Section B: Description of the Supplies/Services Required

Brand name justification for Siemens Fire Alarms system repairs in 3 each MAF locations belonging to Minot AFB, ND.

The Minot AFB Civil Engineering Squadron (CES) has a requirement to repair Siemens Fire Alarm systems panels located in 3 separate Missile Alert Facilities (MAF). The current systems have identified conditions prevents complete operations, as outlined in the SOW. The current equipment is a Siemens system. In order to prevent replacement of the entire system it has been determined that Siemens systems will be required.

Section C: Justification for Soliciting from a Single Source or Brand Name

The current equipment is a Siemens system. In order to prevent replacement of the entire system it has been determined that Siemens systems will be required. Per CES Operations Supervisor, no other system has been located at this time that is a suitable substitute meeting the needs of the MAF and government needs.

These Fire Alarms need to be functional immediately for the safety of personnel working within the MAF locations.

Section D: Efforts to Obtain Competition

This requirement was posted on GSA under the will Facilities Maintenance and Management MAS from 7 - 27 Feb 2023. There were zero offers received. It will be posted to the GPE and competed as a brand name requirement. This will allow all distributors and resellers that can provide the listed item an opportunity to do so; therefore, it is expected that there is the potential for multiple vendors that can compete for this requirement. The requirement itself will be solicited among small business distributors with the ability to sell/repair the Siemens Fire Alarm System.

Section E: Steps to Preclude Future Single Source or Brand Name Awards

Should a requirement like this come up in the future, the market will be evaluated to see if any other products can fulfill this requirement.
