PROGRAM ACCOMPLISHMENTS:

Fiscal Year 2020: The Cooperative Science Center awards expanded higher education access for students from communities historically excluded from careers in the NOAA-mission enterprise. They supported 363 students of which 63 graduated with undergraduate degrees (39) or graduate degrees (20 Master's and 4 doctoral). In addition, 3 CSC graduates entered the NOAA mission enterprise workforce as Federal employees or contractors - others are pursuing higher degrees and or in the workforce in academia, private sector and state agencies. The CSCs increased the number of post-secondary students trained with core competencies relevant to the NOAA-mission workforce, including: increased quantitative and analytical skills; increased competence in applying STEM to decision making, policy, and management; and increased skills to use large data sets, geographical information systems and statistical analysis, computer modeling, and algorithm development. Although the COVID-19 pandemic impacted access to NOAA offices, CSC graduate students completed virtual graduate internships with NOAA scientists and other professionals serving as mentors. CSC students and faculty published 59 refereed journal articles, 4 books, 6 book chapters and made over 100 presentations at national and regional meetings, on campuses. All presentations, after March 2020, were in virtual settings.

Extension requests will be considered by the federal program office only if the recipient has submitted all required performance reports. At least sixty days prior to the end of the award, recipients must discuss with their federal program officer expected reprogramming and extension requests. After preliminary negotiation on proposed projects and extensions, formal written reprogramming and extension requests must be submitted to the NOAA at least 30 days prior to end date. Recipients should make every effort to submit one extension request for all projects needing an extension (when possible, multiple extension requests should be avoided). With sufficient justification, the federal program office will recommend approval of an extension up to 1 year for the first extension request. First time or cumulative extension requests for more than six months but less than 12 months, will need more compelling justification as to why the project was not completed on time or could not be completed within the first six-month extension. Although the federal program office discourages extensions of more than 12 months, the federal program office will recommend approval in cases where the funds are already obligated. Reports:

The terms and conditions of the financial assistance awarded through these grant programs require regular progress reporting and communication of project accomplishments to MDP. This information collection enables MDP to monitor and evaluate the activities supported by federal funds to ensure accountability to the public and to ensure that funds are used consistent with the purpose for which they were appropriated. It also ensures that reported information is standardized in such a way that allows for it to be meaningfully synthesized across a diverse set of projects and project types. MDP uses the information collected in a variety of ways to communicate with federal and non-federal partners and stakeholders on individual project and general program accomplishments. The terms and conditions of the financial assistance awarded through these grant programs require regular financial reporting via federal standard form SF-425. EXAMPLES OF FUNDED PROJECTS:

2020 The NOAA Marine Debris Program regularly provides funding to support eligible organizations to conduct research directly related to marine debris through field, laboratory, and modeling experiments. 2021 The NOAA Marine Debris Program regularly provides funding for projects that create long-term, quantifiable ecological benefits and habitat improvements through on-the-ground marine debris removal activities, with highest priority for those targeting derelict fishing gear and other medium- and large-scale debris. The NOAA Marine Debris Program also supports projects that actively engage and educate a target audience (such as students, teachers, recreational fisher communities, state or local governments, industries, elected officials, etc) in hands-on programs designed to raise awareness, reduce barriers to marine debris prevention (e.g., lack of access to waste receptacles or alternatives to single-use items), and encourage and support changes in behaviors to ensure long-term prevention of marine debris.

CRITERIA FOR SELECTING PROPOSALS:

Applications for marine debris removal projects are funded through competitive solicitations for proposals, non-competitive awards, or unsolicited applications for which no competition exists. Proposals are evaluated by at least three individual technical reviewers and scored according to the criteria and weights described in the specific funding opportunity description. These criteria are: Importance and Applicability; Technical/Scientific Merit; Overall Qualifications of Applicants; Project Costs; and Outreach and Education. Reviewer comments, composite project scores, and a rank order of reviewed proposals are presented to the NOAA Marine Debris Program Selecting Official. The Selecting Official, in consultation with NOAA Marine Debris Program staff, will identify the proposals to be recommended to the NOAA Grants Management Division for funding and will determine the amount of funds available for each approved proposal.

EXAMPLES OF FUNDED PROJECTS:

2020 Example Project 1. Enable civilian authorities to work with their local installation to identify high priority transportation corridors and impact to the local mission from vulnerability of these routes to water threats (e.g., storm surge, wave action, high water levels, tidal action, storm water, and groundwater) through a community-based planning process yielding actionable enhancements following consideration of environmentally and economically feasible improvements to optimize the sustainability of the local mission. Position civilian authorities to carry out solutions by leveraging public and private resources to enhance the resiliency of the local installation. Example Project 2. Enable civilian authorities to work with their local installation to conduct a resiliency review of an 11-mile water line as the main source of water for the local mission, including a business plan of investment and sustainment strategies to ensure the long-term reliability of the line. Local planning effort included development of a GIS-based query tool to improve awareness among stakeholders and an educational symposium to raise awareness across military and civilian stakeholders. Example Project 3. Enable civilian authorities to work with their local installation to conduct an energy and water resilience study to identify and analyze vulnerabilities to critical and aging infrastructure; points of failure (energy and water); transportation limitations; need for water importation; seismic, flood, wind, heat, extreme weather, drought and chronically overdrawn water table as natural risks; communication risks; and to create an action plan to support the continued mission readiness of the installation. July 2019 magnitude 6.4 and 7.1 earthquakes affected installation and region highlighting several vulnerabilities. 2022 The Office of Local Defense Community Cooperation requested Military Installation Resilience Nominations from the

EXAMPLES OF FUNDED PROJECTS:

2021 oThe National Fish and Wildlife Foundation (NFWF) leverages public and private funding to maintain and improve natural resources located off of DoD installations through its Longleaf Stewardship Fund to relieve or eliminate current or anticipated Endangered Species Act restrictions that could interfere with current or anticipated military activities. The Longleaf Stewardship Fund investments will support longleaf pine restoration and protection objectives that are supportive of and complementary to the missions of each of the signatory federal agencies, including DoD, to the Longleaf Pine Memorandum of Understanding. The Stewardship Fund will, in part, direct investments to large geographic conservation areas that are anchored by military installations in communities located throughout the historic longleaf pine range including, North Carolina, South Carolina, Georgia, Florida, Alabama, Mississippi, Louisiana and Texas. oThe National Association of Conservation Districts (NACD) assists DoD by engaging local Conservation districts to build local capacity around military installations and ranges to more effectively engage private landowners in sustainable land use and management practices that preserve and enhance the militarys ability to test, train, and operate. Additionally, NACD is developing information and resources for local conservation districts on the importance of private, working lands to the DoD; and emphasizing the strong historical role that DoD has played in helping sustain these lands. oThe Army is partnering with a land trust in New Mexico to leverage REPI funding with non-DoD contributions to permanently protect over private and state lands located in the Northern Call-Up Area and Western Call-Up Area adjacent to White Sands Missile Range (WSMR) to preserve the largest overland test and evaluation range in the U.S. for long-range precision fires, directed-energy systems, hypersonics, swarming autonomous drones, and nuclear and chemical threat simulations from incompatible development.

Fiscal Year 2021: Elimination of Hexavalent Chromium/Cadmium for Sustainment - Phase II: This initiative is intended to demonstrate and conduct a proof of concept that the industrial base can support a transition to ZnNi plated hardware. During Phase II, the project team will build upon previous work and progress to technology validation via application on a specific weapon system platform. The team will demonstrate the technology on the Self-Propelled Howitzer System (SPHS) specifically the M109A7 (Paladin) which is currently fielded by the US Army.

EXAMPLES OF FUNDED PROJECTS:

2020 Inspection and Fractographic Analysis to Develop a Digital Twin for a Legacy Aircraft: The overall objective of this initiative is to develop and validate a process to create detailed digital twins when much of the necessary technical data is missing. Using the B-1 as a surrogate to achieve this will provide the military with non-proprietary government owned models and methods that can be used to evaluate damage or changes to the aircraft usage in order to repair, modify the design, modify structural inspection intervals or even reevaluate the design life of the asset, with the end result being an environment that provides the best possible aircraft sustainment and fleet readiness. 2021 Elimination of Hexavalent Chromium/Cadmium for Sustainment - Phase II: This initiative is intended to demonstrate and conduct a proof of concept that the industrial base can support a transition to ZnNi plated hardware. In addition, the program allowed students who were already enrolled at grantee, the opportunity to earn a certificate in FTE, a program that helps develop their skills to be flight test-ready engineers upon graduation and to increase their readiness to enter the DON STEM workforce. By the completion of the program, the grantee had met all their program goals, resulting in 281 K-12 students being inspired, 190 undergraduate students being flown in FTE aircraft, 8 Senior Design projects funded, 32 new enrollments at the Patuxent River Naval Air Station (Pax NAS) Education Center, and numerous students with STEM degrees from grantee. The program also included uniformed members of Navy and current Navy civilians as successful recipients of the M.S. degree in FTE and the FTE certificate. In addition, a number of students selected civilian and contractor DON STEM careers including working at or in support of Pax NAS.

