; soundness and ability to accomplish the project; qualifications of applicants; costs; and outreach and education, as appropriate. Those applications that receive a top score will undergo further review, which will focus on the program needs and species priorities before providing recommendations for equitable funding to the Selecting Official.

Deadlines:

April 26, 2021.

Range of Approval/Disapproval Time:

From 120 to 180 days.

Appeals:

Not Applicable.

Renewals:

Other. Recipients may request funding for a subsequent year/cycle of a currently funded project. However, these requests are subject to the same submission, review, and approval requirements as all new applications. This program will fund any approved renewal application as new award, not as an amendment to an existing award. Future or continued funding will be at the discretion of the Service, based on the availability of each fiscal year funding and satisfactory performance. Recipients may request approval for budget and project plan revisions of funded projects, including period of performance and reporting due date extensions, in accordance with 2 CFR 200.

(2)To help conserve Southern sea otters by expanding the species population through surrogacy and providing critical support for stranding response projects.
(3) To obtain rescue vehicles and other equipment for the Florida Manatee Stranding Network. 2021 Program has not yet selected projects for funding.
Program anticipates funding projects that will provide for the response, recovery, rescue, treatment, and release of West Indian manatees, sea otters, Pacific walruses, and polar bears, the collection of data for scientific research related to stranding efforts, and facility operation costs, as appropriate. 2022 Program has not yet selected projects for funding. Program anticipates funding projects that will provide for the response, recovery, rescue, treatment, and release of West Indian manatees, sea otters, Pacific walruses, and polar bears, the collection of data for scientific research related to stranding efforts, and facility operation costs, as appropriate.

CRITERIA FOR SELECTING PROPOSALS:

All eligible applicants must be current participants or researchers associated with marine mammal stranding efforts. Projects will be considered based on: (1) importance and applicability to the program; (2) soundness and ability to accomplish the proposed project; (3) overall qualifications of applicants; (4) project costs; and (5) outreach and education, as appropriate. Determination of priorities may consider program and species needs, any episodic stranding, anomalous mortality event, or unusual mortality event that occurred in the preceding year, data regarding average annual strandings and mortality events per year, and size and vulnerability of the marine mammal populations. The selection process may consider costs, geographical distribution, financial need, duplication with other federally funded projects, and equitable distribution of funds among the designated stranding regions and species/stocks.

15.684 White-nose Syndrome National Response Implementation

FEDERAL AGENCY:

U.S. FISH AND WILDLIFE SERVICE, INTERIOR, DEPARTMENT OF THE AUTHORIZATION:

Endangered Species Act (16 U.S.C. 1531 et. seq.), Fish and Wildlife Coordination Act/Cooperation of agencies (16 U.S.C. 661), Fish and Wildlife Act (16 U.S.C. 742 et seq.).

OBJECTIVES:

To conserve and recover bats affected by the fungal disease white-nose syndrome through support to States and Tribes for their management planning and actions, coordination of research activities, and collaboration with partners. Provide for research projects that address information needs for managing white-nose syndrome and species affected by it. Develop and implement management strategies to lessen the impacts of white-nose syndrome and recover affected species. Conduct monitoring efforts to monitor status and trends of North American bat populations.

TYPES OF ASSISTANCE:

Project Grants (Discretionary)

USES AND USE RESTRICTIONS:

Projects must carry out actions in support of the white-nose syndrome national response plan, including priorities and efforts identified within that context. Such actions include management activities of state wildlife and natural resource agencies working to conserve and recover bats and combat white-nose syndrome. The program funds projects addressing priorities identified through the working groups of the white-nose syndrome national plan. Congress appropriated these funds to the Service to apply them in support of the National Response to White-nose Syndrome and the North American Bat Monitoring Program (Consolidated Appropriations Act of 2020, H.R. 1865, 116th Cong. Div. D, Title I).

Applicant Eligibility:

CRITERIA FOR SELECTING PROPOSALS:

The criteria for selecting proposals are specific to the different funding opportunities posted to GrantSolutions and Grants.gov. Specific criteria are outlined in the Notice of Funding Opportunity. In general, these criteria include project relevance and need, cost efficiency, and other criteria identified in the Notice.

15.805 Assistance to State Water Resources Research Institutes

(Water Research Institute Program).

FEDERAL AGENCY:

US GEOLOGICAL SURVEY, INTERIOR, DEPARTMENT OF THE AUTHORIZATION:

Water Resources Research Act of 1984, Section 104, Public Law 98-242 as amended, 42 U.S.C. 10301 et seq.,

OBJECTIVES:

To provide financial support to Water Resources Research Institutes located at designated State universities in each of the 50 States, Puerto Rico, the District of Columbia, Guam, the Virgin Islands, American Samoa, the Commonwealth of the Northern Mariana Islands, and the Federated States of Micronesia for research, information transfer and student training on one or more aspects of priority water problems.

TYPES OF ASSISTANCE:

Cooperative Agreements (Discretionary Grants), Formula Grants, Formula Grants (Cooperative Agreements), Project Grants, Project Grants (Discretionary), Project Grants (for specified projects)

USES AND USE RESTRICTIONS:

This program has two parts: a mandatory formula grant program and a competitive project grant program. The mandatory grant program provides the State Institutes with funds to support a State and regional program of water resources research and information transfer. This may include basic or applied research, setting up conferences to discuss research needs or results, conduct of research, information dissemination, and training of students as a byproduct of research. In general the funds are used to study regional, State, or local water problems, but the results may often have national significance. The competitive project grant program supports research focused on water problems of a regional or interstate nature and which relate to program priorities identified jointly by the State Institutes and the Geological Survey. Federal funds cannot be used for (1) formal instructional activities and general education, and (2) the cost of permanent buildings, either directly or indirectly.

Applicant Eligibility:

State (includes District of Columbia, public institutions of higher education and hospitals); U.S. Territories and possessions (includes institutions of higher education and hospitals); One University Water Research Institute is authorized in each State and other jurisdictions specified in Section 104. Other colleges and universities within a State are encouraged to participate in the program in cooperation with the designated Institute.

Beneficiary Eligibility:

Private nonprofit institution/organization; State; Public nonprofit institution/organization; Researchers at qualified universities and colleges in the State through the designated Institute for the State.

Credentials/Documentation:

Proposed Research and Information Transfer Program application responsive to instructions issued by the U.S. Geological Survey. 2 CFR 200, Sub-part E - Cost Principles applies to this program.

Preapplication Coordination:

Pre-application coordination is required. Environmental impact information is not required for this program. This program is excluded from coverage under E.O. 12372. Formula Grant Program: Requires each Institute to collaborate with State interests in defining research priorities and to coordinate with other Institutes in the region to avoid duplication of effort. Competitive Grant Program: Requires that the Institutes collectively collaborate with the Geological Survey in setting research priorities.

Application Procedures:

2 CFR 200, Uniform Administrative Requirements, Cost Principles, and Audit Requirements for Federal Awards applies to this program. This program is subject to the provisions of 2 CFR Part 200 and Department of the Interior regulations 2 CFR Part 1402 and 43 CFR Part 12. Application form Standard Form (SF) 424 must be used. The application requirements as contained in the announcement package and the above regulations must be used for this program. Applications may be made only through the internet site <http://www.grants.gov>. Notice of Funding Opportunities (NOFO) for this listing will be posted on Grants.gov.

Award Procedure:

Formula Grant Program: Geological Survey approves or rejects, in part or as a whole, the program submitted by each State Institute. The State Institutes are notified of any amendments necessary to obtain Geological Survey approval. Competitive Grant Program: Geological Survey conducts a formal review and selection procedure and approves or rejects applications as a whole. Notification of an award is by receipt of a grant or cooperative agreement from a U.S. Geological Survey contracting officer.