2021 DHAPP's objective, funded through the PEPFAR & DOD program, is to save lives, prevent HIV infections, and accelerate progress toward achieving HIV/AIDS epidemic control and to support the development of interventions and programs in military health systems that address these issues. DHAPP works with militaries of foreign countries to devise plans based on the following process: Meet with key partners in country to determine provisional major program areas and other technical assistance needs. Adapt DHAPP support to a country's need for prevention, care and/or treatment of its HIV/AIDS situation based on an assessment of the country's epidemic, and more specifically, in that country's military. Strengthen the military capacity for ownership and behavioral changes over the long term. Consider program design by leveraging assets with other country partners who have/had successful prevention, care, and/or treatment efforts. Focus on prevention, care and/or treatment impact aligned with national implementation plans. Implement and monitor programs to ensure accountability and sustainability

EXAMPLES OF FUNDED PROJECTS:

2021 A Combined Experimental, Theoretical And Computational Approach To The Interaction Of Prompt X-Rays With Solar Panels. This proposal provides quantitative measurements of the plasma ablated from the surface of solar panel materials by bursts of soft prompt X-ray radiation, such as that expected from high altitude/exo-atmospheric nuclear detonations. These measurements will underpin the use of different models of the plasma properties in these conditions, and the models will then be utilised as the basis for high resolution simulations of solar panels. Computational Modeling Of Immune Responses To Clostridium Difficile Infection For Predicting Therapeutic Efficacy. This project proposes to develop computational models and tools of the kinetic of infection, host response, pathology and response to treatment with a major focus on toxicogenic bacteria.

CRITERIA FOR SELECTING PROPOSALS:

Generally, the principal evaluation and selection criteria are the technical or socio-economic merits of the proposal and potential long term contributions of DTRA's specific mission. Other selection criteria vary with the nature of the specific research or research-related activity. Typically, these include the qualifications, capabilities, and experience of the proposed Principal Investigator and/or key personnel who are critical in achieving the proposal objectives; adequacy of current or planned facilities, and equipment; and reasonableness and realism of the proposed costs.

ASSISTANCE LISTINGS DESCRIPTIONS

PROGRAM ACCOMPLISHMENTS:

Fiscal Year 2020: The Congressionally Directed Medical Research Programs (CDMRP) is a global funding organization that fosters novel approaches to biomedical research in response to the expressed needs of its stakeholdersthe American public, the military, and Congress. CDMRP originated in 1992 when Congress first appropriated funds to the Department of Defense (DOD), specifically for breast cancer research. Since that time, Congress has added additional research programs and topics. CDMRP now manages individual research programs focused on military medical research, cancer research, and other disease-, disorder-, and injury-specific research. All the programs managed by CDMRP share the common goal of advancing paradigm-shifting research, solutions that will lead to cures or improvements in patient care, or breakthrough technologies and resources for clinical benefit. CDMRP strives to transform healthcare for Service members and the American public by funding innovative and impactful research. CDMRP oversees the investment of congressionally directed dollars to fund groundbreaking, high-impact, high-risk, high-reward, meritorious research that targets critical research gaps. CDMRP also provides management support of intramural and extramural military medical research. CDMRP is located under the US Army Futures Command and within US Army Medical Research and Development Command (USAMRDC). Since it first originated in fiscal year 1992 (FY92), CDMRP has been responsible for managing more than $15.94 billion (B) in funding targeted for congressionally directed research areas/topics.

PROGRAM ACCOMPLISHMENTS:

Fiscal Year 2020: After requesting Navy Base Realignment and Closure property for educational uses in 2006, Bowdoin College determined in 2019 that it no longer needed 144 acres of the original 275. The Navy asked the Midcoast Regional Redevelopment Authority (MRRRA) to add the property to their existing economic development conveyance. MRRRA concurred then engaged a consultant to work with MRRRA, the Town of Brunswick, and the public to develop a land use vision for the parcel to modify the existing plan. As part of this process, the consultant documented the existing natural and manmade conditions of the land and developed various scenarios based on public input for how the land could be used. Because of COVID-19 restrictions on public meetings, the consultant developed and deployed an innovative virtual public engagement strategy and survey instrument to guide this process. More than 530 people participated in the online virtual tours of the parcel and the initial survey. In February 2021, the Town Council entered into an agreement to purchase the property from MRRRA for conservation and outdoor recreation purposes. Fiscal Year 2021: The 2005 Defense Base Closure and Realignment Commission recommended the Umatilla Chemical Depot be closed upon completion of the chemical demilitarization mission. Located in rural Oregon's Umatilla and Morrow Counties, the depot closed in 2012. Although the regulatory process has extended the timeline for conveyance, the Columbia Development Authority's economic development conveyance application for approximately 9,500 acres was approved in 2018. The LRA is updating their infrastructure assessment and preparing a site development report in anticipation of receiving property from the U.S. Army in Fiscal Year 2022. Fiscal Year 2022: The 1988 Defense Base Realignment and Closure Commission recommended the realignment of Pueblo Chemical Depot in Colorado. While missions relocated, the Army did not issue a Surplus Property Notice until December 2013. Since 2014, Office of Local Defense Community Cooperation technical and financial assistance has enabled the PuebloPlex Development Authority to plan for redevelopment of the site. In 2022, PuebloPlex anticipates submitting an economic development conveyance application to the U.S. Army for the entire 15,847-acre property, and the first 5,300 acres are planned to transfer to PuebloPlex in Fiscal Year 2022.

RELATED PROGRAMS:

12.600 Community Economic Adjustment ; 12.607 Community Economic Adjustment Assistance for Establishment, Expansion, Realignment, or Closure of a Military Installation;

EXAMPLES OF FUNDED PROJECTS:

2020 Example Project 1: Resulting from a grant award, a state Attorney General intervened to halt a large private wind turbine project that would have adversely impacted operations and training at an Air Force Base. The energy company also cancelled two other projects that were deemed incompatible with military operations and training. This effort assisted in the creation of a House Bill to protect statewide low-level military training routes from potential encroachment from wind farms by ensuring developers and base officials talk early in the planning process. Example Project 2: Grant funding was used by a state government to develop a Military Energy Land Use geographical web tool to support the siting process for renewable energy proposals and to inform developers of potential incompatibility with military installations, airspace and ranges. This tool compliments an existing state law authorizing local jurisdictions to incentivize renewable energy siting in areas compatible with military missions and supports national security by protecting military readiness. Example Project 3: Resulting from a grant award, a state invested more than $2.3 million in land purchases and infrastructure projects that prevent or mitigate civilian encroachment of missions at an installation. This effort included the purchase and demolition of a marina that impaired the Navys ability to dredge a turning basin wide enough to accommodate new submarine class. Efforts are presently underway to strategically locate future housing to reduce traffic congestion and improve workforce retention for the Navy. 2021 Example Project 1: Grants for Army Compatible Use Buffers (ACUBs) at the Aberdeen Proving Ground, Fort Bragg, Fort A.P. Hill, Fort Campbell, and Fort Huachuca. Example Project 2: Grants for housing studies in St. Mary's County and Camden County. Example Project 3: Grants for Compatible Use Study and Implementation Plans at Little Rock Air Base, Joint Base San Antonio, Pine Bluff Arsenal, and Fort Benning. 2022 Fiscal Year 22 Projected Projects: The Office of Local Defense Community Cooperation invited Compatible Use Nominations to the Military Services in June 2021. Projected Fiscal Year 2022 Compatible Use projects will derive from Service Nominations.

CRITERIA FOR SELECTING PROPOSALS:

Upon validating a respondents eligibility and the potential civilian development to impair the operational utility of an installation, consider each of the following equally-balanced factors as a basis to invite formal grant applications: an appropriate and clear project design to address the need, problem, or issue identified; evidence of an effective approach to ensure the project supports the continued operational utility of the local mission; the innovative quality of the proposed approach; and, a reasonable, allowable and allocable proposed budget with a non-Federal match commitment and schedule for completion of the work program specified.