Deadlines:

January 18, 2021. Annual Base Grants (104b) March 21, 2021. National Competitive Grants (104g) June 01, 2021. Aquatic Invasive Species Research (104g) and PFAS Research (104g)

Range of Approval/Disapproval Time:

Other. 90 days.

Appeals:

Other. Formula Grant Program: Deficiencies noted by the Geological Survey can normally be corrected by the State Institutes. Competitive Grant Program: None.

Renewals:

Other. None.

Formula and Matching Requirements:

Statutory Formula: Title 42 U.S.C. 10303(c) and (g), Chapter , Part , Subpart , Public Law . Matching requirements are not applicable to this assistance listing. MOE requirements are not applicable to this assistance listing.

Length and Time Phasing of Assistance:

ASSISTANCE LISTINGS DESCRIPTIONS

Reports:

Annual and final technical reports, as well as other products, are required and must be submitted as described in the award terms and conditions. Recipients must report expenditures using the SF 425, Federal Financial Report form. Recipients must submit a final report no later than 120 calendar days after the award end date. Recipients of awards with performance periods longer than 12 months will be required to submit interim annual reports. Program will detail all financial reporting requirements, including frequency and due dates, in the notice of award letter. Recipients are responsible for monitoring performance for each award and sub-award under this program in accordance with 2 CFR 200.

Audits:

In accordance with the provisions of 2 CFR 200, Subpart F - Audit Requirements, nonfederal entities that expend financial assistance of $750,000 or more in Federal awards will have a single or a program-specific audit conducted for that year. Non-Federal entities that expend less than $750,000 a year in Federal awards are exempt from Federal audit requirements for that year, except as noted in 2 CFR 200.503. Recipients are subject to the audit requirements of 2 CFR Part 200 Subpart F.

Records:

Directors of the State Institutes are responsible for conduct of programs and maintaining books and records reflecting financial and technical transactions of the program. Records shall be retained and made available for audit for three years after submission of final financial report.

15.807 Earthquake Hazards Program Assistance

Earthquake Hazards Program Grants,

FEDERAL AGENCY:

US GEOLOGICAL SURVEY, INTERIOR, DEPARTMENT OF THE

AUTHORIZATION:

42 U.S.C. 7701 et seq.,

OBJECTIVES:

To support earthquake hazards research and monitoring in order to develop information, knowledge, and methods relevant to the major Earthquake Hazards Program elements: Assessment and Characterization of Earthquake Hazards; Monitoring and Reporting Earthquake Activity and Crustal Deformation; Conducting Research into Earthquake Causes and Effects; and Earthquake and Safety Information for Loss Reduction. Specific objectives and research tasks identified as measures of progress towards the goals of these program elements are described in greater detail in Program Announcements posted to Grants.gov.

TYPES OF ASSISTANCE:

Project Grants, Project Grants (Cooperative Agreements)

USES AND USE RESTRICTIONS:

Specific research and monitoring objectives are identified in Program Announcements posted to Grants.gov.

Applicant Eligibility:

State (includes District of Columbia, public institutions of higher education and hospitals); Local (includes State-designated Indian Tribes, excludes institutions of higher education and hospitals); Public nonprofit institution/organization (includes

15.808 U.S. Geological Survey Research and Data Collection

FEDERAL AGENCY:

US GEOLOGICAL SURVEY, INTERIOR, DEPARTMENT OF THE

AUTHORIZATION:

Title Organic Act of 1879, , 43 USC Code 31. 43 USC Code 36c. 43 USC Code

ASSISTANCE LISTINGS DESCRIPTIONS

36d. 43 USC Code 1457b.

OBJECTIVES:

To support research complementary to USGS program efforts in classification of the public lands and examination of the geological structure, water, mineral, and biological resources, and products of the national domain. This entry covers a variety of USGS assistance awards not covered by any other CFDA program entries. Awards are typically supported by funding from internal projects and programs, and funds are not separately budgeted or reserved for external projects or proposals under this entry.

TYPES OF ASSISTANCE:

Cooperative Agreements (Discretionary Grants)

USES AND USE RESTRICTIONS:

Applications must be for scientific research projects which are within the Survey's area of responsibility. The majority of funds are used to support research that will enhance existing, long-term collaborative projects. Funds can be used for attendance at national conferences for the dissemination of project results. Further, conferences and symposia will be supported only if it is clear that equivalent results cannot be obtained at regular meetings of professional societies. Office furniture, office equipment, and foreign travel are not normally considered for support.

Applicant Eligibility:

State (includes District of Columbia, public institutions of higher education and hospitals); Local (includes State-designated Indian Tribes, excludes institutions of higher education and hospitals); Public nonprofit institution/organization (includes institutions of higher education and hospitals); Other public institution/organization; Private nonprofit institution/organization (includes institutions of higher education and hospitals); Public nonprofit institutions/organizations, private nonprofit institutions/organizations, and State and local governments may make application for support by a named principal investigator. Due to limited availability of funds to support new external projects, consultation with USGS is strongly recommended prior to submission of applications.

Beneficiary Eligibility:

Anyone/general public; Scientist/Researchers; Engineer/Architect; Profit organizations, public nonprofit institutions/organizations, private nonprofit institutions/organizations, and State and local governments, industry and public decision makers, research scientists, engineers, and the general public will ultimately benefit from knowledge gained under the program.

Credentials/Documentation:

Proposals must furnish evidence of the applicant's qualifications for performance of the proposed research. 2 CFR 200, Sub-part E - Cost Principles applies to this program.

Preapplication Coordination:

Pre-application coordination is required. Environmental impact information is not required for this program. This program is excluded from coverage under E.O. 12372.

Formula and Matching Requirements:

Statutory formula is not applicable to this assistance listing. Matching Requirements: Percent: 0%. Requirement: Matching requirements are voluntary. Generally, no statutory requirement. Recipients are encouraged to share in the cost of each research project. Appropriations language requires cooperating State and local governments to contribute at least one-half the cost of certain cooperative water resources investigation and cooperative mapping projects. MOE requirements are not applicable to this assistance listing.

15.810 National Cooperative Geologic Mapping

(StateMap and EdMap).

FEDERAL AGENCY:

US GEOLOGICAL SURVEY, INTERIOR, DEPARTMENT OF THE AUTHORIZATION:

Public Law 116-9

OBJECTIVES:

To produce geologic maps of areas in which knowledge of geology is important to the economic, social, or scientific welfare of individual States. StateMap supports: (1) projects which produce new geologic maps with attendant explanatory information including correlation of map units, description of map units and symbols, stratigraphic columns, geologic sections, and other pertinent information; and (2) projects which compile existing geologic data in a digital form for inclusion in the National Digital Geologic Map Database. EdMap: Provide funding for undergraduate and graduate students in academic research programs, through cooperative agreements, that involve geologic mapping and scientific data analysis as major components; expand research and educational capacity of graduate programs that teach earth science students the techniques of geologic mapping and field data analysis; and facilitate the publication and distribution of geologic maps generated in field-based graduate academic research programs.

TYPES OF ASSISTANCE:

Cooperative Agreements

USES AND USE RESTRICTIONS:

STATEMAP: Only one application will be accepted from each State geological survey. State proposals cannot include in-kind services by the U.S. Geological Survey. Travel to meetings of professional societies is not an acceptable expense for the program, nor are funds intended for the purchase of computer hardware, software, or other nonexpendable property. Student tuition or reimbursement is not an allowable expense. EdMap: Proposals cannot include a request for in-kind services by the U.S. Geological Survey. Funds are not intended for the purchase of capital equipment. Student tuition or reimbursement is not an allowable expense. For further information, please contact the National Cooperative Geologic Mapping Program office.