PROGRAM ACCOMPLISHMENTS:

Fiscal Year 2020: $2.6 million in Industry Resilience enabled the University of Michigan, Purdue University and the Ohio State University, on behalf of their respective states, to strengthen the cybersecurity of 173 small- to medium-size defense suppliers, many in rural areas of their respective states. In surveys, 40% of the companies served stated they would not have completed their cybersecurity compliance project, or would have significantly delayed implementation, thus weakening a critical portion of the ground systems supply chain. In addition, the universities have educated over 2,500 companies and/or individuals in the defense supply chain about cybersecurity requirements for defense companies. Fiscal Year 2021: $2.1 million enabled the University of Massachusetts Lowell Research Institute (UMLRI) to establish the UMass-Lowell Advanced Manufacturing Consortium on behalf of Massachusetts to advise the Coldspray Testing and Training Technology Lab, which will allow for workforce development training involving emerging technologies such as additive manufacturing, robotics, electro-mechanical engineering, and Coldspray technology. The funds further contributed to the opening of the UMLRI Northstar Campus, a 18,842 square foot Department of Defense Innovation Hub near Hanscom Air Force Base in Lincoln, Massachusetts. These achievements will help advance innovative and disruptive technologies by providing a platform to incubate, accelerate and decrease time-to-market for technologies that support Department of Defense missions. Fiscal Year 2022: Not yet applicable

EXAMPLES OF FUNDED PROJECTS:

2020 Funded projects include a statewide effort in support of 10 U.S.C. 2391 to support local adjustment and diversification initiatives that will stimulate cooperation between statewide and local adjustment and diversification efforts. These projects will strengthen the ability of innovation-based companies to endure continuing uncertainty in defense spending and ultimately improve the resilience and responsiveness of this critical segment. The grant focuses on the acceleration of large-scale of dual use technologies critical to missions of DoD, and specifically the Army Futures Command and Defense Innovation Unit. The project will drive key DoD technologies to market more quickly, and build the regional innovation economy by creating company start-ups and jobs within the manufacturing sector. Another project led by a large regional university will work one on one with small and mid-sized companies across the state to familiarize them with the defense marketplace in order to increase the proportion of dual-use technologies and increase the diversification of the defense industrial base while also increasing the sustainability and resilience of the states manufacturing sector. This project will create new pathways for companies that do not have a strong or existing relationship with DoD . The overall goal is to provide DoD with access to novel technologies which are currently outside its purview. 2021 Current Fiscal Year 2021 Projection.Example FY21 #1: Funded project modernizes shipbuilding and improves supply chain cybersecurity. A state university, on behalf of a state, is continuing efforts to integrate maritime stakeholders across a 2,800-square-mile industrial ecosystem and develop regional partnerships with the goal of sustaining and modernizing shipbuilding. Under earlier phases, the state university completed gap analyses for the workforce and supply base and has increased outreach and training activities. The university will continue to build upon these efforts by establishing a regional talent pipeline integration program and by conducting a facilities gap assessment comparing infrastructure capability to the Navys 30-Year Shipbuilding Plan. These efforts will strengthen the regions maritime industrial base to ensure a ready Navy fleet. In addition, the state is educating defense supply chain companies on cyber compliance standards and aiding companies to achieve Cybersecurity Maturity Model Certification. Up to 85 companies will undergo a gap analysis and receive Phase I services toward the new certification. Example FY21 #2: A statewide project was funded to strengthen the defense manufacturing sector and make it more resilient to defense spending fluctuations and changing requirements. The university leading the effort will assess and improve the capabilities of at least 36 small Defense Industrial Base businesses to help them compete for new defense contract opportunities. Businesses will receive guidance in how to obtain certifications, meet federal standards, and build a competitive posture. The university will provide businesses with resources on how to develop new manufacturing capabilities and business strategies that can foresee and adapt to changing critical defense needs such as hypersonics and trusted microelectronics. Businesses will learn how to scale up production and become more agile. The overall project will expand the number of qualified and capable businesses available in the state to be matched to defense opportunities.

Example Project 2: Planning investments at one installation identified the need for 532 new housing units to support the planned mission growth. By mid-2021, the community had satisfied 316 new units and was continuing to address the balance. Investments that support the consolidation of cyber capabilities have commenced but are expected to support the growth of over 4,300 personnel by Fiscal Year 2023. This effort invests in cyber defense, resilience, and the continued integration of cyber capabilities into the full spectrum of military operations. Fiscal Year 2021: Example Project 3: Grant awards in the Pacific Northwest and Pacific Territories lay the planning foundation to identify future community investments needed to support projected installation growth and have resulted in a more unified support of the Indo-Pacific build-up with enhanced focus on the cargo through-put of the port facilities to sustain the enlarged mission footprint. Grant planning assistance will also include support to enhance public health infrastructure mitigating impacts from a Federal action, allowing an overall basing effort to progress.

ASST SECRETARY FOR HOUSING--FEDERAL HOUSING COMMISSIONER, HOUSING AND URBAN DEVELOPMENT, DEPARTMENT OF AUTHORIZATION:

National Housing Act, as amended, Section 203(k), Title National Housing, Part II, Section 203(k)

OBJECTIVES:

FHA's 203(k) Rehabilitation Mortgage program is HUD's primary program for the rehabilitation and repair of one to four family properties. It is an important tool for community and neighborhood revitalization and for expanding homeownership opportunities. The 203(k) program works with either a purchase or refinance transaction and allows the cost of making repairs and/or improvement to be included in the loan amount.

TYPES OF ASSISTANCE:

Guaranteed/Insured Loans

USES AND USE RESTRICTIONS:

These loans may be used to rehabilitate an existing 1 to 4 unit dwelling in one of four ways: (1) Purchase a structure and the land on which the structure is located and rehabilitate it; (2) purchase a structure on another site, move it onto a new foundation on the mortgaged property and rehabilitate it; or (3) refinance the existing lien secured against the subject property and rehabilitate such a structure. Maximum insurable mortgage loans for an occupant mortgagor are the same as prescribed for Section 203(b) - Program 14.117. HUD offers two 203K rehabilitation loan programs. The limited 203 (k) program does not require a minimum amount of repair costs but the program is capped at a total of $35,000 for the cost of improvements/repairs (with exceptions to $50,000 for properties located in Opportunity Zones). The other program is the Standard 203(k). A minimum of $5,000 of repair/improvement costs are required but, there are no limitations on the amount of the repair/improvements. However, statutory loan limits apply. HUD insures lenders against loss on the 203(k) loan prior to the rehabilitation/improvements are completed.

Specific activities that can be carried out with Community Development Block Grant (CDBG) funds include acquisition of real property; relocation; clearance and demolition; rehabilitation of residential and nonresidential structures; provision of public facilities and improvements, such as water and sewer facilities (which require reviews by the State single point of contact or a Regional Planning Agency in accordance with Executive Order 12372), streets, and neighborhood centers. Within program limitations, CDBG funds can also pay for public services. Recipients may provide assistance to microenterprises or other for-profit entities when the recipient determines that such assistance is appropriate to carry out an economic development project. Community-based development organizations may carry out neighborhood revitalization, community economic development, or energy conservation activities. Each CDBG eligible activity must meet one of three national objectives: benefit low- and moderate-income persons, aid in the prevention or elimination of slums or blight, or meet other community development needs having a particular urgency that the grantee is unable to finance on its own.

This program is eligible for coverage under E.O. 12372, "Intergovernmental Review of Federal Programs." An applicant should consult the office or official designated as the single point of contact in his or her State for more information on the process the State requires to be followed in applying for assistance, if the State has selected the program for review. Executive Order 12372 is applicable only where a recipient proposes to use funds for the planning or construction (reconstruction or installation) of water or sewer facilities.

Application Procedures:

Recipients submit a 3 to 5-year Consolidated Plan, an Annual Action Plan, Form SF-424 and 424-D, and certifications to HUD. If the grantee makes a complete submission within the established deadlines, the Department will make a grant award unless a determination is made by HUD that the grantee's performance is unsatisfactory. HUD will approve the submission generally within 45 days of receipt of the Annual Action Plan and required certifications unless a determination has been made that the grantee has failed to carry out its CDBG program in a timely manner or has failed to conform to the requirements of the statute or other applicable laws. Under such circumstances, HUD may take appropriate actions, including a reduction in the amount of the original formula-allocated grant.

FEDERAL AGENCY:

ASSISTANT SECRETARY FOR COMMUNITY PLANNING AND DEVELOPMENT, HOUSING AND URBAN DEVELOPMENT, DEPARTMENT OF

AUTHORIZATION:

Housing and Community Development Act of 1974, Title I, Section 101-122, Statute 88-633, Public Law 93-383, 42 USC Code 5301-5322. Coronavirus Aid,

ASSISTANCE LISTINGS DESCRIPTIONS

Relief, and Economic Security Act or "CARES Act", Section Division B, Title XII, Public Law 116-136, SUPPORT for Patients and Communities Act, Section 8071, Public Law 115-271

OBJECTIVES:

The primary objective of this program is the development of viable urban communities by providing decent housing, a suitable living environment, and expanding economic opportunities, principally for persons of low- and moderate-income. Each activity funded must meet one of the program's National Objectives by: Benefiting low- and moderate-income families; aiding in the prevention or elimination of slums or blight; or meeting other community development needs having a particular urgency because existing conditions pose a serious and immediate threat to the health or welfare of the community where other financial resources are not available.

TYPES OF ASSISTANCE:

Formula Grants, Project Grants (Special), Project Grants (with Formula Distribution)

USES AND USE RESTRICTIONS:

Thirty percent of funds available for distribution under each annual appropriation for the Community Development Block Grant (CDBG) program is allocated among the States and Puerto Rico (which is considered to be a state for the State CDBG program) for use in areas which are not a metropolitan city or part of an urban county (nonentitlement areas). All States except Hawaii have elected to administer these CDBG funds for areas that do not receive CDBG entitlement grants (14.218). HUD awards the formula grants to these States under the CDBG/State Program. In Hawaii, HUD awards the state's share of these funds to the three non-entitlement counties by formula. States must distribute CDBG funds to units of general local government (counties, towns, etc.) in nonentitlement areas. States develop their own programs and funding priorities. Units of general local government then carry out community development activities funded by the State. Eligible activities are directed toward neighborhood revitalization, economic development, or provision of improved community facilities and services. Specific activities that can be carried out with block grant funds include: Acquisition, rehabilitation or construction of certain public works facilities and improvements, such as streets, water and sewer facilities, neighborhood centers, recreation facilities, and other public works; demolition and clearance; rehabilitation of public and private buildings including housing; code enforcement; relocation payments and assistance; economic development; planning activities; certain public services with some restrictions; and administrative expenses. The projected use of funds must be developed to ensure that all activities will meet one of the three national objectives described under "OBJECTIVES". Communities receiving CDBG funds from a state may select subgrantees to carry out approved projects. Such subgrantees may include: Neighborhood-based nonprofit organizations; local development corporations; Small Business Investment Companies; or other nonprofit organizations serving the development needs of nonentitlement areas. Grant recipients may provide assistance to for-profit entities when the recipient determines that the provision of such assistance is appropriate to carry out an economic development project. Communities are restricted from constructing or rehabilitating public facilities for the general conduct of government and from making housing allowances or other income maintenance-type payments. Each State may use a limited portion of its grant, subject to a matching requirement, to administer the program. Each State may also use a limited portion of its grant, with no matching requirement, to provide technical assistance to local governments and nonprofit program recipients. At least seventy percent of the funds received must benefit low and moderate income persons.

Applicant Eligibility:

State (includes District of Columbia, public institutions of higher education and hospitals); Forty-nine State governments and the Commonwealth of Puerto Rico receive funds from HUD under this program. The District of Columbia is funded under the CDBG Entitlement Program. The State of Hawaii does not participate and HUD allocates the state's share of funds to the three Hawaii non-entitled counties. Funds are allocated to each state based on a statutory formula. States must distribute the funds to units of general local government in nonentitlement areas. Recovery Housing Program funds are allocated according to a separate provision and funding formula from the Housing and Community Development Act funding formula that does not include every State.

Beneficiary Eligibility:

Local; Moderate Income; Low Income; The principal beneficiaries of CDBG funds are low- and moderate- income persons. For non-metropolitan areas, low- and moderate- income is generally defined as 80 percent of the median income for non-metropolitan areas of the State or of the county, whichever is higher, adjusted for family size. For eligible localities in metropolitan areas, low- and moderate-income is generally defined as 80 percent of the median income for the metropolitan area, adjusted for family size.

The Consolidated Plan and annual action plan cover four major formula-distribution HUD community development programs, including CDBG. The annual action plan must contain the method by which the State will distribute its CDBG funds.

Award Procedure:

In determining the amount awarded to a successful applicant, HUD will take into consideration the amount of funds available, the final score assigned to the application by HUD reviewers, and HUD's overall technical assistance needs, including establishing a range of subject matter expertise and geographic coverage, as well as an applicants capacity to serve HUD's grantees, subgrantees, and other customers across multiple programs or topics. For prior award recipient, HUD may consider information from a Contracting Officer, GTR, GTM, POTAC, and/or other HUD staff, as appropriate, on past performance, as well as award balances not committed to TA tasks or work plans. These considerations may reduce an applicant's award. There may be insufficient funds available to make an award to every application scoring within the fundable range. HUD will send written notifications to both successful and unsuccessful applicants. A notification sent to a successful applicant is not an authorization to begin performance. Upon notification that an applicant has been selected for award, HUD will request additional information to be submitted or may work with the applicant to amend information that was already submitted as part of the application.

Formula and Matching Requirements:

Statutory Formula: Matching Requirements: Percent: 0%. Requirement: Matching requirements are voluntary. The formula uses nationally available data, including the following factors as used in the CDBG formula and Emergency Solutions Grant (ESG) formula on poverty, housing overcrowding, population, age of housing, and growth lag. To determine a rural county's PPRN, HUD will calculate the sum of the PPRN amount for the rural county as well as any metropolitan cities therein. The cumulative PPRN amount for the rural county will be the basis for determining the maximum award amount for which the county may apply. Matching Requirements: There is a minimum of 25 percent cash or in-kind match on all eligible funding costs except leasing, data collection and administrative costs. For in-kind match, the government-wide grant requirements of HUD's regulations at 24 CFR 84.23 and CFR 85.24. The 25 percent match requirement is calculated on the total grant amount. 14.272 National Disaster Resilience Competition

Community Development Block Grant P. L. 113-2,

FEDERAL AGENCY:

ASSISTANT SECRETARY FOR COMMUNITY PLANNING AND DEVELOPMENT, HOUSING AND URBAN DEVELOPMENT, DEPARTMENT OF

AUTHORIZATION:

Disaster Relief Appropriations Act, 2013 Public Law 113-2., , Public Law 113-2

OBJECTIVES:

The overall CDBG program objective is to develop viable urban communities, by providing decent housing and a suitable living environment, and by expanding economic opportunities, principally for persons of low and moderate income. The National Resilient Disaster Competition program funds appropriated by P.L. 113-2 are available for resilient recovery projects and necessary expenses related to disaster relief, long-term recovery, restoration of infrastructure and housing, and economic revitalization in the most impacted and distressed areas resulting from a major disaster declared pursuant to the due to Hurricane Sandy and other eligible events in calendar years 2011, 2012, and 2013.