Applicant Eligibility:

State (includes District of Columbia, public institutions of higher education and hospitals); StateMap program is restricted by statute to State geological surveys. Where State surveys are organized under a State university system, an application may be submitted by a State college or university on behalf of the State geological survey. EdMap program is restricted to universities with geoscience or related departments or programs.

Beneficiary Eligibility:

Anyone/general public; State; State geological surveys participating in this program and the general public will ultimately benefit from this program.

Credentials/Documentation:

Proposals for StateMap must include a letter of support from the State Geologic Mapping Advisory Committee to qualify for funding. Proposals for EdMap must include a letter of support from a State Geologist or USGS Project Chief. 2 CFR 200, Sub-part E - Cost Principles applies to this program.

Preapplication Coordination:

Pre-application coordination is not applicable. Environmental impact information is not required for this program. This program is excluded from coverage under E.O. 12372.

Application Procedures:

2 CFR 200, Uniform Administrative Requirements, Cost Principles, and Audit Requirements for Federal Awards applies to this program. This program is subject to the provisions of 2 CFR Part 200 and Department of the Interior regulations 2 CFR Part 1402 and 43 CFR Part 12. Application form Standard Form (SF) 424 must be used. The application requirements as contained in the announcement package and the above regulations must be used for this program. Applications may be made only through the internet site <http://www.grants.gov>.

Award Procedure:

Notification of an award is by receipt of a cooperative agreement from a U.S. Geological Survey contracting officer through GrantSolutions (<https://home.grantsolutions.gov/home/>)

Deadlines:

November 15, 2021 (Date may be adjusted slightly based on release of Program Announcement)

Range of Approval/Disapproval Time:

Other. StateMap: Approval/disapproval will be announced by mid-February (or shortly after budget allocation). EdMap: Approval/disapproval will be announced by late February (or shortly after budget allocation).

Appeals:

Not Applicable.

Renewals:

Other. StateMap: Proposals must be submitted for a 1-year project period only. However, projects that were approved and funded during the previous fiscal year may be submitted as renewals (competing continuations). A completely new proposal subject to full review, must be submitted each year. EdMap: Proposals may be submitted which request a performance period of 1 year at a time. Student mapping projects may last up to 2 years, however, each year a separate proposal must be submitted. Students are only allowed two years of EdMap funding. Funding for year two will be determined through the annual competitive announcement.

Formula and Matching Requirements:

Statutory formula is not applicable to this assistance listing. Matching Requirements: Percent: 0%. Requirement: Matching requirements are voluntary. The StateMap program is required by Public Law 111-11 to be carried out on a 1:1 matching basis; each recipient must match each Federal dollar with a nonfederal dollar. The nonfederal share may be contributions of services or cash provided to contractors to perform geologic mapping or other services directly applicable to proposed work on the project. The specific source(s) of the State contribution, such as State legislative appropriation, must be provided in the proposal. The EdMap program is required by Public Law 111-11 to be carried out on a 1:1 matching basis; each recipient must match each Federal dollar with a nonfederal dollar. The nonfederal share may be a contribution of funds or services. Such services can include those related to the student research project or cash provided to contractors, i.e., field assistants to perform geologic mapping or other services directly applicable to proposed work on the project. Student tuition is not an allowable expense for direct cost or match for either StateMap or EdMap. MOE requirements are not applicable to this assistance listing.

Length and Time Phasing of Assistance:

Program obligates funds and sends a notice of award to successful applicants. CRU,

FEDERAL AGENCY:

US GEOLOGICAL SURVEY, INTERIOR, DEPARTMENT OF THE

AUTHORIZATION:

Cooperative Research Units Act, Public Law 86-686, Sec. 1, Sept. 2, 1960, 74 Stat. 733, as amended by the Fish and Wildlife Improvement Act of 1978, Public Law 95-616, Sec. 2, Nov. 8, 1978, 92 Stat. 3110.,

OBJECTIVES:

To work in partnership with States and universities to address the information needs of local, State, and Federal fish, wildlife, and natural resource agencies through research, technical assistance, and education.