TYPES OF ASSISTANCE:

Project Grants (Discretionary)

USES AND USE RESTRICTIONS:

The competition supports innovative resilience projects at the local level while encouraging communities to adopt policy changes and activities that plan for the impacts of extreme weather and rebuild affected areas to be better prepared for the future. The competition underscores the ability communities have to not only recover from recent disasters but also rebuild better and stronger for the future. It will allow them to engage local stakeholders, nongovernmental organizations and the philanthropic sector to protect their own communities from the impacts of climate change by enhancing resilient infrastructure, building on sound science, and deploying innovative approaches to investments. These funds will enable eligible communities to access resources that help both recover from the previous disaster and make plans, decisions, and investments that make them more resilient to the next disaster. Recipients may undertake a wide range of activities directed toward disaster relief, long-term recovery, restoration of infrastructure and housing, and economic revitalization. However, Community Development Block Grant Disaster Recovery (CDBG DR) funds may not be used for activities reimbursable by or for which funds are made available by the Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA) or the Army Corps of Engineers. Grantees must conduct an assessment of community impacts and unmet needs to guide the development and prioritization of planned recovery activities and develop their own programs and funding priorities as long as programs/activities conform to the statutory standards and program regulations. Some of the specific activities that can be carried out with CDBG DR funds include buying damaged properties in a flood plain and relocating residents to safer areas; relocation payments for people and businesses displaced by the disaster; debris removal not covered by FEMA; rehabilitation of homes and buildings damaged by the disaster; buying, constructing, or rehabilitating public facilities such as streets, neighborhood centers, and water, sewer and drainage systems; code enforcement; homeownership activities such as down payment assistance, interest rate subsidies and loan guarantees for disaster victims; public services (generally limited to no more than 15 percent of the grant); helping businesses retain or create jobs in disaster impacted areas; and planning and administration costs (limited to no more than 20 percent of the grant). Eligible activities must meet at least one of three program national objectives: benefit persons of low and moderate income, aid in the prevention or elimination of slums or blight, or meet other urgent community development needs because existing conditions pose a serious and immediate threat to the health and welfare of the community where other financial resources are not available. CDBG DR grants primarily benefit low-income residents in and around communities that have experienced a natural disaster. Generally, grantees must use at least half of Disaster Recovery funds for activities that principally benefit low-and moderate-income persons. These can be either activities in which all or the majority of people who benefit have low or moderate incomes or activities that benefit an area or service group in which at least 51 percent of the populous are of low- and moderate-income. HUD can only waive this requirement on a showing of compelling need." Recipients may contract with other local agencies or nonprofit organizations to carry out components of their programs.

Applicant Eligibility:

Local (includes State-designated Indian Tribes, excludes institutions of higher education and hospitals; U.S. Territories and possessions; State; CDBG DR competitive funds are made available to States and units of general local governments designated by the President of the United States as disaster areas. These communities must have significant unmet recovery needs and the capacity to carry out a disaster recovery program (usually these are governments that already receive HOME or Community Development Block Grant allocations). Grantees may use CDBG Disaster Recovery funds for recovery efforts involving housing, economic development, infrastructure and prevention of further damage to affected areas. However, CDBG DR funds may not be used for activities reimbursable by or for which funds are made available by the Federal Emergency Management Agency or the Army Corps of Engineers.

Beneficiary Eligibility:

Small business; Profit organization; Private nonprofit institution/organization; Anyone/general public; Interstate; Homeowner; State; Local; Senior Citizen (60+); Moderate Income; Low Income; Public nonprofit institution/organization; The principal beneficiaries of CDBG DR funds are low- and moderate-income persons (generally defined as a member of a family having an income equal to or less than the Section 8 low income limit established by HUD) in communities that have experienced a disaster event. Generally, grantees must use at least half of Disaster Recovery funds for activities that principally benefit low-and moderate-income persons. These can be either activities in which all or the majority of people who benefit have low or moderate incomes or activities that benefit an area or service group in which at least 51 percent of the populous are of low- and moderate-income. HUD can only waive this requirement on a showing of compelling need."

Credentials/Documentation:

Recipients must certify they will meet program requirements and applicable federal requirements. 2 CFR 200, Sub-part E - Cost Principles applies to this program.

Preapplication Coordination:

Pre-application coordination is required. An environmental impact assessment is required for this listing. This program is excluded from coverage under E.O. 12372. Stafford Disaster Relief and Emergency Assistance Act (42 U.S.C. 5155), to ensure timely expenditure of funds, to maintain comprehensive websites regarding all disaster recovery activities assisted with these funds, and to detect and prevent waste, fraud, and abuse of funds.

Application Procedures:

2 CFR 200, Uniform Administrative Requirements, Cost Principles, and Audit Requirements for Federal Awards applies to this program. Recipients submit a comprehensive application to be considered for funding, SF Form 424, and certifications to HUD. The Application must meet the criteria of the NOFA and must identify the proposed use(s) of the grantees allocation, including criteria for eligibility, and how the uses address long-term recovery needs. Application for CDBG-RDR waiver and alternative requirement. The requirements for CDBG actions plans, located at 42 U.S.C. 12705(a)(2), 42 U.S.C. 5304(a)(1), 42 U.S.C. 5304(m), 42 U.S.C. 5306(d)(2)(C)(iii), 24 CFR 91.220, and 91.320 are waived for funds provided under the Appropriations Act. Instead, each grantee must submit to HUD an Application for CDBG-RDR. During the course of the grant, HUD will monitor the grantees actions and use of funds for consistency with the application, and meeting the performance and timeliness objectives therein and in this Attachment A. Per the Appropriations Act, and in addition to the requirements at 24 CFR 91.500, the Secretary may disapprove an amendment to an application if it is determined that the amended application does not satisfy all of the required elements identified in this NOFA.

Action Plans must demonstrate how funds will be fully expended within two years of obligation. For any funds that the grantee believes will not be expended by the deadline, it must submit a letter to HUD justifying why it is necessary to extend the deadline for a specific portion of funds. Additionally, P.L. 113-2 requires that HUD obligate all funds provided under Chapter 9, Community Development Fund, not later than September 30, 2017. However, NDR grantees have requested extensions of the expenditure deadline up until September 30, 2022. Those expenditure extensions will be published in a subsequent expenditure Federal Register notice. Method of awarding/releasing assistance: letter

Reports:

HUD requires grantees to enter information in HUD's Disaster Recovery Grant Reporting (DRGR) system in sufficient detail to permit the Department's review of grantee performance on a quarterly basis through a Quarterly Performance Report (QPR). HUD reviews these quarterly reports to assess grantee compliance and performance. Quarterly reports include information on obligation, expenditures, leveraging, drawdowns, and accomplishments for all grantee activities. Each grantee must submit a QPR through the DRGR system no later than 30 days following the end of each calendar quarter. The Quarterly Performance Report (QPR), submitted by grantees on a quarterly basis through HUD's Disaster Recovery Grant Reporting (DRGR) system include information on expenditures for all their activities. For all Headquarters-held grants under this appropriation, HUD staff will conduct at least one annual on-site monitoring review. The Office of Community Planning and Development's CPD Notice CPD -12-02, 'Implementing Risk Analyses for Monitoring Community Planning and Development Grant Programs' describes the Department's risk analysis process. AND URBAN DEVELOPMENT, DEPARTMENT OF

AUTHORIZATION:

Housing Act of 1937; Further Consolidated Appropriations Act 2020, , Public Law 116-94

OBJECTIVES:

The moderate rehabilitation (Mod Rehab) program was designed in 1978 to be an expansion of the rental certificate program. The rental certificate program was initially amended to permit moderate levels of rehabilitation to upgrade and preserve the nation's housing stock. Although the rental certificate program stimulated maintenance of the housing stock (with investment by owners averaging $1500 in repairs to meet the program housing quality standards), it was estimated that at least 2.7 million rental units had deficiencies requiring a moderate level of upgrading; approximately 85% of these units were in buildings of fewer than 20 units. The Mod Rehab program was designed to upgrade that housing stock. The program was repealed in 1991 and no new projects are authorized for development. Assistance is limited to properties previously rehabilitated pursuant to a housing assistance payments (HAP) contract between an owner and a Public Housing Agency (PHA). TYPES OF ASSISTANCE:

This type of grant is awarded through competition with other single purpose projects. Single purpose ICDBG funds may be used for the following basic eligible activities: acquisition, disposition, public facilities and improvements, clearance activities, public services, interim assistance for addressing signs of physical deterioration, payment of non-Federal share, relocation, payments for loss of rental income, housing services, projects for privately owned utilities, assistance to facilitate economic development, technical assistance, assistance to institutions of higher education, and homeownership assistance. The amount of funds reserved for imminent threat funding during each funding cycle will be stated in the notice of Funding Availability (NOFA). If any of the reserved funds are not used to fund imminent threat grants during a fiscal year, they will be added to the allocation of ICDBG funds for the subsequent fiscal year and will be used as if they were a part of the new allocation.