TYPES OF ASSISTANCE:

Cooperative Agreements (Discretionary Grants)

USES AND USE RESTRICTIONS:

Authority is limited to research with an educational component conducted through one of 40 Cooperative Fish and Wildlife Research Units and their host universities. Awards are limited to information needs related to fish, wildlife, ecology, and natural resources of interest to program cooperators and partners.

Applicant Eligibility:

Specialized group (e.g. health professionals, students, veterans); Universities hosting Cooperative Fish and Wildlife Research Units established under authority of the Cooperative Research Units Act of 1960.

Beneficiary Eligibility:

Federal; Specialized group (e.g. health professionals, students, veterans); Anyone/general public; Scientist/Researchers; Industrialist/ Business person; State; Local; Federal, State and local governments, industry and public decision makers, research scientists, State institutions of higher education, and the general public will ultimately benefit from the program.

Credentials/Documentation:

Proposed research application responsive to the instructions issued by the USGS. 2 CFR 200, Sub-part E - Cost Principles applies to this program.

Preapplication Coordination:

Pre-application coordination is required. Environmental impact information is not required for this program. This program is excluded from coverage under E.O. 12372. Requires each research project to be conducted in collaboration and cooperation with USGS personnel stationed at Cooperative Fish and Wildlife Research Units, and cooperating agency representatives. Discussions to determine interest and appropriateness of research projects for a Cooperative Fish and Wildlife Research Unit are required before proposals are submitted.

Application Procedures:

2 CFR 200, Uniform Administrative Requirements, Cost Principles, and Audit Requirements for Federal Awards applies to this program. This program is subject to the provisions of 2 CFR Part 200 and Department of the Interior regulations 2 CFR Part 1402 and 43 CFR Part 12. Application form Standard Form (SF) 424 must be used. The application requirements as contained in the announcement package and the above regulations must be used for this program. Applications may be made only through the internet site <http://www.grants.gov>. Notice of Funding Opportunities (NOFO) for this listing will be posted on Grants.gov.

Award Procedure:

Notification of an award is by receipt of a Research Work Order document from a U.S. Geological Survey contracting officer.

PROGRAM ACCOMPLISHMENTS:

Fiscal Year 2020: Thirty-six states submitted applications, and 36 states were awarded at least partial funds totaling $1,890,365. Awards will support 31,597 student hours. Funded data preservation efforts included: digitization and standardization to Geologic Map Schema (GeMS) format of geologic maps and databases to enable integration with other maps and spatially-relevant data; compiling, digitizing and making available maps, geochemical data, geophysical logs, field notebooks and mining records relevant to critical minerals; developing databases for geochemical, oil and gas, and critical minerals data; compiling depth to basement maps, preserving, photographing, and publicly exposing on the Web valuable rock cores for study and analysis; and preserving oil/gas well records and related cuttings collections to advance geologic studies and resource development. Tools to improve efficiency are also shared for use by others, i.e., GeMS conversion tools. A total of 324 geologic maps are planned for conversion to GeMS format. The geoscience data, collections, and artifacts preserved by state geological surveys are described in the National Digital Catalog <https://www.sciencebase.gov/catalog/item/4f4e4760e4b07f02db47dfb4> and information about the NGGDPP is available at <https://datapreservation.usgs.gov>. Fiscal Year 2021: Thirty-six states submitted applications, and 33 states were awarded at least partial funds totaling $1,761,413. Awards will support 33,380 student hours. Funded data preservation efforts included: digitization and standardization to GeMS format of paper geologic maps and databases to enable integration with other maps and spatially-relevant data; compiling, digitizing and making available maps, geochemical data, geophysical logs, field notebooks and mining records relevant to critical minerals; developing databases for geochemical, oil and gas, and critical minerals data; compiling depth borehole information, preserving, photographing, and publicly exposing on the Web valuable rock cores for study and analysis; and preserving oil/gas well records and related cuttings collections to advance geologic studies and resource development. A total of 172 geologic maps are planned for conversion to GeMS format. The geoscience data, collections, and artifacts preserved by state geological surveys are described in the National Digital Catalog <https://www.sciencebase.gov/catalog/item/4f4e4760e4b07f02db47dfb4> and information about the NGGDPP is available at <https://datapreservation.usgs.gov>. Fiscal Year 2022: In FY22, the NGGDPP anticipates receiving approximately 35 project proposals, and awarding 28 to 30 grants. The Program Announcement for NGGDPP grants is expected to be issued in November/December of 2021. No further information is available.