Imminent threat grants: Letter to proceed--The Area ONAP may issue the applicant a letter to proceed to incur costs to alleviate imminent threats to health and safety only if the assisted activities do not alter environmental conditions and are for temporary or permanent improvements limited to protection, repair, or restoration actions necessary only to control or arrest the effects of imminent threats or physical deterioration. 14.871 Section 8 Housing Choice Vouchers

FEDERAL AGENCY:

ASSISTANT SECRETARY FOR PUBLIC AND INDIAN HOUSING, HOUSING AND URBAN DEVELOPMENT, DEPARTMENT OF

AUTHORIZATION:

U. S. Housing Act of 1937; Further Consolidated Appropriations Act of 2020, , Public Law 116-94, Further Consolidated Appropriations Act, 2021, Public Law 116-260, , CARES Act, 2020, Public Law 116-136, , American Rescue Plan (ARP), 2021, Public Law 117-2,

OBJECTIVES:

The housing choice voucher program is the federal government's major program for assisting very low-income families, the elderly, and the disabled to afford decent, safe, and sanitary housing in the private market. Since housing assistance is provided on behalf of the family or individual, participants are able to find their own housing, including single-family homes, townhouses and apartments. The participant is free to choose any housing that meets the requirements of the program and is not limited to units located in subsidized housing projects. The program serves the most economically vulnerable families in the country, including families with disabilities, elderly families, formerly homeless veterans, and families with children, through federal assistance voucher payments in the provision of meeting their rental housing needs. HUD regulations merged the former Section 8 Rental Voucher program (14.855) with the former Section 8 Certificate program (14.857). Section 502 of the Public Housing Reform Act states that a purpose of the legislation is "consolidating the voucher and certificate programs for rental assistance under Section 8 of the United States Housing Act of 1937 (the "USHA") into a single market-driven program that will assist in making tenant-based rental assistance more successful at helping low-income families obtain affordable housing and will increase housing choice for low-income families". The HCV is administered by local public housing agencies (PHAs) authorized under State law to operate housing programs within an area or jurisdiction. The PHAs receive federal funds from the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) to administer the voucher program. The PHA accepts a family's application for rental assistance, selects the applicant family for admission, and issues the selected family a voucher confirming the family's eligibility for assistance. The family must then find and lease a dwelling unit suitable to the family's needs and desires in the private rental market. The PHAs sign Housing Assistant Payment contracts with the landlords, and housing subsidy is paid to the landlord directly by the PHA on behalf of the participating family. The family then pays the difference between the actual rent charged by the landlord and the amount subsidized by the program. Under certain circumstances, if authorized by the PHA, a family may use its voucher to purchase a modest home.

TYPES OF ASSISTANCE:

Direct Payments for Specified Use

USES AND USE RESTRICTIONS:

Provides housing assistance payments to participating owners on behalf of eligible tenants to provide decent, safe, and sanitary housing for very low income families at rents they can afford. The PHA calculates the maximum amount of housing assistance allowable. The maximum housing assistance is generally the lesser of the payment standard minus 30% of the family's monthly adjusted income or the gross rent for the unit minus 30% of monthly adjusted income.

Applicant Eligibility:

vouchers, to include funding for homeless veterans, family unification programs, and housing stability vouchers for homeless families and victims of domestic violence. Fiscal Year 2022: The Budget requests $30.4 billion for Tenant-Based Rental Assistance (TBRA), which is approximately $5.4 billion more than the enacted level for 2021. The HCV program seeks to: provide greater access to housing choice and better housing opportunities for very low- and extremely low-income families; reduce the number of chronically homeless individuals, families, and veterans; and reverse the effects of residential segregation in the pursuit of racial equity. The 2022 Budget proposes a 200,000-voucher expansion of the HCV program, the largest one-year increase in vouchers since the program was authorized. This expansion will broaden the Federal housing safety net and provide greater access to areas of opportunity for very low-income families.

HUD posts guidance on its Main Street website at <http://www.hud.gov/offices/pih/programs/ph/hope6/grants/mainstreet/> with links to Main Street's most recent NOFA, program summaries, general guidance materials, mixed-finance guidance materials, and relevant statutes, regulations and notices. This web site provides Grantees with information on timelines, budgets, financial instructions, and other program guidance.

14.879 Mainstream Vouchers

FEDERAL AGENCY:

ASSISTANT SECRETARY FOR PUBLIC AND INDIAN HOUSING, HOUSING AND URBAN DEVELOPMENT, DEPARTMENT OF

AUTHORIZATION:

Cranston Gonzalez National Affordable Housing Act., , Public Law 101-943, Frank Melville Supportive Housing Investment Act of 2010, , Public Law 111-374, Further Consolidated Appropriations Act, 2020, , Public Law 116-94, Consolidated Appropriations Act, 2017, , Public Law 115-31, Consolidated Appropriations Act, 2021, Public Law 116-260,

OBJECTIVES:

The Mainstream Voucher Program, (previously referred to as the Mainstream 5-Year Program and/or the Section 811 Voucher Program) was originally authorized under the National Affordable Housing Act of 1990 (P.L. 101-625). The Mainstream Voucher Program provides tenant-based assistance to persons with disabilities. Until the passage of the Frank Melville Supportive Housing Investment Act of 2010 (P.L. 111-374) (Melville Act), the program operated as a separate program distinct from the regular tenant-based Housing Choice Voucher Program. The Melville Act converted the Mainstream 5-Year Program to the Housing Choice Voucher (HCV) Program under 8(o) of the U.S. Housing Act of 1937. Under the Melville Act, except for serving a specific population, Mainstream vouchers are to be treated the same as regular voucher assistance. In other words, the same regulations at 24 CFR Part 982 (Section 8 Tenant-Based Assistance: Housing Choice Voucher Program) apply to Mainstream vouchers. There is no authority to treat families that receive a Mainstream voucher differently from other applicants and participants of the HCV program. After enactment of the Melville Act (i.e., subsequent to conversion of this assistance to section 8(o) voucher assistance), funding for Mainstream voucher renewals and administrative fees was first provided in the Consolidated and Further Continuing Appropriations Act, 2012 (P.L. 112-55) under its own paragraph under the Tenant-Based Rental Assistance (TBRA) heading. The Consolidated Appropriations Act, 2017 provided funding for incremental Mainstream vouchers for the first time since the enactment of the Melville Act (in addition to renewal and administrative fee funding). These incremental vouchers exclusively assisted non-elderly persons with disabilities. The Consolidated Appropriations Act, 2018 and the Consolidated Appropriations Act, 2019 ("2019 Act") also provided funding for incremental Mainstream vouchers for non-elderly persons with disabilities, in addition to renewal and administrative fee funding. In addition, the 2019 Act states that all new and existing Mainstream vouchers must be provided to non-elderly persons with disabilities upon turnover. Consistent with prior appropriations acts, all funding for 2017-2019 Mainstream vouchers was provided under its own paragraph (e.g., paragraph (4) under the TBRA heading in the 2019 Act). While the Melville Act requires Mainstream vouchers to be treated the same as regular voucher assistance, the separate HCV Mainstream appropriations results in an accounting of Mainstream activity separate from the HCV program.

TYPES OF ASSISTANCE:

Direct Payments for Specified Use

USES AND USE RESTRICTIONS:

Provides housing assistance payments to participating owners on behalf of eligible tenants to provide decent, safe, and sanitary housing at rents they can afford. Housing assistance payments are generally the difference between the local payment standard and 30 percent of the family's adjusted income. Mainstream Vouchers can be provided to families that include a non-elderly person with disabilities.

Applicant Eligibility:

State; Public housing agencies (PHA) that is defined as any State, county, municipality or other governmental entity or public body (or agency or instrumentality thereof) which is authorized to engage in or assist in the development or operation of housing for very low income families.

Beneficiary Eligibility:

Disabled (e.g. Deaf, Blind, Physically Disabled); Mentally Disabled; A family that includes a non-elderly person with disabilities that is income-eligible under the Housing Choice Voucher program regulations at 24 CFR 982.201(b)(1) as well as other wise eligible under the regulations at 24CFR 982.201, may be selected from the PHA's housing choice voucher waiting list and receive a voucher.

Credentials/Documentation:

In the Mainstream Voucher Program, the PHA must demonstrate in its application a need for these vouchers by providing information documenting that the demand for housing for non-elderly persons with disabilities would equal or exceed the requested number of vouchers. Currently, most Mainstream Voucher programs are relatively small and do not support a separate division by itself in a PHA's organizational records. Typically, staff that work on the HCV program (i.e., waitlist, recertification, inspection functions) perform the same required functions for the Mainstream Voucher Program. If the PHA does not have a separate accounting for Accounting Brief #25: FDS Reporting Guidance for the Mainstream Voucher Program, then the PHA will need to account for the Mainstream Voucher Program costs using a reasonable cost allocation method as required under 2 CFR 200. PHAs should not use a fee concept in determining the administrative costs of the Mainstream Voucher Program where the PHAs HCV Program would charge a set fee to the Mainstream Voucher Program regardless of the actual costs incurred by the Mainstream Voucher Program. The use of the fee concept incorrectly assumes that all administrative fees earned by the Mainstream Voucher Program is the actual cost of the program. As such, a fee methodology could result in an overstatement of the HCV program administrative expenses and the actual costs of the HCV and Mainstream Voucher Program would be co-mingled in the HCV Program. This program is excluded from coverage under 2 CFR 200, Subpart E - Cost Principles.

The Tribal HUD-VASH program combines rental assistance from the Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) with supportive services provided by the Department of Veterans Affairs to Native American Veterans who are homeless or at risk of homelessness. Housing assistance under this program is made available by grants to Indian tribes and tribally designated housing entities (TDHEs) that are eligible to receive Indian Housing Block Grant funding under the Native American Housing Assistance and Self-Determination Act of 1996 (NAHASDA). Indian tribes and TDHEs that participate in this program must partner with the Department of Veterans Affairs to provide healthcare assistance and case management services to eligible Native American Veterans. Grants are awarded based on the number rental units (Tenant-Based and Project-Based Rental Assistance) approved by HUD. Grants include an additional amount for administrative costs and is awarded based on 12 months of funding.

If an application is submitted by a Tribally Designated Housing Entity (TDHE) on behalf of an Indian tribe(s), a tribal resolution(s) must be submitted authorizing the TDHE to submit the application under this program. 2 CFR 200, Sub-part E - Cost Principles applies to this program.

Preapplication Coordination:

Pre-application coordination is not applicable. Environmental impact information is not required for this program. This program is excluded from coverage under E.O. 12372.

Application Procedures:

2 CFR 200, Uniform Administrative Requirements, Cost Principles, and Audit Requirements for Federal Awards applies to this program. Under the demonstration program, eligible tribes/TDHEs were invited in each HUD (Office of Native American Programs) regional office to apply for Tribal HUD-VASH shortly after publication of 80 FR 63822. Upon HUD's approval of the application, a Tribal HUD-VASH grant will be awarded to a tribe/TDHE. HUD will issue a grant agreement to be signed by the Indian tribe or TDHE, and will disburse funds through the HUD Line of Credit Control System (LOCCS) system.

Deadlines:

Based on the information established in the Federal Register and/or Public and Indian Housing Notices issued by HUD.

Range of Approval/Disapproval Time:

From 30 to 60 days.

Appeals:

Not Applicable.

Renewals:

Other. Renewal funding under the Tribal HUD-VASH program is subject to the availability of appropriations and the information established in the notices established by HUD.

Formula and Matching Requirements:

Statutory formula is not applicable to this assistance listing. Matching requirements are not applicable to this assistance listing. MOE requirements are not applicable to this assistance listing.

Length and Time Phasing of Assistance:

Grant funding is awarded based on 12 months of funding with final project lengths negotiated with HUD's approval. Participating Indian tribes and TDHEs draw down funds from the HUD Line of Credit Control System (LOCCS) on a monthly basis to cover rental assistance payments. Method of awarding/releasing assistance: lump sum.

Reports:

The Indian tribe or TDHEs must include the use of funds in their Indian Housing Plan and Annual Performance Report. Tribal HUD-VASH grantees are required to submit a Federal Financial Report (SF-425) to HUD within 30 days after the end of each quarter. Tribal HUD-VASH grantees are required to collect and retain the relevant demographic and rental information in accordance with Program Guidance 2016-05 (Record Keeping at Initial Occupancy). Performance monitoring is required through the interim and annual reexaminations criteria below: HUD has found it necessary to require interim reexaminations if a Native American Veterans household income decreases so that the rental assistance payment may increase to cover the cost of rent. Further, if the program is given renewal authority, it will be necessary to conduct annual reexaminations to capture annual fluctuations in income and rent as well as track demographic data necessary for the reporting requirements of the program. Tribes/TDHEs must conduct an interim reexamination if the Native American Veterans income decreases between annual certifications. If there have been any changes in income, rent, or household composition they must collect and maintained in the veterans file in accordance with Program Guidance 2016-05 (Record Keeping at Initial Occupancy). A paper copy of this information must be kept in the Veterans file and be transmitted to HUD upon request once the electronic reporting system is functioning. In the event of renewal funding for the program, the Tribes/TDHEs must conduct an annual reexamination of the Native American Veteran and the households income to determine rental assistance payments and tenant rent contribution payments. Annual reexaminations must also collect and update household demographic, personal and rental information in accordance with Program Guidance 2016-05 (Record Keeping at Initial Occupancy). A paper copy of this information must be kept in the veterans file and an electronic version of this information must be sent to HUD upon request once the electronic reporting system is functioning. Rental information reported during the annual recertification will be used to calculate renewal funding. If, upon annual reexamination, a Native American veteran or his/her household is determined to be over-income, the tribe can continue to serve the Native American veteran/household and not have it count towards its 10 percent over-income cap under 24 CFR 1000.110(c). If the Native American Veteran/households adjusted rent contribution payment, based on the income increase, is equal to the rent for the unit, then the Tribal HUD-VASH rental assistance is no longer needed and this assistance must be used on the next eligible Native American Veteran. In this instance, the over-income Native American Veteran can continue to receive Case Management services from the VA for as long as the VA deems the care necessary.

Audits:

In accordance with the provisions of 2 CFR 200, Subpart F - Audit Requirements, nonfederal entities that expend financial assistance of $750,000 or more in Federal awards will have a single or a program-specific audit conducted for that year. Non-Federal entities that expend less than $750,000 a year in Federal awards are exempt from Federal audit requirements for that year, except as noted in 2 CFR 200.503. The Tribal HUD-VASH grantee is required to meet the requirements of 2 CFR 200, Subpart F, if applicable.

Records:

In addition to maintaining records of referral and eligibility determination, a Tribal HUD-VASH grantee must also collect, keep on file, and report, additional household demographic, personal (including social security numbers), and rental information using in accordance with Program Guidance 2016-05 (Record Keeping at Initial Occupancy).

Housing and Urban Development Act of 1970, Section 501-502, 12 USC Code 1701z1-2. Omnibus Appropriations Act, 2020, , Public Law -

OBJECTIVES:

HUD is interested in supporting demonstrations of programs that provide housing interventions in lower income households that are conducted jointly through the coordination of HUD's Office of Lead Hazard Control and Healthy Homes (OLHCHH)-funded Lead Hazard Control/Healthy Homes programs and Weatherization Assistance Programs funded by the U.S. Department of Energy (DOE) to determine whether this coordinated delivery of services achieves cost effectiveness and better outcomes in improving the safety and quality of homes. The coordinated assessments and interventions are expected to provide additional benefits to households through the combined mitigation of health and safety hazards and improvements in energy efficiency and comfort. These grants are intended to facilitate the leveraging of assets from both programs and support the exploration of different models of service delivery (e.g., recruitment strategies, partnerships). HUD-funded programs identify and mitigate lead-based paint and other key residential health and safety hazards such as mold and moisture, pest infestation, poor indoor air quality, radon, and injury hazards. The DOE-funded programs conduct energy audits and implement energy conservation measures, while also conducting interventions to improve health and safety (e.g., improved ventilation, installing carbon monoxide and smoke detectors).