EXAMPLES OF FUNDED PROJECTS:

ASSISTANCE LISTINGS DESCRIPTIONS

2020 NNGDPP funded an effort to preserve historical records of mine and boring location maps and downhole / core logs, as well as supplementary information such as reserve calculations, exploration details and prospect reports, and cross-sections indicating ore deposits of the Ozark-Mahoning Mining Company. The data are essential for understanding the occurrence and distribution of fluorite resources but also critical minerals including rare earth elements (REE). Another project will inventory and preserve collections of field notebooks and detailed maps from retiring or recently retired geologists. The collection is essential to future geologists and describes features no longer accessible, degraded, or no longer in existence. In addition, published and unpublished data on the occurrence of chromium, tungsten, uranium and platinum-group elements will be compiled and summarized to identify areas prospective for undiscovered critical minerals. A third project will inventory and photograph approximately 2,200 oil exploration and gas storage well cores for inclusion in the web application, GeoCore. Most of the core collection will be publicly accessible to allow researchers to view the core collection and request core samples remotely. This project is essential to improve public access and provide cost savings to researchers without the need in-person inspection. NNGDPP is collaborating with the USGS Energy and Minerals Mission Area to fund data preservation activities to support critical minerals resource identification. These projects are still active and Final Technical Reports documenting accomplishments have not been submitted yet. 2021 NNGDPP funded a major effort to inventory, barcode, and photograph all cores housed at this geological survey's sample repository beginning with geothermal core. A web application will be developed to disseminate the photographs and metadata, increasing the searchability and discoverability of these data promoting sustainable energy development. A complementary effort will involve conversion of geothermal well logs into tabular data for integration into the relational database management system increasing usability and interoperability. This project will also include the digitization of mining district documents, maps, and historic data. Information related to critical mineral resources will be compiled and made public in a new interactive web application. Another project photographs core from 103 holes drilled by the states Department of Transportation and will provide online access to the photographs. A second component of this project delivers data from the Lafayette County portion of the Mineral Development Atlas online, to include geolocated boreholes, mine workings, and ore bodies in the lead-zinc district covering parts of Wisconsin, Illinois, and Iowa. A third task will rescue and inventory cores from the Lynne Deposit in Oneida County and then transport to the core repository for photography and physical archiving. These tasks preserve valuable resources for exploration, development, and management. A third project will assess, preserve, and inventory geological cores that were initially drilled for dam and infrastructure studies. This first task improves the existing database and provides public access. These cores are in despair and were not protected since the 1960s-70s. They cannot be reacquired as structures now overlie the sites. A second component of this project will digitize documents describing the drilled Elk Creek Anomaly/Carbonatite rock cores inventoried within the repository. The Elk Creek Anomaly/Carbonatite has many known rare earth minerals but is most notable for having the largest known deposits of niobium in the United States. The developed database accessed via the web will serve the scanned documents to disseminate the information for further geoscientific research. This project is essential to improve public access and preserve assets that are irreplaceable and vital for improving infrastructure planning and understanding of critical mineral resources. NNGDPP is collaborating with Energy and Minerals Program to fund data preservation activities to support critical minerals resource identification. 2022 Program has not yet submitted the Program announcement nor selected projects for funding. Program anticipates funding projects that preserve and update geological and geophysical data to make this data available to the public.