2020 The unique public-private partnership between the Schoodic Institute (501(c)3 non-profit organization) and the National Park Service allows the two organizations to accomplish more together than they could independently. Schoodic Institute helps achieve the original vision for Acadia National Park as a destination for science and an inspiration for further conservation. Through private philanthropy, Schoodic Institute leverages NPS investment to create greater impact for science, education, and conservation. Our efforts are complementary to and coordinated with Friends of Acadia. Research led and facilitated by Schoodic Institute is addressing questions that are important to stewardship of Acadia National Park and the broader region. The Institutes setting provides research and life-long learning opportunities within one of the worlds great natural laboratories. The Institute and NPS work together to bring researchers, educators, and students to the park to use the parks diverse ecosystems as classrooms and to conduct field research. NPS and Schoodic Institute have the following shared goals for research and education, which are more broadly adopted in a 2015 Strategic Framework for NPS Research Learning Centers: Promote national parks as premier places for scientific inquiry. Facilitate and promote the use of science to make resource management decisions. Improve science literacy by incorporating science into park visitor and staff experiences. Assess and evaluate activities and adapt as necessary to achieve the vision. Scientists, educators, and citizen scientists of all ages collaborate on the ambitious vision of a better understanding of the biodiversity and resources of all of Acadia National Park and its environs and of investigating national and global environmental issues. A major component of the Institutes educational efforts is providing opportunities for youth to learn about and be inspired by the out-of-doors. A host of academic and institutional partners cooperate closely with the Institute. Natural resource managers at Acadia National Park rely on the research to restore Acadias ecosystems and improve their resiliency in the face of challenging environmental changes. 2021 Headlands Center for the Arts hosts an internationally recognized artist-in-residence program, and interdisciplinary public programs. Alaska Native Science and Engineering Program (ANSEP),

FEDERAL AGENCY:

BUREAU OF OCEAN ENERGY MANAGEMENT, INTERIOR, DEPARTMENT OF THE

AUTHORIZATION:

Title Public Lands Corps Act (PLCA), Section 16 U.S.C. 1723(c)(1)

OBJECTIVES:

The Bureau of Ocean Energy Management (BOEM) provides major economic and energy benefits on a national and local level to the taxpayers, states, and the Native Alaskan/Native American communities. The BOEM oversees the exploration and development of oil, natural gas and other minerals and renewable energy alternatives on the Nation's Outer Continental Shelf (OCS). BOEM continues to look for better ways to serve the American people and to ensure that the Nation receives the best value for its resources now and into the future. The program not only supports decisions made within the Department of the Interior, but also provides coastal states and local governments with the information necessary to ensure that all stages of offshore energy and mineral activities are conducted in a manner to protect both the human and natural environments. Through this cooperative agreement, training and learning opportunities will be provided to young people in order to develop the next generation of lifelong conservation stewards and protect, restore, and enhance Americas Great Outdoors. Specifically, this cooperative agreement will give students the opportunity to learn about the importance of the BOEM mission to manage the development of US Outer Continental Shelf energy and mineral resources in an environmentally, economically, and social conscious way while exploring future career options with BOEM. Assignments will be designed to provide orientation and experience in the practical application of the theories, concepts and principles of petroleum engineering, geology, geophysics, and/or environmental science. The Alaska Native Science and Engineering Program (ANSEP) is designated as tax exempt under the IRS for Institutions of Higher Education. ANSEP moves Native American and Alaskan Native students into science, technology, engineering and mathematics degree programs, and fosters a stronger Indigenous American representation within the science workforce of BOEM. Established in 1995, ANSEP has evolved into a longitudinal education model that provides a continuous string of components beginning with students in sixth grade and continuing through high school, into science and engineering undergraduate and graduate degree programs through PhD. ANSEP has received numerous recognitions for successfully preparing students for professional science and engineering careers including the U.S. Department of Energy's Minorities in Energy Initiative, the U.S. Department of the Interior Partners in Conservation Award, and the Ash Center for Democratic Governance and Innovation, Harvard University-Top 25 Innovations in Government. ANSEP, through this cooperative agreement, provides an opportunity to further engage Alaskas Native professionals, and develop the future scientific and engineering employment pool required to support the BOEM mission. The overall objective is to expand the professional science employment preparedness of ANSEP students and to develop a more diversified pool of highly educated professionals with the BOEM workforce to reflect the rich diversity of the Nation.

For ARRA funded projects, a similar prioritization of projects representing greatest needs was implemented, resulting in the identification of projects eligible to receive ARRA funds, followed by communication with prospective recipients of the available ARRA funds for the identified projects. For both ARRA funded and non-ARRA funded projects, the award of a self-determination contract is made in accordance with the procedures contained in 25 CFR Part 900 "Contracts under Indian Self-Determination and Education Assistance Act," and the award of a financial assistance grant amendment to the existing education grant from the Bureau of Indian Education to the Tribe or Tribal Organization is made in accordance with the Tribally Controlled Schools Act of 1988, as amended, 25 U.S.C. 2501 et seq. ARRA projects also are subject to additional requirements related to performance, funding, and compliance through implementation of ARRA in the areas of transparency and reporting, oversight, risk accountability, accelerated timeframes and other statutory objectives. Projects are prioritized before the funds are appropriated. Funds must be appropriated before the award can be made. The award is made in accordance with the procedures contained in 25 CFR Part 900 "Contracts under the Indian Self-Determination and Education Assistance Act," 43 CFR Part 12, Subpart C "Uniform Administrative Requirements for Grants and Cooperative Agreements to State and Local Governments," or the Tribally Controlled Schools Act of 1988, as amended, 25 U.S.C. 2501 et seq., as applicable.

Range and Average of Financial Assistance:

The amount of financial assistance can range from approximately $6 million to $25 million depending on the size of the school, both grade level and student enrollment, the program requirements, and the location. For the higher amounts, funding may be incremental over 2, 3, or even 5 years. Because of the limited number of schools that have received funding in the last few years and the increasing costs for construction, there is no way to determine a true representative "average" of financial assistance. Facilities Improvement and Repair: The amount of financial assistance can range significantly from a few thousand dollars to approximately $7 million. There are several categories of projects that are included under Facilities Improvement and Repair, such as, Emergency, Roofing, Replacement/Repair, and Portable Classrooms. The average amount of financial assistance can vary depending on the category. An average amount is not calculable.

CRITERIA FOR SELECTING PROPOSALS:

Replacement School Construction: Funds are appropriated based on the "Education Facilities Replacement Construction Priority List" as published in the Federal Register on March 24, 2004. Criteria emphasize providing safe, functional, code-compliant, economical and energy-efficient facilities that meet applicable accreditation standards and space guidelines. Facilities Improvement and Repair: Criteria to evaluate projects emphasize eliminating critical health and safety-related deficiencies and reducing the substantial backlog of needed improvement and repairs. Projects are prioritized on a Bureau-wide basis using a computerized formula that evaluates the seriousness of the deficiencies and the relative risks of those deficiencies to facility users. To be considered it is essential that deficiencies and projects for a Bureau funded school or dormitory to be identified in the automated inventory of Bureau facilities. In addition, there are limited funds provided under this program to address safety and health deficiencies on an immediate or interim basis as well as funds for emergency repairs under certain conditions, and for other purposes. For more information on these other programs or on the priority ranking process for Replacement School Construction or Facilities Improvement and Repair projects, contact the Headquarters Office listed above.

15.063 Improvement and Repair of Indian Detention Facilities

FEDERAL AGENCY:

BUREAU OF INDIAN AFFAIRS, INTERIOR, DEPARTMENT OF THE AUTHORIZATION:

Indian Self-Determination and Education Assistance Act, Public Law 93-638, 25 U.S.C. 450 et seq., as amended, Title IV; Tribal Self-Governance Act of 1994, Public Law 103-413. Beneficiary Eligibility:

Credentials/Documentation:

ASSISTANCE LISTINGS DESCRIPTIONS

When an eligible project has been identified, the Tribe or Tribal Organization is invited to submit an initial application accompanied by a copy of the authorizing resolution from the Federal Recognized Indian Tribal Government to be served. If a currently effective authorizing resolution covering the scope of a project has already been provided, a reference to that resolution is acceptable. 2 CFR 200, Subpart E - Cost Principles applies to this program.

Pre-application coordination is not applicable. Environmental impact information is not required for this program. This program is excluded from coverage under E.O. 12372.

Application Procedures:

For a Self-Determination Contract (or Grant), applications are filed in accordance with 25 CFR Part 900 Contracts under the Indian Self-Determination and Education Assistance Act.

Award Procedure:

Although eligible applicants do not compete for awards, an award to a particular entity is not mandatory because requirements related to the scope of the project work, project cost, and other compliance measurements must be agreed to before funding is provided to the recipient. For non-ARRA-funded projects, projects representing the greatest needs at detention and related facilities are prioritized as part of the process of obtaining Congressional appropriations to fund the projects. Funds must be appropriated before any project awards can be made, and a change in priorities may require Congressional consultation and, for some projects above a certain dollar amount, Congressional approval of the reprogramming of funding to a different project. For ARRA-funded projects, a similar prioritization of projects representing greatest needs was implemented, resulting in the identification of projects eligible to receive ARRA funds, followed by communication with prospective recipients of the availability of ARRA funds for the identified projects. For both ARRA-funded and non-ARRA funded projects, the award of a self-determination contract is made in accordance with the procedures contained in 25 CFR Part 900 Contracts under the Indian Self-Determination and Education Assistance Act. ARRA projects also are subject to additional requirements related to performance, funding, and compliance through implementation of ARRA in the areas of transparency and reporting, oversight, risk accountability, accelerated timeframes and other statutory objectives.
